WELCOME LIONS ROARING AT DOOR

The Gadabout

A two-week Florida vacation that stretched into three weeks was recently enjoyed by two South Side residents. They would have tarried longer in the sunny state if thoughts of families left in Ohio had not brought them home once again.

The two were Mrs. Otto Oberkonz, 60 E. Jenkins-av, and her daughter, Mrs. Dale H. Baum, a resident of 17 E. Jenkins-av. The two drove down with Otto Oberkonz, Jr., a former Columbusite, who now lives in Florida.

The twosome stayed with their relative at Lehigh Acres, got lots of sunshine at the various beaches in the area, such as Naples, Miami, Ft. Myers, etc. Mrs. Baum said they felt like celebrites, as they were interviewed and had write up in papers in Lehigh and Ft. Myers. They also had their pictures taken at the Fontainebleau Hotel, where Ed Sullivan airs his television show at times. (Having seen that magnificant structure, we share Mrs. Baum's appreciation of it.)

The two Jenkins-av residents concluded their vacation by flying home, another experience they enjoyed tremendously.

Best wishes are in order for Marlene Truax, 1110 Champion-av, who will become Mrs. S. Charles Isbitz next spring. The South High graduate of 1958 will reside in Chicago after her marriage. Mr. Isbitz is a resident of the Illinois city.

Mrs. James Kurguz, 827 S. 17th-st, is the newly-elected treasurer of Alpha Delta Mu sorority.

Eagerly anticipated birthdays for the younger population segment will soon be celebrated by these youngsters: Michael Goodall, Alesia Moore, Michael Sexton, Ted Post, Valerie Eisel, Donald Pickington, Chris Blankenship, Ronald Williams, Jeffrey Mason, George Cunningham, Marcia Ratliff, Fred Cook, Donna Wirtz, Johnny Beard, Mike Wells, Victor Zwilling, Thomas Contosta, Michael Watts and Bob Yontz.

Year-older teenagers in the middle birthday classification include these 'tweeners: Andy Poczik, Richard and Robert Skeen, Harry Kirby, Bonnie Dixon, Irene DeMatteo, Barbara Skeen, Robert Gaulke and Elmer Hay.

Birthday recognition is extended to these adult friends and neighbors: Maude McClain, Ray Speakman, Sr., Leora Kirby, "Grandma" Donahoe, Harry Ruden, Lou Whitacre, Joyce Wallace, Ray Bethel, Elizabeth Potter, Walter Steffens. Belated greetings to Robert Steffens, son of Walter.

Cornish hen will be the featured dish of the Civic Affairs Committee of the Moose Lodge at the weekly Wednesday dinner, Nov. 6, from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Moose Lodge, 36 W. Sycamore-st. The meal will also include dressing, mashed potatoes, tossed salad, dessert and coffee.

Many years of wedded happiness are wished for Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shreve who were married Oct. 12. Mrs. Shreve was Mary Poole before her marriage. The couple now resides at 803 S. Fifth-st.

The annual turkey dinner and bazaar sponsored by the WSCS of Gates-Fourth Methodist Church will be held Thursday, Nov. 7, from 5 to 8 p.m. Tickets are $1.50 for adults, 75 cents for children. Chairmen for the function are: Mrs. Roy Rohrer, dinner chairman; Mrs. Leota Green, ticket chairman; Mrs. Mildred and Mrs. Lydia Kuehner, dining room chairmen; Mrs. Anna Stertzer and Mrs. Essie Brown, bazaar chairmen. Mrs. Florence Starrett is president of the WSCS.

Mabel E. Mauger, 368 E. Jenkins-av, was one of a party of four who enjoyed a South American cruise not too long ago. Among the spots visited by the foursome were Cartazene, Colombia; Cristobal and Balboa, Canal Zone; Buenaventura, Colombia, and Guayaquil, Ecuador. Also in the party were Mrs. William Schenk, 2876 Neil-av, and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony I. Harczy, 585 Harris-av.

The Nov. 6 mid-week dance at the YWCA will feature the music of Frankie Bush's dance band from 8:45 to 11:45 p.m.

Miss Carol Jauch, 1217 Wilson-av, and Miss Sharon Kelley, 696 Thurman-av, enjoyed a fun-filled trip to Miami Beach, Fla. While in Florida the South Siders were guests at the Versailles Hotel.

The Harmony Glee Club will serve its first dinner of the season on Sunday, Nov. 3, at the club house, 435 E. Kossuth-st. Tickets may be purchased at the door from noon to 2 p.m., the serving time for the turkey dinner.

Meetings, here and there...

The Sunday School class of Marcella Helser, a teacher at Washington Avenue EUB Church, will meet at 7:30 tonight (Thursday) at 490 E. Beechwold-blvd.

The Harmony Glee Club's monthly card party will be held Saturday, Nov. 2, at 435 E. Kossuth-st. The affair is open to the public. Members of the club enjoyed a Halloween party last Saturday, Oct. 26, at Kempfer's Park.

Palm Wheel, Meal on Wheels, will meet at 8 p.m. Monday, Nov. 4, for bridge and dessert. Hostess will be Mrs. Fred Herrell, 1190 S. 22nd-st.

The recently elected officers of the Crusaders Class, Southwood Church of Christ, are as follow: Richard Vice, president; Norma Vanscoy, vice-president; Carole Lordes, secretary; Sharon Pemberton, corresponding secretary, and Janice Ashton, treasurer.

The week's list of ailing community residents include: Thelma Duncan, nursing an injured foot; Mathew Mitton, who received rabies serum following a bat bite; Bob Eugoniat, home after a hospital stay; Helen Arrick, in room 105 SW, Doctors Hospital; William Johnson and Mrs. Michael McKnight, patients in Mercy Hospital.

Mrs. Frances Blair, discharged from Grant Hospital; Fred Schmidt, 309 Frebis-av, currently a patient at Benjamin Franklin Hospital; Hester Hulse, home from the hospital; Freddie Waller, sporting a cast while a broken leg knits; John Reichart, in Mt. Carmel; Ira Benedict and Marjorie Hackett, both hospitalized at Mercy, and Bill Factor, who was at Grant Hospital.

Clara Draudt is once again a Columbus resident, after living elsewhere for a while.

It was a pleasure to read the rave notices of the recent decorating job accomplished by a localite, Glenn Wisecarver, 2415 S. High-st, at the Deshler-Hilton in the Roaring 20's Room. Glenn was given a free hand, and from all accounts created something out of this world.

Rev. and Mrs. Ellis Wesner, 308 Southwood-av, accompanied June Tou recently to the campus and classes of Cincinnati Bible Seminary. Miss Tou is a prospective student of the school.

The League of Women Voters sends an urgent reminder to voters to use their ballot privileges on Tuesday, Nov. 5. The league also reminds the voters that a write-in vote cannot be changed once it is written.

"Animals of Africa" is the title of the YWCA armchair tour scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 5, 7:30 to 9 p.m. Dr. Franklin Hugenberger will be the narrator.

Martha Hysell, wife of Ted Hysell, a South High grad of 1930, is feeling better after a recent bout of bronchitis. Ted was once the owner of this paper, in pre-World War II days, when it was known as the South Side News.

The "wedding bell" department includes Sue Marie Thomson, 1579 Courtright-rd, the October bride of Arthur Christ in a ceremony at the Wilson Avenue Christian Church. The new Mrs. Christ is a graduate of South High School.

Arthur Christ is associated with United Air Lines, as was Mrs. Christ. The couple will make their home in Miami, Fla.

A ceremony on Saturday, Nov. 2, in the Thurman Avenue Methodist Church will unite Vicki Lee Hook, 547 Deshler-av, and Michael Garland Blake, 1480 Jonathan-dr. Both are South High School graduates. The ceremony will be held at 7:30 p.m.

Carryout Looted

Police reported that a man carrying an automatic pistol stole about $1000 from the South Side Carryout, 448 Olpp-av, shortly after 11 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 26.

Police Charge Woman In Child's Death

A hearing on charges of second degree murder filed against Mrs. Rosetta L. Shephard, 18, of 462 Donaldson-st, has been continued until Friday, Nov. 1, by the Columbus Municipal Court. No bond has been set.

The charges, filed by Columbus Police, stem from the death of the woman's 16-month-old daughter who died Sunday in Children's Hospital from injuries received during what authorities charge was a beating. Officials said the child had numerous fractures in various stages of healing.

The baby had been admitted to the hospital Friday when the mother, accompanied by William Pickens, 22, of 528 E. Livingston-av, brought the child in for treatment.

Pickens reportedly told police he saw the mother hurl the child into a crib and strike her on two different occasions. Mrs. Shephard has denied the accusations.

AN EDITORIAL

The Case For Sensenbrenner

The Citizen-Journal favors the election of Maynard E. Sensenbrenner as mayor of Columbus.

It is a choice of the positive over the negative.

When he was mayor, Sensenbrenner was responsive to the people and alert to the needs of the city. He demonstrated that he can and will work closely with planning engineers and civic leaders.

ONE OF HIS important contributions during his six years in office was a bold and well-executed annexation program at a time when Columbus was at the crossroads of growing or of being hemmed in by satellite communities.

Sensenbrenner more than doubled the city's size. This broadened its tax base and tax yield. It provided many industrial sites INSIDE the city. Mayor Westlake now brags of "no new taxes"—but this is possible because Sensenbrenner broadened the base for real estate and city income taxes by his annexation policy.

MANY OF THE improvements opened with ribbon cutting by Mayor Westlake were conceived or forwarded during Sensenbrenner's previous administration.

Although he has been very responsive to suggestion during this campaign, Westlake has been stubborn and dilatory in pushing such badly needed things as the long range sewer and water supply programs, urban redevelopment and improvements of streets, walks and drains in newly built sections of Columbus.

SENSENBRENNER BRINGS to the office of mayor a zest and inspiration that has been lacking under Westlake. Sensenbrenner often says he loves Columbus and loves to be its mayor. He acted like it when he was mayor. His enthusiasm and energy inspired other citizens to put their shoulders to the wheel of planning and development.

By the same token, stubbornness and delay in City Hall discourage and hold back the common civic effort Columbus needs to keep its place in the sun. Westlake killed plans for a $50 million state government complex in the Market-Mohawk urban renewal area. As a result four civic leaders serving on the Urban Renewal Commission resigned in disgust. Foiled in its plans, the state proceeded to build two buildings on park areas adjacent to the Ohio Departments Building.

WESTLAKE TAKES credit for lower electric rates "obtained" by his administration. The decrease was first proposed by the electric company and Westlake at first opposed it.

Westlake brags of playground and recreation improvements. But where are the swimming pools promised when he asked the people to approve a bond issue? He hasn't built or even planned them.

"I'LL BUILD THEM." Sensenbrenner says. We believe he will.

Columbus has seen both Sensenbrenner and Westlake perform as mayor. Sensenbrenner was the most progressive, aggressive and forward looking of the two. Sensenbrenner's record was positive. Westlake's has generally been negative. That's why we recommend Sensenbrenner.

Courts-Rink Project Given To L-V School

Four tennis courts, especially constructed with curbs and drains so they can be flooded in winter to provide a safe place to ice skate, recently became the property of the South-Western City School Board.

Receiving the courts-rink, on behalf of the school district, was Gerald Kingsmore, principal of Prairie Lincoln School. Turning the recreational area over to the school district was Mrs. William Moore, president of the Lincoln Village Women's Club. The 110-member organization raised more than $6,000 in about 18 months to finance the project.

It all started when residents interested in recreation for their children formed a committee with the cooperation of the South-Western City School Board of Education to investigate the development of the Prairie Lincoln School property. The Prairie Lincoln Property Development Committee asked Dr. Wilbur Batchelor, consultant on recreational development at Ohio State University, to draw up a plan for development of the school grounds.

The Lincoln Village Women's Club voted unanimously to undertake the most costly item in Dr. Batchelor's plan —the tennis courts—ice skating rink. After 18 months of concentrated effort through door-to-door canvassing, spaghetti suppers, dances, a bowling tournament and business donations, the first phase of the plan is completed. Much credit is also due James Swiatek, architect, and Guy Tolliver, Jr., a paving contractor with the firm of Tolliver and Curl, both husbands of members.

There is still more to be done — backstops, nets and lights are badly needed. So the women's group begins all over again with additional canvasses and another spaghetti supper.

Eagles Sponsor HalloweenDance

Columbus Aerie No. 297, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will hold its annual masquerade Halloween dance at 771 N. High-st, Thursday, Oct. 31. Al Baumbush's orchestra will play for the dance, which begins at 8:30 p.m.

A roast turkey dinner will be held Saturday, Nov. 2, from 5 to 8 p.m. It will be followed with entertainment and dancing at 8:45 p.m.

BETTER COLUMBUS

VOTE SENSENBRENNER

FOR MAYOR

VOTE PROGRESS

As mayor, he brought to the City of Columbus the outstanding All-American City Award. His aggressive annexation program, planned to keep the city from being hemmed in as other cities are, more than doubled the size of Columbus.

Sensenbrenner established a city finance department. This program has saved, and earned, over one million dollars for the city.

During his administration 251 buildings, unfit for human habitation, were condemned. One hundred and sixty-nine were either removed or improved. His administration initiated the high-rise apartments for elder citizens in Poindexter Village and Sunshine Park.

Sensenbrenner's administration proposed the one and one-quarter million dollar bond issue for expanded recreation facilities which was overwhelmingly endorsed by the voters.

The municipal golf course and airport were completed and the Fifth Avenue underpass and Hudson Street railroad underpass became a reality.

Sensenbrenner's administration launched the city's new freeway system with the cooperation of the Development Commission of Greater Columbus and other planning groups.

He pioneered the first Master Control Traffic Plan for Columbus.

If this kind of leadership in city administration is the type of aggressive action YOU want for Columbus

. . . . VOTE SENSENBRENNER FOR MAYOR!

SENSENBRENNER'S PLATFORM FOR A BETTER COLUMBUS

1. Let the citizens know what is going on through meetings in every ward.
2. Work closely with civic planning groups like the Regional Planning Commission, the Development Committee, Chamber of Commerce and others.
3. Establish a commision to work closely with the state program to bring new industry to Columbus.
4. Bring Ohio State, Battelle and Capital University into more active community participation.
5. Upgrade traffic engineering.
6. Relieve the South Side of the smells.
7. Expand sewer, water and other city services into newly annexed areas.
8. Join city and county functions in practical areas like health.
9. Develop programs to improve neighborhoods and people so they can grow with the city.
10. Expand parks and recreation, including swimming pools and development of quarry lakes.
11. Establish special police squads to make the streets safer for citizens and control lawless beatnick hoodlums.

QUALIFIED FOR ACTION

M. E. Sensenbrenner actively served the City of Columbus as mayor from 1954 to 1959. His experience and knowledge of the basic operation of city government is outstanding. His years of devoted work with the community agencies have given him a wide view of the city's potentials and problems that require a vigorous city administration.

Sensenbrenner has devoted most of his life to working for the welfare of youth:

- Over 40 years with the Boy Scouts of America
- Past Vice President, Camp Fire Girls
- Board member, Boys Club of America
- Past President, West High Boosters
- Board member YMCA and Volunteers of America

He is active with the Big Brothers, Milo-Roc-Mendal Football Athletic Club. He is Past President of the Hilltop Kiwanis, a member of the board of the Council of Churches and an elder of the Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Chuch. His fraternal activities include the Elks, the Moose, and the Eagles.

Sensenbrenner's background, including being Chief Clerk and Investigator for the State Civil Service, and his current activities dynamically show that he is the man most able to make Columbus one of the finest cities in America by continuing to develop its may great potentials.

Big Toothache!

John Peters, president of World Neighbors, speaking here this past week pointed out that brotherhood in the world must be more than a pious affirmation and that such a relationship with peoples of the world cannot be bought by government.

"Sending the government in to do the job is like using a steam shovel to pull a tooth," he said.

Paper Clip Survey

A survey by the house journal of Lloyds Bank in London on the fate of 100,000 paper clips showed:

14,163 were twisted or broken during phone calls;

17,200 were used as a makeshift bra and suspender hooks;

5,434 became toothpicks;

5,308 were used as nail cleaners;

3,196 became pipe cleaners;

19,143 served as chips for card games;

Thousands were dropped on the floor and swept away, and only 20,000 were used to stay papers together. Pah-00

Sensenbrenner Wins Back Mayor's Post; Voters Approve All City, State Issues

Heyl Avenue PTA Cast Claims It's Loaded With Top Talent

Stressing that the cast is strictly adult, the Heyl Avenue PTA is busy rehearsing its variety show, "Let Us Entertain You" to be presented Thursday and Friday, Nov. 14 and 15, at 7:30 p.m. at the school.

Mrs. Dorothy Byrd, chairman, explained that the 45 PTA members will give it plenty of variety, and the acts read like a weekend television program with the sports left out.

"Here's Hollywood," "The Beverly Hillbillies," "Mitch Miller" and the "Russian Ballet" are less than half of the acts.

The PTA efforts at a variety show several years ago, when, as now, Mrs. Norma Jacks was president, is still remembered. According to sneak previews, the current production will also make history.

Tickets, which are 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for elementary students, went on sale at the school today.

This is the organization's only fund raising project of the year and proceeds go to provide a scholarship through the Columbus PTA Council.

Vandals Risk Their Necks

During the daylight hours crews of men work to build at Lincoln Park a $400,000 recreational center for the use of South Siders.

And at night youthful vandals from the area work to tear it down.

It really doesn't make sense.

Some of the acts committed admit only to harassment, such as the air being let out of the tires of the Georgia buggies and wheel barrows night after night, reinforcing rods being carried several blocks away and tools scattered far and wide.

But, as Howard Mills, 1408 Lilly-st, job superintendent for Waggenbrenner Construction Co., which holds the general contract says, tearing "green" walls down is something else entirely.

Before walls have set vandals have climbed the scaffolding and torn off as many as three rows of shadow blocks. The expensive blocks, most of which are broken in the fall, must all be replaced.

The destruction began at the police sub-station, now nearly complete, only a stone's throw away. And there's been plenty of stones thrown.

There plate glass windows have been broken, bricks thrown at the block walls with sufficient force to break the blocks, and chunks broken out of the concrete stairs.

The last was accomplished, according to one of the workmen, by rolling cement blocks down the steps.

Damage during one night alone was estimated at over $500, and the destruction goes on night after night. The material loss is insured, but not the labor, Mills explained.

He expressed gratitude that there has been some let-up since the principal of Lincoln Park School announced over the public address system that vandals would be prosecuted.

But some let-up is not enough.

It should be halted completely.

And it should be stopped before one of the "scaffold jacks" takes a misstep in the dark and adds the tragedy of a broken neck or broken back to the property damage that has been the only problem so far.

POINTING TO one of the glazed tiles broken by vandals at the Lincoln Park Recreation Center now under construction, Tom Waggenbrenner, carpenter, explained that each tile broken or chipped must be dug out and replaced.

Heinzerling Nominated For Sertoma Award

By JANE ROBINSON

Otto C. Heinzerling is a gentle but confident man.

These traits, which undoubtedly endear him to the handicapped children to whom he is devoting the autumn years of his life, were in evidence when he spoke before the Sertoma meeting held Tuesday noon at the Desert Inn.

Robert Stokes had invited him to speak, as his nominee to receive this year's Service to Mankind Award.

Stokes introduced Heinzerling, the director of the Peck O' Wee Ones, as a man "inspired by God."

As Heinzerling related the story of the children the home cares for the uneducable children who can understand little but the love given to them by those who care for them — the men of Sertoma sat as still as if spell-bound by the tales of an old sea-dog which Heinzerling really is. (He did not enter the field of caring for severely retarded children until after 32 years of service in the Navy.)

He told of the difficulty he met in finding a building to establish the home.

No one wanted such children.

He told of interviewing 40 or 50 women before employing one.

No one wants to work with such children.

He told of the difficulty in raising funds to meet expenses.

Too many others come before the mentally-handicapped.

"But I am not a quitter," he said quietly, and those who have seen the results of his perserverance cannot help but agree.

In spite of all stumbling blocks to be met, he has established a home where these children, beyond the realm of medical aid, are kept clean, content, and alive by the love and care given to them so lavishly.

When Heinzerling spoke, he was speaking for the children, not for himself.

This fact alone validated the nomination made by Stokes.

Stokes summed up his introduction by saying the Sertoma award was meant for a man who had truly served mankind.

"This is such a man," he declared.

GOP Keeps Grip On Council; Other Victories Decisive

The man who never really stopped campaigning after his loss of the Columbus mayor seat four years ago regained his prize Tuesday. M. E. "Jack" Sensenbrenner defeated fellow-Hilltopper W. Ralston Westlake by the same 5,000-vote margin with which Westlake ended Sensenbrenner's six-year reign in 1959.

The official count was 58,752 to 53,754, before absentee ballots were counted. A surprising 115,690 ballots were cast in the city.

An elated Sensenbrenner, never without words to express his feelings, said he is "proud to return as mayor of Columbus" and attributed his victory to "hard work and the support of my friends everywhere."

Sensenbrenner's candidacy had been endorsed by the Hartley Newspapers, the Columbus Citizen-Journal and the Columbus Call and Post.

As the pre-election-day countdown continued, Sensenbrenner intensified his campaign through press, the air waves and public appearances. He frequently challenged his Republican opponent to debates which never materialized.

Mayor Westlake, who will serve until the end of the year, steadfastly campaigned on "Columbus' progress - not tomorrow, but here today."

Hoermle Lone Democrat

Democratic mayor-elect Sensenbrenner will have only one party-mate in the eight-member Columbus council, South Sider William P. Hoermle was second high among the four elected Tuesday, collecting 54,464 votes. Returned to council were Hilltopper Ronald E. DeVore, who garnered the most votes (56,062); Council President Golda Mae Edmonston (53,805); and Roland A. Sedgwick (53,174).

Trailing tallies were Harvey H. Alston, 51,476; Russell M. Jones, 45,794; Maurice D. Portman, 42,795; and Joseph J. Murphy, 36,644.

The city write-in balloting, which led to considerable mechanical difficulties in the voting machines, brought a smashing two-to-one victory for incumbent City Attorney John Young. Young defeated his nearest opponent, Fred Rose (D), 34,000 to 14,000.

Welfare, School Issues Pass

Two child-serving segments of the election picture rejoiced over their tallies. The 1.5-mill levy to meet child welfare needs in Franklin County was approved resoundingly 91,738 to 52,267. Several earlier attempts for child welfare support at the polls were failures. The one-year-in-advance renewal of an existing 15-mill operating levy for Columbus public schools passed 62,099 to 27,917.

The county followed the state pattern in approving the $250-million state bond issue.

New MDT Class Open To Women

Free, on-the-job training has been set up to teach shirt finishing machine operations to women in the Columbus area.

A program of the Manpower Development Training Act, the course will prepare the graduates for work as two-girl units in jobs that are now available.

Women interested in obtining this training, given in a well-equipped shop, may enroll at the Ohio State Employment Service office, 309 S. Fourth-st.

Announcement of the new classes was made jointly by Joseph L. Phillips, area representative for the Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training, U.S. Department of Labor, and Joe White, president of the Dry Cleaners Guild of Columbus.

SOME TOMATOES!

IT TOOK some fancy neck-craning for the young sons of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Windmiller, Jr., 163 Gates-st, to look at the tip-top of their dad's tomato plants last week. The 12-foot plants tower over Eddy, left and Roland, III. The half dozen Big Boys and Big Earlies which Windmiller was given from his Aunt Helen's greenhouse last April refused to stop growing or stop bearing tomatoes, even in November. Although the plants were her husband's pet project, Mrs. Windmiller commented, "They had lots of water this summer, or I heard about it," indicating she had a hand in the phenomenal growth.

Like Old Times...

It was like old times for the new mayor-elect of Columbus as Jack Sensenbrenner held his first press conference after election returns confirmed his return to Columbus City Hall.

After delivering a short prepared statement for the benefit of radio stations, Sensenbrenner parried without hesitation and without revealing any secrets - the rapid-fire questions of newsmen.

SENSENBRENNER

Asked why he lost by 5,000 votes to Mayor W. Ralston Westlake in 1959, and won by the same number four years later, Sensenbrenner said: "That's because he got more votes than I did in '59 and I got more votes than he did this time."

Sensenbrenner told newsmen that they will be welcome at City Hall and that press conferences will be held "when we have something to say." (A newsman interjected the thought that that probably would be daily.)

The mayor-elect extended his courtesies to newsmen to the extent that he invited them to be present for the city hall "coffee break," but hastened to add that this would be "only once a day."

In a moment of feeling for his vanquished opponent, Sensenbrenner reminded newsmen that "I know how Mr. Westlake feels tonight. I felt the same way myself four years ago."

Sensenbrenner's entrance to the Election Board scene of his victory statement was swift, and his departure no less speedy. He was off to a television interview and the beginning of plans for his return to the job he loves best — serving Columbus citizens as their mayor.

YET THEY LOVE IT!

It's A Wearying Road For Candidates' Wives

By JANE ROBINSON

The election is over; the votes are counted.

The winners take all and the losers have accepted defeat with varying degrees of gracefulness.

But winners and losers all have something in common: each has behind him a wife who is dog-tired after the past weeks of campaigning.

When a man makes the decision to run for public office, no one is more closely affected by his political ambitions than his family.

For Mildred Sensenbrenner this campaign was an especially difficult one. Much of her attention was devoted to her mother whose long critical illness ended with her death two weeks ago.

When Jack Sensenbrenner went into politics in a big way ten years ago he had a wife already well-accustomed to a round of dinners, lunches and teas by her active participation in church and civic organizations.

"It was only the scope of the activities into which I was plunged that was new to me," explained Mrs. Sensenbrenner who claims that she enjoys a "busy life."

"Fortunately, our children are grown and married now," she said, commenting on how extremely hard it is for a woman with small children to meet the many demands made on her time.

Although she admits it is a "hectic existence" Mrs. Sensenbrenner gives the impression that she loves being the mayor's wife as much (almost) as Jack enjoys being mayor.

"Before he ever went into politics, he consulted me. I thoroughly approved then and I still do," she laughed.

Undoubtedly her husband's victory Tuesday made the long hours spent seem worth every moment of it.

"I've enjoyed the role given me as the mayor's wife" said Helen Westlake upon whom campaigning for husband was merely an additional demand upon her time already filled with official duties.

"You know, the store has to keep even right before election" she pointed out referring to the myriad obligations of the position of first lady of Columbus.

"Although it has been my husband who has carried the ball, I have found it a very rewarding experience to work with him," she said, believing the fact that she genuinely likes people has made the task relatively easy.

"You'd have to be something of an extrovert to live

1,572 Kids Whoop It Up At Schiller

Judged to be a "howling" success, the Halloween party at Schiller Recreation Center packed in 1,572 young revelers and shooed them home at a reasonable hour last Thursday night.

After an evening including prizes awarded for costumes, movies, a spook show complete with live witches flying over the audience, a puppet show and refreshments furnished by the CSSO, 18 children received silver dollars for getting home early to answer the telephone.

They were Michael Roberts, 549 Parsons-av; Bruce Wholaver, 652 Reinhard-av; Clifton May, Jr., 110 E. Kossuth; Kevin Dixon, 179 E. Columbus-st; Chris Skeen, 326 E. 'YW' Transformed For International Flair, Fete

Red Brick paths all over the downtown YWCA will lead to exhibits, entertainment, food, and Christmas gifts from all over the world at the International Flair and Festival, Friday, Nov 22, 6 to 9 p.m. and Saturday, Nov. 23, 1 to 5 p.m. in observance of the annual YWCA World Fellowship Week.

The public is invited to see the YWCA transformed, with the "French Quarter," with French pastries and coffee served; "Japanese Tea House," and "The Western Corral."

The second floor includes organ music and entertainment in the gym; the third floor, with the "German Village," "A Touch of India," "Israel Beckons" and Scandinavia on Display."

The fourth floor will become the "International Midway," with booths of articles from the Old Country, South America, Israeli and Japan available for Christmas shopping. A variety of foods will be served in rooms 428-30, and the cafeteria will offer a "Chuck Wagon Special."

The nursery will be open on the ground floor for toddlers and preschoolers, and the "Children's Hour" will be Friday, 7 to 8 p.m., and Saturday, 1 to 2 and 4 to 5 p.m. with movies, puppet shows, fish pond and balloons.

Mrs. Robert Donley, 2633 York-rd, is general chairman, assisted by Mrs. Lynn Chapman, Mrs. H. Alfred Glascor, Mrs. Merton Oyler, Mrs. Kline Roberts, Mrs. John Wilson, Mrs. Richard Tice, Mrs. Otis Maxfield and Miss Florence Worrell, YWCA executive director.

WOMEN VOTERS ARRANGE MEETING

League of Women Voters of Metropolitan Columbus will hold an open-house for league members and guests at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Thursday, Nov. 7, 8 to 10 p.m.

The program entitled "It Makes A Difference — That There Is A League of Women Voters In Columbus," will present history of the league. A display of hats will point out special activities.

Judith L. Stimpfle And Jerry J. Tarpey Exchange Vows At St. Patrick's Church

Marriage vows were exchanged between Miss Judith L. Stimpfle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stimpfle, 238 Obetz-av, Obetz, and Mr. Jerry J. Tarpey, son of Mr. Thomas Tarpey, 126 Sharon Springs-dr, Worthington, and the late Mrs. Tarpey, Sept. 21 at St. Patrick's Church.

Rev. James McKenna read the morning vows.

The bride wore a floor length gown of silk organza over taffeta styled along princess lines with rounded neckline and long tapered sleeves. Chantilly lace applique, graced the front of the fitted bodice and continued over the princess panel skirt that featured extra fullness on the sides and back. An obie bow with streamers, caught at the center back waistline, fell gracefully over the full circular train.

MRS. JERRY J. TARPEY

A princess crown of pearls and pearlized orange blossoms held her bouffant veil of illusion and she carried a cascade of pink sweetheart roses and white feathered carnations with white streamers atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Nancy DeVault served as matron of honor and Miss Sandy Sawyer and Mrs. Joy Bell were honor attendants. All wore identical street-length petal pink, silk organdy dresses, fashioned wth scoop necklines and cap sleeves. White organdy embroidered in pink floral design accented the empire waistlines of the fitted bodices and added a scalloped detail to the pink bell shaped skirts. They wore small pink pill boxes that matched the fabric and color of the dresses.

Best man was Tom Tarpey, twin brother of the bridegroom. Seating the guests were Mr. Roger Stimpfle and Mr. Ralph DeVault.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. Hostesses were: Miss Joan Bower, Mrs. Sandra Miklos and Miss Suzanne Sawyer.

The new Mrs. Tarpey is a graduate of Hamilton Township High School and is employed at the State Office as an IBM key punch operator. Her husband is a graduate of Aquinas High School and is employed as an IBM operator at the State Office.

The couple is residing at 880 Eaton-av, Apt. D.

MRS. JOHN MICHAEL CANTLON

Rev. Emrick Unites Couple At Canal Winchester EUB

The Canal Winchester Evangelical United Brethren Church was the setting for the Oct. 26 marriage of Miss LaVonne Eileen Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Justin P. Lamb of Canal Winchester and Mr. John Michael Cantlon, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Cantlon, 3090 Steele-av.

Rev. Wendell W. Emrick read the double-ring ceremony before an altar decorated with an arrangement of white fuji mums and seven branch candelabra.

The bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over white satin, with a sabrina neckline and long tapering sleeves.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a princess crown of seed pearl and crystal and she carried a cascade of white carnations and ivy.

Miss Mary Carolyn Lamb, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and Miss Susan Jane Lamb, sister of the bride served as junior bridesmaid. They wore identical dresses of cranberry red velvet, accented at the back waistline by a petal bow.

Their pouf veils were attached to matching petal bows and they carried colonial bouquets of white carnations, centered with red roses.

Best man was Mr. Thomas Timmons. Ushers were Mr. Wesley Kunze, Mr. Joseph Dietrick, and Mr. Theodore Miller.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony.

Following a short wedding trip the couple is residing at 3333 W. Broad-st.

Thanksgiving Services Set By Churches

Columbus Area Council of Churches will observe the traditional season of Thanksgiving with special services Sunday, Nov. 24, and union services will be held Wednesday evening, Nov. 27.

Ministerial associations in all areas are offering union rites. Offerings for service projects, including relief, chaplaincy and world service will be received.

Members are invited to the services in which their respective congregations participate.

SMORGASBORD SET

Achates Auxiliary 361 to the IA of M will sponsor a IOOF Hall, 50 W. Fifth-av. Serving starts at 6 p.m. Donation $2, children, 75 cents. Proceeds will be used to fill baskets with food at Christmas for the needy.

Briggsdale Methodists Plan Ground Breaking

The Briggsdale Methodist Church will hold a ground breaking service Sunday, Nov. 10, at which time former members who have entered the ministry from the church will assist the congregation in preparing the way for the first unit of an expanded building program to cover some eight stages to completion.

The program will include church school at 9:30 a.m. and morning worship at 10:45 with Rev. Robert Weed as guest minister. Rev. Weed, a retired minister living at Washington Court House, was received into the Methodist Conference in 1916.

The junior choir under the direction of Mrs. David Grayson and Mrs. Howard Reber, organist, will provide special music. A basket dinner will be held at noon. Coffee will be supplied.

The afternoon service will begin at 2:30 with the pastor, members of the board of trustees, building committee and former pastors and ministerial candidates from the church, participating in consecration of the ground.

Rev. Judson Weed, associate minister at Riverside Methodist Church, will be the principle speaker and with his brother share in the turning of the first shovel of dirt.

The Briggsdale church was established in 1822 on property located on what is presently known as Frank-rd and in 1902 was moved to the present location in the Briggs addition on Harrisburg-pk where a new brick edifice had been erected. The church celebrated its 140th anniversary a year ago.

The first unit will be a multi-purpose unit consisting of rest rooms, kitchen, pastor's study and a combination educational and fellowship unit.

John Moore will be the general contractor of the $40,000 unit. Alvin Martindale is chairman of the building committee and Rev. Raymond S. Daniel, Sr., is pastor of the church.

Fishin' For A Fun Night

MOST FISHERMEN TELL about the big one that got away. Not so, with young Robbie McInerney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McInerney, 1181 Kelton-av. Robbie will catch a whale of a good time when he and others hit the trail to Deshler School, Friday, Nov. 15. Holding the "whopper" are Carol Ann Held, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Held, 1166 Studer-av, and Michael George, son of Mr. and Mrs. George George, 1296 Kossuth-av. A cafeteria style supper will be served from 5 to 9 p.m. Other attractions will include a make-up room, fish pond, cake walk, gold fish room, magic show, cherry tree room, silhouette room, white elephant, doll show, turtle walk, country store, plant room, pocket lady, baked goods bazaar, novelties, hat bar and game room.

THE HARVEST
"While the earth remaineth, seedtime and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease."
Genesis 8:22
The harvest each year should remind us of God's great promise to man. This promise was made right after the great flood, from which only Noah and his Ark survived. Just prior to the flood, all men lived so evilly that it grieved the Lord that he had made man of the earth.
Today the churches stand as a bulwark against evil. Attend church regularly so that never again would man grieve the Lord as before.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

MRS. HARPER WINNER

Coach's Wife Cops $50 In Grid Contest

Mrs. Mary Harper, 62 S. Richardson-av, is the fourth week winner in the Hartley Newspapers Football Contest.

Mrs. Harper, who topped 200 other contestants by correctly picking 14 of 16 gridiron battles, earned $50 for her accurate predicting — $25 for topping all other contestants and an additional $25 for being a paid subscriber to the South Side Leader, one of the seven Hartley Newspapers.

MRS. HARPER, who is trying the contest for the first time this year, admitted that the credit really belonged to her husband who helped her select the 16 games.

Her husband does know a "little" bit about football. He's Jim Harper, head grid mentor at Marion-Franklin High School.

Seven other entrants finished in a tie for runnerup honors, all missing on three games. Close behind Mrs. Harper's winning entry were: Elmer Kohl, 1438 Marty-dr, Herbert Zanes, 1477 Watkins-rd, Danny Kerscher, 573 Frebis-av, David Stokes, 537 Blacklick-st, Myrtle Krumm, 946 Ellsworth-st and Joe McGrath, 138 Concord-pl.

THE LATTER entrant collected $50 as the winner in the contest's first week.

The seventh runner-up-tie entry was from Bill C. Williams, 1660 Dante-dr. If the street doesn't sound familiar, don't worry. It shouldn't Dante Drive is in St. Louis, Mo.

Whether you live right around the corner or as far away as St. Louis, you can win money in the Hartley Newspaper Football Contest simply by completing the entry blank you see below.

YOU DON'T even have to know a football coach to win up to $100 in cash. Remember, there's nothing to buy. All you need do is to write your selection in the entry blank next to the advertiser in whose block you find the game.

Clip out the coupon and mail it to: Football Contest Editor, name of this paper, 2465 W. Broad-st, Columbus 4, Ohio.

The games for this week's contest are for Nov. 15-17. Entries must be postmarked by midnight, Nov. 12. Two more entrants were eliminated last week for missing the deadline.

READ THE rules below carefully and get busy. The Football Contest check this week is waiting for your name.

$25 RICHER

MEET MISS Cleo Noggle, 2405½ W. Broad-st, winner in round three of Hartley Newspapers' Football Contest. Miss Noggle won $25 for correctly selecting 13 of 16 grid contests, topping Worthy Spurlock, 32 22nd-av, on the tiebreaker.

'Fearless' Predictions

The "fearless one," zeroing in on a .700 total percentage, moved into the final week of football gazing with a 132-47-5 mark, fattened up by a 18-4 lineup last week.

The sage's last glimpse into the crystal ball foretold these results for the finale week of high school play this weekend:

ROSARY - WEST JEFFERSON — Riders nab full FCL title. W-J.

HARTLEY - WHITEHALL — Too much Rams, Whitehall.

ACADEMY - REYNOLDSBURG — Edge to Vikings in real battle. Academy.

NEW ALBANY - HAMILTON TWP. — Rangers elude FCL basement. Hamilton.

PLEASANT VIEW - MIAMI TRACE — By a trace. Miami.

CANAL WINCHESTER - BERNE UNION — Coin flip says visitors. Berne Union.

CARROLL - FRANKFORT — Right off the grill. Frankfort.

FRANKLIN HGTS. - CIRCLEVILLE — Tiger's tally. Circleville.

Hawks-Bulls Sunday In OBFF Title Tilt

Meadow Gold Steers, Harley-Davidson Raiders, Beatty Cubs and LeCoumpte Lathers all 90-pound teams) brought down the curtain for the regular 1963 season play in the Ohio Boys' Football Foundation League Sunday.

Charlie Moore, of the Cubs, scored three TDs, thus enabling his team to down the Steers, 20-6. This also gave the Cubs second place. The Raiders shut out the Lathers, 14-0.

Next Sunday's championship game, in the 110-pound league, will be between the Westgate Hawks and the Meadow Gold Bulls.

Congratulations, Thanks For A Great '63 Season

Congratulations are in order for the new high school pennant winners! A tip of the hat to Groveport in the Mid-Eight, South, Central and Whetstone in the City League and Watkins Memorial in the Licking Valley among area teams.

The village of Groveport had waited 19 years for the celebration they held Friday night after their team's win over London which gave Glend Johnston's Cruisers a 8-0-1 final record and their first Mid-Eight championship.

AN UNDEFEATED season eluded South Friday night as Central picked up a share of the City League crown but the loss didn't take any of the luster from a fine season for Bob Jackson and his Bulldogs.

The Rebs 8-1 mark brought South its first CL pennant in 38 years.

For Central and Frank Howe it was a second straight banner year—the Pirates taking the City championship in '62 also.

A FAN'S thank you to West and East for making the '63 City League race the finest in many a year.

Special congratulations are also in order for Larry Lintner and his Warriors from Watkins Memorial for compiling a perfect 9-0 record (best in the school's history) and the Licking County title.

Editorial handshakes also to Gene Keel and his Rough Riders from West Jefferson who already have a share of the County League championship wrapped up in their first run for loop laurels.

IT WOULD be hard to pass up Jim Bline's Whitehall Rams and Norm McElheny's Hilliard Wildcats in the plaudit parade. The Rams, nosed out by Mt. Vernon, made it a real race in the Central Buckeye League.

Hilliard made a fine comeback winning six in a row after losing its first three games.

Once again — thanks fellows. Thanks for an exciting and colorful football season.

BITS OF WIT . . .

Fans (and otherwise) of Buckeye coach Woody Hayes should take a look see at ole' OSU buddy Bill Teague's excellent article on the Scarlet and Gray gridmaster in the December issue of SAGA magazine.

Teague's documentary appraisal of the OSU coach (Don't Laugh at Me or I'll Knock You Down") is undoubtedly one of the most complete pieces we've ever seen done on Woody.

And Teague doesn't spare the controversal facets of Woody's stormy 12-year tenure at the giant horseshoe.

IF THERE was any doubt, Editor and Publisher cleared the air on the current popularity poll of American sports in a recent survey.

Baseball's still king with pro football replacing its collegiate counterpart in the number two spot.

Rounding out the top ten (in order) are college football, college basketball, golf, boxing, horse racing, auto racing, track and pro basketball.

HIGH SCHOOL seniors, wondering about coaching as a career, might be encouraged by a late report from the Ohio Education Association.

During 1962-63, public school basketball coaches averaged $561, while football coaches averaged $525 — a higher pay average for additional teaching duties than all other teachers, including band directors.

FLEETING FAME DEPT. —Tiger slugger Rocky Colovito, who, along with Indianapolis teammate Herb Score, was tabbed as an up-and-coming AL superstar in the mid-50s, might be on his way out of the junior circuit if reports out of Milwaukee come true.

Just a few short years ago Score and Colovito could have written their own tickets. Today, Herb is having difficulties winning in the minors and nine other AL clubs apparently aren't interested in acquiring Rock's services.

THREE CITY CHAMPS AS . . .

Bulldog Mark Soiled; Rosary Rocks Rams

By Art Kleasle

A solemn hush fell over the Mahaffey Stadium locker room Friday night as South High's Bulldogs lost their battle for an undisputed City League championship, dropping an 8-0 decision to Central's Pirates.

The loss was South's first in the league (and of the season) and set up a final three-way tie for the title with the Bucs and Whetstone (6-1).

SOME 7000 fans saw Central take advantage of a first-quarter break to gain the only score of the evening which proved to be enough to do the job.

Here's how it went: South took the ball on their own 46 with 5:40 to go in the first period.

In three plays, the Rebs moved to the Central 45 where a fourth-and-one situation arose. Coach Bob Jackson sent in Rick Anderson to punt.

AT THE snap of the ball several Pirates, led by end Gibson Hayes, poured through the Reb line with Hayes blocking and then covering the ball on the Reb 33.

Six plays later George Broadnax hit over right tackle from the three for the game's lone score. A conversion pass from Harold Winton to George Trammell made it 8-0 with just 43 seconds left in the period.

South bounced right back with its biggest march of the game. The Bulldogs moved from their own 23 to the Pirate seven.

BUT THE drive ended as the Rebs failed to make a first down on a fourth-and-two situation, mainly due to Central's tough forward wall.

South received another bad break just before the half ended when Paul Pate suffered a slight concussion and did not play the remainder of the game.

Statistics showed the Bulldogs ahead in all departments but the big one, the final score. The Rebs led in first downs (10-8), total yardage (201-154) and punt average (4-36—3-27).

IN OTHER finales Friday, Aquinas beat Brookhaven, 20-8, Marion - Franklin lost to Linden, 34-16 while Rosary bested St. Marys, 34-6.

ROSARY 34,
ST. MARYS 6

The Crusaders exploded for 22 points in the second period to subdue arch-rival St. Marys Saturday evening at Academy.

Neither club could find the goal in the first period but the Green-and-White suddenly found the range early in the second frame.

KENNY Pearrell went up the middle for ten yards to climax Rosary's first TD drive and then Don Spurlock romped home from the eight and the Crusaders were off and running.

Quarterback Randy Butler uncorked a 59-yard sling to Ed Roehrenbeck for Rosary's third first-half TD.

A pair of pass interceptions kept the Ram offense bogged down in the first half and fumbles kept St. Marys in hot water after intermission.

BUTLER tossed 20 yards to end Jim Groce and Billy Hasbrook slipped over from the one to account for the Crusaders' pair of post-intermission tallies.

The Rams' lone score came late in the game following a high pass from center on a punt attempt. St. Marys recovered inside the five and drove in to score with quarterback John Shepard driving in from the one.

The setback closed out the Rams '63 season at 4-5.

LINDEN 34,
M-F 16

The Panthers won their fourth straight City League contest and slipped into the first division with a win over the Red Devils.

LINDEN hopped off to a 22-0 halftime lead and then coasted to victory. Ding Banks scored twice to pace the winner's offense.

Ervin Andy counted both Red Devils TDs in the second half, driving in from the two and sprinting over from the 17. The loss completed M-F's '63 season at 2-7.

AQUINAS 20,
BROOKHAVEN 8

A pair of touchdown runs by Jim Fritter keyed the Terrier offense as Aquinas closed its '63 campaign by evening its grid mark.

THE IRISH took a 14-0 halftime lead and then cancelled out the Bearcats lone score in the final period with a tally of their own.

Fritter's TDs came on a short plunge and a 17 yard gallop while Paul Reiner contributed the other Irish score on a plunge.

The victory pulled Aquinas' final mark up to 3-3-1.

ONLY ROSARY remains to complete it '63 grid play among area elevens. The Crusaders (5-3) get the last shot at FCL leader West Jefferson (8-1), facing the Riders Friday evening at Academy (7:30 p.m.).

HODGE DODGE—St. Marys' halfback Mike Modge (15) gets set to shift gears and direction Saturday evening as he finds Rosary's Joe Zizek ready to apply a bear hug grasp. Action occured as Hodge returned a Crusader kickoff in second-period play.

KENNY CORNERED — Rosary fullback Kenny Pearrell (2) finds some stiff opposition in St. Marys' Vic Perdue (2) as the Crusader runner picks up yardage Saturday evening after taking a pass from quarterback Chris Young in fourth-period play. Rosary toppled St. Marys, 34-6.

'HE' GETS LETTERS

Dear Fearless:

Boy! When you goof — you REALLY goof. You have predicted two of our games wrong in the past weeks. You have had our cheerleaders write to you and now me.

NOW what do you think of our record? We beat West and Aquinas in spite of what you said. Now you think that Central will beat us. (Eds. note — Central defeated South last Friday, 8-0).

WELL, WE think that you will be wrong in making that statement. Our boys, the teachers, and student body will make a prediction of our own. That is to say. South High School will win the City League title for ourselves and no one else will have a share of the title.

Say something NOW, "Fearless."

A South High Student

PS — Please print this. I dare you!

Dear student:

MY FEW friends tell me I'm a rat if I run this letter. I hate to pass up a dare, however, I think your letter proves a point.

I'm sure this positive attitude and belief in your team was instrumental in achieving the fine record that South has established this past season.

Ready For The Hunt? Check Safety List First

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

All one need do to realize that hunting is really an exceedingly safe sport is to compare the very large number of hunters who go afield each season with the fairly limited number of hunting accidents, many of which are highly publicized.

The records prove that hunting accidents rank far down the list of general accidental casualties.

PRACTICALLY all hunting accidents due to firearms could be avoided if everyone who goes afield with a gun would constantly practice the simple fundamentals of safe gun handling. Not only would this keep our great traditional sport of hunting a safe sport, but safe shooting means better marksmanship.

There are a few safe gun handling tips, however, that every beginner, and experienced gunner, too, should impress upon his memory. With the upland game seasons opening here in just a week and a half (Nov. 15), it is time to review these rules.

Carry only empty guns, taken down or with the action open, into your auto, camp or home. Whenever you pick up a gun, whether you are indoors or out, ALWAYS first point the muzzle in a safe direction and examine the piece carefully to make sure it is not loaded.

THE POINTING of a loaded or unloaded gun toward a companion is a violation of every principle of good sportsmanship. It is the unpardonable sin of shooting ethics. Do it just once and you have lost the respect and comradeship of your companion, and branded yourself as either a thoughtless novice or a careless, dangerous shooter with whom it is unsafe to go afield. Watch that muzzle!

Leaving a loaded gun unattended is extremely dangerous. A companion may pick it up thinking it unloaded. A child could come along and get it. If propped against a tree or auto, it could fall down and discharge. All of these things have happened — don't let them happen to your gun.

When you are resting in the field, always lay your gun down flat on the ground, preferably unloading it first. Keep it away from your companions. No one can enjoy lunch looking down the muzzle of a gun.

IN CLIMBING over fences or obstructions, always pass your gun over to your companion and then pass his gun over. Do not climb a fence or jump a ditch with a loaded gun in your hands.

Before loading your gun check the barrel for obstructions — a stick, mud or snow can cause the gun to blow up when fired.

Always keep the safety on until you are ready to shoot. Do not anticipate game flushing and remove the safety, for if no targets appears then you are walking around with an accident about to happen.

MAKE SURE it's game before you aim! A hunter hardly looks like a pheasant or rabbit, yet mistaken identity causes some accidents each year. Wearing bright yellow or orange is a safer practice than the traditional red cap.

Be always alert when in the field with a gun.

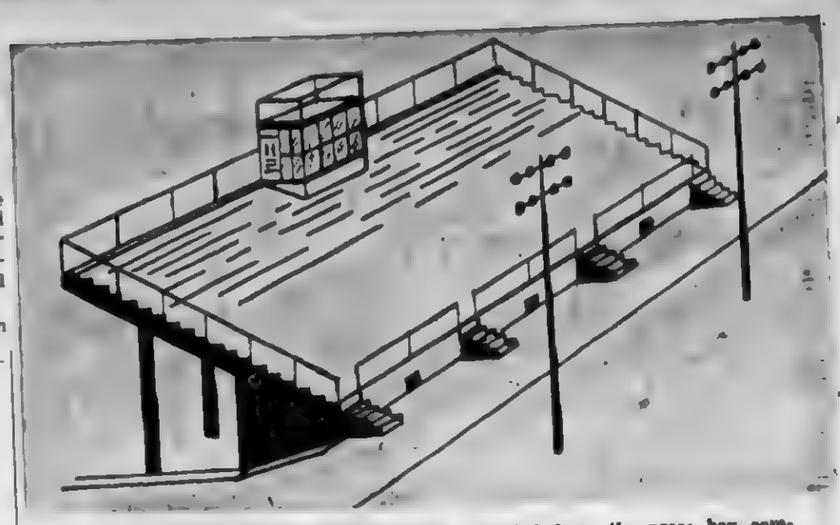
MARION-FRANKLIN GIVES REPORT ON NEW STADIUM

The all-weather track included in the plans for the $110,000 stadium at Marion-Franklin High School is nearing completion.



The inside and outside permanent curbs have been poured and the sub-layer of the track has been laid. After a layer of asphalt has been applied, the track will be topped with a rubber composition that will allow it to be used all-year around.

The discus circles have been completed and the pole vault pit dug in preparation for improved areas for all track and field events.

One-third of the concrete for the stadium which will seat 1,400 persons has been poured. School officials announced that wiring for the new scoreboard and the public address system is now finished.

After football season, the gridiron will be reseeded and fertilized, and the process repeated in the spring in an effort to establish an improved turf for the field.

Public restrooms have been added to the facilities.

A PUSH-BUTTON SCOREBOARD, operated from the press box complete with a three-foot catwalk for picture taking, will replace the old hand-operated one when the new stadium at Marion-Franklin is finished sometime this winter. The Boosters Club plans to operate the concession stand under the stadium and truck food to the old stands which will be used for visitors' seating. This procedure is expected to alleviate the half-time crowd problem.

J-C's Sponsor Michigan Special

The Columbus Jaycees will sponsor a special train to Ann Arbor for the OSU-Michigan game, Saturday, Nov. 23.

Total price for the trip will be $27 per person. This will include game ticket, train fare, liquid refreshments (all you can drink), snacks and noisemakers.

A $10 deposit will hold a reservation but the total fare must be paid by Friday, Nov. 15. There will be no refunds.

The train will leave the Columbus Union Station at 6:30 a.m. Saturday morning and arrive back at 10:30 p.m. that same evening.

For reservations, call or write The Columbus Jaycee Office, 30 E. Broad-st (CA 8-2773). Tickets are limited.

AC Topples Pirates, Nabs Bearcat Crown; Stars Play Saturday

Maryland AC won its seventh consecutive league game and the '63 Ohio Bearcat Football Association championship Sunday, downing the second-place Westside Pirates, 14-6, at Harley Field.

Late in the first period, Maryland end Pete Williams made a dazzling catch on the Pirate 25-yard stripe and raced over for the score. The conversion was good and Maryland led, 8-0, at intermission.

IN THE third stanza, fullback Larry Davis swept right end for 30 yards and the second Maryland TD, giving AC a 14-0 bulge entering the final period.

The Pirates came to life in the last stanza with end Henry Woods snagging a Gerry Henderson pass and galloping 44 yards to the Maryland one-yard line.

IN OTHER league action, Art Thomas scored six touchdowns to lead Milo-Roc-Mendel to a 60-0 romp over the Westgate Bears.

In the second game at Lockbourne, the Southside Eagles walloped the host Skyhawks, 58-0 as halfback Andrew Jefferson set the pace with 44 points.

Saturday evening at 8 p.m. the champion Maryland team will meet the Bearcat All-Stars at Central High School.

The All-Stars, consisting of six boys from the five teams, will be coached by the Pirate staff. The public is invited to attend.

THE ALL-STAR roster includes:

QB — Gerry Henderson, Pirates, Art Armstrong, Eagles, Clarence Collins, Milo-Roc; FBs — Rick Marcum, Skyhawks, Harold Wilson, Milo-Roc, Steve Thompson, W-G Bears; HBs — Art Thomas, Milo-Roc, Andy Jefferson, Eagles, Rick Stinson, Bears, Bill Prillerman, Bears, Kevin Astley, Skyhawks, Mike Sweeney, Skyhawks.

ENDS — Steve Nelson, Sky-Raymond, Milo, Ralph Fetsko, Skyhawks, Frank Hanson, Pirates, Reginald Scott, Pirates.

THE MAN to beat Sunday in the Western Optimist Club's "Outstrike the Star" pin contest is David Hoyle, who is averaging just under the 200 mark in two current leagues. Hoyle will be testing his best-ever 279-730 against your pin know how.

'Outstrike Star' Opens Saturday At Western

The Western Optimist Club will open its annual "Outstrike the Star" bowling contest Saturday and Sunday at Western Lanes, 500 Georgesville-rd.

The contest, which runs for four weekends through Dec. 1, will obtain funds to help support Little League baseball and basketball, Boy Scout work and scholarship grants for boys on the Westside.

Each week a different star will bowl and establish a new kegling mark for everyone to beat.

Saturday's star will be Don Shafer, bowling instructor at Western Lanes, who owns two 300 games and was twice ('60-'61) winner of the Central State Single Championship.

On tap Sunday will be David Hoyle, who averages just under 200 in two leagues and was runnerup (with Bob Ruhling) in the City Tournament Doubles in 1957.

MOOSE LODGE GRID CHAMPIONS

'Ring Out The Old, Ring In The New, Ring, Happy Bells

Bells From All Over The World Find Way To Groveport

"ISN'T IT JUST like the Viennese to come up with something like this?" asked Mrs. Adel as she showed the bell from that country with a cat perched on top as a handle and a mouse hiding within as a clapper and another with a handle doubling as a corkscrew. They are only two of the many displayed on the shelves in the home of the lady who taught two years in Canal Winchester before spending the next 47 years in the Columbus school system, the latter as the principal of the Livingston Avenue School. She retired in 1948 and is the widow of Dr. E. E. Adel.

When the Groveport Cruisers won their first Mid-Eight title last Friday night there was one bell that was silent that should have been heard.

It was the one owned by John S. Reary the trainer of the famed horse Cruiser whose name the Groveport athletes bear.

Given to Mrs. E. E. Adel by a niece for Reary whose mansion stood where the Groveport school now is, the bell is only one of the 527 bells in the retired school teacher's collection.

Recalling that her mother told her, as a little girl, of seeing Cruiser tethered in the front yard of the mansion, the remarkable 85-year-old related how the Arabian stallion from England came to become a tourist attraction of Groveport.

Reary, who received a half-ownership in the horse in appreciation of his outstanding training performances before the royalty of England, purchased the other owner's interest for $10,000.

Bringing the animal to this country, Reary learned he had on his hands a truly untrainable horse, $10,000 worth of spirit that could not be broken.

It is a small wonder that Mrs. Adel has been called upon time and time again to pack up her bells and share them and their history with others.

Since she began the collection 25 years ago, it has grown to include bells from all over the world, and behind each is history.

There is the long-handled—and loud— bell that belonged to a town crier of New England and the one commemorating the dancing feet of "Bloody Mary" centuries ago.

Mrs. Adel explained that Mary of Tudor who earned her a gory nickname during the 16th Century from her relentless persecution of any not adhering to the Roman Catholic faith, married Phillip of Spain.

England's climate did not agree with him and when he returned to Spain she danced in disdain, thus giving rise to the bell in her image with the clappers in the form of "dancing feet."

The legend of the doughnut bell of the Korea witch doctor tells of his meeting a tiger in the hills who asked for aid in removing a bone from his throat.

Stalling the tiger, the doctor returned home, carved a bell in the shape of a doughnut which he placed between the animal's jaws, so that he could not bite, and performed the operation through the hole in the center.

Wooden bells, stained black to ward off evil spirits, have found their way to her collection from the "props" of witch doctors of Africa. Some of these have an outside clapper with which they are struck, but all have a peculiarly weird tone.

Mrs. Adel has great bells from India, Portugal, Switzerland and Greece, each of which has a sound unique to its native land.

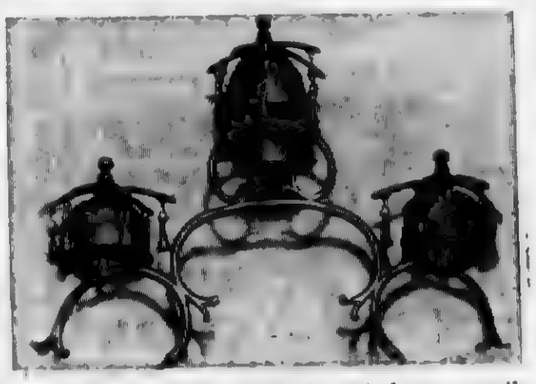
"Any self-respecting Portugese goat will starve to death unless wearing the bell with the distinctive tone it is accustomed to," she told.

"Nor is a Swiss goat able to live without a Swiss bell," she continued.

Those bells from Switzerland are painstakingly painted with miniature landscapes and are passed from father to son.

More Groveport history is represented with Mrs. Adel's "wet' and "dry" bells.

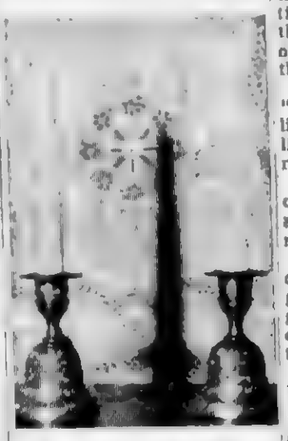
When the question of prohibition came up in this country shortly before the twenties, its proponents armed themselves with small clusters of bells tagged "dry" and trod the village streets.



Not to be outdone, the "wets" secured bells exactly like those of the "drys" and likewise serenaded the local residents.

"It was very confusing," recalled Mrs. Adel, "especially at night when the tags could not be seen."

If she wishes, Mrs. Adel can have music wherever she goes, with bells on her fingers, as the tiniest bells of her collection are those attached to silver rings.



IRAN DONKEY drivers have discovered a unique manner to combat an animal who is "stubborn as a mule." Mrs. Eda Adel is pictured with the bells attached to a flail used to tickle the ears of a balking donkey. The light tinkle of the bells either charms or irritates the beast to move on, explained the retired Columbus school teacher who now lives at 485 Main-st, Groveport.

THE DROSKY BELLS, designed to be worn on the heads of the horses which drew the sleighs in Russia once filled the winter nights with their music. However, during World War II most of them were melted down for scrap, and they have become a collector's item.

FROM the Isle of Bali came this story teller's bell. Made of wood with bamboo clappers, the bell is clanked continually as the raconteur weaves his tale. Mrs. Adel wonders whether it, in effect, would put the listener to sleep or help keep him awake.

SERVING a double role, these bell-candlestick holders were made to adorn the dinner tables of the wealthy of India. At rest, they provide light, but can be rung to summon the servants for the host and his guests. It is unlikely that American fire departments would smile upon this custom being introduced in the United States.

for public improvements, 93,341 to 45,954. Ratification of a three-year electric rate contract, with a reduction in rates, was passed 62,823 to 19,374.

In the municipal judgeship contests, incumbents Russell Leach and Dean Strausbaugh were re-elected comfortably and former councilman Tom Moody, Janis-dr, defeated incumbent William H. Brooks, 94,808 to 60,668.

In the large race for Columbus Board of Education positions, two incumbents were returned. They are Paul P. Langdon, 75 Powhatan-av, who is president (42,997 votes), and Donald E. Calhoun, Jr., attorney, 216 W. Beechwold-blvd (34,106). Filling two retirement vacancies are Mrs. Norma W. Jones, 1282 Woodnell-av, wife of the director of the Columbus Urban League (34,686), and Robert A. Ramsey, 189 S. Kellner-rd, attorney and past president of the Eastern Kiwanis Club (31,421).

Ted Hysell (R) keeps his job as clerk of courts, defeating John W. Clifford, 101,600 to 52,305. Paul Walker, unopposed as 12th District member of the State Board of Education, won 90,598 votes.

Conversion Calls For Extra Gas

Work has begun on an $18,400 Ohio Fuel Gas Co. pipeline in southeast Columbus to deliver more natural gas to Children's Hospital where the heating boilers are being converted to gas.

Elden H. Davis, Central District manager for Ohio Fuel, said about a quarter of a mile of new pipeline — six inches in diameter — is being laid north along Drake-al from an existing Ohio Fuel pipeline at Denton-al to Livingston-av, east along Livingston to Ann-st, north along Ann to Stone-st, east along Stone to 17th-st and north along 17th to the hospital, at Donaldson-st.

Work is expected to be completed about the middle of November.

OFF TO SEE THE WORLD

THEY'RE IN THE NAVY now. Janet Sue Glines and Patricia Michelle Williams were recently sworn in as WAVES by Chief Warrent Officer Don C. Zwer at the local recruiting office. Both girls graduated from South High in June and are members of the St. Paul's Lutheran Church. Pat is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Williams, 700 S. Pearl-st, and was a member of the South's marching band and of the orchestra and wind ensemble, worked as a cafeteria cashier and was publicity chairman for the production "Best of Broadway." Janet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Glines, 607 S. Fifth-st, also worked in the cafeteria, was a member of the Future Teachers of America, a library assistant and was in the cast of the senior play.

Wives-

through it all," she jokingly commented.

"I can't remember when we've had dinner at home together," she rued, "except for an occasional snack to buoy us for a public appearance."

Asked whether she was hurt by the attacks made on the mayor by his opponent, she said that she never could become completely immune to criticism of him, but that she realized that many things are said in the heat of a campaign that are not seriously meant.

"I just try to be a little bigger than the next person," she explained.

Her only real regrets are that she does not have the time to spend with her family and old friends.

"Our grandchildren are growing out of their babyhood so fast, and it seems the only time I see my children is at church," she sadly commented.

Asked if during the final phases of the campaign the tension mounted, she denied it.

"When you first get started there is a great deal of responsibility and hard work ahead. But as the end is in sight, I become more serene, knowing that 'what is to be, is to be,' " she said philosophically.

"I was well indoctrinated for this campaign," Mrs. Maurice Portman said when asked what she felt after her husband's first try at elective office.

"The pace was just as hectic when we worked for Jack Sensenbrenner in his previous campaigns," she explained.

Recalling that she has spoken at as many as four neighborhood coffees in a morning she claims that she has enjoyed every minute of her first introduction to public speaking.

"But it's a wonder I haven't turned brown from all the coffee that went along with the speeches," she laughed.

"The greatest sacrifice the children and I have made is their father's absence at the dinner table," Alice Portman stated, explaining that in their home the dinner hour is the time when the entire family shares the day's experiences.

"I just can't inject into this hour what my husband does," she stressed.

She brought out that she feels that unless the wife of a candidate takes an active part in her husband's ambitions she could not help but feel "left out" of his life.

"And that is not for me," she emphasized. "Whatever my husband does is vitally important to me."

When Harvey Alston decided to run for city council his wife said, "You're on your own now." But she didn't stick to it. If she had, it would have been understandable. Before his retirement as Inspector in the Columbus Police Department early this year, Alston and his wife Fannie were always available to people who wanted to discuss everything from traffic tickets to departmental policy.

"And a large percent of these complaints came at three o'clock in the morning," Mrs. Alston recalled.

"When he retired, I was looking forward to a little peace and quiet, but the telephone rings more than ever now," she explaind.

Pointing out that her responsibilities as a school teacher prevents her from helping as much as she would like to, she never-the-less has made a point of attending every dinner and meeting to which she has been invited that did not conflict with her school duties.

"I actually don't see my husband anymore except at these affairs, and often we are at different meetings," she said.

In spite of her original coolness to the whole idea, Mrs. Alston admitted she now would be disappointed if her husband failed to obtain a seat on council.

"I know he could do a good job," she stated.

These four women are but a few of those who have been in there slugging for the men they love.

Gallant may be the word for Carrie, but it also describes the efforts of the candidate's wife.

And the job wasn't over Tuesday for any of them.

The wives of the winners will continue in public life, while those of the losers get busy patching up the wounded edges of their husbands.

Both jobs take a lot of time.

Leaf Pick-Up To Continue

The city will continue its annual leaf pick-up this week. Residents are asked to place the leaves in the gutters for the pick-up.

RANGERS SCORE HIGH FOR PURE CORN

DEMONSTRATING HOW NOT to bowl are five members of the Hamilton Local Township High School Band for whom the Boosters are sponsoring a head-pin tournament Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 9 and 10, from noon until 10 p.m. at Rainbow Lanes, S. High-st. Those patches and topsy-turvy pom-poms are all to bring out how badly the band needs the new uniforms which will be purchased with tournament proceeds. It is doubtful that Steve Armstrong made a strike even with Bob Hill's help and Florence Edmundson's keen eye lining up the ball. Sandy Craven, standing to the left, and Sonnie Borden are lending moral support to his effort.

Grill Owner Robbed At Shadeville

A total of $1,500 in cash was reported stolen from Emanuel Lombardi, operator of a Shadeville tavern, early Monday night, according to Franklin County Sheriff's deputies.

Reports stated Lombardi was in his garage, adjacent to his home on Jackson-st, when a bandit entered, placed a gun in his back and ordered him into the basement of the house.

Lombardi said he opened the safe and the burglar found it empty. When the robber threatened to kill Lombardi, the victim led him upstairs and handed over $1,500.

After taking Lombardi back into the basement and taping his hands and arms, the robber fled. Mrs. Lombardi discovered her husband in the basement about 15 minutes later.

Aaron Burr went on trial for treason May 22, 1807.

NAMED LEADER OF '64 CANCER CRUSADE

JACK NICKLAUS, one of the leaders on the professional golf circuit, is becoming the leader of the 1964 Cancer Crusade of the American Cancer Society. He is pictured, at left, with Dr. J. W. Miles, president of the American Cancer Society's Franklin County Unit, as they begin plans for the money-raising program. "If Jack can get money for cancer as fast as he gets it on the golf course," Dr. Miles said in announcing Nicklaus' acceptance of the chairmanship, "the American Cancer Society will be setting new records in Franklin County next year."

'Boob Tube' Is Misnomer

The day may yet come when a parent will instruct his offspring to lay aside the school books for half an hour in favor of watching television—a reverse of the present normal situation. And, under the proper conditions, this could be sound advice.

The much maligned "boob tube" is coming of age. Thanks to significant inroads by educators throughout the nation, educational television has moved from the drawing board to the classroom—and now, to the living room.

This week marks the beginning in the Franklin County viewing area of "Operation Alphabet," a television classroom for the more than 15,000 Central Ohio residents unable to read or write English well. The program is carried by WBNS-TV, channel 10, from 6 to 6:30 a.m., and will run for a 20-week period.

Television in the classroom, particularly at the college level, has become an integral part of the education process. In 1964, national educational television will be furthered by a $6 million Ford Foundation grant.

The array of programming for educational television stations, such as WOSU-TV, is a startling revelation to those who equate the medium with classroom lectures. To be sure, the medium offers the desirable advantage of presenting outstanding instructors to more students than could otherwise be reached. But the full content of programming is both exciting and academically rewarding.

Available programs range from Beethoven to Woody Herman; from opera and ballet to the art of pantomime and the mysteries of the Okefenokee Swamp; from incisive reports on the international scene to that fabled bit of Americana—the Old West; from Mae West's version of "Frankie and Johnny" to Oscar Brand's songs of the outlaw, and from science and psychology to varied drama and the history of the circus in America.

All of this is available to those whose television sets are equipped to receive UHF transmission, and the adaptation of sets not now so equipped is a relatively inexpensive proposition.

We Owe Much To Veterans

Veterans' Day, Nov. 11, will be marked by many salutes to the men and women, living and dead, who have been responsible for the defense of our country.

The vast majority of these brave men and women who have defended our United States in times of war are still alive. Most assuredly we have a national obligation to these living veterans and to the 500,000 dependent parents, widows and orphans who today are receiving some form of benefit from the Veterans Administration. This is no more than just.

Veterans' Day is a good time to remind ourselves that our birthright of freedom was brought forth from the blood of a revolutionary war. It has endured only because men and women are still prepared to offer their life's blood to maintain freedom.

While we pay due honor and respect to those who have died or have suffered disabling injuries in our defense, let us also recognize all others who served the cause of freedom in our Armed Forces.

'But, Dad, This Is Educational TV!'

Guest Pulpit . . Thanksgiving Is Real When We Follow Faith

I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me.
—Philippians 4:13

As we enter the season of Thanksgiving we will undoubtedly, as a nation, make our way to synagogues and churches to offer prayers of thanksgiving for another year and its many provisions and blessings.

Rev. Kirsch

It will be difficult for us to realize how different our prayers will be from those of the religious community in Red China, India, and many other parts of the world. It might well be that if we were in some of these places we might find it exceedingly difficult to be thankful. We are told that even today Christians are still meeting together in Red China proclaiming their faith in Christ and finding in Him the strength to make life possible. We remember the song that came out of that country several years ago:

We will not be afraid,
We will not be afraid,
We will look upward, and travel onward,
And not be afraid!

Hungry, destitute, naked, without, housing and often the family scattered in communes, yet a vibrant faith and strength that most of us have never known. In these lands there is no doubt about what it means to be a Christian and who the Christians are.

It has been rather popular lately to talk about the great shortage of ministers in our day. Isn't the problem far greater than that? Isn't the real problem the shortage of committed Christians? The moment has arrived when we must witness to our faith in such a way that there is no doubt about our commitment. Too long as Christians we have taken on the characteristics of the chameleon. We have been all things to all people and the words of the limerick fit us:

Mother calls me Willie
Father calls me Will Teacher calls me William
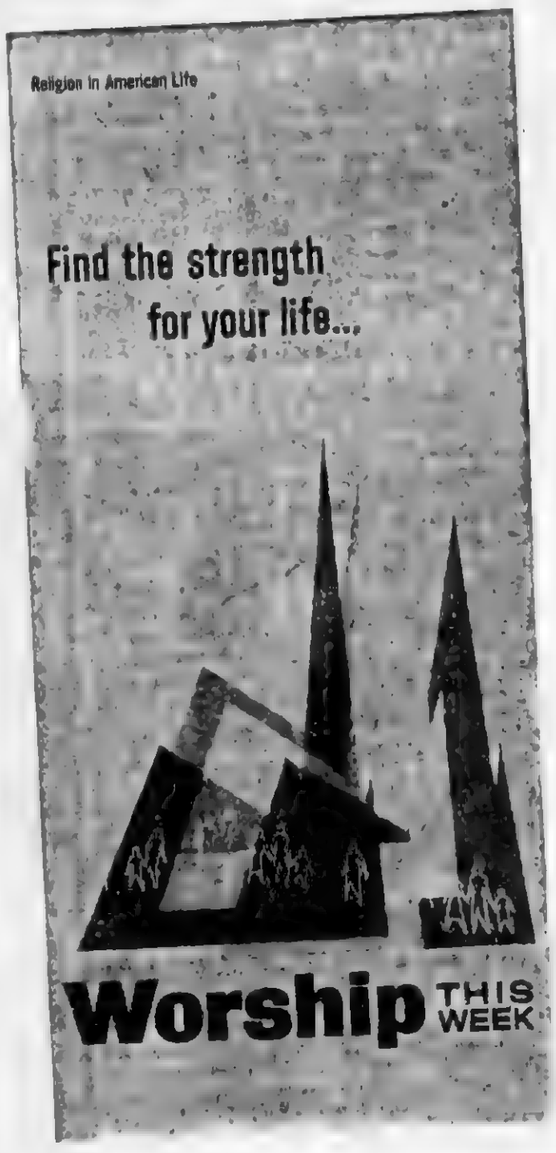
And the fellows call me Bill.

We are known for all sorts of things that we do and associations that we have, but seldom for the things we stand for. We dream of peace, but not much more; we talk about the racial problems, but not much more; we feel sorry for the hungry and the naked, but not much more. It is rather easy to dream, to talk, to feel sorry. But if the world is to be saved and if life is to have meaning, we must begin to practice the faith that we proclaim.



The practice of this faith may lead to a cross but it will put meaning and purpose into our lives and will demonstrate the sincerity of our thanksgiving.

Project Combats Emptiness In Lives

Religion in American Life Week (Nov. 3-9) is being observed in this area with a special plea for attendance each week this month at local church services.

The Religion in American Life (RIAL) project brings into sharp focus the paradoxes of today's American Way of Life. In the midst of a nationwide religious revival, the news headlines predominate with racial strife, the banning of prayer in our public schools and attempts to remove the words "under God" from our Pledge of Allegiance.

The spiritual concept of the RIAL program is perhaps best summed up in an announcement carried by Rev. Robert Clark in the bulletin of the Parkview Presbyterian Church of Reynoldsburg which said in part:

"We are, with or without our consent, caught in the feverish activity of a technological revolution. We live in a world with a split personality so that we find our lives fuller in some ways yet empty in other ways. Fuller of doing, but empty of values; fuller of movement, but empty of direction.

"You and I need a reason for living. We sense that we must build a foundation for life, or drift into meaninglessess. Christian faith nurtured through worship and study provides that reason. It is that for which man is looking . . . we seek to remind all that every man's life is related to God.

"Until man acknowledges this relationship, there is emptiness within and alienation without. Thus we urge you: Find something to believe in. Find strength for your life . . . through worship every Sunday."

An Editor's Outlook — by Jenkin Lloyd Jones
Florence—Where Modern Man Was Born

FLORENCE, ITALY—Paolo Uccello sat a long time at his window that day watching the peasant women, the beggars, the soldiers and the gentry pass along the Via Calzaioli. The year was 1425.

Ever since there had been streets, men had watched other human beings pass along them. But there is a difference between watching and observing. And Paolo was this day an observer. He was seeing what all men had seen and what no man had discovered. We call it perspective.

Jones

Holding his hand a few inches before his eyes Paolo observed that worshippers coming out of the Duomo were two knuckles high, that as they crossed the piazza they grew to a length of a whole hand, but as they moved away toward the Ponte Vecchio they diminished until upon turning the corner they measured less than a fingernail.

He turned to his canvas. He re-sketched the background of angels, making them much smaller. He redrew the allegorical road, making the far end much narrower than the near end. He stepped back and scanned the results with growing excitement. Then he began mixing his colors.

You cannot say, of course, that Paolo Uccello—a painter known only to art scholars—ushered in the modern age. But you can say that the modern age awaited the arrival of men capable of freeing themselves from old errors. It awaited men who were willing to question and test and explore. And because, for a brief hour, an amazing concentration of such men lived and worked in Florence you can say in truth that here the Dark Ages were shattered by the first great light beams of realistic art and scientific thought. Here was born the Renaissance.

The greatness of Florence began in honesty. As early as 1262 the Florentine bankers started issuing letters of credit. No longer was it necessary for a man to carry his wealth with him on the brigand infested roads. He merely tucked away a letter that made a promise. And, because the promises of the Florentine bankers were good, trade, which had been in paralysis in Western Europe since the fall of Rome, began to revive.

Some historians find the beginning of the Renaissance in the Crusades. The Crusades shook Europe out of its lethargy. Young men whose ancestors had never traveled beyond their village came back wearing the cross of Jerusalem, fired with the magnificence of the East. Europe developed a taste for pepper and spices. It was inevitable that the newborn commerce would expand and that new ideas would seize the European mind. The Renaissance would have been born without Florence.

But never so suddenly and so magnificently.

The greatest of the bankers were the Medicis. By the early 1400's word began to spread among the groping artists of Italy that there was always a place at the Medici table. If the artist were good there'd be an occasional bag of gold. If he were very good there'd be a villa.

And so they came. Fra Angelico, Botticelli, Leonardo da Vinci, Raphael and Michelangelo flourished in Florence. Ghiberti spent half his life on the bronze doors of the Baptistry. Cellini wrought wonders in gold and silver. Giotto raised tall towers and Brunelleschi rediscovered the art of building domes. You stand below the David. You climb the Campanile. You stare at the walls of the Uffizi and the Pitti Palace. Here was an explosion of genius.

But Florence was much more than art. A century before the artists came, Dante wrote the first classic in a vernacular tongue and thus, with Chaucer, pried literature out of the hands of the Latin scholars. Machiavelli composed his "Prince" for Lorenzo the Second. It reads today like a recipe for rascality, but it was a serious treatise on the art of government as opposed to the crudities of the sword, the whip and the rack.

Like waves flowing out from a cast stone, the stirrings of Florence washed up on distant shores. Lorenzo the Magnificent toyed with humanism and two centuries later the cult of Reason rose in France and began to cloud the king-loyalty of the American colonists. Modern research is a descendant of Leonardo's experimentation. Galileo, who knew Florence well, was forced to recant his heresies but the science of astronomy awaited the day he questioned the Aristotelian belief that the universe revolved around the earth.

Here 500 years ago behind these massive walls and in these few square miles of twisted streets Western Man shook off the despair, the past-worshipping, the death-preoccupation of the Dark Ages. Florence was beauty. She was energy, curiosity and hope. And by the time her match went out she had set the world on fire.

THE ENEMIES OF FREEDOM

We chose to help defeat German Imperialism in 1918. The victory was gained despite the defection of the Russians in 1917. Then the Communists gained power over them and withdrew from the war.

Between the two great wars the Nazis gained control over the Germans. They went beyond the legitimate rebellion against the unjust provisions of the Versailles Treaty and perverted the natural and proper patriotism of the Germans into a supernationalism armed for world conflict. The Communists did the same in Russia.

Communism is worse, if possible, than Nazism, or Fascism, as it was known in Italy. Both are barbarian enemies of freedom. When Hitler signed a "friendship" pact with Stalin, it was a bid for time only, each having his own reasons. When the Communists fought the Nazis they were not real allies of the free peoples. Apparently their purpose was to defeat the Nazis so later world conquest would be easier for them. They always spied on free peoples.

Now again we choose freedom. We stand arrayed against the Communists and they against us. The issue was joined in Korea in 1950. This was the Third Great War, or rather the third installment of the one begun in 1914. Again we learned the long, hard way. Of the two great enemies, one was defeated in 1945. There will be no peace so long as the other exists.

Communism began with the Communist Manifesto of Karl Marx in 1848. Later writers such as Lenin, Stalin and others have elaborated the doctrine, but all have stuck to the original theme, the eventual conquest of all peoples to bring them under the dictatorship of the proletariat.

We didn't believe Adolf Hitler when he wrote his "Mein Kampf." But we soon learned. What will it take to make us believe the Communists now?

It says here . . . . . .

Freedom is not negotiable.

Frosting On The Cake

By
"UNCLE DOC" ROSE — U.S.A.

Next year 1964, come November, is this country's hour of truth. The next national election is destined to go one of two ways. If the "turn to the right" now obvious all over these United States is a sign of returning sanity, hurrah for the instinctive good sense of about 60 per cent of our literate voters.

If a majority of our people are now hopelessly "conditioned" to something for FREE, or "pie in the sky," we are already down the drain as a once-free and proud people.

Honest awareness of this great land's founding and evolution upward, both economically and culturally, cannot fail to prove the Divine intent of constitutional government for all Americans. The so-called common man once never had a chance between the cradle and the grave to become more than a "chattel of circumstance" and the whims of his hereditary masters.

Then, nearly 200 years ago, something sacredly new in man's experience came out of the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia. The common man, for the first time in human history, had an opportunity to live under reign of law.

For 30 years, however, every madness contrary to the common good has bloomed like ragweed under one fake name after another. The New Deal turned into a "new delirium"; the New Frontier has turned into a madhouse of pretense and double-talk and political use of ignorance, until millions have no awareness of what it is doing to them.

No political genius can build a "tailor made" heaven for any body politic. The time is at hand for 1964 to keep a date with liberty and law, not one more seduction by the "politicians."

Local Delegates To Attend OSBA Meet In Columbus

Delegates of 670 boards of education will meet in Columbus next Thursday and Friday, Nov. 14 and 15, for the eighth annual Ohio School Boards Association convention. Eleven delegates will represent boards in the Hartley Newspapers circulation area.

An expected 3,000 board members, administrators and school business officials will determine policy on adequate school financing. Included will be discussion on a resolution concerning methods of raising additional state money.

As submitted, the resolution calls for legislative action to increase sales taxation and broaden its base to include taxes on service, repairs and amusements. The resulting revenue would be applied to increased state support of school districts.

Area delegates and the districts they represent are as follow:

James Dougan, Franklin County, Bexley City; Donald Weiser, Canal Winchester; Paul Langdon, Columbus City; Ralph Roof, Hamilton Local; Wilbur Schneider, Jefferson Local; John Hummel, Madison Local.

Also, Walter Bartlett, Reynoldsburg Local; J.B. Holding, Scioto-Darby Local; Clarence Berry, South-Western City; Russel Welch, Washington Local, and L. M. Robinson, Whitehall City.

Local Executives On Ohio S&L Exec Committee

Four Columbus savings and loan executives will serve on the Ohio Savings and Loan League Executive Committee, according to Joseph E. Linville, executive secretary of the organization.

They are: Harl O. Davis, president of the Scioti Savings Association; Harold C. Esper, president of Main Federal Savings; Linville, and Leland D. Peoples, president of Hub Federal Savings and Loan.

Senior Citizens Center

275 McDowell-st

By ARDATH LYNCH

The annual Senior Citizens Selling Mart has been set for Dec. 9 through 13. It will be held at the Senior Citizens' Recreation Center, 275 McDowell-st, and will be open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. On Wednesday and Friday it will be open until 8 p.m.

The Selling Mart is sponsored by the Columbus Recreation Department and offers an opportunity to all Franklin County residents over 60 years of age to sell things they have made.

Those wishing to sell items do not have to be members of the Senior Citizens Center. Eligibility consists of being 60 years of age or over and a resident of Franklin County. Items to be sold are to be brought to the center on Dec. 4 and 5. Displays will be set up as items are brought in.

Articles being sold will be paintings, woodcraft, decorations, needlecraft, leathercraft, holiday gifts, ceramics, household items, jewelry and gifts. The public is invited to attend the sale. The center's canteen will be open at lunchtime for sandwiches and coffee. There also will be antiques for sale.

General chairman for this year's Selling Mart is Mrs. J. A. Davis, 1252½ W. Broadst. Other chairmen include Mrs. F. R. Christy, 494 Kimball-pl, entries; Mrs. W. E. Elstun, 3255 Fishinger-rd,publicity; Mrs. Robert Draper, 104 S. Westmoor-av, displays; Mrs. Howard Bevis and Mrs. Herbert Andrew, special promotions; Mrs. A. L. Greenspun, antiques, and Mrs. Karl Ausenheimer, selling.

CHEESE FOR CHRISTMAS

ELLEN ROSENFELD takes the first step in her role of gourmet of Wisconsin Cheddar cheese being offered by Bells for Mental Health. Proceeds from the sale will be used to purchase special gifts for the Columbus State Hospital Gift Shop. At Christmas the patients can send gifts to their families at no cost to themselves. The cheese, available by the jar or the case, can be obtained by calling Mrs. Robert Jeffrey, II, at BE. 5-2073.

Finalists Announced In Homemaker Search

Women in the Hartley Newspaper areas are pleased that the role of homemaker is being recognized in the Suburban Homemaker of the Year search. They are proud of the recognition being given their new status as housewife which spotlights the many activities of every day living.

Many nominating letters for these outstanding homemakers were received by the Suburban Homemaker Editor from neighbors, friends and relatives. As all good things must come to an end, the deadline for nominations was Oct. 26. Since then the local judges have been busy selecting and interviewing finalists. Local winners will be announced later from the list of finalists appearing below.

Local winners will be sent on an all-expense paid trip by Hartley Newspapers to Chicago from Nov. 20 to 22 for the National Award Ceremonies and a chance for the American Dairy Association National Award of $5,000 cash.

Priscilla LaRue Lenox
HI. 4-1851

The crowning of Carla Jividen as South High's 1963 homecoming queen was the continuation of a tradition in the Jividen family, begun in the 1940's. Carla is the third queen bearing that name, continuing the precedent set by her two aunts, Reva Jividen Alton and Ruth Jividen Esswein, about 20 years ago.

The two aunts, with their families, were among the well-wishers present on Carla's big night a few weeks back. Also present were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jividen. The aunts were active at South in many fields, setting another tradition for their young niece to follow.

This the honor student has done as varsity cheerleader, delegate to Buckeye Girls' State, Student Council secretary, clerk in Student Court, and a member of "Y" Teens, Girls' Glee Club, Philo, GAA, Masquers, etc. The senior is planning to attend college next year and major in home economics.

An amusing incident of Queen Carla's crowning concerned her father, Carl. The resident of 197 Frebis-av had not visited his high school alma mater since his graduation until the October homecoming, and noted "his first time back in years, and he was in the spotlight as his daughter's escort on her big moment." This was necessitated by the fact that Carla's escort for the event was still changing his football togs, as he is a member of the "best team ever" at South.

Carla's aunts are still extremely active in South Side affairs, as many readers know. Mrs. Esswein, who currently lives at 883 Bruck-st, will be moving soon to Schaft-dr. Mrs. Alton, also a May Day queen, resides at 1377 S. Roosevelt-av.

The birthday list for today—children, teens and adults—includes these residents: Duane Harrison, Ruby Hurst, Mathew Sauer, Kemberly Sheets, Ronnie Smith, Joyce Hopkins, Peggy Ward, Steven Moore, Penny Davis, Barbara Gregory, Sue Hall, Jacqueline Sharp, Virlie Westenberg, Rosemary Parks, Donovan McKnight, Steven Howey.

Also, Stephen McVey, Rachel Dixon, Paul Barton, Mary Merritt, Virginia May, Wally Dean, Leonard Reynolds, Doris Holt, Mildred Telfer, Rosemary Gutridge, Jane Fennell, Bob Rothwell, Mike Franz, Claire Harsonye, Eva McNeill, Roger Milligan, Otto Waldner, Bob Rice, Norma Jones, Linda Bauchmayer, Nellie Doiron and Flossie Weismiller.

Anniversary greetings to Clem and Helen Fisher, Pat and Delvin Anderson.

The ailing list includes Irene Wolfe, Mt. Carmel, Room 346; Leland Lynn and Delbart Carr, St. Anthony; Helen Arrick, Room 105 SW, Doctors Hospital; Mrs. Michael McKnight and Mrs. Goldie Eastmon, in Mercy Hospital. Eva McNeill, 674 Reinhard-av, had the misfortune of mashing a finger recently. It has given her considerable trouble.

A special plea is made this year for reader-participation in the "Gifts for Giving," this writer's project for the patients at Benjamin Franklin TB Hospital. We will not have the wonderful assistance of Mrs. Bier, who is nursing a son back to health, following a stroke. Our need of toys for children is always great, and our "doll' lady's inability to cooperate will make this a larger problem than ever. Do think of it, please?

The Southwood Church of Christ will be the scene of a revival Nov. 10 to 17, at 7:30 each evening except Saturday. Fred Dunn will be the evangelist, while Mr. and Mrs. Roger Gibson will be in charge of the music. Special youth meetings will be held Monday through Friday at 3:45 p.m. at the church. Nursery service will be provided for the evening services.

Members of the South Side "Y" Mothers Club are reminded that the time and date of the November meeting are off schedule. Bill Pepper of WBNS-TV will present "Fluffs Are Funny" on Tuesday, Nov. 12. Because of Pepper's television commitments, the meeting will start at 7 p.m. All interested women are urged to be present.

PNAO, Division 12, will meet Tuesday, Nov. 12, 7:30 p.m. at the YWCA, 65 S. Fourth-st. New officers of the group are Olive George, president; Isabelle Peters, vice-president; Dorothy Loughran, secretary, and Ethel McFarland, treasurer.

The annual turkey dinner and bazaar of the WSCS of Gates-Fourth Methodist will be held tonight (Thursday), from 5 to 8 p.m. Tickets are $1.50 for adults, 75 cents for children.

The Columbus visit of Ella Rogers, now a resident of Miami, Fla., was celebrated by friends who held a luncheon in her honor. The friends were Ethel Edwards, Nina Mitchell, Mary Borror, Ruth Frank and Dorothy Suttles.

Trudeau Guild 10 will meet at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 13, at the home of Mrs. Louis Whitacre, 158 Southwood-av. The guild is sponsoring a rummage sale on Tuesday, Nov. 19, at 627 E. Livingston-av. Donations of rummage would be appreciated. The ways and means chairmen are Dorothy Kessler and Mary Eichel.

The Harmony Glee Club is sponsoring a chop suey dinner Saturday, Nov. 9, starting at 5 p.m. The Glee Club is located at Kossuth-st.

The Capital University String Quartet will present a concert Tuesday, Nov. 12, at 8 p.m. in the Toledo Room at Capital University.

The regular meeting of St. Leo's Altar Rosary Society will be at 8 p.m. Monday, Nov. 11. The speaker will be Mrs. G. Franklin Selleck.

Mrs. Ralph Fandauzzi, 258 E. Morrill-av, is now home after visiting relatives in Italy for several weeks.

Guests are invited to attend the Wednesday, Nov. 13, meeting of the Mothers of Twins Club, 7:30 p.m. at the Main Federal Bank of the Central Point Shopping Center. The program will feature the art of cake decorating.

Area residents are invited to attend the Hoyl Avenue School Variety Show, to be held Nov. 14 and 15. We hope to be able to include more information next week.

The Barrett Junior High Parent and Family Life Study Program will be held at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, Nov. 13. Theme for the meeting is "What Does School Counseling Do?" A coffee klatch will follow the meeting.

Chuck Selby and his band will furnish the music for the Wednesday, Nov. 13, dance at the YWCA, 8:45 to 11:45 p.m.

The Women's Guild of the Hungarian E&R Church will meet Tuesday, Nov. 12, at 8 p.m. Hostesses will be Irma Rosenauer, Ann Sabo, Margaret Santo and Carrie Szekely.

The committee for the football team will be in charge of the weekly dinner held at the Moose Lodge, 36 W. Sycamore-st, on Wednesday, Nov. 13, 5 to 7 p.m. Steak, gravy, mashed potatoes, salad, cake and coffee will be on the menu. Co-chairmen are Chapter 206 Senior Regent Helen Saylor and Bud Daniels.

Roosevelt Junior High PTA's Fall Festival will take place Friday, Nov. 8, from 6 to 10 p.m. A variety show and dancing are two of the many features of the evening.

Golden wedding anniversary congratulations are in order for Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Poling, 205 Hanford-st, Saturday, Nov. 9. The two are parents of two daughters and five grandchildren.

The Senior High MYF of Livingston Methodist Church will hold a hayride on Saturday, Nov. 9, at 6:30 p.m. Destination will be Ol' McDonald's Farm. The young adults, 19 and over, of the church will hold a fall outing at Grandview Heights Park. The WSCS of Livingston Methodist meets today at First Church at 1:45 p.m. Circle 2 will meet on Tuesday, Nov. 12, at 12:30 p.m. Mrs. Nelson is chairman.

Circle and class meetings of the Ohio Avenue EUB Church to be held in the week are these: Martha Circle, today (Thursday), at noon; Friendship Class, Friday, Nov. 8, at 7:30 p.m.; 3 F's Class, Sunday, Nov. 10, at 7:30 p.m., and Young Married Couples Class, Sunday, Nov. 10, at 7:30 p.m.

Today's column was a hard one for this columnist to write, for her thoughts were constantly straying to the small, thin man who will never again answer when addressed as "Pop." For him, his greatest treasures were the accomplishments of his children and grandchildren, whether small deeds or large. He instilled in his progeny a zest for life, which he himself displayed right up to his final illness.

He instilled that his offspring learn the value of setting goals, then working hard to achieve them. His lessons were not given in today's fashion of "permissive parenthood," but in the tradition of the Old World, where he had been born. A born athlete, he proved many times he had the so-called fighting "spirit," overcoming near-fatal illnesses when doctors had given up on him. He possessed a keen intellect.

For proof, poverty and the lack of child labor laws found him only able to go to public school for three years. He then managed two years in night school, in young manhood. It would be impossible to do so now, but he entered college later on. His first year was pretty dismal, but he was an A student by the second year. His experience makes one take a long look at today's hocus-pocus in some areas of schooling.

His last years were made fullsome by his membership in the Schiller Park Golden Age Club, and that organization shall always be near and dear to this writer. Knowing how much pleasure he derived from this group, we hope this profile will serve to rouse the interest of some of our senior citizens, and perhaps they too will have more meaning brought into their lives. It will ease the loss of saying the final good-bye to "Pop."

MISS CORNETET INITIATES PROJECT

South Classes Trace Freedom's Roots

What began as a Latin Class project at South High School is turning into a school-wide effort.

Miss Lucile Cornetet, believing it important that youth understand and take pride in their cultural heritage began this fall to have her classes trace the American desire for freedom.

Through the study of Greek and Roman civilizations she led them to the realization that Democracy, as known today, stems from the roots of these first early civilizations.

When learning of the project entitled "The Language of Freedom" the school administration asked her to present her idea to other departments so that they too could relate the past to the present.

Miss Cornetet has pointed out to her students how our customs are affected by those of the Greeks and the Romans, how our government is patterned after that known in the days of Caesar, the influence of the classical of 2000 years ago upon our arts and that many of our sciences are based on the concepts discovered by the ancients.

Latin is known as a "dead language" but according to the enthusiasm of her students. Miss Cornetet has brought it to life for them.

Airman Assigned To Turkey Unit

Airman 3/c David L. Watkins, 1113 E. Innis-av, is being reassigned to a USAF support unit in Turkey following graduation from the technical training course for USAF data processing machine operators at Sheppard AFB, Tex.

He is the son of staff sergeant and Mrs. Charles M. Hudson of Altus, Okla., and is a graduate of Marion-Franklin High School.

Mrs. Lenox's Father Dies

Gasper Ellis LaRue died last Wednesday at the home of his daughter, Priscilla LaRue Lenox, 1411 S. Sixth-st.

Until becoming ill six weeks ago, LaRue, a retired employe at Battelle Institute, had lived at 262 Morrill-av.

Two sons, Frank, of 405 N. Cassingham-rd, and Don, of 1143 Mulford-rd, survive with three brothers, Joe, John and Herman LaRue, who live in Pennsylvania, and one sister, Aletha Bennett, of Indio, Calif. There are seven grandchildren. His wife, Ruth LaRue, died in 1943.

He was a member of the South Church of Christ.

Service was held at the A. K. Graumlich Funeral Home and Rev. Ellis Wesner of the Southwood Church of Christ officiated. Interment was at Green Lawn Cemetery.

A LITTLE KNOWLEDGE IS - - -

SHE IS ONLY a college sophomore but Susie Berger, far right, stirs up chaos in the "The Little Dog Laughed," Marion-Franklin's Little Theatre production scheduled Friday, Nov. 8, at 8 p.m. From the left are Sharon Jacobs, another cast member and Sandy Johnson, the student director. In the play Susie uses the techniques she has learned as a beginning psychology student on her family and friends resulting in explosive situations. Directed by Mrs. Elizabeth Tompkin, Gary Pemberton and Sharon Jacobs play Susie's father and mother while Joe Smith plays her fun-loving brother. Supporting roles are taken by Mark Miller, Emily Sommer, Pam Fannin, Jim Nippert, Diane Casto and Rick Schleppe.

South High Sets Up Advertising Activity

An Advertising Club has been organized at South High School to aid students in developing vocational sales ability.

The club will handle advertising for South's newspaper the "Optic" and yearbook, the "Lens." Achievement awards will be given to students with outstanding service. Activities for the year include a dance after a basketball game, awards banquet, and various fund raising projects.

Officers for the club are Susie Saul, president; Carol Walker, vice-president, and John Corbett, treasurer. David Cary, business education teacher, will serve as advisor.

FTA AT OPEN HOUSE

Future Teachers of America members served as hostesses at South High's Open House Oct. 29. Twenty members of this organization were on hand to guide parents to classrooms, pass out PTA pamphlets, and usher.

Students participating in this project were:

Marilyn Baugh, Sharon Babylon, Carol Boyd, Lynn Chambers, Pat Coon, Nancy Eichenberger, Vicki Gross, Beverly Gurevitz, Claire Harsanyi, Jim Hemmerly, Chris Hepner, Diane Harmon, Jody Keach, Barbara Reynolds, Diana Rausch, Sue Steffens, Margaret Stirling, Natasha Toerr Buns, Jeanne Wiegand and Patsy Whitmer.

Throughout the year FTA provides guest speakers at a meeting, show films and slides, attend conventions and schedules social programs. These projects are designed to help the member realize exactly what teaching requires and to learn the extent of his interest in the field. Each year a senior member is given a scholarship to promote his educational training.

Th FTA officers are Jeanne Wiegand, president; James Hemmerly, vice-president; Pat Coon, secretary and Barbara Reynolds, treasurer.

BAND NOTES

The South High School Band ended the 1963 football season with another salute to Broadway.

On Nov. 1 the band turned the field into a stage as they presented a show based on the musical "Carnival" at halftime. The two numbers played from this show were "Love Makes the World Go Round" and "Grand Imperial Circus de Paris."

Special effects were designed by Robert Stegmiller and Howard Cozard, directed.

Winner In Poster Contest

Mike Allen, a sophomore at South High School, placed second in the city-wide Fun Without Destruction poster contest.

For the past ten years, the Altruss Club and the Fun Without Destruction committee has sponsored this contest at the secondary school level.

Mike won $5 and was entertained at a luncheon by the Altruss Club. He is active in the Sketchers Club and may go into commercial art in college.

VETS HONORED

South High School will hold a Veterans' Day assembly Nov. 8.

A play called "I Have No Prayer" will star sophomore Bob Yunk, Mrs. Karyl Meyer, South's dramatic teacher will direct.

Fashion Assembly Held

Miss Kathleen Dempey, Simplicity's educational stylist advised the girls of South High how to expand their own fall wardrobes by sewing their own clothes.

The theme of Simplicity's new Fall Educational Fashion Show presented at assembly Wednesday, was called "How To Fashions."

The South High girls modeling were Susie Thellmann, Mary Thissen, Jean Inbernt, Hope Lutt, Barbara Boyd, Judy Canan, Carol Boyd, Wilma Autry, Karen Cochran, Lanette Sparks, Maryann Rice, Rosemary Rieger, Delores Taylor, Barbara Babylon, Carol Baskam, Diana Harlor, LaTanya Holland, Vicia Thompson, Meredith Wilson and Linda Walker.

IN SALUTE--

Veterans' Day Parade Set

Columbus has made plans to parade in grand style to honor all military veterans Monday, Nov. 11. Area schools, civic organizations and patriotic groups will participate.

At 10:30 a.m. a three-division parade will begin at E. Broad and Fifth-sts. The marchers will head west on E. Broad-st past a reviewing stand in front of the south side of City Hall. Among the dignitaries from the Armed Forces, state and city, and other patriotic groups on the reviewing stand will be Mayor Westlake; Director of Commerce Gordon Peltier, representing the governor of Ohio, and Chief of Police George W. Sholer.

Proceeding across the river the columns will close ranks on Washington-blvd between W. Broad and Town-sts. A three-bomb salute will then be fired in tribute to deceased veterans. The first bomb will signal eyes right, the second will be the signal to salute while Taps will be played by Rossiter Chappelear and the third bomb will signal the dismissal of the ranks.

The parade will be led by Grand Marshal, Charles W. Heacock, second vice-commander of the Department of Ohio, American Legion. Following will be Adjutant Ernest Obert; Department Judge Advocate William C. Bryant and Chief of Staff John Worrell.

West High Band Leads

The parade leaders will be followed by the West High School Band, a drill team from either the Police or the Fire Department, a drill team of war veterans and color guards and color bearers from Paul D. Robinson Post 567.

The first division will be headed by marshal, Lt. Colonel Howard V. Cooperider, who will be followed by color guards and color bearers from Fort Hayes; representatives from recruiting services of the Marines, Navy and Army; three units from Lockbourne Air Force Base; marchers, massed colors and color guards from the 37th Division of the Ohio National Guard; representatives from the Ohio Air Guard; the 338 Reserve Band and a drill team and a marching platoon from the Naval Reserve, Surface Division.

Second Division

The second division of the parade will be headed by Marshal Charles Kaiser. Next will come the Disabled Veterans in motor cars, and the American Legion Posts — Franklin Post 1, Columbus Post 82, Camp Chase Post 98, Southway Post 144, Charles Bloce Post 157, Paschall Post 164, Young-Budd Post 171, Raymond Scott Post 182, Leach-Benson Post 220, Leasure-Blackston 239, Navy-Marine Post 276 and the Linden McKinley High School Band.

Also in the second division will be the Ohio State University Post 310, Lazell Post 411, Bexley Post 430, Upper Arlington Post 443, Malcholm D. Jeffrey Post 465, Robert Dutro Post 486, Comrade Whitehall Post 490, Don Gentile Post 532, Paul D. Robinson Post 567, Scioto Post 604, Memorial Post 614, Hanford Village Post and Capital City Post 698.

Third Division

The third division of the parade will be lead by Marshal Gene Perry. Next come officers of the National Chartered Veterans Organizations, aides, past county council commanders and the Veterans of Foreign Wars staff and colors. The Caldwell Post Band will be followed by the VFW posts, Howard M. Harrison Post 180, Ohio Governors Post 356, Northway Post 495, Buckeye Post 1598, Scioto Trail Post 2505, Benson Hough Post 3424, Westway Post 3441 and Charles Caldwell Post.

After the VFW posts will be the World War I veterans, Order of the Purple Heart Veterans, the Amvets, the Capital Post Jewish War Veterans, the Catholic War Veterans and the 37 Division Veterans.

Other groups wishing to participate should contact the county council office CA. 4-2900.

Part One Of Sewer Project To Close Ditch At Lewis-Rd

The first stage of the Marion-Hamilton Township trunk storm sewer system will do away with basement flooding in the Parsons-av area north of Williams-rd, Carl W. Schoene, chief sewerage engineer of the city announced Saturday.

This will be accomplished through the elimination of the large open ditch along Lewis-rd at an estimated cost of $815,000.

Plans for this phase of the entire three and a half to four million dollar project will be completed next week, according to Schoene, and construction begun on or before Mar. 1. Thirty easements must first be secured and bids taken.

As pipe ranging up to 102 inches in diameter is called for, the engineer explained that considerable lead time is necessary for the manufacture of the larger sizes.

The project is designed to eliminate open ditches, standing water and flooded basements in an 5500-acre area bounded by the New York Central RR on the north, the Norfork & Western RR on the east, the corporation line on the south and the Scioto River on the west.

Following the recommendations of the consulting engineering firm of Evans, Mechwart, Hambleton & Tipton, the city is building the project in stages as funds become available, with priority given to areas now occupied.

The next stage will be in the Wittler Ditch area and will cost approximately $565,000. In order of their priority other phases to be begun are Koebel-Watkins, $700,000; Williams-rd South, $485,000; Klan Run, $220,000; Sandridge Ditch, $275,000; Robinson Ditch, $275,000; Obetz-rd, $140,000 and Elwood, $43,000.

SOUTH 'Y' TURKEY SHOOT ADDING SOMETHING NEW

Multiple prizes on many of the firing lines is a new idea to be introduced at the turkey shoots planned by the Right Angle Club of the Y Branch program for Sunday, Nov. 17 and 24.

In addition to the usual turkeys, winners will receive steaks, bacon, roasts and sporting goods items at the shoots at the South Side Y Park on Rohr-rd. Proceeds will help furnish the new South Y building which was dedicated earlier this year, according to Dave Wilson, Jr., chairman of the shotgun events.

The new shelter house which overlooks the shooting field immediately to the east of the park will be used to serve refreshments, and the coffee is free to the contestants.

Each Sunday the event which begins at 1 p.m. and continues until dusk will include lines for women and young people, the latter which will be carefully supervised, announced James L. Wagner, executive secretary of the South Side Y.

The Right Angle Club is a Y service club composed of Columbus businessmen who grew up in the YMCA and have devoted themselves to its service as adults. The construction of log cabins and the planting of thousands of pine trees on the park grounds are among their earlier projects.

A PRIZED PUMPKIN

NO JACK-O'-LANTERN grin appeared on the face of this wee pumpkin when she was given a silver dollar at the annual Halloween parade at Groveport for having the most original costume — only a shy smile. Behind the pumpkin shell is Debbie, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Miller of Walnut-st.

Child Recovers From Bat Bite

A 16-year-old boy bitten by a rabid bat at his home, 170 E. Moler-st, on Oct. 15, now appears to be out of danger, according to the family's physician.

The mother of Mathew D. Mitton, Mrs. James Mitton, said the child was acting normally. He apparently suffered no after effects from the medical treatment he received following the bit.

VENTURINO PROMOTED

Samuel J. Venturino, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Venturino, 1296 Koebel-rd, has been promoted to airman first class in the U.S. Air Force. He is an administrative specialist, presently assigned to Travis AFB, Calif.

Robert Louis Stevenson authored the lines: "Home is the sailor, home from the sea, and the hunter, home from the hill," in his "Requiem."

An Open Letter To The Mayor-Elect

Dear Jack:

Congratulations!

Your friends are proud of you and of your comeback. People like a fighter. They like a man with enthusiasm. They like a man who is sincere. It is evident they saw all these qualities in you.

In three different campaigns we have felt this way about you and recommended you to the voters. Your previous administrations provided refreshing interludes in the political life of Columbus.

Comes Jan. 1 and you will be back of that desk in the mayor's office again and all those fine people who voted for you as well as those who voted for Mr. Westlake will be looking to you for the best in leadership. For the sake of everyone in Central Ohio it is important that this leadership be levelheaded.

The people of Columbus want action and not a lot of words. They are sincere in hoping the news coming out of City Hall will be about accomplishments rather than invectives hurled back and forth from the mayor's office and city council.

This is a two-way street and the public is looking to council for equal responsibility in seeking the best for our city.

While you brand yourself as a Democrat, you must be he truthful and admit that there is no difference between a Democrat and a Republican on the local level.

We hope you will remember that you were actually returned to office by the votes of a very large number of people who call themselves Republicans so by now you know there are a lot of fine Republicans as well as a lot of fine Democrats.

A major source of your success can come from careful selection of your administrative assistants. We hope you will be slow to select and that your advice comes from others than those who would merely find jobs for political hacks.

And slow down, Jack. The campaign is over. Get some rest and store up energy for the job ahead. Your greatest opportunity for service lies ahead. Columbus needs you. Make Columbus proud of you!

A downtown bank offers free parking when a customer makes a transaction with the bank. One sharp young man has found that a small deposit saves him 50c parking fee, after which he can write a check and remove his money at a cost of only five cents for the check. Net savings: 45 cents.

Thiemt, Former German Editor Bids Columbus 'Auf Wiederseh'n'

Bill F. Thiemt, known to South Siders as the editor and publisher of the Columbus Herald, last German-language newspaper published in the city, moved to the Hilltop area 23 years ago.

But he never forgot his first Columbus home — the South Side — to which he came as an editor and where he stayed to be close to his subscribers and the Columbus Maennerchor and the Germania Singing Society.

But now he is leaving Columbus behind him.

"I'll be back to see you at least once a year. Don't forget I'm still young. I'm only 82!"

Tears were in the eyes of William F. Thiemt last Thursday evening as he relinquished the microphone with the above remarks as his final formal farewell to the Hilltop Lions Club and its members.

Bill wasn't the only wet-eyed Lion at the moment. It was the dreaded but inevitable moment when Bill—charter member, "European Ambassador Plenipotentiary," and honorary lifetime member—would have to leave the fellowship of the club.

Bill and his wife, Martha, sale of their home at 905 S. had already concluded the Hague-av when he made the announcement. They are moving permanently to Greensboro, N. C., on Monday of next week.

Lions who lingered after the meeting to make their personal goodbyes to Bill saw a fistful of color photographs. Bill showed them proudly: his new home in Greensboro, his two sons and their wives, and the three grandchildren he will be close to in retirement. A daughter lives in Obetz.

Bill was born in Dortmund, Germany, and came to America in 1908. His wife, a native of Cologne, Germany, came to America in 1929.

Coming from a German family active in newspaper publishing for more than a century, Bill gravitated to Detroit where he worked on The Detroit Times and The Detroit Free Press.

Learning that the Columbus German-language newspaper The Express Westbote needed an editor, Bill came to Columbus and got the job. Later he became editor and publisher of The Columbus Herald, the last German-language newspaper published in Columbus, which ceased publication in 1941.

At first Bill lived on the South Side to be close to most of his subscribers and the Columbus Maennerchor, which he joined in 1927. Singing has always played a big role in Bill's life and he is also a member of the Germania Singing Society on the South Side. Although he hasn't sung actively with either group the past couple of years, he managed to take part in their social functions.

Bill was secretary of the Maennerchor and Germania for 17 years. He was also president of Germania for

WHEN TIME came to say "Goodbye" to William F. Thiemt, left, Hilltop Lion President John Barger was first in line. Bill, long-time editor of the Columbus Herald, will leave Monday with his wife to make their home in Greensboro, N.C.

OLD FAMILY PICTURES show the Emerick mansion in more leisurely days with hammocks strung between the trees. Although the Bavarian Garten, above, which is going up at the site is a commercial building, its old world architecture will blend in with the German Village restoration of the area.

DOWN COMES EMERICK MANSION AND—

Up Goes Bavarian Garten

One more stately mansion of another century is now only a memory.

It is that of the Emerick family at 1116 S. High-st.

But in its place is rising a quarter of a million dollar office and apartment house that is unique in Columbus, or even, according to Earl B. Sisson, builder, in the architectural world.

To be known as the Bavarian Garten, the building will restore an old world atmosphere to the site, with its brick, dark stucco and paneled exterior and leaded glass dormers facing High and with an archway leading to the courtyard around which the structure is designed.

Access to the professional offices on the ground level will be along the brick street way lined with lamp posts not seen for decades. The courtyard itself will be meticulously landscaped as were the early German village yards.

On the second floor level, according to Sisson, of Sisson-Stern & Co., which is the builder of the picturesque and unusual commercial building, are planned 20 one-bedroom apartments designed for single individuals or newly-weds.

Each will have an accessible balcony overlooking the garden with a picture window behind it for winter viewing.

Among the unusual features are the rich magohany cabinets in the kitchens with a colonial "turning post" included, a dressing room with built-in dressing tables and beamed ceilings throughout.

Sisson is no stranger to the South Side although now an Arlington resident. He grew up on Moler-st and went to St. Leo's and South High School.

He explained that since this site is just beyond the edge of German Village a certificate of appropriateness from the German Village Commission was not required.

However, he submitted the plans prepared by Weber & Turner, his architects, to the commission which rend them with complete approval and enthusiasm.

Christmas is coming!
And we have a real Special Gift in store for you.

South Y Club Combines TV With Turkey Shoot

An unbeatable combination has been set up at the turkey shoots scheduled at the South Side Y-Park on Rohr-rd this Sunday, Nov. 17, and the following Sunday, Nov. 24.

For the shotgun enthusiast who is also a football addict, according to Jim Wagner, Y director, television sets have been set up in the new shelter house overlooking the shooting ranges.

The novel supervised shotgun events at 75 cents a line for youngsters is another new wrinkle planned by the club made up of Columbus businessmen to help furnish the new South Y Branch building. Light gauge guns will be available for youth, according to Dave Wilson 3080 Fishinger-rd who is chairman of the dual range events which begin at 1 p.m. on the consecutive Sundays and continue until dusk.

All shotgun shells will be furnished in the competition for turkeys, bacon, beef roasts, sporting goods and small appliances. Painted with motor oil and aluminum paint, a target providing pattern tests allows shooters to test their shotgun bursts prior to actual competition.

Wagner explained that

tied to the memory of the first U.S. Naval engagement between the U.S.S. Bonhomme Richard and a British ship off the coast of England, Sept. 23, 1779, are the famous words of John Paul Jones: "I have not yet begun to fight." This week the Americana Historical Document offering is an etching of the Bonhomme Richard on heavy, antique parchment. See the inside of this newspaper for details.

Southeast Subdivision Plans Begin

According to information at the City Planning Commission Office the subdivision which Julius Cohen, as Jewel Builders Inc., has in mind on the southeast corner of Noe-Bixby and Refugee-rd might obtain approval by the end of the year.

Although annexation proceedings which are necessary to provide the sewers and water connections for the subdivision are still incomplete, he has already submitted a rough plat upon which some changes are being made by the Commission.

HIGHEST AWARD IN Boy Scouting, the Eagle Award, recently went to these three young men of Troop 77 in the Mohawk District. From the left they are Mark Wiess, 320 Chatham-rd; Karl Groezinger, 740 Siebert-st and Timothy Gall, 333 S. Third-st. The troop is sponsored by the St. Paul's United Church of Christ of which Rev. Donald W. Sickbert is the pastor.

SHE'S TALENTED according to her instructor, and Donna, herself, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilcox, 259 Mithoff-st, states she thoroughly enjoys writing. This happy combination should put the South High senior well on her way to the newspaper career she is considering.

DONNA WILCOX WINS ANOTHER TROPHY

South High Senior Eyes Writing Career

"She has a talent and a flair for writing," stated Mrs. Doris Fearing, South High Journalism teacher.

She was discussing the abilities of her student, Donna Wilcox, who recently won the trophy given by the Cleveland Plain-Dealer for interview writing at the Journalism Conference of Ohio Schools at Ohio State University.

Recognition for her newspaper skills is not new to Donna as she had previously won the Hartley Newspaper trophy for editorial writing at the OSU Journalism Workshop and the Freedom Shrine Plaque sponsored by the Columbus Exchange for an editorial on "Freedom."

A glance at her writings shows competence in handling varied subjects from the responsibilities of American citizenship to her advocating conservative dress, make-up and hair-style for teen-agers.

Although editor of the feature and editorial page of the school newspaper last year, this year, as a senior taking her second year of journalism, she is limiting herself to helping the beginners, especially with layout.

Hoping to attend Ohio University next fall, Donna may prepare to teach as her parents are a little doubtful of journalism as a career for women.

But the almost "straight-A" student cocked an interested ear as Mrs. Fearing reminded her that the field is continually broadening with the industrial publications and public relations, and that today Ohio State cannot fill the calls for graduates of its Journalism School.

"I'd really rather write than anything else," Donna backtracked.

Local Homemaker Finalists To Be Revealed On Friday

Hartley Newspapers Suburban Homemaker finalists will be feted at a noon luncheon on Friday, Nov. 15, at Lincoln Lodge.

C. Carlton Hartley, publisher, will announce the four winners who will travel to Chicago to compete with homemakers from all over the United States for the National Suburban Homemaker title and $5,000 cash. They will leave on Wednesday, Nov. 20.

Accompanying the four winners on their all-expenses paid trip will be Marcus T. Orr, managing editor of Hartley Newspapers, and his wife.

3 Troop 77 Members Receive Eagle Award

Three members of Boy Scout Troop of the St. Paul's United Church of Christ received the Eagle Scout award last week.

They are Timothy Gall, Mark Wiess and Karl Groezinger.

Mark, who is only 14-years-old, and was named Scout of the Year of Troop 77 is a ninth grade student at Dominion Junior High School where he belongs to National Honor Society and is a letterman on the track team.

He is a junior assistant scoutmaster and belongs to the Order of Arrow with the rank of brotherhood.

Tim also holds the brotherhood rank in the Arrow, was named Scout of the Year in 1960 and will soon receive his God and Country award. At 16 he is a junior at South High School and has been an honor newspaper carrier for 43 out of 44 months.

A member of the St. Paul's United Church of Christ, he has served as acolyte for two and one-half years.

Karl has been with Troop 77 for 10 years, graduated from South High in 1960 and since then has remained active in scouting as assistant scoutmaster. Before him his father, Carl Groezinger, 1511 Wilson-rd, received the Eagle award and is past Scoutmaster of Karl's troop, and still active as a committee man.

The younger Groezinger is employed as a factory sales representative for Shelby Business Forms, Inc.

ADULT INTEREST IN SCHILLER CLASSES GROWS

Next in popularity to the "slimastic" course in which every South Side lady can be set on the road to being svelte the adult courses in leatherwork, ceramics and woodworking are attracting new students daily at Schiller Recreation center.

As Christmas approaches, according to Tom Crawshaw, director, the opportunities of acquiring, without charge, the skills to make items than can be sold or used as gifts become more appealing to South Siders of all ages.

The interest in the physical fitness class has grown to the point that two classes have been set up. Donna Lee Schmodt, professional tumbler and gymnast, instructs the classes held on Tuesdays from 1:30 to 3 and from 8 until 10 p.m.

Adult and teenage woodworking classes are being held on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6:30 to 9:30. William Nemec, industrial arts teacher at Central High School is the instructor for these classes. Enrollment is still open and children's classes are held in the afternoon of the same days.

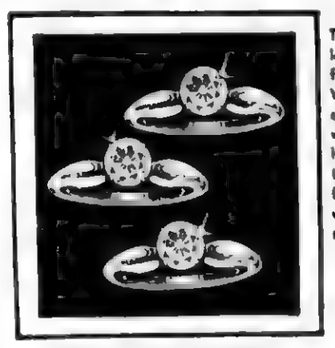
Both adults and children have found leather carving, tooling and lacing to be a fascinating and profitable hobby. Adult classes are held on Wednesday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. and the children's classes are held in the afternoon from 3:30 to 5. There are openings in each class for new students.

Participants are learning to carve and tool leather articles which range from key cases, coin purses, billfolds, and coasters to belts and handbags. Student pay only for materials used and may choose the project they wish to make.

Two classes for adults are being offered in ceramics, one on Tuesdays, starting at 2 p.m. and the other in the evening at 7. In these classes the art of making pottery and ceramic figures is taught. Also included in the course is instruction in hand-molding, pinch pots, ash trays, use of the potter's wheel, glazing and firing of pottery. There is a fee of $3.00 for the material used.

Children's classes are being held on Friday afternoons at 3:30. Anyone interested please contact Pamela Smith at HI 4-7262 for further information.

Star Returns To City



An Ohio State alumna, who is one of Broadway's fast rising stars, will return to Columbus Nov. 14 to highlight a reception given by Alumnae Council for senior women leaders at the Faculty Club.

Pat Wilson, Broadway and television star recently played the part of Trixie (Art Carney's wife) in the second series of "Honeymooners" on the Jackie Gleason show. She also appeared on the Arlene Francis show and Robert Q. Lewis show.

More than 500 guests have been invited to the Alumnae Council reception. Among them are Mrs. Novice G. Fawcett, and the wives of faculty and staff members. Some 400 women student leaders will attend the reception.

Phyllis Ann Vance Becomes Bride of Meredith Ganger at Groveport Church

MRS. MEREDITH J. GANGER

Miss Phyllis Ann Vance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Vance, 2170 Williams-rd, was united in marriage with Lt. Meredith Joe Ganger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ganger of Centreville, Mich., on Oct. 5.

Rev. George Troutman performed the ceremony at Zion Lutheran Church in Groveport.

The bride wore a gown of tissue taffeta fashioned with a molded bodice and bouffant skirt which swept into a chapel train. Lace appliques re-embroidered in sequins and pearls formed the bateau neckline and encircled the skirt.

She wore a finger tip veil of illusion and carried a cascade of white feathered carnations and polished ivy.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Thomas Vance, and honor attendants were Miss Judy Vogt, Mrs. Dennis Nicholson, and Mrs. David Ball. They wore matching gowns of emerald green satin cut in sheath style, with scoop necklines, elbow - length sleeves and bell shaped overskirts. Their crescent bouquets were of tangerine and yellow fuji mums.

Mr. Richard Purdy served as best man. Ushers were Mr. Thomas Vance, brother or the bride, Lt. Henry Long, Lt. William Craig, and Capt. Albert Mongeau.

A reception followed at the church. Hostesses were Mrs. William Styger, Mrs. Thomas Brant, Mrs. William Johnston, and Misses Margaret Ganger and Carolyn Ganger, sisters of the bridegroom.

The new Mrs. Ganger is a graduate of Groveport-Madison High School. Her husband is a graduate of Centreville High School and the Air Force Aviation Cadet program. A pilot in the Strategic Air Command, he is now stationed at Lockbourne Air Force Base.

Following a trip through the New England States, the couple is residing at 3480 Scottwood-rd.

Great Southern Offers Silver-Lined Gobbler

Silver-lined clouds are nothing new, but the merchants at the Great Southern Shopping Center are offering a silver-lined turkey.

In their big "Gobbler Give-Away" for which a coupon appears on the cover of today's tabloid, one turkey is really stuffed.

When the coupons which are to be filled out and dropped in a box at the shopping center this Friday and Saturday, Nov. 15 and 16, one little slip will be good for a bird lined with 100 silver dollars as a bonus for the turkey dinner of the lucky family.

As no purchase is necessary the only restriction is that no family can receive more than one turkey.

Anyone but employes of the participating merchants and their advertising personnel is eligible, but persons under 18 with winning tickets must be accompanied by an adult.

It is not necessary to be present at the drawing which will be held Monday, Nov. 18 and all winners will be notified.

Eagles Ready To Celebrate

South Side Aerie No. 2244 Fraternal Order of Eagles will celebrate their 27th anniversary during the week beginning Monday, Nov. 18.

On that day an officers meeting will be held and all members are urged to attend to make plans and help solve problems ahead.

Following a 30 minute business meeting Wednesday, Nov. 20 there will be a free fish fry for members and their families.

On Thursday, Nov. 21 the Ladies Auxiliary will conduct a short business meeting and will then invite members of the Aerie in for sandwiches and coffee. The past presidents club will meet in the secretry's office at 8 p.m.

A floor show and dance with free peanuts for all and one of the Aerie's country store attractions is scheduled Friday evening.

The Ladies Auxiliary will present their minstrel with a cast of 25. Dancing to the Eagle orchestra follows.

On Sunday, Nov. 24, the anniversary celebration closes with a second special country store program.

Big One Gets Away But McGinnis Happy

Like all fisherman, he tells a story about "the biggest one getting away," but sportman Phil McGinnis, 640 S. 18th-st, had quite a day of hunting and fishing in Ross County recently.

After quickly bagging the limit of four fox squirrels in a morning he gave his attention to the smallmouth bass of Paint Creek.

Soon he had landed a half-dozen, the largest weighing over three pounds.

And there is where that one "that got away" comes in. McGinnis hooked a smallmouth that fought several minutes before finally escaping, and the outdoorsman is convinced he weighed over eight pounds which would top the state record of slightly under eight.

"He surely was bigger than the eight-pound bigmouth I pulled in last spring," he exclaimed.

Tiebreaker Tie Earns $ For Ray, Cunningham

A tie on the tie-breaker hit the jackpot for $75 as two contestants in the Hartley Newspapers' Football Contest collected this week!

The double winners in the fifth week of the contest are Jerry Ray, 163 N. Oakley-av and George Cunningham, 55 N. Guilford-st.

MR. RAY collected $50 for missing four of 16 grid picks and being a paid subscriber to one of the seven Hartley Newspapers.

Mr. Cunningham received a check for $25 for also hitting correctly on 12 of 16 games.

Both men had identical 20-14 scores on the tiebreaker — the OSU-Penn State game.

BUT THE tiebreaker tie only tells part of the story. Four other contestants missed only four games but couldn't match the winners' tiebreaker score!

Closest behind the winners was Del York, 1937 Fairmont-av, who lost out by a narrow one-point margin on the tiebreaker (21-14).

Right on York's heels were Grath, 138 Concord-pl (27-10), derberg-av (24-17), Joe McHaines Radcliff, 2771 Van- and J. C. Baker, 1027 Hodges-dr (31-0).

IT WAS McGrath's second straight week in a runner-up spot. McGrath was the first week winner of $50.

Mr. Ray, who filled out the entry for his eight-week-old son, Jerry Lee Ray, Jr., admitted that this was his first try at the contest this year although he had participated last year.

For Ray, who finished runnerup and third several times last year, it was a case of "if at first you don't succeed . . ."

THE $50 winnings will go into the younger Ray's savings account, Jerry Sr. admitted. "Seems like he's richer in eight weeks that I am now," Ray said.

For George Cunningham, this is the first year of contest participation.

If you haven't yet hopped on the Football Contest bandwagon, you'd better hurry. This will be your last opportunity to win up to $100 in cash as the contest closes with this week's list of games.

THE PROCEDURE to enter is simple. There's nothing to buy. Just slip out the contest blank you see below and fill in the winner opposite the advertiser in whose block you find the game.

Mail the coupon to: Football Contest Editor, Name of this newspaper, 2465 W. Broad-st, Columbus, 4, Ohio

The games in this final week are for Nov. 22-24. All entries must be postmarked by midnight, Tuesday, Nov. 19.

PLEASE READ the rules below carefully. Remember—this is the final week for the

Bearcat All-Stars Top Maryland Eleven, 8-6

The 1963 Ohio Bearcat champion Maryland AC fell victim Saturday to the league All-Stars, 8-6.

Maryland, seeking its eighth consecutive victory this season, found the All-Star defense too strong to penetrate.

IN THE first series of plays, Maryland moved the ball 80 yards to paydirt with Larry Davis sweeping left end for the final 15 yards.

The conversion attempt was stopped inches short of the goal line but Maryland took a 6-0 lead.

In the second period, after being stalled on the Maryland eight earlier, the All-Star offense moved the ball 70 yards in 12 plays with Art Thomas streaking over right tackle for 18 yards and a 6-6 tie.

ANDY Jefferson plunged over the center for the conversion and the Stars lead, 8-6, at halftime.

The second half was all defense with Maryland stopping the Stars consistantly deep in AC territory. The Stars did not punt once in the game.

A Maryland scoring threat late in the game was stymied by Art Armstrong, who intercepted an AC pass on his own 20 and returned 40 yards to the Maryland 40.

THE ALL-STAR team consisted of six boys each from the five teams finishing behind Maryland in the final standings.

The winning Stars were directed by the runnerup Westside Pirates coaching staff.

The Ohio Bearcat Football Association Banquet will be held at the NCO Club at Lockbourne on Sunday, Dec. 8.

DINNER will be $1.50 per plate. The public is invited to attend.

W-J Chills Rosary, 32-0

Rosary's Crusaders rang down the curtain on '63 area grid play last weekend, absorbing a 32-0 loss at the hands of newly-crowned FCL champ, West Jefferson.

Halfback Dick Rice and quarterback Mike Healy proved an unbeaten combination as the former tallied three TDs and the latter tossed for three six-pointers.

The Crusaders did move the ball against the Rider defense piling up a total of 223 yards.

But a pair of pass interceptions ended two drives and a dug-in W-J defense slammed the door on Rosary's biggest threat — to the Jeff ten.

The setback ended the Crusaders' '63 season at 5-4.

SOUTH'S 1963 CITY LEAGUE GRID CO-CHAMPIONS

CO-CHAMPION in the City League football race this past season was this South High grid team. The Bulldogs who tied Central and Whetstone for the top spot, finished 8-1 to compile the Rebs' best grid mark in 38 years. The team includes, front row (from left): Wayne Baker, Chico Howard, Phil Hartway, Harry Joe Strauss, Rick Anderson, co-captains Jim Reinhart and Jim Walker, Roger Peer, Jerry Robison, Bob Bohn, Mickey Simmons and Paul Tate. Second row: Joe Cook, John Whitacre, Tom Ballinger, Alan Cook, Phil Lee, Jim McMahon, Ward Strickland, Don Collins, Tom Tucker, Henry Bolden, Samuel Guice and Rich Howard. Third row: Mike Fair, John Turner, Bill Gillenwater, Bob Cloud, Bill Jeffery, Charles Barton, Roger Harper, Jim Cook, Carl Vernon, Lloyd Pate and manager John Doyle. Fourth row: manager Don Banks, Dale Woodruff, Tom Lewis, Bill Mongomery, Bill Schmidt, Tom Wright, Bob Maust, Keith Bugos and managers Dwight Brown and Larry Kirby. Back row: assistant coaches Jack Stevenson, Bob Bateman, Dick Kate and head coach Bob Jackson.

O'LEARY, LARRIMER TOP AREA GRID SCORERS

Stadium's 'Final Exam' For New Buckeye Fan

The roughest part of the football season (at least for us) is the indoctrination ceremonies we have the responsibility to conduct each fall for new Buckeyes.

A co-worker, who recently moved here from Texas and only thought in terms of the Southwest Conference, was our project this year.

THERE ARE always the basic hurdles to clear such as promoting the doctrine of Big Ten superiority, outlining the fastest route to the King-av parking lot and explaining why Woody Hayes doesn't subscribe to Sports Illustrated any more.

Once the novice Buckeye has grasped these points you move on to the matter of Michigan.

As everyone knows, Michigan is the only real "must" game on the OSU schedule. The old timers tell of one year when an Ohio team traveled to Ann Arbor, lost and just kept right on heading due north.

THE LAST known contact was made at International Falls after which they were never seen again.

Of course, we're proudest (we explain) of our standing rule that "on any given Saturday, any Big Ten team is capable of beating any other Big Ten team."

The last time a season transpired without a single incidence of this philosophy, we tell them, a league conference was called and three coaches were nearly suspended.

BUT WE suppose the hardest nut to crack is an explanation of the "Non-Conference Policy."

The "foreigners" cannot understand why victories over non-Big Ten foes are called "bonus" victories and usually aren't even counted in the final seasonal tabulations.

After all, we explained—who ever heard of a Buckeye coach getting the gate for a "pre-season" loss to Oberlin?

OF COURSE, the final examination is conducted only in Ohio Stadium. Both teacher and student were present last Saturday.

"You'll notice, Tex, the programs have fewer pages, the band doesn't play as well and sportswriters in the press box have been known to doodle on their halftime statistic sheets during these non-conference games."

Tex watched intently until late in the fourth period, by which time Penn State had accumulated a 10-7 lead and was obviously en route to victory.

"THAT FELLOW across the field in the short sleeve shirt doesn't seem to be too concerned," Tex remarked.

"Of course not," we explained, " an OSU coach has never been hanged in effigy for a non-conference loss."

"But how about the national ratings?"

"Ratings — smatings," we said. "We'll take that Big Ten title and the good 'ole Rose Bowl any time"

TEX WATCHED a few more downs. "They seem to be running the same plays over and over again."

"Of course. Take the game against that (ugh) West Coast team earlier this year. You'll notice that we didn't show anything new in that one either."

"I didn't think you had anything new," Tex remarked.

"WELL, NOT new but you saw no new variations on the old plays."

The final gun sounded shortly later and all the Penn State fans in our section were intoxicated with victory.

One of them tapped Tex on the shoulder. "Well, what do you have to say now, Buckeye?" he grinned broadly.

"WE'LL BE back next week when we play one that counts," Tex said without hesitation.

We only wish all our pupils graduated with such flying colors.

W-G Hawks Rip Bulls For '63 OBFF Crown

The Meadow Gold Bulls were "branded" with a large "H" by the Westgate Hawks in the Ohio Boys Football Foundation League championship game Sunday afternoon at Marion - Franklin High School Stadium as W-G won, 22-0.

The Hawks' ground attack and ball control enabled them to win their fourth consecutive league title.

"SPARKED" by halfback Darrel Sparks, who scored 10 of the 22 points, and fine defensive play, the Hawks stopped the Bulls.

In the first quarter, the Bulls fumbled in the end-zone and guard Ed Duff landed on the ball for six points. Sparks ran down the middle for the two extra points.

Late in the second quarter, quarterback Mark Todd pulled a surprise by calling a 35-yard pass play to Sparks, who then ran 10 yards for the second TD. Sparks again added the conversion and the Hawks led at halftime, 16-0.

WITH FIVE second remaining in the third period, Mark Carney ran 25 yards for the third and final TD.

Tackle John Vollmer was outstanding on defense for the Bulls along with Chuck Armstrong, who also averaged 30 yards a punt.

The Bulls' fine quarterback, Bill Wise, completed four of 10 passes good for 67 yards.

IN THE individual statistic department, Sparks paced the Hawk offense with a total of 119 yards gained.

Overall, the Hawks topped the Bulls in first downs (10-5) and total yardage (277-98).

THESE TWO teams, along with all other OBFF 110 lb. and 90 lb. teams and their cheerleaders will be honored at the Annual Awards Night Nov. 16 (7:30 p.m.) at the Youth Center.

Making the awards will be ex-Ohio State All-American and Cleveland Brown great Bill Willis, Commissioner of the Ohio Youth Commission.

Awards are furnished by the league from proceeds of Preview Night held at the beginning of the year.

Hawks	8	8	6	0	22

Hawks scoring: TD—Duff (recovered ball in end-zone); Sparks (35, pass from Todd); Carney (20, run). PAT —Sparks, 2 (runs).

Little Buckeyes Close As OVC Champions

The Little Buckeyes, sponsored by J. Elmer Redd, Realtor, have been crowned the Ohio Valley Conference Champs for 1963.

The Ace Plumbing Warriors and the Newark Blue Devils tied for second place with 2-3-1 records.

THE CHAMPIONS compiled an amassment of statistics which even overshadowed their unblemished record.

Released by Buckeye Athletic Director Tom C. Kreiger, the Buckeyes (8-0 for the season) scored 365 points during the season with 296 points scored in league play. Conference opponents were held scoreless.

Krieger attributed the attainment of such high success to the Buckeye Axiom of football strategy, "The best offense is a good defense," which was carried out to the maximum degree by great team effort of each Buckeye player and to the assistance of the coaching staff of Nick Cooper, Rick Jacobs, Steve Ortman and Tom Ellifritz whose time and efforts would be hard to measure.

THE EXPLOSIVE Buckeye offense (averaging a 50 point spread per game) was triggered by returnees Roger Ansel, Donald Blum, Mike McClain, Dana Morrison and Marc Trimmer, who scored a total of 149 points for the season.

The powerful Buckeye defensive stand (often holding opponents to minus net gain) was dependent upon two year men John Ferrante, Rick Gordon, Don Gornall, Steve Radcliffe and Chuck Smith.

The Buckeye backfield held the first five places in scoring for the Conference final individual standings and hold nine in the top 13 individual scoring slots.

THE OHIO Valley Conference Sportsmanship Award was bestowed upon the Ace Plumbing Warriors by Commissioner James E. Cameron. The Conference has plans to expand to an eight-team membership for the 1964 season.

South Banquet, Monday, Nov. 25, Honors Champs

South High School will honor its 1963 City League champion Bulldogs, Monday, Nov. 25 with an Appreciation Banquet at the Southern Hotel at 6 p.m.

The banquet will also serve as a reunion for members of the last Bulldog championship team when the Classes of '24-25-26 get together at the fete.

Guest speaker will be Bill Hess, head grid master at Ohio University.

Persons wishing to attend the banquet may do so by reservation only. Reservations can be made by contacting South High football coach Bob Jackson at the school (1160 Ann-st - HI. 4-7856).

Tickets are available now for $3.25 apiece. Deadline for reservations is set for Friday, Nov. 22.

Heart Tourney Spilling Pins This Week

There's even more activity than usual at all 41 bowling lanes in Franklin County this week. The occasion is the week-long Seventh Annual Heart Fund Bowling Tournament, which started last Sunday.

At all lanes chairmen are busy answering questions about tournament rules, handing out entry blanks, and taking care of the numerous other details involved in the project.

EVERYONE bowling in leagues during the remainder of the week still has a chance to enter. The entry fee is $1.00.

This includes those who bowl in more than one league and have taken part earlier. As the tournament chairman, Earl Flora, points out, the more often a person competes the better his chance of winning.

Bowlers compete at the same time they roll in their respective leagues. Winners are determined on the basis of the greatest number of pins downed over the bowler's current league average in a three-game series.

HELD IN cooperation with proprietors of the local lanes, the tournament is sponsored by the Franklin County Heart Association.

'Fearless' Farewell

The "fearless one" chugged through the final week of area grid play by breaking even in eight games.

The 4-4 lineup closed out his '63 standing at 136-51-5. In comparison, the weary forecaster finished 141-59-9 last season. Both percentage are around the .700 mark.

BY THIS time next week, the old boy will be winging safety southward (with the rest of the birds) for another period of recuperation.

With his identity still under wraps, we imagine "Fearless" will be back again next fall to haunt and taunt his band of readers.

In parting, "fearless" leaves this letter:

Dear fans:

Once again, I depart for safer regions to regain peace and composure. If the price is right, I shall return next fall to submit my usual lineup of questionable observations on local football contests.

In the meantime, keep up that ole spirit. You will probably need it when you see what I have in store for you next season.

"Fearless"

PS—Please forward all letters to my most faithful fan club branch in Canal Winchester.

Hilltop Van 5 Wins Second

Hilltop Van and Storage won its second game of the season Sunday in the Monty Beaver League - a 65-52 decision over American Welding.

Mike Outcalt hit for 20 points while Warren Pemberton dropped in 18. Dick Taylor, ex-Buckeye guard, collected 16 markers for the losers.

It was the second straight win for the Hilltop club, which defeated the defending champion Jacobs Storage quintet, 66-65, in its opener last week.

Crusader Five Long On Speed, Experience -- Short In Height Dept.

Rosary cage coach Bud Trapp is looking forward to a hardwood season for his Crusaders which might surprise a number of forecasters who might be ready to write the Green-and-White off as a FCL "also-ran" this season.

Trapp is hopeful that the Crusaders' experience, speed and shooting ability will overcome a deficit in the height department.

SENIOR Ed Roehrenbeck and juniors Ray Arnold and Jim Groce are the only returning vets (Trapp has six) who can reach the six-foot mark.

Groce averaged 15 points last season and Roehrenbeck hit at a 12 point clip while senior Rick Stokes hit a double-figure average of 10 per game.

Roehenbeck, Groce and senior Don Spurlock (nine points per game) are likely starters on the Crusaders' front line with Stokes, an All-County performer last season, ticketed for guard duty.

THE REMAINING outside spot, vacated by graduate Paul Meadows, will likely fall to the Green-and-White's remaining vet — senior Butch Michaels.

Michaels will have to battle for the spot, however, with juniors Randy Butler, John Brennan, Mike Himmelspac (reserve last season) battling for a starting nod.

Trapp looks for the greatest amount of trouble to come in the direction of University's defending FCL champs, who seem to have the horses necessary to go the distance once again.

The Crusaders finished at 5-13 last season.

SPORTS

Seasoned Hand Likely Top Scorer In '63 Hunt

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

The big hunting season—the one everybody waits for—will get underway this Friday. While the Ohio Division of Wildlife has predicted a decline in rabbit numbers from a year ago, hunters' enthusiasm is not dampened.

On Nov. 15, the season opens on bobwhite quail, ringnecked pheasants, rabbits, Hungarian partridges, raccoons and opossums. The trapping season opens on raccoons, opossums, mink and muskrats.

Quail can be hunted only on state owned or controlled lands.

SHOOTING HOURS for the upland species begin at 9 a.m., and extend to 5 p.m. Night hunting (raccoons and opossums) may start at 12:01 a.m., on the 15th.

Daily bag limits are: six quail, two cock pheasants, two Hungarian partridges and four rabbits. Possession limits after the first day are two days' legal bag limit. There is no closed season on woodchucks, skunks or weasels in Ohio.

Pheasants and quail numbers are also reported to be down by the state's biologists, and this is difficult to understand in the light of the dry spring we had this year. Normally you associate a wet spring with poor nesting conditions and low chick survival, and a dry spring as being generally beneficial to wild birds.

DURING a season like the one predicted for this year, it will be the seasoned hunter who will score. If game is scarcer, then hunting know-how and a pre-season evaluation of game populations will help fill out your limit. It will be those who wait until opening day to go afield, who may be disappointed with hunting.

The opening day generates a lot of steam among the hunting fraternity. And for this reason, you need your safety valve in good working order. Use your head!

Accidents and arguments in large part are caused by hunters' pent up desire to get in the field and shoot something. It has been a whole year since the last opening day, so why try to get in a year's sport on the 15th? The best way to hunt is in a leisurely fashion. You will have more fun and you will see more game.

GOING HUNTING on the opening day is traditional among sportsmen, and the tradition extends back to the earliest days of our country. It will be the hunters themselves that keep the sport alive, so that this part of our free heritage will never be lost.

Little Rams Defeat Stars

The Capital City League held its All Star Game Sunday at Hilltonia's field with the champion West Mound Rams blanking the Stars 22-0.

The Rams upped their record to 13-0. Teams represented with the Stars were Grove City's Blu-Stars, East Side Boys Club, Lockbourne's Blue Chips and the LeCoumpte Lathers.

DICKY SCOTT scored three touchdowns with Randy Baker going over for the extra points.

Outstanding defensive men were Mike Purcell, Dan Skinner, Craig Richie, Mike Sapp, Steve Gohring, John Pierce and Tom Mitchell.

Best men on offense were Norman Lucas, Steve and Floyd Graves, Mark Barnes, Roger Davis and Willie Peakes.

DICKY SCOTT received the outstanding player trophy.

Five years ago, Russia called on the U.S. for a firm pledge on suspension of nuclear weapons tests prior to an agreement on measure to police a test ban.

IT WAS THE EIGHTH trip for Warren Kadel, Canal Winchester, Rte. 1, when he went to Canal Winchester High School Friday afternoon to donate blood to the Columbus Regional Blood Center. He is shown in the picture at the left at the first stop, that of registration. Karen Behn, FHA member of the school's FHA chapter which with the local FFA sponsored the blood drive, filled out the necessary forms for him. Kadel explained that he became a regular donor after his father received desperately needed blood in 1955. "I just like to help someone out," said Mrs. Carns, 44 E. Mound-st, Canal Winchester, who is pictured at the "temperature station," the second stop for those volunteering a pint of blood. Mrs. William Goodall, 262 S. Hampton-rd, volunteer worker of the Red Cross, took Mrs. Corns' pulse while waiting for the thermometer to register. In the third picture above, Mrs. Raymond Reinhard, 11 Hocking-st, has her blood pressure taken at the medical history station by Mrs. Mary Maher, 46 N. Merkle-rd, of the Red Cross Center. Though having been a faithful donor during World War II, having given almost a gallon of blood, this was Mrs. Reinhard's first contribution since 1952 when the bloodmobile last visited Canal Winchester.

Look At Blood Donors Shows Cross-Section Of Citizens

SPECIFYING THAT HER BLOOD go to Lockbourne Air Force Base where her husband is stationed as a sergeant, Mrs. John Brewer, 28 Park-st, Canal Winchester, gave her first pint of blood Friday, but says she will be back again. "It isn't bad," she laughed. "It's one way to get a little attention." Supervising the "reverse-transfusion" is Miss Betsy VanVoorhis, 4314 Scenic-dr, registered nurse from the staff of the Red Cross.

A glance at the shoes protruding at the end of the collection tables set up when the American Red Cross Bloodmobile came to Canal Winchester last Friday told graphically the story of how people from all walks of life were answering the need for blood donors.

Next to the highly polished dress shoes of a school administrator were the heavy boots of a farmer, showing the mud fresh from his fields. Near the spike-heeled pumps of a girl barely over the minimum age limit were the sturdy, sensible arch-preserver oxfords of a housewife old enough to be her grandmother.

Some, veteran donors, took the whole procedure in their stride, while it was obvious that to others volunteering to give a pint of blood hinted of "living generously" and as the moment approached were having some serious doubts about the wisdom of their action.

But there were no casualties, and no one was caught bolting for the nearest door.

The bloodmobile visit was sponsored through the efforts of the FFA and FHA chapters at the Canal Winchester High School as a public service project.

Ninety pints of blood were collected during the afternoon (125 donors had appeared, but 35 volunteers had been rejected.) Of these, 46 were contributing to the blood bank for the first time.

Mrs. Margaret Reeves, chief nurse at the Regional Blood Center, explained that at this time of year a number of people are not permitted to give blood because of recent respiratory ailments who can give later.

Although grateful to those who have come again and again to be donors, Mrs. Reeves pointed out that new volunteers must keep coming forward, as the older ones become ineligible through age.

In the Columbus region, Don Hall, 3109 Minerva Lake-rd, has earned top recognition from the center in that he has visited the center 74 times since its opening in 1948, contributing over nine gallons of blood.

These donations are in addition to those he gave during World War II, according to Mrs. Reeves.

None of the blood is ever wasted, even though it cannot be used as whole blood after 21 days. At the end of the period in which the hemoglobin becomes damaged, the blood is broken into fractions to be used for plasma and gamma globulin.

THEY'VE REACHED THE END of the line, the canteen set up to counteract any feeling of weakness the donors might experience after furnishing a pint of blood. From the left are Mrs. Eugene Lyness, Rte. 1, Groveport and her husband S/Sgt. Lyness. Though he has been a "regular" at the Lockbourne bank blood, this was Mrs. Lyness' first time as a donor, after being convinced by an FHA member that she should volunteer. Mrs. William Corns stated that she was influenced to contribute by her son John who is in the FFA. William Willis, 123 Kremer-st, is shown pinning on Mrs. Corns the button that all volunteers received in appreciation of their efforts. Willis stated that this was the first time he had given blood since his army service during World War II and the Korean War.

South High News 'n Notes

Bugles will again sound for residents in and around South High to hear, as the school again observes the flag-raising ceremony each morning at 8:20.

The school Student Council, headed by Roger Peer, is responsible. For those who miss the ceremony outside each council member will lead the pledge of allegiance in his homeroom that morning.

South High Votes

The sophomore and junior history classes and the senior POD classes of South High School voted Tuesday, Nov. 5. Voting machines were placed in the school and the students were taught how to operate them.

They voted on the Child Welfare Levy, the City School Levy, and the State Bond Issue.

Y Teen Events

The program committee of Y Teens, headed by Connie Stewart and Cheryl Meinrod, arranged a trip to the Columbus Art Gallery. This cultural outing was attended by fifty girls who are interested in art.

For the next meeting the service committee whose chairman is Rosemary Barnhart, is planning a Thanksgiving service project.

Laura Hepner, worship chairman, and her committee are planning the Thanksgiving assembly in conjunction with the Hi-Y.

Orchestra Prepares

The South High School orchestra is preparing a special presentation of music from "West Side Story." This group will be performing for the PTA meeting to be held on Nov. 19.

This arrangement of "West Side Story" is taken from music written by Leonard Bernstein. Jack Mason arranged the score.

1963 Book Week Begins This Sunday

"Three Cheers for Books!" is the theme of 1963 book week being observed Nov. 10-16.

Miss Margaret Bausch, head librarian at the Parsons, Branch Library reports that many people are taking this occasion to acquaint themselves with the collection of the library. Others are asking questions about using the files and reference materials.

Patrons can put in requests to use the new adult books displayed when they are put into circulation.

Puppet shows are being shown to school classes of the area. There will be a special story hour Saturday from 10 to 11 a.m. It will include some of the more popular stories for children and a talk about their authors.

Will Increase Enforcement At AreaIntersections

Chief of Police George W. Scholer, named three South Side intersections as high accident areas. The intersections of Main and Wilson, Nelson and Livingston and Bruck and Moler are to receive increased enforcement.

According to the selective enforcement bulletin, causes of accidents at Main and Wilson were failure to maintain an assured distance ahead and changing lanes without safety. Special attention was requested from 7 a.m. to noon.

At the intersection of Nelson and Livingston, accidents were caused by both failure to keep an assured distance ahead and changing course without safety. Increased enforcement was ordered from noon to 6 p.m.

Failure to stop at stop signs and failure to heed yield right-of-way signs contributed to accidents at Bruck and Moler. Special police enforcement between 4 p.m. and 6 p.m. was requested.

Columbus had a total of 797 accidents and hazardous moving violation arrests total 1,461 for the last 15 days of October.

Robber Gets $70 From Pizzaria

An estimated $70 was taken by a youthful robber, wearing a scarf over his face, from Dino's Pizza, 1127 Livingston-av, early Thursday police said.

The restaurant's manager said the bandit entered shortly after midnight, pointed a .22 caliber revolver and ordered him to fill a paper sack with money. The manager was identified as James Lee, 26, of 834 Wilson-av.

Other employes and some customers were told to lie on the floor while the bandit escaped.

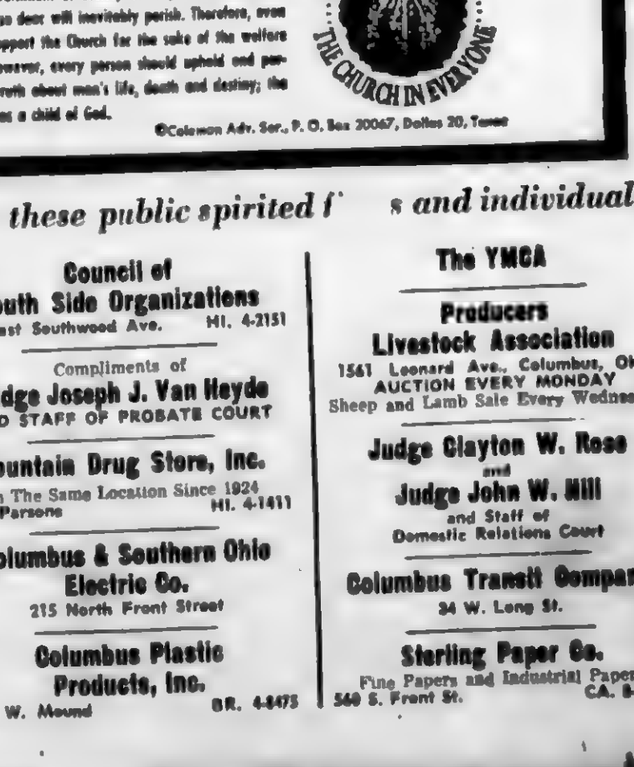
Attitude... OF PRAYER



"Give ear to my words, O Lord, consider my meditation. Hearken unto the voice of my cry, my King, and my God: for unto thee will I pray."
Psalms 5:1-2

God hears and answers prayers, but not everyone knows how to pray. Even the Lord's disciples asked that he teach them how to pray.

Attitude of the individual is important in prayer. Prayer is the opportunity that we have to tell God of our blessings and give thanks. It is an opportunity to petition for help, but above all, our hearts should be willing that God's will be done.

Prayer should be offered individually and in groups.

ATTEND CHURCH AND PRAY WITH OTHERS

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH... THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

GRADUATION FINDS EDITORS FORGETTING ABOUT WRITING

Editors of high school newspapers, like generals, never die.

But neither do they venture toward the field of journalism.

When Miss Lillian Meloy, as faculty sponsor recently noted 40 years of publication of the Voice, Groveport-Madison's school newspaper, she became interested in what had become of the editors since the paper made its debut in March of the 1923-24 school year.

Susie Rainier Lechner who now lives in Toledo was the first editor when the paper was started by Miss Lucille Weinlein, English and Latin teacher. Going on to teach school before her marriage, she never attained further newspaper fame, but according to Miss Meloy she distinguished herself in an entirely different field. She became the mother of triplets in 1943.

Among the other early editors who became teachers are Virginia Clark who is now Mrs. Robert Kessler, Miss Edna Derflinger who still lives in Groveport and teaches in Whitehall, Mrs. Harold Behm, who teaches at Canal Winchester.

Mrs. Garland Grube who was Maxine Zwayer when an editor in the thirties is a librarian at the school in Crotor and Mrs. Catherine Bleassen Robinson of Madison Township is now employed by the Columbus Board of Education.

Mrs. Ivy Strawser Claphan of 172 Action-rd is a nurse.

Of other early editors Miss Meloy was able to learn no more than that Mrs. Virginia Simms Barker now lives in Denver, and Mrs. Edna Leiendecker DeVault's home is in Lancaster.

Most of the more recent editors are in college now.

Delores Hoops, 1963 editor, and Carolyn Miller and Julie North are all at Ohio State; Nancy North is at Western College for Women, Ronnie Ball at Otterbein and Mike Foley is in law school at the University of Michigan after completing his undergraduate work at Miami.

Mrs. Marian Friend Morrison lives in Columbus and is employed in the Federal Building. Mrs. Mary Louise Haines Willis works for the Ohio Contractors Assn. in Columbus and Mrs. Sharon Schwaberow Reihle is a Gahanna resident.

But young hopeful journalists struggling with school papers can still take heart from this survey made by Miss Meloy. Work on a school paper doesn't indicate a life ahead of making like a Dorothy Thompson or a William Allen White, but most high school editors, at least from Groveport, end up pursuing a higher education.

WITH THE FIRST and the most recent copies of the "Voice," the Groveport Madison High School newspaper, the present managing editor, Susie Palsgrove, left, and Sharon Rotunda, editor, stand in front of the display showing the paper's 40-year history. Many of the names appearing in the early editions are still familiar (for example, Susie's grandmother Palsgrove was a contributor to the first issue) but the news item concerning the memorial service to Woodrow Wilson on the day of his funeral dates it more finally than the slug, "Volume I, Number I."

Lucky winners of turkeys given away at the football game last Friday evening were: Reed Davie, G. R. Cole, E. J. Ingels, Faye Vance, Curt Martin, Helen Mouser, B. Rupert, Bob Weaver and Mike Foster. Turkeys were given by Hamilton Township School Boosters.

M-F Notes

An instrumental pop concert will be presented at Marion-Franklin High School Friday, Nov. 15, at 7:30 p.m. with Charles Geedey directing. Admission to the auditorium will be 25 cents.

The Fall Sports banquet honoring the football and cross-country teams is scheduled at 6 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 20 in the high school cafeteria.

Meet-the-Team night will be held at a cage scrimmage of the basketball team Friday, Nov. 22, at 7:30 p.m. A square-dance will follow the exhibition game.

Student Gene DeBolt and Larry Gaffin, accompanied by Thomas Parks, power mechanics instructor, will attend the Governor's Youth Traffic Safety Conference of Ohio at the Ohio Union Saturday, Nov. 23. Sponsored jointly by Ohio State and the Department of Highway Safety, the conference is a study of programs needed to promote traffic safety among youth.

Marion-Franklin PTA Schedules 'College Facts'

It will be "College Facts" night when the Marion-Franklin PTA meets from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 19.

At a program sponsored jointly by the PTA and the guidance department of the school under the direction of Walter Calinger, a representative from both a large and a small college will speak. The schools to be represented by these speakers will probably be Ohio State and Otterbein.

A display will be up on colleges and their costs and unit packages will be given to interested guests which are designed to answer the problems uppermost in minds of parents of prospective college students.

The problems of guidance of the high school senior and the college freshman into the proper paths will also be dealt with.

Refreshments will be served at the meeting.

New Managers Appointed At Gandolf Ford

Appointments of James Carollo as general sales manager and W. G. (Hoppy) Hegenderfer as used car manager of Gandolf Ford Sales, 2800 E. Main-st, have been announced by Stewart Gandolf of the auto firm.

Carollo

Carollo, a native of Columbus, has been associated with the automobile business seven years. Previously he was owner of a well-known steak house in Columbus. He is a veteran of Ohio's 37th Division.

Hegenderfer

Hegenderfer, Union County native, counts up 10 years in the automobile industry. He is the son of the late Phillip Hegenderfer, who was in the hardware business for 35 years in Union County. "Hoppy" a WW II veteran and a Hilltop resident for the past 15 years, is known to many young people for his interest in youth activities and athletics.

Columbus-Centered BBF Chain To Be Expanded To 30 Drive-Ins

By the end of 1964, Burger Boy Food-O-Rama Drive-In officials plan 30 or more operations throughout Ohio, West Virginia and neighboring states.

Using the theme of "Growing with Columbus, our Hometown," the Columbus owned and operated drive-in chain has grown from one Central Point BBF less than three years ago into a rapidly expanding operation.

Identified by the whirling satellite sign, there are presently six BBFs in the Columbus area. Eight more are planned, with two to be opened before the first of next year at Ninth and N. High and at Hudson and McGuffey.

The Chillicothe drive-in is due to open Monday, Nov. 18, with Lancaster, Heath and Marietta under lease.

The firm opened its first out-of-state operation at Oak Hill, W. Va., last May. A second one opened at St. Albans on Nov. 11. Others are planned for Beckley, Charleston, Huntington and two in the Parkersburg area.

Jim Near, general manager of Burger Boy Food-O-Rama Drive-Ins, says the locally-owned company will continue to grow only as fast as it can continue to give the quality food and service that its customers have been accustomed to receiving.

"Like Columbus, we too have a plan," said Near. "Ours is our own red, white and blue plan for quality food and service at prices moderate enough for everyone, especially our young families who make up the bulk of our customers."

IPC To Present Gershwin Musical, 'Of Thee I Sing'

Independent Players of Columbus is in the final stages of preparation for its fall production, "Of Thee I Sing." The musical will be presented this Friday and Saturday, Nov. 15 and 16, at Central High School. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m.

"Of Thee I Sing" is a political spoof brought up to date by the organization.

John F. Wintergreen (played by Lou Wenzel) runs and wins his bid for the office of president. In the process he falls in love with Mary Turner (Bev Pettit), only to find that he's in trouble by not taking Diana (Reita Clegg) as his first lady. It leads to serious international complications.

Interwoven throughout the musical comedy are some of George Gershwin's most popular tunes, a misplaced and meek vice-president (played by Richard Herzog), and production numbers.

Tickets for "Of Thee I Sing" can be obtained from club members, at Richman's Central Box Office or at the door of Central High School on the nights of the show.

WRFD Will 'Talk Turkey'

Beginning Monday, Nov. 18, and continuing each weekday, through Tuesday, Nov. 26, WRFD will make four phone calls each day to give away Thanksgiving turkeys.

Listeners are now being asked to send in a card with their names, addresses and phone numbers. The calls will be made to the four entry cards selected each day. Persons whose cards are selected win a turkey whether they answer the phone or not. If they are home, however, and can answer a simple question having to do with the station, they will be eligible for the turkey jackpot prizes.

In the jackpot will be a weekend for two at Green Meadows County Inn, a gift certificate at Kroger's, and a deluxe transistor radio. The jackpot drawing will take place Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 23.

The deadline for sending entry cards is midnight Monday, Nov. 25.

A laser organizes the haphazard agglomeration of light waves of all colors and sends out single-color waves moving all in one direction. The word laser is formed from the initial letters of the device's function—light amplification by stimulated emission of radation.

Highways, Motorist Laws Lag Behind Car Production

We have made substantial progress over the past few years in the area of highway construction designed to minimize traffic fatalities and injuries. But the problem of more cars and more motorists continues to grow more rapidly than the only partial solution of better highways.

As a nation, we continue to sacrifice 41,000 lives annually on our roads, and injure two million more. While the message of traffic safety is being transmitted in ever-increasing quantity, it does not seem to enjoy a clear reception with the general motoring public.

It is apparent that safety measures will be no more effective than coordinated enforcement programs. For instance, there has been an almost universal agreement that driver-training courses are effective in producing qualified drivers. But the urgings will have woefully little effect until driver-training is made a requirement for issuance of a driver's license.

We are constantly reminded that liability insurance is a necessity, yet it is not a requirement until after a careless uninsured motorist has caused his first serious accident. Why must the safety-conscious, insured motorist be penalized because another motorist is not prepared to meet the responsibilities that should be a part of the right to operate a motor vehicle?

Periodic re-examination of all drivers would be almost impossible in Ohio because we have a vehicle registration fast approaching the five million mark. But we could discourage people who no longer are entitled to driver's licenses by invoking a penalty for those who continue to drive when they know they create a hazard.

Our expressways, superhighways and freeways either eliminate or greatly reduce intersections at grade. This minimizes competition of traffic for right-of-way. The broad new roads and wide median strips guard against head-on collisions and the danger of headlight glare from oncoming traffic.

But our million-dollar-a-mile super-roads are not as "foolproof" as we would like to believe. They encourage speed — a major cause of traffic accidents — and the signs at freeway exits in metropolitan areas often leave much to be desired.

But our main problem still rests with the type of motorists we permit behind the wheel of a potential lethal weapon. The auto has moved from a luxury item to a necessity. In too many cases it has become an abused toy in the hands of children — many of them past the legal age of adulthood.

The best highway engineering minds cannot design out the drunk driver, the untrained, or the physically and emotionally unfit motorist. This is an area for the law enforcement — solidly backed by an informed public opinion.

Our Growing Transportation Problem

Identify Vote 'Committees'

We are more than a little curious about "Good Government" committees that issue 11th hour partisan political endorsements, and are not heard from again until they furnish another 11th hour endorsement at the next election.

If members of any such committee are really interested in good government, it seems to us they would be willing to present their case well in advance of Election Day. If their cause is just, it will survive in the arena of conflict.

Election laws require that any such committee file a post-election statement of expenses with election officials. Perhaps it would be a good idea to require public registration of these groups prior to the time they attempt to influence public opinion—and voters.

If the groups were required to list committee membership, the motives behind their actions might more easily be determined by the electorate. Such legal requirement would also expose to public view (or eliminate) the practice of appointing one-member "committees" for partisan political purposes.

Certainly we are in favor of good government. And we have always encouraged citizen participation in the affairs of government—whether on an individual basis or through group action. But we hold suspect the motives of any one-member "committee" or group of persons which operates under the guise of good government to promote a strictly partisan cause.

Guest Pulpit . . Toward The Person . . .

Rev Geyh

It seems that the people in the nations of the world are looking, seeking, and probing for an answer, in solution of the ills of the world, for peace of mind.

All that they seem to find is more frustration, anxiety and unhappiness. They look everywhere around themselves and are able to see only what is evident. They find no answers, no solutions, no peace of mind because they fail to look in the most obvious place of all—in themselves.

Throughout the length of the Biblical story we find no suggestion that gives an answer or solution to the great questions that confront us daily. God offers, instead, Himself. In the Old Testament He offered Himself through the ritual of sacrifice. In the New Testament, He offers Himself through His Son, Jesus Christ. If we have His presence living in our lives, we need no answers or solutions to the unanswerable questions of life.

Jesus said, "Whosoever loses his life for My sake, shall find it." He wants us to evaluate the things of this world against the things that are not of this world. Material things against the things of the spirit. Wealth and goods against salvation, life, love. Jesus speaks of the realm of the spirit, the realm of self, when He speaks of finding our lives.

We came into the world with only our self, we will leave it the same way. It will be the extent of growth of self upon which we will be judged, not what worldly possessions we have gained. It is the inner world of self that concerns Jesus. The person we were created to be is His goal or our lives. It is the person where character develops, where will and spirit hold sway. It is in this world we enter into the Kingdom of Christ. Jesus came to minister to this world of the person so it could grow and develop until we, too, could become disciples in this world, and have life in the next.

It is in the person where peace of mind takes on depth and we find the strength and courage to accept life because we look beyond this life to one greater. When the inner self has found God after being confronted by the Holy Spirit with the free grace in Jesus Christ, and the self makes willful assent to this call through obedience and service, the person begins to emerge. It takes shape through spiritual growth that comes through daily devotions and prayer, through participating in divine worship with fellow believers and through being a witnessing disciple in the community and place of work.

Only as we take on Christ, as did the Apostle Paul, will we emerge as the person we were created to be. It is the person, created in God's image with a purpose and a goal in life, who finds peace of mind and rest in being a follower of Jesus Christ. It is in our struggle to find this person that the presence of Christ is made manifest, bringing with Him not the answers or solutions to our problems but rather Himself—He is enough. We see reflected in Him the person we were meant to be.

An Editor's Outlook by Jenkin Lloyd Jones
The Nice Americans . . . There Are Some Yet

Rapallo, Italy—It's time somebody said a word for the average American tourist.

He goes forth, guidebook in hand and camera at the ready, to distribute his life savings to people of strange tongues and many races. He is steered, conned, clipped and sometimes shamelessly robbed. But he generally replies with a smile.

Jones

He is a sucker for the twisted beggars who sprawl before the Golden Temple of Benares. He responds to the monk who rattles the poor box on the boat to Capri. He treats the chambermaid in Rio and the waiter in Stockholm with an extravagant deference that astonishes the patrician natives of those countries. In short, he's a nice guy.

It is popular conceit among a few Americans who like to be thought of as members of the "international set" to berate their fellow Americans abroad. Not long ago at a Pennsylvania cocktail party I listened wearily as a lady told how her recent trip to Europe was blighted by all the Americans she ran into.

"You know, grubby little people from places like Kalamazoo and Council Bluffs . . ."

Whereupon, this particular lady proceeded to get obnoxiously stiff on double Martinis.

Now there are, of course, bad American tourists. There are the boors who grow loud in the cantinas. There are the gaping females who try to wander into the cathedrals in their over-filled slacks.

Such people are highly visible. Other Americans recognize their voices and understand their speech. Two foot-in-the-bucket Yankees make a crowd and they can leave you with an acid taste even though you may have passed 100 unobtrusive Americans that day without being conscious of them.

The theory that foreign travelers are less gauche than American tourists undoubtedly arose from the fact that in America the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker often accumulated enough scratch to venture abroad while, in general, only those foreigners from the educated aristocracy and in the professional classes explored the world.

It is natural that where tourists include a broad cross section of any population the percentage of the confused, the nervous and the ill-mannered is bound to rise. This is now being proven in Europe where, in their new prosperity, European tradesmen and farmers whose ancestors never wandered 50 miles from home are spilling over the mountain passes and crowding the inns from Trondheim to Tripoli. There's plenty of pushing and shoving and occasionally a falling-down drunk.

One thing that has given America a black eye is the behavior of many of our GI's whom we have sent abroad at great expense to protect people who have been unwilling to submit to the taxation conscription necessary to protect themselves.

Soldiers and sailors, as a class, are not good ambassadors. Any military organization includes a large proportion of the ignorant and the immature, and ever since Rameses took the Land of Punt there has been the superstition among men in uniform that wenching and drinking is an essential part of manhood. I once went into Glasgow with the U.S. Atlantic Fleet and out of 800 men in the liberty section from our ship the poor chaplain could persuade a bare busload to take a free day trip to the wonderful Trossachs. Everybody else headed for the grogshops. This was sad.

Yet it must also be said that no armies have ever been popular in foreign countries. And what soldiery of history has been as puppydog friendly as the naive Americans? That of Caesar? Genghis Khan? Napoleon? Nikita Khrushchev? For 18 years we have been sending high school boys all over the world to go through the motions of war under the slackness of peacetime conditions. It is remarkable that serious offenses have been so rare.

But the chief objects of pity among Americans abroad are those who travel without any preparation, under the impression that mere contact with foreign scenes will make them more urbane. These are not true travelers. They are mere body-transporters. They are in it but not with it.

To travel well you have to do your homework. You have to know something about the history and significance of what you see. If you would know a little of the world you must be a map enthusiast, a guidebook fiend, a museum buff. You must have the energy to climb around the castles and descend to the catacombs. Just being there isn't enough.

A couple of weeks ago as our Rhine steamer was churning past Lorelei rock a florid American gentleman sat in the observation lounge complaining to his companion about paying $2 for a haircut in Detroit. I have watched an American woman walk around the Shwedagon Pagoda with open but unseeing eyes, bellyaching about the hotel service in Rangoon.

It makes you wish that the travel money thus wasted could go to the poor but appreciative. How wonderful if the old priest who has given his life to the service of his church could kneel just once at Bernini's altar in St. Peter's! What would it mean to the aging teacher of ancient history in Siwash High School if she could stand for just an hour in the shadow of the Pyramids! But this is dream stuff.

Still, the vast majority of Americans abroad do see. They roam the world with curiosity, politeness, and energy, enriching themselves and their hosts alike. The American tourist has been over-cussed. He could be missed. Ask the natives of Havana.

TEN IMMORTAL SENTENCES

"I wish that I could flatter myself that I had come as near to the central idea of the occasion in two hours as you did in two minutes."

So wrote Edward Everett to Abraham Lincoln on Nov. 20, 1963, the day after both had spoken at Gettysburg. The "central idea" was the setting aside a part of the field where the battle had been fought a few months before. The "occasion" was its dedication.

Most literate Americans are familiar, or should be, with Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. But not so many, perhaps, know so much about the circumstances of its delivery.

The battle had been fought in hot July weather. Losses were so heavy that many had to be buried temporarily where they fell. But a committee was formed to arrange for permanent burials on Cemetery Ridge in connection with the burying ground where the villagers had buried their dead for a long time. It was decided to dedicate the plot on Nov. 19.

The committee got Edward Everett, considered the greatest orator of the day, as the principal speaker. President Lincoln had been invited, too. Members of the committee knew they had to ask the President to say something, and it was expected that he would make only a few incidental remarks. His remarks were few, but Americans know a century later that they were not incidental.

Mr. Everett did, indeed, deliver a great oration in the balanced, well reasoned style of the day. It was "cerebral." Facts were well marshalled and their interpretation was correct. He spoke two hours.

Who remembers what he said?

The President spoke 10 sentences in two minutes. For a brief time he lifted the nation's thoughts from the hatreds of war to the broad uplands of a new brotherhood of reconciliation.

It says here .....

By "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

Of all the "seven deadly sins," cheap and morbid curiosity about the strictly private affairs of other people is the most obnoxious. Adults who are guilty of such infantile behavior are also inveterate gossipers.

Such a weakness of character literally screams to civilized adults, who have to listen to it, that the purveyor of such "dirt" is both morally unhealthy and spiritually bankrupt.

Some tragic truths are far better left unsaid. What really "burns" is the far worse sin of "stretching the truth" as rumor becomes scandal, going round and round from one small mind and barren soul to all others who will listen.

Every consulting psychologist who is forced professionally to listen to such bilge, knows that most of it is not only untrue, but also deliberately vicious, vindictive behavior.

Vile and perverted gossip is not only psychologically bad for the teller, it is also very often actionable at law.

Truly wise people refuse to listen to such a destructive waste of time.

The most Christian thing to do is attempt to lead such sufferers of "petty smallness" out of their slavery. It requires infinite patience and ice cold minded objectivity on the part of the counsellor, but in a few cases the damaging sense of "self-guilt" can be unlearned by such victims of "inner bankruptcy."

Letters to the Editor on topics of public interest are always welcome. They should be written or typed legibly on one side of the paper only, and limited to 350 words. Always sign your name and address so that authenticity of the letter may be checked if necessary. The writer's name will not be printed if so requested.

Council Grateful

To the Publisher:

The Adult Education Council of Greater Columbus at its initial meeting of the 1963-64 season passed the following resolution:

"The Adult Education Council of Greater Columbus wishes to thank Mr. C. C. Hartley and the Hartley Newspapers which have cooperated in the publication of the Adult Education Supplement for the past two years. The Hartley Supplement has made an outstanding contribution in promoting adult education, and in the enhancement of adult education program in the greater Columbus area."

I pass this resolution on to you so that you may know how much we appreciate your efforts on behalf of the Council.

McDONALD'S PLAN OPENING

HIGHLIGHT OF THE DAY-LONG grand opening of three new McDonald Hamburger Units Saturday, Nov. 16, will be the appearance of the WBNS-TV personality "Flippo the Clown." He will arrive at each of the new units by helicopter. Scheduled time of arrival and locations are Northern Lights Shopping Center, 2 p.m.; 5295 N. High-st, 2:45 p.m.; and University City Shopping Center, 3:30 p.m. He will be available at each new unit for 30 minutes and will pass out souvenirs and autograph pictures for visitors.

Christmas Seal Campaign Gets Under Way Nov. 15

The Tuberculosis Society's 1963 Christmas Seal Campaign will open this Friday, Nov. 15. Local mail carriers will be bringing Christmas Seal appeal letters to homes throughout Columbus and Franklin County starting this week.

About 20 of these letters will contain "special" sheets of seals, autographed by the Ames Brothers and Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong. The sheets were signed by the performers as their personal endorsement of the annual fund-raising event.

The seals were presented to the Tuberculosis Society of Columbus and Franklin County when the stars appeared in Columbus early this month. The sheets were inserted, at random, in Christmas Seal letters while being prepared for mailing.

The goal is $212,000—the same sum as was asked of Columbus and Franklin Countians last year.

NFA To Meet

Columbus Chapter of Natural Food Associates will meet Thursday, Nov. 14, 8 p.m. at the Cerebral Palsy Center, 1036 E. Hudson-st. Dr. James G. Young, a resident of Mt. Vernon, O. will be the guest speaker. His subject will be "The Five Senses."

The public is welcome. Inquires should be directed to Jeri Jones, BR. 4-0098.

CENTRAL BAND CAMPAIGN UNDER WAY

THE COLOR GUARD of the Central High School Band (above) has been sharpened up considerably, thanks to assistance from the U. S. Naval Reserves. Next, the school hopes to replace its band uniforms purchased in 1948. On Nov. 12 bandsmen began to sell chocolate bars to build the uniform fund. Also helping are the Central High Boosters, Central PTA, West Side Pirates and other civic groups. The color guard was increased from two to four this year through the assistance of Cmdr. J. H. Wierton, commander of the USNR Training Center, 240 N. Sandusky-av. He provided service rifles and color guard uniforms. Members of the guard (from left) are: Jon Bratka, 1627 Striebel-rd, of Surface Div. 4-97L; Robert Shank, 89 S. Burgess-av, SA, Sea Scout Ship 29; Ted McGlaughlin, SA, 1285 W. Broad-st, SA, Ship 29; and Gary Barth, 258 Brehl-av, SA, and member of 4-97L. Also in the picture is LCDR Robert D. Rockey, USNR-R, S.D. 4-97L, and director of the Central High Marching Band.

Airman Undergoes Weird Routine For Study Of Man's Needs In Space

By MARCUS ORR

Never volunteer!

That's the buddy-buddy advice every young man hears when he enters the service.

But 18-year-old Stephen E. Mills didn't listen. Soon after leaving Central High School he joined the Air Force, finished basic — and then volunteered. He was one of 100 who spent 70 days as "human guinea pigs" for the Apollo-Gemini Aerospace program — the one that will send two men up for a rendezvous in space.

As a result of his eagerness, Airman 3/C Mills soon found himself doing some peculiar things — like hating steak, pouring coffee in his cereal, being tilted worse than any pinball machine, and "sacking out" for 17 days at a stretch.

Despite all this, Mills is proud to have done his bit for progress in the space race. Home at 116 W. Weisheimer-rd for a few days' leave before taking a new assignment, the trim airman described his experiences to his friends:

"We were picked right out of basic training so we would be in the best physical condition and were sent to Brooks AFB, San Antonio, Tex. There, we were under the supervision of doctors and other biomedical specialists for 70 days.

"The whole idea was metabolism research. They wanted to see how a man reacts under a low-calorie, low residue diet, while he spins in space doing only a little physical work for an extended period of time."

The government needs this information in a hurry. Twelve orbital flights are scheduled between 1964 and 1966. The mission of Gemini is to send two men up on flights lasting up to two weeks, and to test the feasibility of a rendezvous, or meeting, in space. The first two trials will be unmanned. Then, in late 1964, men are to ride in the ship.

"Diet was the big thing in our tests," Airman Mills said. "We were given the best possible food, cooked in a lab by the ray method. There was no choice, though. Broiled steak, with whole potatoes, corn and a little butter for two days, then ham on the third day. There were no in-between snacks.

"We were allowed all the water we wanted, but it was distilled and flat tasting. We couldn't have milk, which we craved. But we were given coffee, and since this was the only thing I could put on my breakfast cereal, I did it. Then we swallowed calcium tablets. Because of this diet, bowel movements were about three weeks apart.

"But one of the strangest things was the tilt table. We spent 35 minutes a day on them for a whole month. As we lay there the tables were shifted from 90 degrees upward to 45 degrees backward. We were held for 30 seconds after each position while they took heart measurements and blood pressure.

"The tilt tables affected some of the other fellows more than me," Mills related. "A few passed out, and one had a 'heart rest' for a few seconds."

Then came the bed sessions — two 17-day periods during which the men were not allowed to lift their heads except for a few minutes to eat. The beds had no springs. Just mattresses on plywood.

"Medics were watching us 24 hours a day," Mills said. "They were not permitted to say anything to us, except to answer a few of our questions. We were given TV to watch, however.

"After a while we found ourselves getting a little irritable with our friends. And we lost weight. I dropped four pounds but one man lost 32. During this time they measured our muscles and checked for other signs of weakness. A man who could do 50 pushups before the bed rest found he could do only two after it.

"Then they put us on a regular routine for 28 days. Gym exercises, full diet, and everything to put us back into shape. This was followed by another 17 days in bed.

"When we finally ended the test program we really went on a food binge." Airman Mills said. "Some gained 25 pounds in two weeks. We gulped down the milk and actually ate until we got sick.

"But would you believe it? I still can't look a steak in the face!"

TILT! That's what Airman 3/C Stephen Mills did daily for a whole month while medical experts checked his body reactions under simulated aerospace flight situations.

A Hilltop resident for the past 23 years, Bill has been representative of an advertising specialty concern for most of that time.

Brought Europe's Good Wishes

It was on his second trip home to Germany in 1961 that he carried parchments in English and German naming him as "European Ambassador Plenipotentiary" of the Hilltop Lions Club.

He managed to visit more than a score of Lions International clubs throughout Europe and brought greetings from the Hilltop to each.

Honorary lifetime membership in the Hilltop Lions Club was granted Bill some four and a half years ago in recognition of his great devotion to the principles of Lionism.

His charter status results from the fact that he was one of fewer than three dozen Hilltop men who applied for and received a charter as the Hilltop Lions Club in 1950. Bill has maintained perfect attendance in the intervening years.

"The first thing I'm going to do when I get to Greensboro," Bill declared, "is to look up the nearest Lions Club and become active in it."

when the shot strikes the metal, the resulting black mark is quickly erased with a stroke of a paint brush, making ready for the next test.

The "X" events, popular at the first Angle Club turkey shoots last year held in the spring and fall, will be repeated. In this line, the closest pellet to the center of an "X" on a target wins.

Judging again this year will be supervised by a leading Colun.bus tool designer.

St. Marys Casts 200 In Musical

Music from 10 Broadway productions, including the "West Side Story," "The Music Man" and "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," will be presented at the variety show opening Friday at the St. Mary's Grade School.

With the theme "Musically Yours" Mrs. Henry Thiabaut has produced a show with a cast of 200 honoring Msgr. Edmund Burkley's namesday.

Sponsored by the Belles of St. Mary's, the mothers' club of the school, Mrs. Earl Grey and Joseph Bliss are in charge of the music and Mrs. Albert Wolf is the choreographer.

The costumes, which are replicas of those used by the original casts of the various musicals have been made by Mrs. Toni Brightfeller and Mrs. Dan Smitley, and Jack Dempsey has created the stage designs.

Tickets for the production, which is open to the public, are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

"76 TROMBONES" IS ONLY one of the numbers to be presented when the cast of "Musically Yours" gives the opening performance Friday, Nov. 15, 2 p.m. at St. Marys Grade school auditorium, 700 S. Third-st. A second and third show are scheduled Friday evening at 8, and 2 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 17. From the left, in front are ballerina Joyce Dora, organ grinder Frank Bennett and "Playmate" Maureen Smitley. In the back are Jerry Easelstein who will be the master of ceremonies, and Gayle Thiabaut who will sing "Mira" from "Carnival."

Conrad Heads Mason Lodge

Virgil Conrad was named Worshipful Master of South Gate Lodge No. 1, Masons, during the recent annual meeting.

Other officers named for the coming year were: Robert Ruetsch, senior warden; Maxwell Brown, Jr., junior warden; W. Bro. Donald Kocher, secretary; W. Bro. Ray Conkle, treasurer; Harry Crabtree, senior deacon; Joe Gilmore, junior deacon; Harry Fisher, tyler, and W. Bro. Lewis Rankey, trustee.

The newly elected master appointed W. Bro. Ed Walters as chaplain; Morris Jordan, senior steward; Jim Lloyd junior steward; Lowell Sutton educational officer and Bernard Patton organist.

An installation meeting was scheduled for Friday, Nov. 8, for the new officers. W. Bro. Virgil Teeters was installing officer.

Heigel Assigned

Army Pvt. Victor L. Heigel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig L. Heigel, 1380 Lilley-av, was assigned early in October to the 535th Engineer Company in Germany.

Heigel, an equipment operator in the company, entered the Army in February, 1962, and completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

The 19-year-old soldier attended South High School.

NOW IN ARKANSAS

Army Pfc. Richard T. Sailor, Jr., whose parents live at 201 Moler-st, is a member of the 596th Signal Company which has been assigned to Fort Chaffee, Ark.

The unit returned to the United States Oct. 7 from Germany in a program designed to re-deploy non-combat units to the United States from overseas commands.

The 20-year-old soldier, a radio operator in the company at Fort Chaffee, entered the Army in June, 1961. He is a 1961 graduate of South High School.

"WE WIN BY doing for others," said Mrs. Everett Ball, right, Groveport-pk when she returned the money she had won to Mrs. Ralph Campbell, 5545 Ebright-rd, treasurer of Wing 50 of Nightingale Cottage.

MYRTLE BALL RETURNS $100 TO WING 50

"I got rid of Myrtle Ball a long time ago."

With these words Mrs. Everett Ball attempted to gloss over the generosity she had shown when she endorsed back to Wing 50 of Nightingale Cottage the check for $100 which she had won in a recent drawing.

She explained that the lessons she learned in Sunday School and from her mother as a little girl caught up with her when she learned she had been the lucky one.

She had just returned from "window-shopping" for a stereo she felt she could not afford at the moment when she received the news.

Mrs. Ball claims her first reaction was that she'd give $25 back to the guild and apply the balance to the record player.

"But in a few moments, I realized I couldn't do that. After all, the only things we really keep are the things we give away," she philosophized.

Mentioning that her plans for a stereo would keep she pointed to the sign above her desk reading, "The hurrier I go, the behinder I get."

Mrs. Ralph Campbell of the Wing believes that here is one woman who without rushing through this world, is leaving a lot of good behind her.

MRS. SMITH WINS AWARD

When Mrs. Ada M. Smith, 3091 Watkins-rd, received the Distinguished Service to Agriculture award Tuesday at the annual 45th meeting of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

Disavowing personal accomplishment she accepted the award in the name of the Farm Bureau Women of Ohio.

The award went to Mrs. Smith in recognition of the more than 40 years she has devoted to farm organization activities, including helping to establish the Franklin County Farm Bureau and enrollment of new members.

According to Wendall Weller of Urbana who is president of the Federation, Mrs. Smith was the first Franklin County Farm Bureau Women's Committee chairwoman and helped to develop the Women's Department of the Federation.

Safety Day at the Ohio State Fair and the safety promotion program carried out on Senior Citizen's Day are the result of Mrs. Smith's efforts.

Other of her activities designed for the older citizen include the founding of the Golden Leaf Society, the Golden Age Hobby show, and the chairmanship of the Committee on Aging of the volunteer Council of Social Agencies.

She continues with her son Lot to carry on a commercial vegetable - growing business begun by her late husband, Arthur Smith.

In 1960, coffee accounted for 74 per cent of Haiti's exports, sisal 13 per cent and sugar two per cent.

IN THE NAME of the Farm Bureau Women of Ohio with whom she has worked so many years, Mrs. Ada M. Smith accepted the award given to her personally for "Distinguished Service." Wendell Weller, President of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation made the presentation Tuesday, the second day of the three-day meet.

MR. AND MRS. EAKIN RETURN FROM HOLY LAND

When Wanderlust Calls, Lew Eakin Replies

"Itchy feet" are often associated with gay young blades.

But Lew Eakin, down at 3850 S. High-st, has a bad case, and he's seen too many seasons come and go to qualify as a "gay, young blade."

The man just got back from Egypt, is about ready to take off for South America, and upon his return will complete his plans to go "down under" to Australia.

Beside his wealth of interests which led him to his globe-trotting, he is blessed with just the right kind of wife.

She goes with him when it appeals to her and stays home without a trace of martyrdom when it seems more discreet.

"All they want is a cook, and I'm not looking for the job," Mary Eakin laughed, explaining her husband's South American jaunt involves living in a houseboat on the Amazon with some other dyed-in-the-wool sportsmen.

Similarly she declined last year the opportunity to accompany him to Russia with members of the National Association of School Board members.

"I don't like the Russians, I don't trust the Russians, and I'm not going to have anything to do with the Russians," she told her husband when he extended his invitation.

And that was that.

It was quite a firm stand for a bride of five days to take.

But this was no flighty, teenage bride that Eakin was dealing with.

Mary Eakin for years had been the wife of Dr. Forrest Kaiser, long-time director of the Columbus State Hospital, and the doctor and she had been life-long friends of Mr. and Mrs. Eakin.

After the death of Mrs. Eakin and Dr. Kaiser several years ago, the friendship continued and eventually turned into a courtship which led to the extremely congenial marriage the Eakins enjoy today.

Though without inclination to explore Russia or become a cook on a houseboat in the wilds of Brazil, Mary gladly packed her bags last month and took off with Lew for the Holy Land.

And they really had a ball.

They tramped the ruins of Pompeii, they took a moonlight sail up the Nile and rode the sands of the Arabian desert a la camel back.

Flying from here to Milan, Italy, the couple journeyed to Genoa to embark for Alexandria via a Mediterranean cruise.

Falling in love with Italy Mrs. Eakin told of the beautiful valleys, the farm land of which every square inch is put to use and the ancient ruins. They visited the home of Christopher Columbus which still stands.

In fact, they were impressed with everything they saw in Italy except a middle-aged American tourist who, while Eakin was exchanging some currency, approached Mrs. Eakin with the suggestion that he would make a more desirable companion than her husband.

Before the tourist disappeared in the crowd and Mrs. Eakin had convinced the gallant Italian gentleman and his wife who overheard the conversation that a railroad station was no place for mayhem, she envisioned spending her first night in Europe in jail.

"And at my age," she ex-

NO, THEY AREN'T a couple of stray Egyptians. It's only Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Eakin who are sufficiently young-in-heart to pose with the Arabic dress they brought back from their recent trip to the Holy Land. The bag Mrs. Eakin is holding is made of camel's hide and is as colorful as the robe of Joseph of Biblical history.

Coming Events Point To Sunday Openings

All up and down the grapevine there are whisperings that more and more of the big stores plan to stay open for Sunday business in the immediate future.

In recent months several newcomers to the Columbus area have opened for Sunday business and as a result many of the other large firms are now deciding that theirs should be a seven-day operation.

Firms that are currently staying open for Sunday business have found plenty of people willing to buy on Sunday. If every store stays open seven days a week it would appear that the whole thing is reduced to a simple matter of arithmetic that provides every store with about the same total volume of business for the week but costing one more day of operating expenses.

Mayor-elect Jack Sensenbrenner has stated that he will make no moves immediately regarding Sunday operation but will have an open mind in any discussions that business people or groups of citizens may seek.

A big community-wide effort to ward off additional Sunday business operations apparently has bogged down. At this point it appears that Columbus and Franklin County are about to become

Our Homemakers

NOW IN THEY'RE CHICAGO

The search for four representative Suburban Homemakers, conducted by Hartley Newspapers during the past few weeks, came to a climax last Friday at an announcement luncheon held in honor of the winners at Lincoln Lodge.

Silver trays and certificates were presented by the publisher, C. Carlton Hartley, and plans were outlined for a glittering visit to Chicago to compete with about 65 other candidates from throughout the country for the $5000 prize awarded the National Suburban Homemaker.

Selected from the many nominated for the distinction by their admiring friends and family were Mrs. Oletta Mosher, 4009 Beechcreek-rd; Mrs. Kathryn Long, Taylor-Blair-rd, West Jefferson; Mrs. Frances Fannon, 858 Stephen-dr W., and Mrs. Betty Gutheil, Rt. 1, Lockbourne.

The four, accompanied by Hartley Newspapers' managing editor, Marcus Orr, and his wife, left Wednesday by air for the Drake Hotel in Chicago, and a gay round of theatre and fun, a gala dinner, inspiring programs and panel discussions, and meetings with the country's other Suburban Homemaker candidates.

Frosting on the cake — the announcement of the national winner — will be made Friday at the Suburban Press Foundation's award luncheon.

In addition to the $5.000

THE WINNERS! The ideal Suburban Homemaker in the Hartley Newspapers' area, in the opinion of the contest judges, is best represented by, from left, seated, Mrs. Oletta Mosher and Mrs. Betty Gutheil, and in back, Mrs. Frances Fannon and Mrs. Kathryn Long. Their selection was announced at a luncheon held last Friday at Lincoln Lodge. Each was presented a certificate and silver tray by Publisher C. Carlton Hartley, and a Bible by Mrs. Mildred Smith of the Christian Book Store. The four local winners left Wednesday for Chicago and the competition for National Suburban Homemakers.

PETITIONS OFTEN DO THE TRICK

SS Council Told Of Magic Word

Claiming "petition" to be a magic word, Croft Merritt, assistant to the service director, advised the Council of South Side Organizations to use petitions to get the sidewalks and street lighting called for in sections of the South Side.

He had been asked to discuss the dual problem when the Council met last Thursday.

Explaining that as the privilege of issuing mortgage bonds was denied the Division of Electricity by vote. Merritt stated that money for expansion of street lighting provided by the Columbus Municipal Light Plant must come from current profits.

He pointed out that with funds thus limited high crime areas and other critical areas, such as hospital grounds where nurses need protection of lighting when changing shifts, are given priority.

In the filing of petitions for sidewalks it is suggested that the signatures of a majority of abutting property owners (though this is not a legal requirement) be acquired.

Council can then at its discretion, accept a resolution providing for the construction of sidewalks with 98 per cent of the costs to be borne by the property owners except the cost of intersections for which the city is responsible.

Property owners are then served notice of a time limit for them to construct the sidewalks personally. If this deadline is not met, then the city proceeds, after proper legal procedures, to build the sidewalks and either collect from individual property owners within a 30-day collection period or place the costs on the tax duplicate, to be collected over a period of five years.

When pentitions are not filed, any individual is free to construct sidewalks on his property, but a permit, which is free, must be obtained, the sidewalks must meet city specifications, and both forms and the walks are subject to

THE NEW POOL table purchased by the CSSO was set up at the South Side Branch YMCA Monday morning. The council approved the $550 gift when members met last Thursday night. Arrangements were made so that it could be paid for with two equal installments over a two-year period.

ATTENTION: ALL BOY SCOUTS

A Real Astronaut's Coming To See You

Does anyone have a secret yen to meet and talk with an Astronaut?

Well, the combined efforts of the Mohawk and Pickaway District of the Boy Scouts of America have made it easy to do just this.

Come to the Adventure-Round-Up Jamboree at the Circleville High School Saturday, Nov. 30 at 2:30 p.m. when the fun begins.

And Neil A. Armstrong, Astronaut and Eagle Scout, will be there.

But before you take off, you better get your ticket which is a recruiter's bar.

To get this ticket all that is necessary is to help two boys sign up as Cub Scouts or Explorers during the current round-up. When they officially register at Boy Scout Headquarters, the recruiter's bar will be forwarded to you. Pinned on the right pocket flap of your uniform, it will be your admission to the Jamboree and an introduction to Armstrong.

The Astronaut was a Boy Scout for five years in Wapakoneta and Upper Sandusky and a member of the Order of the Arrow. In California he is advisor of an Air Explorer Squadron.

Through Armstrong is the stellar attraction at the Jamboree, special ceremonies such as the Bobcat and Tenderfoot investure and honoring of all 20-20 Club Adventure Round Up leaders will take place.

A luncheon for leaders and their wives will be held with Armstrong at noon.

A special section dedicated to the four local Suburban Homemaker winners will be included in next week's Hartley Newspapers. Look for it!

Sensenbrenner Team Problem: Applicants Outnumber Job Spots

By FRANK RYAN

While November — by the calendar — has only 30 days, it can be a long month when it begins with an election that overturns an incumbent city administration.

Few people who actively support a successful candidate know beforehand that they will be selected as a part of the "new team." Fewer still have any reasonable assurance of the precise job they will be selected to undertake.

And while the potential appointees "sweat it out," news reporters covering the political scene join in the "pick-'em" derby to qualify for the prestige-only award as "Political Pundit of the Year."

This year's "derby" in Columbus is no different from most. Mayor-Elect M. E. (Jack) Sensenbrenner will soon present his array of new faces in old places, and the predictors are having a field day.

When a six-member team was chosen recently to survey six major departments of city government, the "word" went out that these men were either "in" or at least prime candidates for appointive office.

Example: Donald Leach, former administrator of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, will survey the utility department. He was chosen because of experience in the utility field. One does not have to strain the imagination to speculate that Leach might well be the next utilities director.

Salaries Big Factor

But there is more to determining who will fill what positions than just finding a qualified person. There is the all-important area of salary.

Bethany Experiences Quiet, Orderly Growth

With hopes high to receive its charter in the Spring, the Bethany Christian Church at Wilson-av and Fulton-st is seeking a total of 75 to 100 persons who will signify their intent to become charter members.

Rev. William Hansen, pastor, explained that the church was made available for an integrated congregation when the Wilson Avenue Christian Church vacated the building and moved east.

After 11 weeks of what Mrs. Lois Mattison, chairman of the Evangelism Membership describes as "quiet growth" a youth choir, directed by Capital University student Bob Everhart, has been formed, two fellowship

In the second row are Angela Rose Jackson (half-turned from the camera), Carla Reeves, Jerri Lynn Peoples and Jerri Lynn Taylor. In front of Rev. Expansion Of Plant Alters Right-Of-Way

Planning a ten million dollor roadway, which has been the job undertaken by Alden E. Stilson and Associates, consulting engineers hired to make the engineering survey for the proposed Frank-rd extension, is a science.

But, exact as it is, plans must be flexible when the unexpected turns up.

Not long after Stilson prepared a report last January outlining a proposed right-of-way in the stage from High-st to Lockbourne-rd, the officials of Buckeye Steel Castings broke some big news to Stilson.

Planned expansion of the facilities necessary to the company's new soil pipe division would preclude land, then included in the survey's proposed right-of-way, from being available for highway if the expansion was to materialize.

Millions of dollars were involved, and according to Alden Stilson, three or four hundred jobs.

The engineering firm began to re-evaluate their study using Buckeye Steel Castings' needs as a prime control point without losing sight of the critical point of crossing the C&O Railroad without obscuring the station master's view of the yard and that of protecting the manufacturing facilities of Puritan Packaging Co.

Within the past week, although, according to Stilson, the alternate plans were drawn up some time ago, publicity was given to the new right-of-way.

And it didn't take long to draw attention to the fact that about a third of an acre (an 18-foot strip along an 800-foot frontage) along Fornof-rd belonged to Councilman B. Fornof.

Asked about the situation Sunday, Fornof reiterated his previous stand that the last thing he actually, from a personal view, wants is a free-way in his front yard, but he had gone along with Stilson's original recommendations which placed it there as most practical from a cost and engineering viewpoint.

The revision of the plan

WILL CLEAR SITE FOR SCHOOL, PLAYGROUND

Columbus School Board Tuesday approved the demolition of two houses on school-owned properties, to clear the sites for a play area and for a future school.

A two-story frame residence will be cleared from 743 Kelton-av to make way for a playground at Kent Elementary, and a nine-room two story frame house will be removed from 1185 E. Moler-rd, part of the land earmarked for a future junior high.

There are no immediate plans for construction of the junior high on the school-owned parcel south of Moler and east of Lockbourne, but one will be built there, when, and if student population justifies a school.

Contract for both projects was awarded to Giles Building Maintenance and Demolition Co. for $760.

Catholic Clothing Collection Slated Thanksgiving Week

Annual Catholic Bishops' Thanksgiving clothing collection will be held in the parishes throughout the Diocese during the week of Sunday, Nov. 24 through 30.

Every November the Catholic Bishops of the United States conduct an appeal in behalf of the millions of homeless, and destitute peoples living in the needy and underdeveloped areas of the world. Provisions for handling the used clothing will be handled by local churches.

In a letter this week to pastors, Msgr. Lawrence Corcoran, diocesan charities director, said, "We are hopeful that the response of our Catholic people will be generous this year as last, when 93,680 pounds of clothing were collected in the Diocese of Columbus and more than 8,000 tons were amassed throughout the country."

LAFB FLIES OVER THE TOP

THEY'RE WATCHING WITH a great deal of interest as Brig. General R. H. Strauss, commander of the 801st Air Division at Lockbourne AFB, signs the check for Air Force contributions to the 1963 United Appeal campaign. It wasn't every day that Joseph R. Bartz, left, Pickaway County representative, and Norman Brown, Franklin County representative, picked up a check for $40,120.49. The sum was reached when every base squadron exceeded the goals set at the beginning of the campaign.

I am Thankful... for good health, and for the food that I have each day. I am thankful for those near and dear to me that I can love, and in turn love me. I am thankful for the freedom of my nation, and that I can worship as I please. I am thankful that God loved me so much, that he provided a way for my salvation. I am thankful that he is a forgiving Father. I am thankful that I can attend Church and worship my Lord each Sunday.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

MY! HOW 'EWE' HAVE GROWN

WHEN THIS YOUNG lady went to the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago last year she went as a 135 pound lamb and came back as the Reserve —Grand Champion. Last week her owner, Walter Kuhlwein, 4818 Parsons-av, took her to the big show of the East, the Pennsylvania Livestock Exposition at Harrisburg as a full-fledged 200 pound ewe and brought back the Champion. This is only one of the six top awards Kuhlwein's Shropshires won and this outstanding performance brought him the Breeder's Banner for having the most top sheep in the show. The young breeder pointed out that his Champion ewe, who is now headed for retirement from the show world and will settle down as a mother, though only 20-months-old has showed 28 times, with only two defeats.

Commissioners Weigh Fate Of Blacklick Shopping Area

The Franklin County Commissioners will hand down their ruling concerning the rezoning of 28 acres of Blacklick Estate by Tuesday, Dec. 3, according to Henry Koontz, chairman.

When objections were raised to the petition specifying eight acres for a shopping center and the balance for multiple family dwellings, an agreement was made with the Ohio Holding Company, representing the developer of the area, William C. Davis, to eliminate the multiple apartment houses.

In their place, single family dwellings, of a higher price range than those built in Blacklick up to this point and more in keeping with the homes of Asbury Manor, were promised to serve as a buffer between Asbury and the proposed shopping area.

Koontz said that the only action the board has taken as of this week is to refer the petition back to Regional Planning for revision. Regional Planning had originally okayed the plat as it stood.

The chairman pointed out that since the Rural Zoning Board has denied approval to the proposal, it will now take the unanimous vote of the commissioners to reverse Rural's decision and allow the commercial zoning necessary before the center can be constructed.

The residents of the area fighting the petition have taken the attitude that a shopping center facing the main highway (Hamilton-rd in this case) is not a "neighborhood" affair, but one for the general public, and unnecessary because of the proximity of the new Eastland Shopping Center.

Their attorney, Thomas Applegate, indicated they would like to see any shopping area located within the heart of the housing development such as the one off Rt. 161 in the northern part of the city.

At last week's hearing the comments of Commissioner Glenn L. Myers indicated he agreed with the residents of Asbury Manor on this point.

However, Koontz stated Tuesday that what is done in one case does not necessarily become a precedent that should be followed in another where other circumstances may differ widely.

Utility Co. Servicemen Attend New Columbus Area School

Gas company servicemen are "going to school" at a new training center in Marble Cliff.

The center is designed to help maintain and improve the high standards of service for customers of Ohio Fuel Gas Co. and other Columbia Gas System companies which serve in a seven-state area.

Moved recently from its original location at Washington, Pa., the new training center has been expanded into an eight-classroom school where gas company servicemen will receive special instruction in the servicing of gas-fired appliances and equipment.

Elden H. Davis, Columbus, Central District manager for Ohio Fuel, said the school will provide significant benefits to Ohio Fuel customers in the Columbus area. "Through a series of specially prepared courses that will be offered at the training center, our servicemen will be able to improve their skill and keep up-to-date with the many developments in modern gas-fired appliances and equipment," Davis said.

New servicemen with the company will be provided with an intensive three-week basic instruction course. Experienced servicemen will be given refresher courses and advanced courses in new techniques, new standards and regulations, new and more modern equipment.

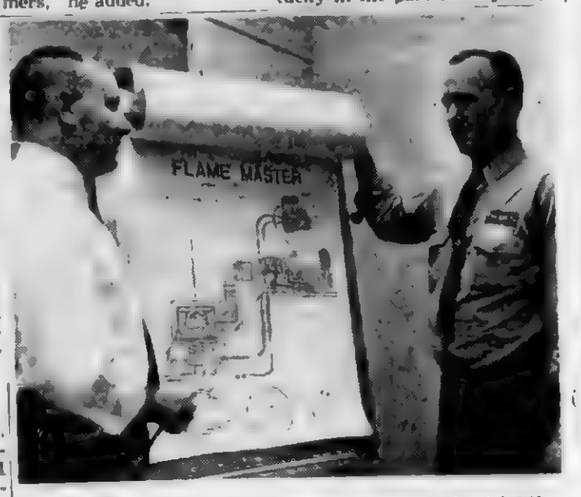
The new training center is under the direction of Lowell V. Reed of Columbus, who in the late 1950s pioneered the first servicemen's training school while he was distribution service manager for the Manufacturers Light and subsidiary of Columbia. In Heat Co., Pittsburgh, also a 1960 Reed was appointed by Columbia to organize and direct a system-wide school at Washington, Pa.

Since then, nearly all of Columbia's 1,063 servicemen have taken at least one course at the school. Many more have time. Classes are drawn from Columbia's three operating groups, including the Columbia completed a second course.

Reed and the instructors have devised the curriculum and selected and designed all the equipment for the school.

Up to 40 servicemen can be enrolled in the school at one bus Group companies (Ohio Fuel Gas Co. and Ohio Valley Gas Co.), Pittsburgh Group companies and the Charleston Group companies.

Through a combination of lectures and laboratory work the training center serves to teach the newest techniques in operation and servicing of gas ranges, refrigerators, clothes dryers, water heaters, air conditioners, commercial cooking equipment and various types of heating equipment.



Other phases of the servicemen's schooling include the study of the use and care of instruments, installation of service lines, meters and regulators, appliance venting, tool safety and customer relations. "What the serviceman learns at this training center, plus continuous instructions given him locally, will help him to become more proficient at his job," Davis said. "As a result, Ohio Fuel will be able to continue to improve its service to its customers," he added.

Jeannine Tollifson, art teacher at Mohawk Junior High School, attended the Ohio Art Education Convention, Nov. 14, 15 and 16 in Cincinnati.

Some 300 art teachers participated in the convention activities, which included forums, problems, clinics, workshops and section meetings, covering the major areas of elementary, secondary and college education, to provide teachers with inspiration and help from specialists.

In addition to her duties at Mohawk, Mrs. Tollifson is serving as a resource person in the area of planning an art program for the slower learners in the Columbus Public Schools.

ADVICE FROM A SHIRKER:

Solved! How To Do Your Dullest Housework Without Really Trying

By JANE ROBINSON

Give most American women a home and they'll soon be happily married to a vacuum sweeper, a dust cloth and a card index of recipes.

But careful research shows there are a few mavericks even in suburbia.

These are those slip-shod characters who without shame, admit they despise housework, regarding it as a necessary evil to be indured with as little pain as possible.

To this group of sluggards, it is a constant challenge to keep a house without really trying.

Twenty-some years of experience in this field have brought up some basic steps to this writer which she feels could be of great help to other devotees of this school of thought.

First, there should be as little expenditure of physical energy as possible—that is—of personal energy.

The easiest way to get around this is to immediately start the propagation of a large family.

Contrary to popular opinion, boy-children can be equally useful around the house as girl-children, so do not worry about the sex of your family as they arrive.

A little psychology is needed to get them started, but it's well worth it.

Litle ones love to play with water—so give them a sink-full of dishes. But a word of caution, don't wait until they are tall enough to reach the kitchen sink — a chair to stand on can get them off on the right foot early.

For some unknown reason, the immature are fascinated by irons.

Though it is tempting to start them at this at two or three, safety measures require refraining until kindergarten age. Statistics show that the intervening years with hot irons strictly verbatim, whets their desire until it is at a high pitch, and the patient mother will never have to iron again. (There is a teenage slump that has to be dealt with very carefully, however).

Closets a "Must"

Even before this "grow your own help" program can be initiated (though fallproof, it is a little slow) the undomesticated can early make sure the surroundings are conducive to her life-long vision of freedom from housework.

Nothing is more important than a house with lots of closets.

Not even the most devout of the no-work school likes to pick up her husband or guests after they stumble over debris on the floor. And some, though they are reluctant to admit it, are even a little personally annoyed by clutter.

But closets get around this nicely. A few minutes before someone is expected, merely open the doors wide, and shovel toys, clothes, newspapers and the like in and then securely close said doors.

What could be simpler?

A little forethought to interior decoration really pays off. For example, glass curtains should always be used at all windows so that it is impossible to know, either from inside or out, whether said windows were washed this year or last. Bedspreads should be oversized to insure that they will hang to the floor and conceal anything from dust to last night's apple core.

No self-respecting "do-it-the-easy-way" homemaker would be caught dead with white woodwork in her home or any bric-a-brac that requires dusting.

"Educate" Hubby

But the ultimate success of the whole program relies greatly on the proper education of the husband.

Time any instinct you might have to run the sweeper to his favorite television program, and he'll beg you to turn the blasted thing off. Scorch a few white shirts, and he will miraculously decide it is more economical to send them to the laundry.

And above all, don't ever try to disprove the masculine theory that women are electrical morons.

One woman, who was an expert in getting out of work, almost met her downfall by being a little proud of the fact that she could change a fuse, repair an appliance cord, and rewire a dryer.

Before she came to her senses and deliberately plunged the entire house into darkness several times, she found herself involved in a lot of needless chores.

A like vanity will sometimes lead the inexperienced into needless culinary efforts.

Don't ever repeat, ever—knock yourself out in the kitchen. Once a husband, or children, ever discover that your talents go beyond that of peanut butter sandwiches, baked potatoes and hamburgers you're stuck. They'll not only expect, but actually demand, good cooking — anyone knows that takes time, and often gets a lot of pots and pans dirty.

Space prohibits giving all the tips of a lifetime, but this should get the truly lazy bride off on the right path.

The three "B's" must always be kept in mind -a Big family, Big closets and a Broadminded husband.

Holy Land—

claimed.

"Well, after that, she never let me out of her sight," her husband joined in, half-amused, half-angry about the entire incident.

Once in the Holy Land they followed the road that Christ had taken carrying the cross.

At each of the 14 places where He had fallen, huge cathedrals, chapels and churches have been erected which Mrs. Eakin felt detracted from the simple tragedy of the story as told in the Bible.

Also the couple were puzzled, when after visiting the underground spot where the manger of the Nativity is believed to have stood, they were taken to the "tomb" of Christ. This was in addition to the spot where the stone was found rolled away and Christ arisen.

They finally attributed it to the over-zealousness of the local "chamber of commerce."

The haggling merchants of Cairo met their match when Lew Eakin came their way.

Some merciful soul should have tipped them off that here was a man who had gotten his feet wet in the art of bargaining when he sold part of his farm land for a gravel pit operation. And the Egyptians could have saved their breath.

He brought back a beautiful set of carved ivory camels, first offered to him for $40 which he paid one good old American buck. A tooled camel hide piece of luggage which he has since seen advertised in the Wall Street Journal for about $40 cost him a mere $7.

Among the memories of Mrs. Eakin are the beautiful women of Jericho, veiled, and with the proud carriage of the ancients, carrying water jugs on their heads.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Eakin were touched by the refugees driven from Israel and now living in hovels or tents in the desert, fed by the United Nations with no livelihood and no place to go.

"Hogs in Franklin County live better than those people," Eakin claimed.

The couple brought tape recordings of the strange sounds of the unfamiliar world. There are the broadcasts of the Egyptian newscasts, the hubdub of the city markets, and the plaintive songs of the little old woman in Jerusalem who prayed at Mrs. Eakin's bedside when she was ill with the "bug."

A past grand priestess of the North American Oriental Shrine, the highest office of the Eastern Star, Mrs. Eakin immensely enjoyed the King Tut museum in Cairo.

Columbus Eastern Star members can expect a "new look" in headdresses and costumes from the inspirations she brought back.

Marveling at modern-day travel, they told of leaving Tel Aviv at 8 in the morning, flying 6,500 miles and arriving in Columbus by 9 p.m.

No, they didn't actually average around 600 miles an hour — they picked up nine hours in time change.

They're home now, and are glad of it. Columbus may have its municipal problems, but the Eakins find its sewerage problems highly satisfactory compared to those of the near-Orient, and find it pleasant to be able to drink water rather than wine and still have no fear of dysentery.

But they'll be off again before too long.

Here is a couple whose lives remind one of Browning's words, "The last of life for which the first was planned," for they are enjoying every minute of it.

Try Your Skill (Or Your Luck) At Turkey Shoot

WANT A FREE BIRD FOR THANKSGIVING DAY?

"I NEVER HAD a gun in my hands before," protested Mrs. Carl Benline, 2481 Farley-rd when coaxed to "give it a try." With the one-easy lesson from Robert Brown, she made an amazingly good spatter on the target.

Franklin County city slickers are a bunch of literal-minded critters.

This fact came out when the turkey shoot down at the South Y Park on Rohr-rd attracted friends of the "Y" and of members of the Right Angle Club which was sponsoring the shoot from all over the city.

Now any veteran turkey shoot fan (and there were plenty of these around too) well knows that this is the name given to the sporting event in which targets are attacked with shotguns, and turkeys, well - dressed and usually frozen, are awarded as prizes for the marksmen coming closest to the bullseye or the center of the "X" or what other scoring device may be used.

But not so with our gullible Franklin Countians.

More than one came expecting to aim, shoot and fire at a live and mobile turkey gobbler, claiming him as his own if the hapless bird dropped dead.

"I figured they'd probably tether the poor Tom and he'd be jumping around so it would be almost impossible to hit him," one young woman explained.

Well, there is a lot of wiser people this week, and strangely enough, enthusiasm increased when the untutored learned there were no dying birds to contend with.

Whole families showed up at the event Sunday, the first of two shoots scheduled by the Right Angle Club to raise funds for furnishing of the new YMCA building dedicated earlier this year. The second opens at noon this Sunday, Nov. 23, and will continue until dusk.

The free coffee, the hotdog stand and the television set with the pro game turned on provides plenty of entertainment for those who come strictly for the ride.

Don't misunderstand — mingling among the crowd were sharp-eyed gentlemen in full hunter regalia who were there with one main mission —to demonstrate their skill and the possibility of bringing home, certainly not the bacon (that was only third prize in each line) — but a turkey was only secondary.

For the unitiated it better be explained that 15 persons, each with their own target, shoot on each "line." And that costs one $1.

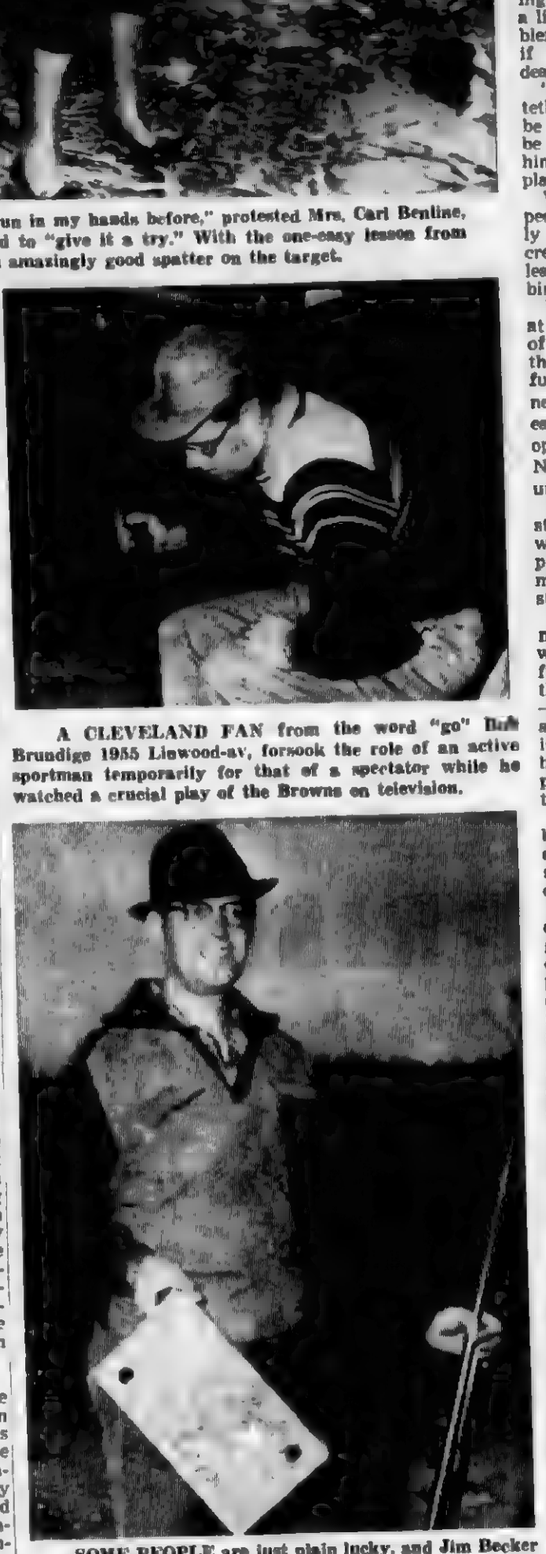
Three prizes are awarded on each line. Usually a turkey goes for first, a couple of chickens for second and the pound of bacon for third. However, some events offer sporting equipment and small appliances.

Special lines are set up for children who compete against each other and are carefully supervised.

Whether you are an expert or one who scarcely knows the business end of a shotgun from its butt, it's well worth a trip down Rohr-rd this Sunday.

There's fun for everybody, and turkey for a lot.

But take a word of advice from one who knows. Stay away from those high gauge shotguns.



They've got a kick like a Missouri mule.

There's a little weapon known as a 410 which would scarcely ruffle a duck's feathers that is highly recommended by this writer to the inexperienced. Let those mighty nimrods play by themselves with their 12 gauge cannons.

THERE'S MORE TO A TURKEY Shoot for small fry than the firing line. These young men, Steve, Bill and Michael, all sons of Mr. and Mrs. William Rees, 3531 Trabue-rd, found the refreshment stand equally fascinating. However, Mike got a big thrill when his shooting allowed him to "bring home the bacon" — a whole pound of it.

A CLEVELAND FAN from the word "go" Burk Brundige 1955 Linwood-av, forsook the role of an active sportman temporarily for that of a spectator while he watched a crucial play of the Browns on television.

SOME PEOPLE are just plain lucky, and Jim Becker of Worthington is one of them. Admitting that he had shot before—just once and that was 20 years ago—Becker walked off with not one, but two turkeys.

WITH A PRACTICED-eye, Larry Snyder, 175 E. Deshler-av, aimed slowly and carefully at his target. Though the eighth grader of Barrett Junior High was professional enough to hit the target, he lacked the luck to bring in a prize.

AND LET this be a lesson to you. Don't choose a gun with more "kick" than you can handle, or you may end up on your back, where young George Roby of Gahanna was headed when this picture was snapped.

It is almost axiomatic that leadership jobs in government do not offer salary inducements equivalent to comparative jobs within private industry. Appointive government jobs also offer considerably less security in an age when security holds equal rank with salary.

Although the same story might be told with most of the top appointive jobs, let's consider the job of service director.

Sensenbrenner has said that he wants a qualified engineer for the job. Therefore, he presumably will be seeking a registered professional engineer of something more than average ability. According to most knowledgeable people in engineering, such a man would usually earn from $15,000 to $20,000 and up annually. Yet the service director's job pays less than $12,500 per year.

It seems evident that under the present structures for top appointive city jobs, the emphasis will be on men of quality who can "afford" to serve.

This is one good reason why the eventual naming of top administrative personnel may not come before mid or late December.

Prominent mention has been given to about a half-dozen people for cabinet level and sub-cabinet administrative positions. Attorney Robert W. Draper, a former Common Pleas Court judge, had strong support (even before Election Day) for the job of safety director. But he will not be the eventual choice. Unconfirmed but reliable reports indicate that Draper took himself out of the picture. He may seek elective office in 1964.

Jones' Future Assured

There will be a place in the new administration for John E. Jones, Sensenbrenner's campaign manager, but the exact spot has not been announced. Others who may reasonably be expected to land jobs under Sensenbrenner include Attorney Fred J. Simon, a former State Highway Department personnel officer, and Mike Dorrian, 20th Ward Democratic committeeman.

While all present holders of cabinet level status can expect to be replaced, there is one important sub-level appointive job that might go unchanged — that of urban renewal director. Present jobholder Patrick Phelan, was appointed in September by Mayor Westlake. Phelan, a former city hall reporter, is rated about a 50-50 bet to survive the changeover.

But political jobs are not without some forms of compensation. Most of the "ins" who will soon be "outs" have known their fate since Election Day. They have the "fringe benefit" of a two-month notice to seek employment elsewhere. For many it will be a difference of one or two blocks as they move to jobs in the Republican state administration. Others will be forced "to parlay the training and experience of the past four years into generally higher paying jobs in private industry.

But the ones to pity — particularly in a relatively close election — are the brave souls who are contesting for available jobs. Each must surely feel that it was his personal contribution that resulted in the victory. But there just aren't enough patronage jobs to meet the needs of all the patrons.

If the month of November seems long, the month of December will seem endless for those who can but watch — and wait.

Frank-rd—

made it even more unattractive to him as it placed the roadway even closer to his home, but he felt as a councilman his hands were tied.

"My primary concern is to get the highway built, in the location that qualified engineering studies show to be the most practical," he stated. He needn't have been concerned.

By Tuesday morning Stilson, who explained that the plans are still fluid within the limits set by the fore-mentioned control had again revised the plans, this time in the interest of saving about $6,000.

He explained that when costs were computed to take the 20-foot strip from Fornof and the Board of Education which has school property to the east of Fornof's property, it was learned that it involved about $12,600.

By installing curbs and gutters along the same part of the freeway the need for the extra 18 feet of right-of-way would be eliminated.

With total costs including curbing, catch basins and a 12-inch storm sewer estimated at $6,580, only simple arithmetic showed that this was the indicated procedure.

He then drafted a letter to Robert F. Werner, chief engineer to this effect.

As these changes go on, the extension is still far from becoming a reality.

Though Werner has scheduled it to begin in 1967, no one has yet come up with the very necessary $10,000,000.

(Actually, only $5,000,000 will probably be required, as it is a foregone conclusion the federal government will assume 50 percent of the costs).

California declared its independence from Mexico July 5, 1846.

Earl Appointed DepartmentHead At Children's

Dr. William Earl has been appointed director of the department of physical medicine and occupational therapy at Children's Hospital. The announcement was made by the hospital's board of trustees.

His duties will include coordinating patient physical and occupational therapy with other supportive services of the hospital, including social service, psychological testing, speech and hearing therapy, public health nursing and educational facilities.

Dr. Earl is a graduate of Ohio State University School of Medicine.

Four Seasons Give Columbus Winter Concert

The Four Seasons, a rock and roll singing group, will appear in Columbus for the first time on Sunday, Dec. 1, at the Youth Center, Ohio Exposition Center. The Hep City Swing Club will sponsor the program which is scheduled from 2 to 5 p.m.

The Four Seasons have recorded such million-record sellers as "Sherry," "Big Girls Don't Cry," "Ain't That a Shame," "Soon," "Marlena," "Peanuts" and "Candy Girl."

The four boys are Frankie Valli, Bob Gaudio, Nick Massi and Tommy DeVito. All four are from New Jersey.

Prior to their current hit records, nothing was going quite right for the group. However, on a chance visit to New York, they became acquainted with independent record producer Bob Crewe. Crewe decided the group could make it if they were given the proper material and took the artists under his wing. The second record they came up with was "Sherry" and the rest is history.

Tickets will go on sale Sunday, Nov. 17, at the Youth Center during the Hep City Swing session from 2 to 5 p.m. Special guests will be The Nu-Trons, and Phil Gary of Phil and The Catalinas will be the emcee.

To be a father is about the highest privilege that ever comes to any man.

American Dairy Association prize for the winner, $500 will be awarded to the person who nominated her.

Each of the four Hartley Homemakers has a wishful, but unbelieving, eye on the $5,000 prize. But if none of them win, they will not be losers.

All feel already rewarded beyond measure by the endorsement of the person who nominated them, the well wishes of their friends, and, most of all, the knowledge each has that, to her individual family, she is without question "National Suburban Homemaker" — the best in the country.

Hartley winners were to arrive in Chicago in time for a theatre party Wednesday night.

An extra pleasure was in store for Mrs. Mosher. Her son, stationed at Great Lakes Naval Training Center, was to join the group for Wednesday night's fun, and would remain with his mother through Thursday's program.

Interesting Panels Planned

Plans for Thursday include a panel discussion on improved homemaking by representatives of the American Medical Association, Super Market Institute, American Dairy Association, Retail Merchants Association, Women's Finance Forum and the Suburban Homemakers.

There will also be an exchange discussion between representatives of Look Magazine, Good Housekeeping Institute, American Women in Radio and Television, Northeast Los Angeles Suburban Newspapers and Campbell-Mithun Advertising Agency.

Paul Neil Averill, publisher of the Birmingham (Mich.) Eccentric, will be Thursday's luncheon speaker.

The tribute dinner, for Suburban Homemakers, publishers and their staffs, will be a Thursday evening feature at the Kungsholm, famed for its smorgasbord. A show will follow dinner.

The award program and luncheon, to be televised by the networks, is scheduled for Friday morning at the Drake.

Announcement of the award to the National Suburban Homemaker of 1963 will be made by national judges:

Judge Clayton W. Rose, Columbus, past president, National Council of Juvenile Court Judges; Dr. Freda S. Kehm, director, Association for Family Living; Dr. Hazel K. Stiebeling, formerly administrator, Agricultural Research service, U.S. Department of Agriculture; Mrs. John A. Campbell, national vice-president, League of Women Voters, and Dr. Helen ?.. Starr, director health, physical education and welfare, Minneapolis Public Schools.

The keynote address, "Our Great Responsibilities," will be given by Inspector Edward C. Kemper, Jr., Federal Bureau of Investigation, Washington, D.C.

The group will return home by jet flight Friday evening.

Entrance to Missouri's Meramec Caverns is a natural arch, 50 feet wide and 20 feet high.

CONTRADICTORY

Even the animal kingdom can't agree on whether the oncoming winter is to be mild or severe, better or worse than last year's miserable time . . . some fur-bearing denizens of the wild have thin coats, others have thick ones . . . squirrels in some areas are storing up nuts, those elsewhere are frittering away these autumnal days with never a thought for the future . . . a lot of woolly worms have been seen crossing Highway X, hardly any on Highway Y . . . various almanacs disagree on the subject, too . . . but the staid, unimaginable U.S. Weather Bureau offers advice drawn from the wisdom of long experience: "People would be well advised to prepare as if cold weather lay ahead" . . .

dinners held and plans laid for the formation of a Christian Woman's Fellowship, be formed.

Another important part of future plans is the establishment of a Boy Scout program under the Christian education department.

The Christmas program will be initiated when a Christmas Workshop is held Wednesday, Dec. 4 in which instruction will be given in making gifts and home decorations. The Christmas Eve midnight communion service will be followed by a program.

AWARDED MEDAL

Army Spec. 4 Larry D. Mustain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Acquillis Mustain of 230 E Morrill-av, was awarded the Good Conduct Medal in mid-October while serving with the 1st Armored Division at Fort Hood, Tex. The 24-year-old soldier entered the army in November, 1961, and completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

IN MEDITERRANEAN

Victor J. Hart, radarman second class, USN, son of Mr and Mrs. Neil M. Hart of 1123 City Park, is serving aboard the radar picket destroyer USS William M. Wood which left Norfolk, Va., in early October for duty with the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

city inspection.

Answering the query as to whether the banks of the Scioto are not being cleared instead of the bed, as promised, to alleviate flooding, Merritt explained that though certain islands have been removed, it is also important to clear trees and brush on the banks to insure maximum flow of water.

Jerry Fedderson of the Recreation Department of Columbus announced that an advisory council for Lincoln Park Recreation Center will be formed. It will be made up largely of business and professional people who are interested in the South Side and the recreation program to be offered in the area.

The recommendations for revision of the constitution of the CSSO as prepared by Louis Dimel were adopted.

One of the more important changes was that the nominating committee for Council office shall include six persons, of whom three shall be past presidents.

The additional offices of associate secretary and associate treasurer were created, and no more than two members representing the same organization can hold an elective office concurrently.

With the amended constitution while no president can succeed himself, a president may be nominaten for the office two years after he has completed his previous tenure.

Dues were raised from $3 to $5 annually for member organizations who are not exempt from dues.

Bill Nino of the city traffice commission suggested to the group that a letter be sent to Mayor Ralston Westlake for his past cooperation and a letter sent to Mayor-elect Jack Sensenbrenner expressing their desire to establish a bond between the council and the incoming administration.

The executive council will meet at the South Side YMCA Thursday, Dec. 5, for a catered chicken dinner, as their regular night conflicts with Thanksgiving. All members are invited. Tickets are $1.25 apiece.

It was announced that two twenty-pound turkeys will be given away at the Christmas party dinner to be held at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 12 honoring Company "A" of the auxiliary police.

Attend Halloween CSSO Parties

More than 3500 children attended the Halloween parties co-sponsored by the Council of South Side Organizations, according to the report given by John Marshall at the CSSO meeting last Thursday night.

Juvenile police officers have reported that this was a banner year with an exceptionally low rate of vandalism at Halloween, and have expressed the belief that these parties were instrumental in allowing the holiday to pass peaceably.

Marshall pointed out that expense to the CSSO was only $200, and that for only six cents a child the council was able to help with a program which Mike Lower, president, described as a real "contribution to community betterment."

The run-down on attendance showed 1440 children at Schiller Park, 200 at Lincoln Park, 326 at Barrett Junior High, 480 at Heimandale Elementary, 325 at Marion-Franklin High School, 325 at Buckeye Junior High School, 60 at the South Side Settlement House and 200 at St. Stephens.

'Mexico' Film Lecture Set For Mershon

Photographer-traveler Clifford Kamen presents the second of the autumn quarter "Far Horizons" World Travel Series programs at Mershon Auditorium at 8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 22, when he exhibits his film, "Mexico — On the Trail of Cortez."

Clifford Kamen is considered an outstanding travel film lecturer because of his experience, photographic and art training, and speaking ability. He speaks regularly for such major audiences as the National Geographic Society, N. Y. Town Hall, Detroit World Adventure Series, and other leading film lecture courses.

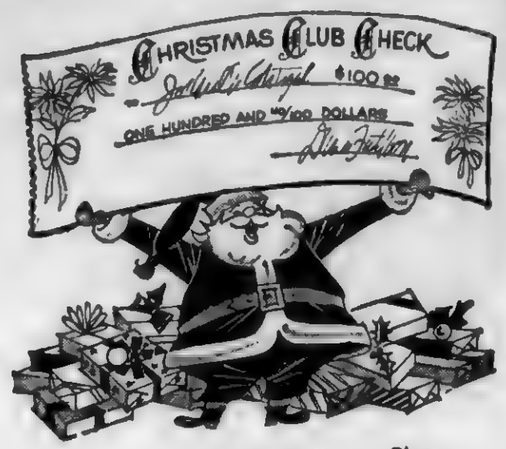
Tickets will be available at the door the night of the program. Advance reservations are not necessary.

Will Present Fall Festival

North American Concert Band and Mixed Chorus will present their annual Fall Festival of Music on Sunday, Nov. 24. The event will begin at 8 p.m. at Cowan Hall on the Otterbein campus in Westerville.

The program will feature a variety of music, ranging from popular Broadway show hits to standard concert works.

The concert is free, but admission will be by ticket. Persons planning to attend can obtain tickets from the Westerville and Worthington libraries and high schools, or the Linden-McKinley or Gahanna high schools. In addition, tickets can be obtained from the North American Recreation Office or any member of the band or chorus.



Robert Kessler will direct both the band and chorus. Dean Lewis of WBNS Radio will again serve as concert moderator.

June 26, 1943, the charter of the U.N. was signed in San Francisco by representatives of 50 nations and participants in World War II. The action signified determination to set up machinery for future peaceful adjustments of world dispute.

LITTLE BUCKEYES' HIGH-SCORING BACKFIELD

IT WAS bad news for the opposition when this quintet of Little Buckeye backs broke out of the huddle this season. The Little Bucks won the Ohio Valley Conference championship this season with a spotless 8-0 mark. Players are (clockwise, starting at bottom) Marc Trimmer, Berwick; Gary Martin, Whitehall; Eddie Hoffman, Dexter; Tom Ucker, Southside area, and Steve Radcliffe, Walnut Ridge.

SOUTH COACH, STARTING QUINTET PREP FOR CARNIVAL

SOUTH BB LOOK

Bulldogs 'Respectable' In Wild CL Scramble

By ART KIENZLE

Area high school athletes have put the football aside this week and have started to bounce the basketball in preparation for the christening of the '63 hardcourt season.

At South High, cage coach John "Red" Colmery thinks the '63 Bulldogs will be anything but a "doormat."

IN FACT, Colmery considers this year's team to be "very respectable."

Six lettermen bolster a 15-man squad with three much-experienced starters in Paul Hunt (6-0), Marion Iverson (6-2) and Joe Middendorf (5-10), all three returning vets.

Bill Bullock (6-0) and Rog Harper (5-8) round out the five probable starters. Harper, Bullock and Iverson are juniors, the other two starters seniors.

SOUTH High's experienced corps does not end here. Missing from practice is the Bulldogs' captain and leading scorer — Lloyd Pate.

The 6-0, 185-pound junior (18 points per game last season) still has a cast on his arm but is expected to be back in action soon.

Mike Fischer, a 5-10 junior, is presently Colmery's "sixth man" with 5-9 senior Joe Cook figuring "seventh" in the Reb lineup.

SENIORS Paul Pate (5-9), Dan Sells (6-0) and Jim Walker (6-2) are close behind.

Greg Bailey (5-5 junior), Terry Emrick (5-10 junior), Tom Johnson (5-11 junior) and John Wells (6-1 junior) round out the Bulldog roster.

Another promising candidate is 5-9 junior Mel Thompson, a transfer from Central who is presently ineligible but upon whom the Rebs will be counting at mid-season.

LOOKING forward to the City League cage race, Colmery sees West, a district finalist last year, and East, state AA champions in '63, as the top title contenders.

East, despite the loss of five of its first six performers, is always tough, according to Colmery.

Beyond the Cowboys and Tigers, Colmery sees a well-balanced league with a "lot of people back." "There isn't a weak ball club in the league this season," he said.

THE ENTIRE team has shown fine progress in spite of the fact that the Rebs do not have a gymnasium in which to practice (workmen are installing a new floor).

The Bulldogs should have a gym by Jan. 1.

But until the floor is done, South must hold its practice sessions at the Schiller Recreation Center.

THE SOUTH '63-'64 cage schedule:

Will The Real All-Stars Step Forward Please?

The time has come once again for the seasonal game of "All-Star selections."

It happens usually three times a year—following football, basketball and baseball seasons.

THE HARDEST thing to figure out any more, however, is—just who are the All-Stars?

We can still remember the day when a football All-Star team listed 11 All-Stars. After all, the reasoning was sound. There were (and still are) 11 positions on the field.

Today, the average football All-Star team (without honorable mentions) goes anywhere from 22 to 28 players.

IT'S NICE that so many young men are recognized for their outstanding play on the gridiron or hardwood, but the quantity of All-Stars almost always has to cheapen the quality of the over-all team.

Look at it this way: Which is the greater honor, being selected as one of two tackles on an All-League lineup or one of five?

Many leagues consider both offensive and defensive teams and select 22 players. However, many of the 22 go both ways anyway, so the situation isn't corrected.

A NUMBER of idiosyncrasies that have cropped up over the years haven't helped matters much. In fact, their very introduction has camouflaged the primary purpose of the All-Star team.

The so-called "senior team" is probably an outgrowth of the old coaching axiom, "One glorified sophomore = one junior prima donna."

There might be a lot of savvy in the thought, but All-Star teams were not born to coddle attitudes and temper egos.

IF JOHN Jones is the best halfback in the league, why isn't he good enough to be an All-Star, regardless of his age or year in school?

"Spread the wealth" is another creeping malady of modern-day selection. Name Joe and Bill to one team and Sam and Bob to another. That way everybody gets on one team or another.

Again — why is one man an All-Star here and not over there?

SOME COACHES charge that the "fixing" in athletics today isn't to be found on the field but behind the scenes.

Personalities become associatd with All-Star selections and "can't miss" players are lost in a careful process of shuffling.

Suddenly, out of nowhere, halfbacks become defensive ends and burly guards find themselves stationed at defensive halfback spots.

THE RESULT is a fine halfback, overshadowed by another fine halfback, turning up in a position he played with mediocrity on the defensive team.

In the end, somebody gets excluded unless you up the selection ante and on and on and on . . .

By way of example, one area team was completely ignored in both All-Star and honorable mention selections on its All-League team recently.

STRANGELY enough, one of the ignored team's players was selected on the All-District team.

We realize that limiting a football All-Star team to 11 players is sometimes asking the impossible. Nevertheless, it should be a goal.

Since we take part in selecting an All-Star football team for one of our newspaper areas each year, this article might seem like we're chasing our own tail.

BUT THEN, black is still black, and white, white, regardless of what Lady Clairol tells you.

Letterman Deficiency Dims Ram Cage Hopes

With only one returning letterman back to bolster its cage hopes, St. Mary's outlook for the '63-'64 season can't exactly be termed "bright."

On paper the Rams seem doomed to a second-division finish in Franklin County League play this time around.

BUT CAGE games aren't won on paper and no one is more aware of this happy fact than Ram hoop mentor Ray DeCola.

"I'm looking for a finish over the .500 mark," DeCola said this week as he prepared for St. Mary's upcoming hardwood session.

"We should oreak even and we have a good possibility of winning 12 games this year."

BUT DeCOLA's enthusiasm must be tempered with the facts of basketball life.

Gone are the major ingredients that whirled the Rams to a fine 14-4 mark last season. Chief loss is pivotman George Maurer, who paced the Rams in both scoring and rebounding last season.

Besides Maurer, starting forwards Tom and Tim Sauer are missing along with first-line guards Bob Yates and Mike Gray.

DeCOLA will have to base his offense around his lone returnee — guard Jim Yates, a 5-10 senior.

Yates is the lone Ram returnee with much varsity seasoning although three other seniors have played some varsity ball.

Likely prospects to fill vacated starting slots are the Rams' co-captains—5-10 Bob Ruscilli and 6-0 Roger Whaley.

RUSCILLI is a possible starter at the other guard spot while Whaley should be stationed at forward.

Another probable starter is 5-11 junior Tom McDonald, likely to hold down the remaining corner spot.

Filling out the St. Mary roster and pressing the above for starting nods are seniors Jack Gassman (5-10), with some varsity experience), Jim Britt (5-11) and John Palumbo (5-11).

AMONG THE juniors, the top prospect is 5-10 Art Armstrong while a pair of sophomores — 5-10 Steve Gassman and 5-11 Mike Potochina — could see a big share of varsity duty.

One of DeCola's prime candidates — soph John Sheppard (6-0) will be sidelined for a month, recuperating from a broken foot suffered during football season.

Looking over his FCL competition this season, DeCola sees defending champion University as the team to beat since the Little Bucks have four of five starters back from their title team.

REYNOLDSBURG also looms as a title threat with all starters back including high-scoring flash, Jon Helschman, who finished high in the area scoring race as a sophomore last season.

Overall, the Rams will be lacking sorely in experienced hands and could be hurt by a lack of height (Lowery at 6-5 the only candidate over the six foot mark).

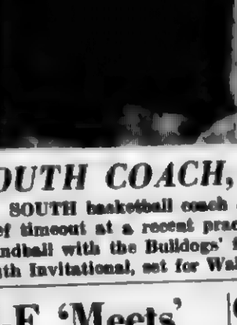
M-F 'Meets' Team Friday

"Meet The Team Night" will be held on Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Marion-Franklin gym. The Marion-Franklin Booster Club will sponsor the affair and a dance afterwards.

The varsity and reserve basketball teams, coaches, managers and cheerleaders will be introduced.



COACH BOB Holderle has stated, "We want to get the students and parents out to see who is playing and to get them interested in the team."

Coach Holderle will have eight returning lettermen this season. This is the most lettermen M-F has ever had.

The cost of both events is a Marion-Franklin Booster Badge. Students and parents will show their Booster Badges at the door to be admitted.

BOOSTER BADGES will be sold at the door. Cost is 50 cents.

Attend the Church of your Faith.

CAGE PREVIEW

Red Devils BB Mentor Eyes Improved Mark

Good size and speed and the return of eight lettermen are the ingredients coach Bob Holderle figures will bring Marion-Franklin its best cage season in six years.

The Red Devils have carded a tough '63-'64 card which includes all 11 of M-F's City League opponents.

MARION - FRANKLIN seems sure to improve on last season's 2-16 mark with the increased experience of eight returnees.

Heading the list of available vets is 6-5 junior center John Jackson, the tallest of Holderle's sizeable front line.

Also back for corner spot duty are four veterans — seniors Don Bess (6-4) and Skip Sheridan (6-2) and juniors Gene DeBolt (6-3) and Ted Ayres (6-3).

BESIDES their stature the five inside men have the beef to make their presence felt on the boards, with the weight average around the 200 pound mark.

Outside, the Devils are blessed with three sparkplug guards in senior George Bobst (5-8) and juniors Darrell Jones (5-11) and Steve Jackson (5-11).

The latter guard along with center Jackson were the top point-getters for the Red Devils last season.

THREE OTHER prospects, all over the six foot mark, should provide the Devils with fine squad depth and keep the veterans on their toes.

Also available to Holderle are senior Joe Lewis (6-2), junior Larry Almon (6-0) and sophomore Al Patterson (6-1).

Assisting Holderle with cage duties this season will be Ron Mauller, who will also direct the M-F reserve squad.

HERE IS the M-F cage schedule:

Nov. 27 — Franklin Heights
Nov. 30 — Mifflin
Dec. 6 — South
Dec. 13 — West
Dec. 14 — at DeSales
Dec. 20 — at East
Dec. 27 — at Mansfield Malabar
Jan. 10 — Aquinas
Jan. 17 — North
Jan. 24 — at Linden

South 5 Preps For Invitational At W-R, Nov. 29

With their opening preview less than two weeks away, South High's Bulldog cagers are busily preparing for the upcoming hardwood season.

The Rebels have invited three other City League opponents to join them in the South Invitational, set for Friday, Nov. 29 at Walnut Ridge.

The Invitational has been transerred to the E. Livingston-av school this year since the South gymnasium floor is currently undergoing construction.

In the tourney, South will take on Walnut Ridge with Central battling Whetstone in the other game.

The following evening, the losers will play in an opening consolation game with the winners viewing for the tourney title in the finale.

—Tom Blakely

Reds Win Scrimmages

In four pre-season scrimmages to date this year, South's basketball forces have engineered wins over Hartley, Bexley, DeSales and Grandview — all four victories gained by sizeable margins.

Bulldogs Dominate All-City

Co-champion South dominated the All-City football team selections last week with six berths while Marion-Franklin and Aquinas each picked up one slot each.

The Bulldogs, who finished in a three-way deadlock with Whetstone and Central in the final standings, gained spots for guard Roger Peer, halfback Paul Pate and fullback Lloyd Pate (offense) and end Joe Cook, tackle Jim Walker and back Rick Anderson (defense).

M - F's LONE selection was Ervin Andy, who gained a position at linebacker. Paul Reiner, of Aquinas, also was named to the squad at a defensive back.

In the honorable mention category, South placed four more gridders — Jim Reinhardt, Wayne Baker, Bob Bohn and Harry Strauss.

END. GENE DeBolt and quarterback George Bobst nabbed honorable mention slots for the Red Devils while Jerry Quigley and Roger Gentile did likewise for Aquinas.

Jack Gassman, Armstrong On All-FCL Team

St. Marys' senior fullback Jack Gassman and junior guard Art Armstrong were named to the All-Franklin County League football team this week a school official announced Monday.

The Rams also secured three honorable mention slots for junior end Paul Stickel, senior halfback Bob Ruscilli and sophomore center Steve Gassman.

Jack Gassman piled up impressive total rushing yardage this season, gaining 1002 yards in 142 carries.

Gassman, who also scored a total of 46 points, picked up 229 yards rushing (in three quarters) vs. New Albany this season for his best single game effort.

On defense, Gassman was in on 106 tackles and was credited with 64 unassisted tackles.

HELP!

Boy Scouts Need More Leadership

Mohawk District of the Boy Scouts is on the move. The boys are already enthusiastic Scouts and the district committemen are determined to make the name "Mohawk" a commanding one.

But there is something lacking — and that is enough adults to adequately assume the leadership needed in the local Scouting movement.

A call is out not only for parents but all those who are interested in youth to help.

Lyle Brown, chairman of the Leadership Training Committee for the district stressed that nothing matters in the candidate for leadership but interest.

"All that is needed is the interest," he said. "We'll furnish the training that will give the know-how."

At the present time Brown is in need of help in establishing Pack No. 230 at Lincoln Park which will hold an organizational meeting at the administration building Monday evening, Dec. 2.

Prospective scouters and their parents are urged to attend and a special invitation is extended to adults who can serve as cubmaster, den mothers or committmen.

Further information for anyone who wishes to take part in any phase of scouting can be obtained by calling Dale Lhamon, 444-9981; Herman Schumm, 443-7315 or Carl Fisher, 253-8087.

Lyle Brown has announced a Parent Training Session for all Cub Scouters of Mohawk District Monday, Nov. 25 at 7:30 p.m.

It will be held in the administration building at Lincoln Park Homes, 1755 S. 20th-st.

The Empire State Building in New York City is 102 floors high.

MEN WHO MAKE THE LIONS ROAR

SOME MEN are born to greatness; others have greatness thrust upon them. Some men, likewise, are born editors; once each year some members of the Southeast Lions Club have editorship thrust upon them. This year's staff assigned to write the Lions Roar is headed by Tom Quick (center) and at his left, Dick Krebs. Assisting the co-chairmen and shown above are John Sweeney, Jack Kirby and Dr. W. Pfefferle. Other members of the committee who were absent when the picture was taken are Dick Poenisch (photographer), Herb Germain and Del Swain. The 15th annual Lions Roar paper will be distributed Friday, Dec. 6. Proceeds will be used to finance the club's many community service projects.

BANK USES COMPUTOR

HOLDING the first checking account statement in Central Ohio to be completely processed by an electronic computor is Mrs. Robert Crissinger, 1509 N. High-st. She is shown accepting a $25 Savings Bond as an award from Clair E. Fultz, president of Huntington National Bank. Fultz referred to the electronic breakthrough as "a landmark in the efforts we are making to provide better, more attractive and more efficient service to our customers." He stated that all customer accounts will be handled through the data processing system by early 1964.

June 27, 1776, the first army execution in U.S. history was carried out when Thomas Hickey was put to death in New York. Hickey was a guard who plotted to capture George Washington and deliver him to British Gen. William Howe.

WILL BUILD OFFICES

OFFICERS of Deffet Rentals, Inc., George H. Deffet (seated at left), president, and Rose K. Deffet (center), treasurer, recently executed a mortgage to the City National Bank for the construction of an office building in the heart of Clintonville. Valued at $450,000, the building will be located on N. High-st between Amazon-pl and Webster Park. Seated at right is Thomas Boswell, assistant vice-president of City National Bank and Trust. Standing, left to right, are Frank Koebel, realtor who brokered the sale of the property; Anthony Mollica, Richard Martin, attorney for the Deffet firm, and Stephen Auch of Cable and Gibson, attorney for City National.

New Club Organized Strickly For The Cats

A new club to promote the welfare of cats is now incorporating, according to its president, Mrs. Lee Kilber, 3205 Wessex-st.

Known as the Buckeye All-Breed Cat Club, it is affiliated with the American Cat Fanciers Association, and Mr. and Mrs. William Casto, 255 Packard-dr, Hilliard, recently accepted its charter at a Youngstown show.

A candy sale, now in progress, will help finance a local cat show planned for the benefit of charity.

Anyone interested in joining the group may contact either Mrs. Kilber at 235-6046, or Mrs. Casto, secretary, at TR. 6-5237.

Other officers of the organization include Mrs. Joan Rogue, 1349 Gertrude-av, vice-president; Mrs. Helen Steele, 862 Ellsworth, corresponding secretary; Harry Kelber, 3025 Wessex-ct, treasurer, and Frank Baker, 6921 E. Main-st, councilor.

Mrs. Kelber stressed that cat ownership is not a prerequisite for membership.

The adult Atlantic mackerel would suffocate if it stopped swimming, since it requires a continuous flow of water to keep its blood supplied with sufficient oxygen.

Senior Citizens Center

275 McDowell-st

Each Friday afternoon, from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. at the Senior Citizens Recreation Center, a special program is planned for the members by the Program Committee, with Miss Delores Dye as chairman, assisted by Mrs. Helen Tussing, staff.

The first Friday in November Dr. Floyd Faust, pastor of the Broad Street Christian Church, held an old-fashioned hymn sing. He accompanied himself on the accordion.

Friday, Nov. 8, a film was shown, "Your Navy and Your Future" and a recruiting officer talked about the duties and function of the United States Navy in peacetime as well as in a crisis.

On Friday, Nov. 15, the monthly New Members' Tea took the place of of the regular Friday program. At this time all new members to join the center in the past month were introduced and members of the Senior Council, with John Coleman, president, were introduced to the new members.

"Femmes, Fashions and Phones," a program for women members only, will be the Friday, Nov. 22, program. This will be presented by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

The last November program will feature slides of Africa shown by Chalmers Parker.

The Friday programs are open to all center members.

Scout Council Holding Open House Nov. 21

Parents of boys who have joined Scouting during the Adventure-Roundup have been invited to an open house on Thursday, Nov. 21, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Central Ohio Council headquarters, 1428 E. Broad-st.

C. A. Gimre, council president, explained that the purpose of the open house is to give parents the opportunity to become better acquainted with the services, facilities and objectives of the Boy Scout Program in Central Ohio.

Though written invitations were sent only to the parents of new Scouts, Gimre emphasized that any interested parent or friend of Scouting is welcome.

Displays of Cub Scouting, Boy Scouting, Exploring, camping and office procedures will be set up and Council members will be available to answer any questions of the parents.

Conventions Are Fun -- But

Going to a conference or convention? Well, unless all your expenses are being paid and you are going to tie the trip in with sightseeing — don't bother attending.

This advice applies to just about any conference or conclave or what-have-you. We will save you the expense of the trip by telling you in advance what will happen. Here are some sure bets:

It will be the best-attended meeting of the group to date. (Conferences are really the thing these days—outranked in comparative drawing power only by the Buckeyes at Ohio Stadium.)

Main problems confronting the body will be discussed in several workshop sessions prior to a concluding general discussion meeting. And the conclusions? They will consist of the following four findings:

1. Great progress has been made in meeting the problems of the moment, but there is much more to be done.

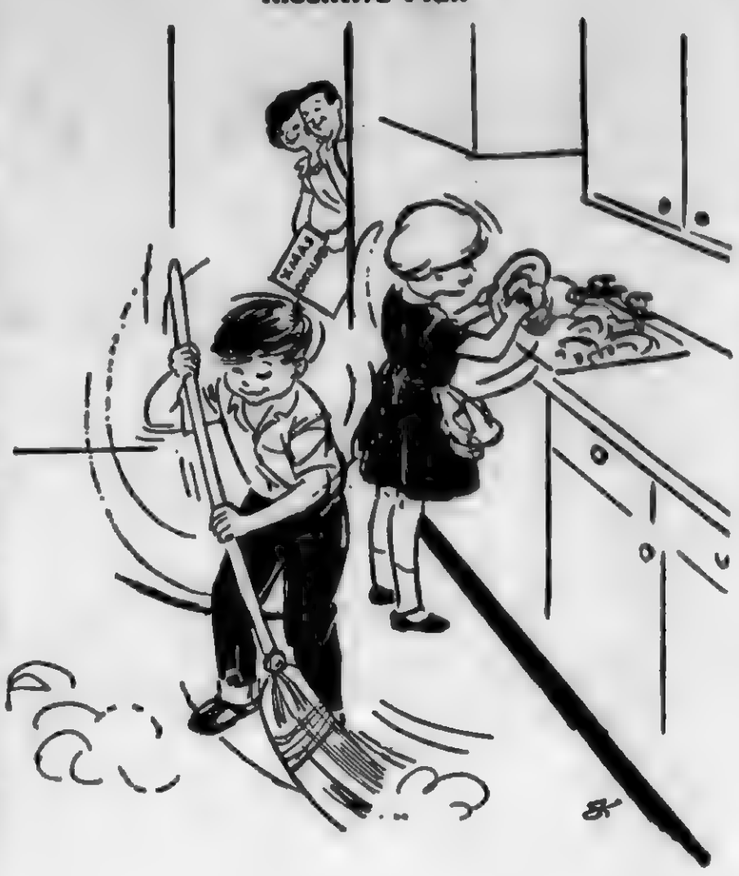
2. Greater emphasis must be directed to a program of public education, that the needs be clearly enunciated.

3. A membership recruiting drive will soon be undertaken, with the eventual goal a chapter in every state of the union.

4. Delegates to the convention will spearhead a "grass roots" campaign of letter writing to members of Congress calling for immediate legislative action.

And now that we have saved you the expense of the trip, may we suggest that you donate a portion to ASCEW (Ancient Society of Cynical Editorial Writers.)

Farm+City+Progress=Ohio



"Farm-City Week" will be observed in Ohio and throughout the nation Nov. 22-28, and in no other state should it command a greater interest than in our own.

Ohio is both an agricultural and an industrial state; our population influences both urban and rural. We face the problems of meeting the demands of rapid development of metropolitan areas, and the equally important problems of maintaining our agricultural balance.

Our potential for remaining one of the truly great states of the nation depends on our ability to meet both industrial and agricultural challenges. But the rewards of meeting challenges in these areas are many and worth the effort.

We have progressed as a state because we have recognized the impact of the industrial revolution without sacrificing our respect for and dependence upon the farmer. We will continue to progress by keeping sharp our double-edged industrial-agricultural sword.

Sin Very Easily Deceives Man

But exhort one another daily, while it is called today; lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sin. Heb. 3:13.

Sin lies in wait to deceive its victim. Little by little it spreads upon its prey. Sin begins in mild way and spreads slowly to affect the whole body.

Rev. Collins

Sin appears first to the youth in a seemingly harmless way. It slowly but surely creeps upon its victim until he has become a hardened sinner. When a man is hardened against God, sin has accomplished its highest purpose— and that man is deceived and in danger of sudden destruction.

Sin has ruined beautiful and prospective lives. It often brings disgrace and ruin to once respected persons. It has made enemies out of lifelong friends. It caused people to be cripples and suffer for life. It is the cause of all wars.

Worst of all, it will be awaiting its victim at the judgment bar of God.

But, if we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness. I John 1:9.

Frosting On The Cake

By
"UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

Mebbe so, mebbe so. It takes all kinds of odd ball drivers to keep this cockeyed world on the go. But the bird who makes me burn is the congenital dummy who signals left and snaps into a righthand turn.

Or the crazy Ike who is always on his way to a fire and so often it is his own car that gets burned up after he clobbers some innocent victim. He weaves and wobbles like the angleworm that he is and if any good driver gets in his way, then all heck busts loose with profanity and abuse and sometimes actual physical assault.

With 5,000,000 new cars on the roads every year, and with insurance costs skyhigh for decent drivers, this whole traffic mess had well better be brought to a head right now.

A driver's license is NOT a right. It is a privilege and these judges who seem blind about the seriousness of the whole business ought to get tougher than whang-leather on such cases.

More and more drivers with atrocious records are finding it almost impossible to get any kind of insurance —an indirect method of stopping some of them.

The amazing thing is that all too often the dumb-cluck driver or the intoxicated never gets a scratch, and the helpless victim of the incident reads in the papers next day that the guilty party didn't have insurance or a driver's license and was driving some old wreck that should have been off the streets ages ago.

There is one answer to this. Make a driver's license 10 times as hard to get and 10 times as easy to lose.

OUR READERS' Views . . .

Letters to the Editor on topics of public interest are always welcome. They should be written or typed legibly on one side of the paper only, and limited to 350 words. Take All Or Nothing

To the Editor:

Your front page articles (West Rural-Urban, Hilltop Record, West Side News) regarding the annexation of Lincoln Village to Columbus would permit your readers to come to questionable conclusions if left unchallenged.

Any effort by city officials to bring L-V into the city is nothing but a scheme to bring the tax rich Broadst industrial and commercial strip into Columbus. But where would it leave us if successful? And where would it leave the heavily populated Franklin Township school districts?

Wouldn't our city end up with a finger of land jutting out into the county? To then effect the growth of our Westgate still would require piecemeal annexation of surrounding lands with all its subdiving, street, utility, zoning and other planning problems. It seems to this writer that our problem has been and continues to be the annexation of, as a unit, all of Franklin Township. This is the project that our city should be selling.

Columbus has much to offer the residents of L-V that neither they nor New Rome can provide. Let's be honest, first, and admit that without what lies between we wouldn't want them. For, after all, a residential subdivision represents only people — and it's people that use up the services that our tax dollars go for.

Gene P. Jaques

An Editor's Outlook by Jenkin Lloyd Jones

Columnist Swears Off...No More Bullfights!

BARCELONA, Spain—The first bull of the afternoon had not been a success. The suerte de varas had made the animal cautious and wary. He was too intelligent not to realize that charging the picador had been a poor idea, and now as the dark red blood ran down his shoulders he turned his back on the brandished puya and stood confused in the center of the ring.

Jones

The pase de muleta was no better. Paco Corpas, resplendent in the ancient, embroidered costume of the matador, had done his best. He had stood tall and arched his back nobly as he sought to draw the bull through a series of veronicas and chiquelinas, but the beast only worried the cloak in dull resentment.

Scandal of scandals! Two banderillas failed to stick. The crowd stirred like an uneasy sea. And now the faena de matar the long, slightly-curved sword, poised over the slowly shaking horns. The thrust! Too high. The estoque glanced off a neckbone and waved wildly in the air. The affair ended in thrashings, another sword, and a disgraceful coup de grace. A fiasco!

As the carcass of the bull was hurried from the ring to the half-hearted tootlings of the band I wondered why I was there.

It was the writers, of course. Good writers like Hemingway and Tom Lea and Ibanez had written lyrically about the death in the afternoon, about the brave bulls, about the blood and the sand.

They had described in thrilling sentences and stirring paragraphs the "moment of truth," the poetry of man against beast, the soul-cleansing experience of polished horn against polished steel. And so I had come back and back, in Mexico, in South America, and now at last in Spain, the mother of corridas, trying to understand.

What I had seen was blood. Blood and pain. And riotous Latin crowds hurling cushions and shouting obscenities. And senoritas, both respectable and overpainted, putting themselves on display. And pig-like men drinking beer and pulque and demanding action and more danger.

There were, of course, moments. There was that young torero in Mexico City who met the charging bull so well that it dropped like a stone and never moved a muscle. He got an ear for that.

And there was the old Peruvian matador, well past his prime, who jettisoned caution that afternoon at Bogota. It was as though he felt his life was slipping away and he resolved to make one last great gesture. Twice he stood like an arrow and twice the horns ripped horizontal gashes in his jacket and carried away the buttons. The crowd bore him from the ring on their shoulders.

But there had not been enough moments. Yet the aficionados speak and write so movingly of an "uplifting natural," of an "emotional pase ayudo." Could this really be an art form that had escaped me all these years? Was this unequal thing a sport, this foregone conclusion of a contest? Was there, after all, some spiritual significance in Man punishing an animal for behaving as Man has bred it to behave. I waited for the second bull.

At the sound of the trumpet it came—black, sleek, running in the arrogant confidence of youth. The varlets scattered to the barriers. The matadors worked it carefully, observing the cant of the bull's head in the charge, its degree of preoccupation with the red silken capote, whether it could be easily diverted by a quite.

Then the trumpet blared again and the picadors moved it. But the stab of the lances only infuriated the animal. A horse neighed in terror as the bull struck its side and slashed upward underneath the padding. The rider prodded frantically but the bull bored in. A stream of red ran down the horse's foreleg and his one unblinded eye rolled in astonishment for he could not see his enemy. (They shot the horse later, so I was told.)

Another picador was driven against the barrier. His head struck an overhead bar with the ripe tunk of a melon. They led him away bleeding and dazed. The trumpets didn't sound so soon this time. The animal was too dangerous. Stab after stab split his hide and by the time the banderillas were placed its forelegs were columns of running red. Its sides heaved. Its tongue hung far out of its mouth.

At last the thin, graceful matador, Raphael Pedrosa, moved in for the kill. The bull gathered himself for a mighty charge and the flashing steel went in between the shoulder blades—halfway. The crowd groaned.

As the bull wheeled the sword hilt swayed drunkenly. Blood welled up like the blood of a harpooned whale. But the bull didn't fall. It pawed the sand and rocked its head in pain and bewilderment. A second sword was brought. There was a second thrust, this time a better, deeper one.

Slowly the animal sank to its knees. Then it arose and staggered toward the gate that led to the pens. It put its head upon the rail and bawled—not bellowed, bawled—like a baby calf crying for its mother. The crowd laughed.

The bull fell again. They cut its spinal cord with the dagger. The gaily bedecked draft horses were driven in and the carcass was dragged away while the band played the spirited music of the arrastre.

I stood up.

"Senor, there are six bulls."

"I know."

"But, Senor, that was only the second."

"I know."

I walked out. It was my last bullfight.

I will not try to understand again.

Fruits—cranberries, apples, grapefruit, bananas
Other Foods—canned pumpkin, cranberry products, ice cream

This column is for the woman who would like to be a guest at her own Thanksgiving dinner. The menu suggested is traditional — only the form of the foods you'll buy will be different. The cost will be somewhat higher than a do-it-from-scratch menu but your arches won't ache the next day.

Mrs. Franks

Let's have turkey. But buy it as a frozen turkey roll. The roll provides natural proportions of white and dark meat. The cost is around a dollar a pound — considerably more than for carcass turkey—but there is little or no waste. The label states: "A five-pound boneless roast is the equivalent of a 12 to 15-pound turkey." Directions for thawing and roasting are on the package. It may be roasted in the oven . . . delicious cooked on the rotisserie. And it's sure to be popular with husbands who dislike carving, for the roll is easily sliced.

YOU CAN HAVE your favorite dressing—baked around the roll or in a separate pan. The bread can be prepared the day before, or still easier, is to use a package of prepared dressing to which you can add your family preference of oysters, chestnuts, or diced celery and onions.

The cranberries can be prepared any time now, if you want to take advantage of the bargain prices offered on fresh cranberries. Or, you can have your choice of bottled juice, cranberry sauce or jelly—all will be featured for Thanksgiving buying.

For mashed potatoes, there's the instant package, or, why not switch to baked Idahos or yams that only need to be washed and placed on foil beside the turkey pan. Gash the yams, when removed from the oven, and add a slice of fresh orange for flavor and color.

A PACKAGE of the new frozen green beans in butter sauce with almonds should be liked by all, and for a side-dish we suggest heating a jar of tiny onions in light cream with a dash of paprika or nutmeg. A relish tray of celery strips, some greenhouse tomato wedges, watermelon pickles and olives can sub for the salad . . . easier too, and fewer dishes to wash.

The traditional dessert—pumpkin pie—can come from the frozen food chest, ready to pop into the oven. These pies are reported to be tasty. Or take advantage of the featured prices on ice cream and sherbets offered in such a wide variety of flavors this week. Or, always a welcome finish for a heavy meal is fresh fruit which might double for your table decorations. We suggest the "finger fruits" for easy eating, such as grapes, tangerines, apples, Western pears and bananas.

Wear a pretty dress, a new hair-do and enjoy being a guest at your own dinner, served at home on Thanksgiving Day.

WORTH A TRIP

If you're looking for another delightful, one-day drive from Columbus, go to Tarlton in southeastern Pickaway County. You can go to Circleville on U.S. 23, then onto Ohio 56, southeast. But for more scenery and less traffic, go to Lithopolis, then directly south on Ohio 674 to U.S. 22.

Ebenezer Zane opened Zane's Trace about 1796. Tarlton, one of its chief sites, was famous for Nye's Tavern, visited frequently by Henry Clay.

The "Cross" mound, a mile north of the village, is on 16.51 acres acquired by the Ohio Historical Society in 1936.

Parking in the valley, you walk across a rustic suspension bridge over shallow Salt Creek. It has a self-cleaning floor, so be careful about spike heels. The mound is on a cleared site on a narrow ridge 600 feet up a foot path through a forest.

Of an estimated 10,000 prehistoric mounds in Ohio, this one is unique. It is in the form of an equilateral cross, each of the four arms extending outward 45 feet. It is about three feet high, surrounded by a narrow ditch.

Several small mounds, including one of stone, are nearby. Larger ones are farther back.

It's an error to speak of Ohio mounds as "Indian." It is thought that they were built by a race before the Indians.

It says here . . .

We of today can stand beside the mounds and know that another people had the same kinds of joys and hopes and sorrows that we have.

COLLECTS $100!

Schreiber Hits Jackpot In Hartley Grid Contest

For the first time in the history of the Hartley Newspapers Football Contest, an entrant has correctly picked the winners of all 16 grid contests!

For his job of accurate prediicting, 16-year-old John Schreiber, 3547 Lockbourne-rd, collected $100 in cash this week.

A SENIOR at Hamilton Township High School, John topped 176 contestants in the grid contest's sixth week, gaining $50 for naming the winners in all games and doubling his prize money by being a paid subscriber to the Southeast Rural-Urban News, one of seven Hartley Newspapers.

John, who is working on the contest for the first time this year, came close on one other occasion this season, finishing in the runner-up spot.

His mother admitted that he has been studying the games each week before submitting his entry.

HIS TASK was not an easy one this week with six of the conest games decided by less than one TD.

John reports that his new earnings will probably go into Christmas gifts for the upcoming holiday.

In the runner-up category this week were two entrants who might have won had not the winner clicked off such a fantastic pace of correct picks.

TIED FOR second place with two incorrect forecasts were Vince Perez, 41 N. Roys-av, and James Kerins, 151 S. Roys-av.

Principal stumbling block for both runnersup was the Cleveland Brown-St. Louis Cardinal game (21-14, Cardinals).

This weekend's games will mark the close of the '63 football contest.

GRID CONTEST WINNERS

MEET THE DOUBLE winners in the fifth week of the Hartley Newspapers Football Contest. At left is Jerry Ray, 163 N. Oakley-av, winner of $50, and at right is George Cunningham, 56 N. Guilford-st, winner of $25. Each had 12 of 16 correct picks in the contest and both had identical 20-14 scores on the tiebreaker. Each man pocketed $25 for topping all other contestants, with Ray granted an additional $25 for being a regular paid subscriber to one of the seven Hartley Newspapers.

Fayette County Reports 'Pheasants Aplenty'

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

This is the time of the hunter's moon for sure. Stories are coming in regarding the opening of the upland game season last week. Hunting seemed to be spotty for most nimrods, although those hunters with dogs and who had good farms to go to apparently got plenty of shooting.

The best bag we've heard about, however, came from an out-of-state jaunt by Dick Young, Alton, and Ralph Parsons, Tom Maggard and Dean Fuller, all of West Jefferson. They brought back six deer from a hunting trip to western Colorado. The legal limit out there is two deer per hunter.

HUNTING was done along jeep trails on government property for the most part. The party had a vehicle that would take the conditions and got them over quite a bit of real estate, although they did break an axle. The important thing, though, was that they saw plenty of deer and they had enough shooting to keep the five-day trip interesting.

They hunted with an outfitter for one day on horseback in an attempt to get a really big trophy buck. This did not prove worthwhile, and they went back to hunting on their own. Their bag included three bucks and three does.

For any of you deer hunters wanting to try this area another year (the season's closed for this year) it's not just an afternoon's drive out there. It was approximately 1600 miles each way for the hunters. "But when you can see plenty of deer, it makes it seem shorter," is Maggard's observation.

Getting back to local hunting, most hunters would agree with the Division of Wildlife's biologists who predicted that pheasants and rabbits were down some from last year. Best reports coming in to me are from Fayette County, where the pheasants apparently have been found in good numbers.

Berwick Plaza Lanes Has League Openings

There are openings in several men's and women winter pin leagues at the new Berwick Plaza Lanes, located in the shopping center now under construction at Refugee-rd and Route 33.

Interested women bowlers are especially needed for an eight-team handicap loop which will bowl Wednesday evening at 8:30 p.m.

Four teams have already been formed but the remaining four quintets are still unfilled. Anyone interested in bowling in this league or a Men's League are asked to phone Bob Reaver at Berwick Plaza Lanes (237-3733.).

Feb. 1, 1814, U.S. postal rates were doubled as a war measure with a charge of 40 cents for carrying letters 12 miles.

Marine League Begins Local Fitness Drive

The Bellesu Wood Detachment of the Marine Corps League has begun its third annual Youth Physical Fitness Program in Columbus.

The program, part of the national effort urged by the president of the United States, is expected to involve 150,000 boys throughout the high schools of Ohio.

THE STATEWIDE program will end with a Physical Fitness Meet in Columbus next May 15 for teams from the high schools of Central and Southern Ohio.

A similar Physical Fitness Meet will be held at Cleveland for the northern high school teams.

Certificates of Achievement will be awarded to youngsters throughout the high schools of the State who satisfactorily participate in the program and achieve a suitable score in the controlled performance of sit-ups, pull-ups, the broad-jump in addition to one of following events: the 50 yard dash, softball throw or 600 yard run-walk.

Ski Resort To Open Near Carroll, Dec. 14

Skiing enthusiasts who desire the thrill of the downhill, snow-covered trail but confine their thoughts to dreams of Alpine climbs or the mountain areas of the Eastern or Western United State, can step up to reality this winter.

Shady Spring Ski Trails is constructing and will operate a Winter Ski Resort one mile west of Carroll, Ohio, just off State Route 33.

THE RESORT area, which will provide winter recreation to all Central Ohioans, will consist of three ski trails.

The first—for beginners — will be 100 feet high and 500 feet long. The second, or intermediate trail, reaches 180 feet high and 1,000 feet in length while the expert run begins at 200 feet and extends for 1,200 feet.

ALL TRAILS will be serviced by five safety tows, which will return the skier to the summit of the trails.

Six instructors will be available for weekend ski schools and regular classes throughout the week.

Trails will be patrolled by a trained ski patrol, who will provide aid for troubled skiers and maintain safe conditions on the trails.

A "SNOW - MAKING" machine will manufacture snow for the trails every time the temperature drops below 29 degrees.

The lodge house will provide hot food and drinks and also contain a 300-unit ski rental shop.

Other activities scheduled for the winter season besides skiing are ice skating, toboggan rides and dances.

A PARKING area is also under construction and will provide space for 1000 cars.

High-intensity mercury vapor lights will allow opportunity for evening skiing.

Shady Spring Ski Trails is located one mile west of Carroll (located south and east of Columbus, north and west of Lancaster) on Ruote 33.

THE THREE trails will slope to the north and east in order to prevent the afternoon sunlight and westerly winds from melting the tender, man-made snow.

Shady Spring Ski Trails will hold its grand opening, Saturday, Dec. 14.

The area will operate under all conditions as long as the snow holds (usually until Mar. 15).

FOR MORE information and details on the new Ski Resort, contact Ben Coffman, R.R. 1, Carroll, O. or call SK. 6-4344.

Hilliard Lions Set Headpin Event, Nov. 23

The Hilliard Lions Club will sponsor its second-annual Mixed Couples' Headpin Tournament, Saturday, Nov. 23 through Sunday, Dec. 22.

Couples may bowl anytime oper bowling hours to compete for the prize money. If reservations are desired, you may call 876-5765.

NO PERSON will be permitted to bowl more than three games with the same partner.

There will be 10 guaranteed prizes for the winners. First prize will be $100, second prize, $50 plus eight other cash prizes with the additional prize money awarded based on the number of entrants in the tourney.

Entry fees will be—three games per couple ($5) and one game per couple ($2). All proceeds will go to the Lions' Sight Saving Fund.

THE TOURNEY site will be Hilliard Lanes, at 5000 Scioto-Darby-rd, Hilliard.

Agonis Tips Off OSU Cage Card

The 1963-64 Ohio State University basketball team and coaching staff will be honored by the Agonis Club of Columbus at the annual "Tip-Off Dinner" to be held Friday, Nov. 29 at the new Plaza Hotel.

Chuck Stokes, co-chairman of the affair, stated that head coach Fred Taylor will introduce his coaching staff and Buckeye captain, Gary Bradds, who will in turn introduce the squad.

Former OSU basketball great Joe Carlson, head coach of the University of California at Davis, Ohio State's opening opponent, will share the speakers' table with coach Taylor.

The doors open at 6 p.m. with dinner served at 7 p.m. All tickets will be sold in advance, and reservations are being accepted for tables of eight. No tickets will be sold at the door.

Earl Brownlee of the Franklin County Sheriff's office (CA. 8-6801) is in charge of reservations.

The Gadabout

Priscilla LaRue Lonen
HI. 4-1851

Dorothy Larned, retired from her career as a school librarian, is once again back in the United States after spending a year in England. The former Barrett Junior High faculty member found much to remember of her residency in the compact little country. Learning to keep house, British-style, and the protocol of shopping were lessons she first learned in her stay abroad. Used to the American way of "self-serve," she discovered that that is not etiquette across the Atlantic. Living in a flat with central heat during England's worst winter in its history was also an experience not quickly forgotten.

She and her sister found much to enjoy in their holiday year and took every opportunity to explore every bit of London and all of England. They visited and revisited many spots, such as the British Museum, National Art Gallery, Westminster Abbey, St. Paul's Cathedral and Madam Russand's Wax Works. They watched the changing of the guards at Whitehall, and saw Queen Elizabeth, in all her "trimmings," as she rode down the Mall to open Parliament. To quote Miss Larned, "The Queen was accompanied not only by all the king's horses and all the king's men, beautifully mounted and apparelled, but in a separate coach riding in glory was the royal scepter and orb, the insignias of her office."

Dorothy rode a launch to Greenwich, where time begins, and also visited the beautiful Kew Gardens.

Some of the English love of pageantry was available on television, so the Americans enjoyed watching the royal wedding of Princess Alexandra in Westminster Abbey. "Trooping the Colour," an elaborate and gorgeous review of troops was another program seen on the "telly."

The sisters took a bus to the western part of England, through Devon, Cornwall and to Lords End, the country's westermost spot. A later eastern trip, made by train, took them to Canterbury, a city they found fascinating with its old city walls and beautiful cathedral. In the northeast portion of this trip they visited York and enjoyed exploring the "old, old" town with its beautiful minster and five historical museums. These trips were made last fall, and the severe winter curtailed any traveling during that season.

This past spring found them roaming the countryside once again, when they visited three cathedrals. A new one at Geneford, and two historical ones in Winchester and Salisbury. On this trip the Americans saw the stone age relics at Stonehenge.

Dorothy was able to renew acquaintances with a former physical education teacher of Barrett, Joyce Halstead, who was in Columbus on an exchange program a few years ago. Joyce, now Mrs. Wilkinson, lives in the northern section of England. She took her guests in the Moorland country made famous by the Bronte sisters who used the eerie settings for "Wuthering Heights" and "Jayne Eyre."

The American sisters also spent a week in the Channel Island of Jersey, hoping to find a little more sunshine, but old sol was elusive for most of the outing.

Dorothy made a solo expedition in June to southern Ireland, or Eire, as we puzzle addicts know it. She found the weather warm and sunny, and enjoyed kissing the Blarney Stone. She rode in a horse drawn jaunting car to gaze at the beauties of Kilarney, found the countryside people happy and friendly everywhere. True to its adjective, "Emerald," the woods and fields were especially green. She reports she had never seen so many beautiful Rhododendrons growing wild as in this part of Ireland. She spent seven days on this tour, before traveling to Dublin for another three days.

Upon her return to London, she attended the graduation exercises of the "American School in London," which is under the leadership of her nephew. The ceremony for the 18 graduates was held in the little theater of the new American Embassy in Grosvenor Square.

The last trip, made in July, found the two sisters in Western Norway which was toured by steamer and bus. In Miss Larned's opinion, the country is almost as wonderful as Switzerland.

By now, Miss Larned and her sister have bid their nephew and son good-bye, and are in the process of re-learning to live in the accelerated American tempo.

The Capitol City Chapter of the Mail Bag Club will furnish treats for shut-ins on Tuesday, Nov. 26.

Colder weather may mean higher heating bills and discomfort to most area residents, but to these youngsters it brings high expectations for birthday goodies: Gregory Muetzel, John Sturgell, Donald Goebbel, Edwin Spencer, Cathy Sonyers, Clifford Taylor, David Cornett, Mark Massie, Lonald Wright, Donald Robinson, Jeanette Burchatt, Terry Duckworth, Ricky Walters, Teresa Allmon, Sandy Ashburn and Jane Marshall.

Teenagers celebrating birthdays include Fritzie Wiechers, Pamla Houston, Janet Baum, Sally Edwards, Linda Lou Claffer and Tommy Ellis.

To these adults go natal day felicitations: Jackie Gleich, Betty Murray, Mary Windmiller, Sharon Dodson, Dave Bartholomew, Mabel Rader, Gordon Sebolz, Jr., and Clinton Turvery.

Wedding anniversary congratulations to Thelma and Joe Gleich, Doana and Frank Kimrey.

The Child Care Committee of Chapter 206, Women of the Moose, will hold a bake sale in the lobby of the Moose Lodge, 36 W. Sycamore-st, Friday, Nov. 22, at 6:30 p.m.

THEY'RE ON THE MARCH

READY TO GO for the March of Dimes drive are the South Side division chairman, Mrs. Ray Phillips (left) of 1072 Miller-av and Mrs. D. L. DeCenzo of 5648 Buenos Aires, Westerville, 1964 Mothers' March chairman. Final preparations for the drive were made at the Franklin County Chapter office. Mothers' March night is scheduled for Tuesday, Jan. 28. Contributions to the March of Dimes will be used for the research and care of children with birth defects and for arthritis.

Dorothy Knight is the chairman.

The Frankie Bush Dance Band will supply the music for the mid-week dance at the YWCA, 8:45 to 11:45 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 27.

Hamilton Township High School graduate Joyce Ann Herron, 4800 S. High-st, will wed South High graduate Henry Meinert, Jr., 65 S. Sheldon-av, Nov. 25, in the Washington Avenue EUB Church.

Meetings here and there. . .

Members of PEBS, Chapter 1, will be the guests of PEBS, Chapter 2, at a noon luncheon on Tuesday, Nov. 26. The past executive board members of South High School will meet at the Main Federal Bank of the Central Point Shopping Center for an afternoon social.

The Junior High CE of the Southwood Church of Christ is planning a party for Saturday evening, Nov. 23.

The Rev. Carlton J. Sutorious will be the moderator for the panel discussion to be held at the Barrett Junior High PTA meeting at 7:30 p.m. tonight. Parents and students of today and yesterday will serve as panelists. A musical program and social hour are also on the agenda.

The Iberian Dance Theater, on the Artists Series, will be the Saturday, Nov. 23, presentation at 8 p.m. in Mees Hall of Capital University.

The Southwood Church of Christ Mothers Club will meet Tuesday, Nov. 26, at 7:30 p.m.

The Dorcas Circle of Ohio Avenue EUB Church will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 26.

The New Loyal Union WCTU will hold a covered-dish luncheon at noon, at the Washington Avenue EUB Church, before the business meeting.

An open house will be held when the PTO of St. Paul's Lutheran Day School meets at 7:45 p.m. tonight (Thursday). Rev. Long will discuss the art features of the church when St. Paul's Junior Luther League meets Sunday, Nov. 24, 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. The Mission Circle will meet Tuesday, Nov. 26, at 8 p.m. Mrs. Darl Duerler will lead the devotions. Hostesses will be Mrs. Gustave Pacht and Mrs. Samuel Glines. Mrs. John Heinmiller is the chairman of the Thanksgiving clothing drive to be conducted by St. Leo's Altar Society, Nov. 24 through 30.

South Side residents are urged to buy their Christmas trees from the South Side "Y" this year. Headquarters will be at the "Y" lot, 190 Southwood-av. The sale begins Saturday, Dec. 7, and the "Y" will benefit. The project is being sponsored by the Amerigo Seniors, Right Angle, Amerigo II, Builders and YMCA clubs.

The school friends of Mike Tabor, 69 E. Markinson-av, showed their pleasure that he was once again "back home" in two ways. When the 16-year-old returned from visiting English relatives on Nov. 12, the "welcome home" displays included signs, etc., all over Mike's homeplace, on his arrival date, followed by a surprise party at the South Side "Y" on Saturday, Nov. 16. Mike, his mother, Peggy, and his younger brother, Peter, left the United States on Aug. 21, and Charles, father and husband of the trio, joined his family on Oct. 7.

Peter was able to attend school, so did not miss out on his education, but Mike found the educational set-up a little different in his mother's native land, so will be burning the midnight oil in an attempt to catch up with his classmates.

The MYF of Thurman Avenue Methodist Church is sponsoring a song fest on Sunday, Nov. 24, at 7:30 p.m. Miss Beverly Jones is chairman of the planning committee. The program will include gospel hymns and group singing. The public is invited to attend.

An election of officers will be held when the Fidelis Class of the Southwood Church of Christ meets for a potluck dinner at 6 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 23.

A film and discussion of the development of the Lutheran Church in America will be the program of the Men's Brotherhood of the Hope Lutheran Church on Tuesday, Nov 26.

An open church wedding on Wednesday, Nov. 27, at St. Paul's Lutheran Church will solemnize the wedding of Marie Benskey, 909 Montrose-av, and John Jauch, 1451 Wilson-av.

Exhibits, entertainment, food and Christmas gifts a'plenty will be available at the downtown YWCA Friday, the downtown YWCA Friday, Nov. 22, from 6 to 9 p.m., and Saturday, Nov. 23, from 1 to 5 p.m. The event is in observance of the YWCA World Fellowship Week, and has been designated as an International Flair and Festival. The general public is urged to attend the mammoth event.

The ailing list includes Mrs. Esther Zitzke, a surgery patient at Lincoln Memorial Hospital; Mrs. William Raw, who underwent an operation at Mercy Hospital, the hospital that also had Ira Benedict as a patient; Herman Heil, surgery patient at Mt. Carmel; Dave Hamilton, in University Hospital; Mark Johnson, patient at Children's Hospital. Julia Wilson recently spent three weeks at Mercy Hospital and is now at home. Fred Ling recently had pneumonia.

The Harmony Glee Club members have planned a roast beef dinner for Saturday, Nov. 23. Serving at the club house, 435 E. Kossuth-st, will begin at 5 p.m. The public is invited.

Diane and Vic Fischer, Jr., have been enjoyed by both sets of grandparents, the Hazens and Fischers, while in Columbus with their parents, Victor and Beverly Fischer. The Air Force captain and his family have been stationed in Idaho. The visit will serve as "Christmas" for the former Columbusites, for the captain will be in the Bahamas during the holiday season.

A family party marked the birthday celebrations of two young cousins recently. The tykes are the children of Robert and Donny Wilson, once again residents of Central Ohio, following their service duty.

Best wishes to Sharon Ann Henry, 3714 Montclair-dr, and Gerald Hart, 398 E. Whittier-st, who will hear their wedding vows read at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 23.

So far, on the 1963 edition of "Gifts for Giving," the Schiller Park Golden Age Club has indicated its participation in the project, and Oleta McNutt has made the first donation. To newcomers, a brief explanation: this writer gathers all sorts of items (rather small, preferably) to take to the patients at Benjamin Franklin Hospital. The patients in turn, use them as "gifts for giving" to their loved ones at Christmas.

The distribution day will be Monday, Dec. 16, at 10 a.m. The particular need is for children's and men's items, as always. This writer is only the intermediary, and the success or failure of the joy-bringing project depends on the reader reaction. Won't you help by letting us hear from you? The phone is HI. 4-1051.

News 'n' Notes of Camp Fire Girls

In our October ceremonial held at St. Leo's social hall, members of the Wi-Ki-Wa-Ka and Hat-Ca-Dapi Camp Fire Girls were awarded beads by Mrs. Evans, guardian of the Hat-Ca-Dapi group and assistant of the Wi-Ki-Wa-Ka. Norma Wilson, program chairman of the district, presented needlework beads to those girls who had made bed pads for the Dominican Sisters of the Sick Poor.

Girls were recognized for entries in the last Ohio State Fair. Entrants in the ceremonial jecket division were Christine Cowan, Martha Mertens, Elizabeth Evans and Maureen Evans. Miss Cowan received a sixth prize in the Junior High Division. Mary Beyer entered a mosaic tray and won sixth prize for the group's scrapbook and fourth for a beaded head band. The Hat-Ca-Dapi group won fifth prize for pillows. The designers were Mary Grote, Mary Beyer, Kathy McFarland, Elizabeth Evans, Delby Skypinski and Martha Mertens.

The Wi-Ki-Wa-Ka group won sixth prize for tissue holders. Those entering were Vicky Fontaine, Judy Phillips, Ruth Heinmiller, Joy Cowan, Maureen Evans and Sue Ort. A puppet made by Ruth Heinmiller was awarded sixth prize.

Certificates of rank were awarded by Mrs. Leo Mertens, president of St. Leo's Home and School Association. Girls receiving woodgatherers certificates were Jona Barrett, Yolanda Bremen, Joy Cowan, Vicky Fontine, Ruth Heinmiller, Sue Ort, Judy Phillips, Vickie Rea.

Firemaker certificates were presented to Mary Beyer, Peggy Ebright, Maureen Evans, Denise Fickles, Mary Grote, Martha Mertens, Martha Schwartz, Deborah Stypinski; Martha Mertens also received a three-year award.

A welcome was extended to Kathy Starett, a new member of Wi-Ki-Wa-Ka. Now in the Horizon Club are Kathy McFarland, Christine Cowan and Elizabeth Evans, Hat-Ca-Dapi graduates. They presented ground cloths for ceremonials, to both groups. It was also a "good-bye and hello" for leaders of the Wi-Ki-Wa-Ka group. Mrs. Beyer, the retiring leader, was given gifts for her expected baby, each gift representing a law of the Camp Fire Girls; plus a personal gift, corsage and decorated cake. Mrs. Evans received a thank-you corsage. The new guardians of the group who received a welcome were Marion Fontaine and her assistant, Edna Phillips. Special guests were Mother Kathleen, St. Leo's School principal; Sister Mary Leo, sixth grade teacher; Miss Joan Grilliot, seventh grade teacher, Norma Wilson, Southeast District program chairman, and all the mothers.

Business Fraternity Elects Officers At November Meet

The November meeting of Rho Chapter of Delta Pi Epsilon, meeting at Central High School Nov. 14, toured the Columbus Area Technical School and enjoyed a dinner followed by a program and business session.

"—For Thou Art With Me"

"The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want . . ."

This week the world has walked through a valley where death strode. Peoples throughout this world have seen this shadow.

No one likes death. Yet everyone at some time or other has been touched by the sorrow that comes from death.

It is at the time of death that everyone has asked, "Why does a loving God take loved ones from us?" No matter what answer an individual may give, it seldom can completely satisfy the person who grieves.

The death of President Kennedy has saddened millions of people throughout the world. The sorrow attending this event goes far beyond the circle of his family and immediate friends.

No previous event has had the sudden impact of this tragedy. We have seen it as it happened for the first time in history. It has within a matter of moments taken us all down through the valley of the shadow of death.

"Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for Thou art with me."

IT WAS OCT. 17, 1960, when campaigning Senator John F. Kennedy stopped in front of the Hartley Newspapers office to receive the good wishes of two printers, Bob Mills (center) and Jim Marsee. At far right is a young admirer, Norman Parrish. (See editorial inside this newspaper.)

In Happier Times . .

Broad Street waved wildly just three years ago when Senator John F. Kennedy rode into Columbus to win votes.

This week Broad Street, and every other street in the nation, grieved. The smiling young senator, who later became the people's choice for president, was dead — felled by an assassin's bullet in Dallas.

Although Kennedy's visit to Columbus in 1960 and once again in 1962 was brief, his warmth was felt by thousands. He took time for the ordinary people.

One such example touched two employes of the Hartley Newspapers. It was dusk. Kennedy, on his campaign swing through Ohio, was late. He had been detained in Dayton. But, instead of driving directly downtown to his appointment at the Statehouse, he completed his five-mile ride in an open car from New Rome as originally planned. He thrilled the crowds as he passed.

When he reached our publishing plant he was hailed by two of our night-trick printers, Bob Mills and Jim Marsee. They had hastily printed a sign which read "Bob and Jim Needs Kennedy." Grammatically imperfect, but it got the message across, nevertheless.

Kennedy tapped his driver to a halt while his aides nervously glanced at their watches. But the president-to-be stopped long enough for a picture and several new friendships.

Why couldn't the ride through Dallas have been that way, too?

ADMINISTRATION SHAPING UP

Mayor-Elect Fills Four More Posts

M. E. Sensenbrenner's incoming Columbus administration began to take form with announcement of appointments to four more posts by the Democratic Mayor-elect. The new appointees include:

Jack Mangold, 2353 E. Livingston-av, to head the city's sanitation division; John E. Jones, deputy service director; Alex MacDonald, assistant finance director, and Charles Kent, superintendent of public lands and buildings.

Sensenbrenner has now named six appointees, including Clovis J. Nogawick, 751 City Park-av, as purchasing agent, and Michael J. Dorrian, 731 Drummond-st, as deputy safety director. Nogawick, 48, will return to the same post he held during Sensenbrenner's previous six years as mayor. Dorrian, 20th Ward Democratic committeeman, is 33 years old and a masonry contractor.

Mangold, the new sanitation superintendent, is 46. He is currently employed as a deputy clerk in the office of Franklin County Recorder James A. Schaefer. A retired railroader, he worked for 20 years as a Pennsylvania Railroad conductor and yardmaster. Under the previous Sensenbrenner administration he was a personnel manager in the sanitation division.

A graduate of Aquinas High School, he won letters in football, basketball and baseball, and was named to the 1935 All-Ohio team. The Mangolds have two children, a son, Ray Jo, and a daughter, Sally Jo.

Kent, of 32 S. Southampton, was campaign manager for Sensenbrenner in 1955. He was assistant superintendent of the division he will now head for Sensenbrenner. The 63-year-old former project inspector for the Ohio Department of Highways, was a Hilltop grocer for 30 years.

The appointment of Jones as deputy service director will put the 36-year-old former department store manager in charge of city personnel. Jones, who resides at 322 Derrer-rd, was a personnel officer with the State Highway Department prior to joining the Sensenbrenner campaign earlier this year.

A graduate of West High School, Jones also attended Ohio State University's College of Commerce and the Classification Administration School of the United States Marine Corps. He was a founder and first president of the now-defunct West Side

'Jack' Axe Poised For Head Of Parks

J. Richard Lawwill's days as superintendent of parks and forestry for the City of Columbus are numbered if Mayor-elect M. E. Sensenbrenner remains firm in his statement that the "job will go to a qualified Democrat."

Sensenbrenner said he was not ready to name Lawwill's successor, but the only name being circulated in the political rumor mill is that of Emerson Betts, a one-time superintendent of the division. The 75-year-old Betts has been retired for the past five years.

Lawwill has been the object of a supporting drive from several directions aimed at keeping him in his parks and forestry post. He had accepted the appointment of Mayor W. Ralston Westlake, and had separate endorsements for the job by Victor Flickinger, who heads the Ohio Department of Parks, and William Coons, chairman of the Columbus Park Commission. (Flickinger is vice-chairman of the commission.) The Park Commission was asked to make recommendations by Mayor Westlake.

Lawwill said that at the time of his appointment he was told that the job would not be affected by political change-over because it was, traditionally, a non-political appointment. Lawwill's predecessor, Ray Dietz, had served for 18 years prior to his resignation in February, 1962.

Park Commission Chairman Coons says that Lawwill "was recommended by us purely as a matter of professional competence. After interviewing applicants from other parts of the country, on the basis of his previous park experience and on the recommendations of other parks people throughout the country, he was recommended for the job."

Coons said that he knows of "no park board member or no one familiar with the parks movement who is opposed to Mr. Lawwill." He cited "two issues" in support of Lawwill being continued as parks and forestry superintendent.

"This job," Coons said, "has been free from political changes for at least a generation. It has not changed as the mayor's political party has changed. It would be extremely unfortunate at this time if this job were to become a political job."

Coons defined his "main

Guild Sets Sale For Dec. 14

The Sparks, the guild formed to serve the Peck O' Wee Ones Children's Home, is planning its first rummage sale, according to Mrs. Jack McDonald, publicity chairman.

To be held at the St. Stephens Community House 279 Barthman-av, it will begin at 7 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 14 and continue until everything is sold.

The guild wants to begin collections immediately, and asks that anyone wishing to donate call the sale chairman, Mrs. Lou Buetow, 866-7247.

Mrs. McDonald stated that the guild will accept anything that can be sold in its attempt to raise funds for the care of the mentally retarded children whom it helps.

South Area Gets Leaf Collection

The city's leaf collection will begin on the South Side this week. Residents are asked to place the leaves in the gutters for the pick up.

The South area schedule is:

Thursday, Dec. 5, east from Wilson-av to Parsons-av between Main-st and Livingston-av.

Friday, Dec. 6, leaf cleaning of assessed streets.

Faiths Set Services For Day Of Thanks

The season for giving thanks is once again with us. Too often we tend to forget the full meaning of the word . . . Thanksgiving. As we enter our churches and synagogues this Thursday, let us remember the many, many blessings bestowed upon us and act accordingly. Following is a list of services scheduled in this area:

In keeping with the theme of togetherness five area churches will combine for a Union Thanksgiving service. The service will be sponsored by the South Side Ministerial Association, and will be held at the Williams Road Presbyterian Church, 550 Williams-rd, Thanksgiving Day at 10 a.m.

Rev. Robert Brock, pastor of the Benfield Avenue Church of Christ will give the Thanksgiving message. Also taking part in the service will be Rev. Don McMinn, Hamilton Baptist Church; Rev. Dwight Smith, Lockbourne Road Baptist Church; Rev. John Coppic, Williams Road Presby-

Coincidence - - - ??
You Be The Judge!

By ZIP

Coincidence? Possibly . . . but here's what one man said about "coincidence:"

"It is no wonder if in long process of time, while fortune takes her course hither and thither, numerous coincidences should spontaneously occur."

These would have to include the unbroken chain of fatalities which have been the lot of Presidents elected every 20 years, beginning with William Henry Harrison, in 1840; Abraham Lincoln, 1860; James Garfield, 1880; William McKinley, 1900; Warren G. Harding, 1920; Franklin D. Roosevelt, 1940, and, now, John F. Kennedy, 1960. The dates given are not necessarily for the first term of each.

Note, too, that Lincoln's successor was also named Johnson (Andrew).

All these "coincidences" have been noted by news media since the assassination of President Kennedy, but here are two more which deserve mention:

On Friday morning of last week — only a few hours before the President met his death — an Aug. 7, 1923, issue of the Columbus Citizen was brought to the Hartley Newspapers office by Robert Maxwell of the advertising staff. It was unusual in that it contained stories and pictures concerning the death of President Harding. Maxwell had uncovered the newspaper the previous day in his garage. Coincidence?

The current issue of Argosy Magazine, printed a week or so ago, carries a story of the efforts of a doctor to keep President Lincoln alive. Coincidence?

Oh, yes . . . at the beginning of this article was printed a quotation. The author was Quintus Sertorius. He was a Roman general who, "coincidentally," was assassinated in 72 B.C.

Homemakers Learn Chicago Is Busy, Wonder-filled Town

Read the special Homemakers Section — part of this edition.

Hartley Newspapers' four Suburban Homemaker Contest finalists will surely recall last week when they tell their future grandchildren of the biggest events in their lives.

They were feted and praised. They were informed and warned of the role they must play in America's future. They were charmed by the chance to compare notes with their sister homemakers from all over the nation, and delighted with the choice of a California mother as the national winner.

And they, with all other Americans, were stunned during the final minutes of the Chicago convention by word of their President's assassination.

Three of the homemakers experienced, enthralled, their first plane trip Wednesday evening. Husbands, children, and one mother-in-law were on hand at Port Columbus to see off Mrs. Robert Fannon, 858 Stephen-dr W.; Mrs. Robert Gutheil, Rt. 1, Lockbourne; Mrs. Charles Long, Taylor-Blair-rd, West Jefferson, and Mrs. Oliver Mosher, 4009 Beechcreek-rd, who were escorted by Hartley Newspapers' Managing Editor Marcus Orr and his wife.

Still dazzled by the enormity of Chicago's O'Hare International Airport, the women taxied to the elegant Drake Hotel with just a few

Didn't Win, But Had Fun Anyway

• The 27 national finalists at the Suburban Homemaker of 1963 Contest in Chicago last week represented a total of 97 children.

The Columbus homemakers certainly ranked high in this tally, as was brought to light when Managing Editor Orr asked the airline hostess if she had any souvenirs the women might take home to their children; a quick count showed that the four local contestants count a total of 19 youngsters among their blessings.

Santa Claus Will Arrive This Friday

Saint Nick is slated to arrive by helicopter at Great Southern Shopping Center at 10:30 a.m. Friday, Nov. 29 and will make his headquarters at the new Toyshop built for him there by Virginia Homes.

The night before his arrival the 90-foot tree erected on the parking lot will be lit with thousands of pink lights, heralding the Christmas season.

Hours during which Santa will be "at home" to pass out candy treats to visiting children are Friday, Nov. 29 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., from 2 to

There's A Message Here

Twelve thousand Christmas cards are in the mail—Christmas cards with a message. They are sample cards sent to local residents by members of Alpha Gamma Delta to show the special greetings that can be sent this Christmas to serve a twofold purpose. They can help crippled children and at the same time portray Season's Greetings.

The cards have a small message printed inside that says, "By sending this greeting we have contributed to the Society for Crippled Children." Any amount of cards may be ordered for Christmas mailing from Alpha Gamma Delta members or from the Crippled Children's office, 555 S. Monroe-av. The cost is a donation to the Society, which is tax deductible.

Christmas cards with a message have been a project of Alpha Gamma Delta for several years. Members working on the project in the Hartley Newspapers area include Mrs. Robert Hartung, 999 S. Remington-rd; Mrs. Benjamin Bailey, 3120 Kentwood-pl, and Mrs. Joseph M. Schmidt, 238 Alder-dr, Hilliard.

Of interest to Women

By JANET MICHAEL

EVERY LITTLE GIRL wants a bride doll to dress for that "big day." Carol Lee Dalrymple, 3072 E. 5th-av, a seventh grade student at Eastmoor, arranges the veil on a doll that will soon belong to some little girl in the Columbus area. Some 1200 dolls dressed by Girl Scouts, will be on display at Goodwill Industries, 1331 Edgehill-rd, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 29 and 30 and Dec.1.

Annual Dolly Derby To Be Launched By Goodwill Industries And Girl Scouts

A joint project of Goodwill Industries and Seal of Ohio Girl Scout Council will take place this weekend at Goodwill Industries, 1331 Edgehill-rd.

Following the judging, dolls will be sent to the stores and be on sale Tuesday, Dec. 3, 9 a.m.

There will be free admission at the open-house and free refreshments will be served by the Woman's Auxiliary. Good Willy comic books will be distributed to the first 2,000 school children. "Flippo the Clown" plans to visit the Derby on Friday afternoon.

Many people have had a hand in this fourth annual affair. Friends of Goodwill donated the dolls; Goodwill employees washed and repaired them; Girl Scouts dressed dolls and will help host the Derby and the public buys the dolls, once they are delivered to the stores.

Girl Scouts entering dolls in the Derby are from the following counties: Delaware, Fairfield, Fayette, Franklin, Highland, Hocking, Madison, Pickaway, Ross and Union.

Christmas Sale Slated

St. Leo's Altar Rosary Sodality will sponsor a Christmas cookie sale and gift bar Sunday, Dec. 15, in the school hall. Cookie orders may be placed with Mrs. Ray Phillips, chairman, HI. 4-5978 on or before Dec. 8.

Mrs. Henry Altenbach, chairman of the gift bar, may be reached by calling HI. 4-3333.

Christmas, Hanukkah Seasons Welcomed At Hanging Of Greens

Traditional Hanging of the Greens program at the Young Women's Christian Association, Sunday, Dec. 1, 3:30 p.m. and usher in the Christmas and Hanukkah seasons.

Informal carolling by the Y-Teens will open the musical program. Sisters of Notre Dame, under the direction of S.. Eugene Mary; Cantor Stanley Burnstein, Temple Tifereth Israel; Trinity Episcopal Church choir, and the choir of the Greek Orthodox Church will take part in the program.

Dedication of the greens will follow the program presentation, and Fellowship tea will close the event.

Tables will be decorated with the Jewish Menorah, German Advent candles and other symbols of the season.

The YWCA Religious Resources Committee and the Fellowship Church invite everyone in the community to take part in the interfaith program.

Mrs. Wilbert Martin, 443 S. Wheatland-av, chairman of the Religious Resources Committee, is general chairman, with Mrs. Robert Hansel, 2289 Fairfax-rd; Mrs. Earl Hessenauer, 2486 Brookwood-av; Mrs. Bertha Krausz, 1550 E Broad-st; Mrs. Minnie Littrell, 1934 Summit-st; Mrs. Carl Russell, 3270 Sycamore Knoll-dr; Mrs. Alvia A. Shaw, 1994 Franklin-av, and Mrs. Calvin Tidmore, 236 Fairwood-av, serving as hostesses.

'Cook's Tour' Christmas Program Set

A unique program idea is planned for the "Cook's Tour," Tuesday, Dec. 3, 10 a.m. at the YWCA, 65 S. Fourth-st.

Participants are asked to bring their favorite Christmas sweet and the recipe for it. Recipes will be discussed during the program, and later the sweets will be taken to the children of Franklin Village.

A Christmas buffet and holiday entertaining will be featured. The buffet will be prepared by the food service department of the YWCA, and will demonstrate ideas for home entertaining.

The public is invited to make reservations by calling the YWCA, CA. 4-9121.

The Bird Cage gift shop at the YWCA is stocked with a selection of handmade articles, novelties, and gifts from abroad for Christmas shopping.

The shop is open from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Ronald Firman Graduated From Police Academy

Ronald E. Firman, 1679 took part in graduation exercises for the 30th police recruit class, held Nov. 26, in the City Hall council chambers.

Mayor W. Ralston Westlake and Albert G. Giles, director of public safety, presented certificates of graduation to 21 men, who, stated Chief of Police George W. Scholer, completed 14 weeks of instruction and training in all phases of law-enforcement.

Judge Myron B. Gessaman, Franklin County Court of Common Pleas, addressed the class.

WELCOME WAGON

A PATIENT AT BENJAMIN Franklin hospital, Earl Paternoster, 445 Westridge-st, discussed the needs of himself and others at the hospital with Mrs. Louise Kennedy, left, director of special services on the staff, and Mrs. Priscilla LaRue Lenox who is the woman behind "Gifts For Giving." During the past ten years, Mrs. Lenox has collected gifts before the Christmas season for the patients at Benjamin Franklin to give to their families from whom they are separated. Paternoster has occupied himself during his hospital stay with researching the history of the Paternoster family who fled Germany several generations ago, supposedly burying first a fortune that if it could be located today would be worth 40 billion dollars. Mrs. Kennedy, whom Paternoster describes as "the sweetheart of Wing 3" stressed her admiration for the gentleman who has met his adversity with cheerfulness.

Mrs. Lenox Asks For Help In Gifts For Giving' Effort

Mrs. Priscilla LaRue Lenox recalled the memory of an old gentleman weeping when he was given a doll at Christmas time several seasons ago.

And he wasn't "childish."

The doll was a gift to him, in turn, to give to his little granddaughter.

Ten years ago Mrs. Lenox as a regular visitor to the Benjamin Franklin Hospital, noted that while patients at the tubercular hospital were not forgotten at Christmas time, their need to be able to remember their families was.

Thus was begun the one-woman organization, "Gifts For Giving."

At this time of year Mrs. Lenox, known to Hartley Newspaper readers as the "The Gadabout" from her column of that name, begins collections.

"There are several weeks when my home looks more like a department store than anything else, but it is all worth-while when the time comes to give the gifts to the patients," she said.

Though Mrs. Lenox is the only administrator of the annual project, hundreds of women of Franklin county have responded to her pleas for help.

Church circles, women's clubs and individuals come forth with bridge prizes they have never used, the "bargains" they've picked up that they later realized they didn't need, and the out-grown dolls that fresh clothing make like new.

"The gifts the women bring are not shoddy, but things the giver feels someone else may enjoy," Mrs. Lenox stressed.

Pointing out that the TB victim is more often than not the wage-earner of the family, she told of how the illness of the patients usually creates a serious financial problem for the family.

Before "Gifts For Giving" came into existence, there was no answer to the regret the patients felt as the holidays approached, and they were helpless to add to the cheer of the homes from which they were separated — homes already darkened by their absence.

Last week Mrs. Lenox went to the hospital to discuss this year's plans with Mrs. Louise Kennedy, director of special services, and Earl D. Paternoster, Jr.

Paternoster is one of the more fortunate patients at Benjamin Franklin. After only seven months at the hospital, his hopes are high to be home for Christmas.

Yet he too is worried about his family.

"All my wife really wants for Christmas is for Daddy to be there, but Dorene and Michael still believe in Santa Claus," he said.

A thoughtful and cautious father, Paternoster, says that he is turning deaf ears to the relayed requests of Mike, age six, for a cowboy gun.

Having hunted all his life he wants to teach his son the sport and believes that anyone who handles a gun must learn to respect it, and to realize it is not a toy.

"I don't want my boy to ever point a gun at anyone—even a toy gun," he stressed.

His little girl wants a doll, and the "bigger, the better," her Dad laughed.

"But she's too young to understand how much large dolls cost," Paternoster said.

Asked if others in the hospital discuss their families, he answered, "Oh yes. Here everyobody knows everyone else's problem.s"

Paternoster is no stranger to misfortune, He suffered a crippling attack of Polio as an infant. Before his current illness he operated a filling station in Virginia and was working 18 hours a day, which he believes may have been a contributing factor to his contracting tuberculosis.

Responding well to medication, Paternoster has gained 27 pounds during his hospital confinement and is looking forward to attending barber college upon his release to enable him to support his family within the limits set by his health.

Here is just one patient who, through no fault of his own, is temporarily unable to do for his family at Christmas.

And there are many like him.

Mrs. Lenox has many friends who are ready to help her with her project, but there is always the need for others to join in.

If you can help spread the joy of the Christmas season among the families of the patients call Mrs. Lenox at 444-1051.

The patients try to help themselves. (Mrs. Lenox told of the man who saved all year by cutting hair at ten and 15 cents a hair cut for an umbrella for his 70-year old mother but their resources are limited.)

Mrs. Lenox asks, "Won't you please help?"

Lower Calls Meeting Of Kiwanis Chairmen

After announcing the reporting committees for 1964, Michael Lower president-elect of the Southern Kiwanis Club, set a leadership training conference at his home on Friday, Dec. 8 from 2:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

All officers, directors and committee chairmen are asked to be present to review the Club's activities with and to study and emphasize its objectives and roles.

Lower stated that he believes that the meeting will beter enable Kiwanians to work toward the betterment of the community during the following year.

He called attention to the honor the club was given when one of its members, Edward Gearhart, was selected to serve as Lt Governor of 10 W Division of Kiwanis this year. Also, according to Lower, two members, Fred Ingram and William Bellamy are serving as division committee chairman. Ingram is in charge of Attendance and Membership and Bellamy of Education and Fellowship.

Committee chairmen announced by the president are Thomas Bowers, Agriculture aud Conservation; Charles Greiner, Attendance and Membership; Tony DiGioia, Boys and Girls; Albert Lipfert, Key Club; John Green, Programs and Music and Robert Horowitz, New Club Building.

Albert Braverman, Public Relations; Dennis Burcham, Support of Churches; James Vicars, Vocational Guidance; Walter Johnson, International Relations; Fred Schwartz, Public and Business Affairs; Michael Lower, Achievement; Donald Grant, Interclub and Roy Scheetz, Education and Fellowship.

John F. Kennedy And The Inspired Challenge

"I urge . . . a program that will stir the imagination of our youth, calling on their toughest abilities, enlisting their greatest enthusiasm — a program which will enable them to build the energy and strength that is their American heritage."
— John F. Kennedy

Since life itself is a multi-facited organism it might be well to list our fallen president — John F. Kennedy — as a sad loss to the sporting world.

It was fitting that athletic programs all across the country came to a mournful standstill Friday in tribute to the man whose leadership provided inspiration to both young and old in sporting interests.

ALTHOUGH our late president's active participation as a sportsman was somewhat curtailed due to his own physical limitations, he was a symbol of the youthful, vigorous dedication of the strong body as the companion of a strong mind.

As a man burdened with the responsibility of leadership, he engineered a program with Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson to promote needed physical fitness among the nation's youth.

His Council on Physical Fitness awoke a new birth of spirit to encourage a well-rounded preparation for the rigors of adult life.

HIS MUCH-PUBLICIZED "50-mile hike" stirred the imagination of a nation and provided the disappearing necessity of a new challenge for American youth.

When a serious rift arose between the two giants of amateur athletics in this country (AAU and NCAA) and threatened our participation in the Olympic program, JFK showed himself as a national "referee."

General MacArthur was selected to infuse the necessity of sportsmanship into two organizations who had temporarily lost sight of the purpose of their existence.

PERHAPS more than anything else, John Fitzgerald Kennedy was the fan in the stands. His presence at the baseball game with a hot dog and at the football game as an interested observer identified him with the people and the people's way of life.

He preached and taught, by his example, the proper perspective of victory and the necessary, gracious acceptance of defeat.

His personal courage in the face of adversity should long serve as an inspiration to the underdog.

HIS HUMILITY might well be the safeguard against the intoxication of the winner, his unwavering determination become the champion of the loser.

His examples of tolerance, fair play and participation offered the torch of challenge to a nation.

How well and how long we carry it will be the greatest tribute we, as fellow sportsmen, can ever pay.

AND NOW, our coach is gone — departed to fields of even greater accomplishment. But death can never be so final as to erase the example, the spirit or the inspiration he has left behind.

These qualities must — and will — live on.

'Cage King' Here Friday

By ART KIENZLE

Four of area cage squads, South, Marion - Franklin, Aquinas and St. Marys open their '63-64 seasons this week with the Bulldogs' Invitational Tourney at Walnut Ridge highlighting the Friday slate.

The tournament was transferred to W-R for the first time as the result of a remodeling of the South gym.

THE BULLDOGS will meet Walnut Ridge at 7 p.m. with City Leaguers Whetstone and Central set to clash at 8:30.

Saturday, Friday's losers play at 7 p.m. with the winners vieing for the championship at 8:30.

Walnut Ridge will show South an all-veteran lineup along with Bob Leonard, a starting guard transfer from West.

LIKEWISE, the Rebs will have an experienced hand at every post. Probable starting lineup finds senior letterman Joe Middendorf and Paul Hunt at the forwards, juniors Bill Bullock and Roger Harper at the guards with junior "fifth" man Marion Iverson at center.

Coach John Colmery said recently, "There isn't a weak team in the league this year . . . the City League will be one of the toughest in the state."

Who will be champ Friday? "The tournament is anyone's guess," stated coach Colmery.

OTHER AREA games slated for weekend play find St. Marys (0-0) hosting New Lexington St. Aloysius Friday.

Also on tap Saturday evening is Mifflin's visit to Marion-Franklin. The Red Devils are also scheduled for play ths evening with Franklin Heights (1-0) the visitor.

'Bat, Bear Never Care As Winter Winds Blow'

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

The season's change is upon us, and all those with eyes to see can not help but notice. Summer birds are gone, and in their place are the hardy ones beginning to show up at bird feeders. The hum of insects is silent, and the bare limbs of trees are outlined against a colder sky.

Those animals which live in a perpetually warm climate, have gone to sleep and will pass the winter in a slightly unconscious state. It is difficult to believe, but there are animals that spend their entire lives in this area, and have never seen winter or felt the cold.

WHICH ARE the animals that hibernate? There are not many, but several more take long snoozes and wait for winter thaws before they leave their homes. A rhyme invented by Ernest Thompson Seton, names most of them:

The bat and the bear, they never care
What winter winds may blow.
The jumping mouse, in his cozy house
Is safe from ice and snow.
The chipmunk and the woodchuck,
The skunk who's slow but sure
The ringed-raccoon who hates the moon
Have found for cold the cure.

Those that actually reach a state of suspended animation, at least in central Ohio, include bats, jumping mice, chipmunks, woodchucks and 13-lined ground squirrels. Raccoons and skunks forage off and on all winter, but apparently hibernate in more northern climates.

HOW DEEP a sleep is hibernation? Biologists have always been facinated by this phenomenon of nature and there is quite a bit of information about it. A woodchuck, for instance, breathes about 2,100 times an hour when he is wide awake. But during hibernation he breathes only 10 times an hour. He is stiff, inert, feels cold to your hand, and is completely insensitive to anything except a considerable period of warmth. It is not just a nap that the hibernators take.

Most of the animals that take the big sleep are roly-poly in design and are encased in a "sleeping bag" of fat. This not only protects them from the cold, but it sustains life in a coma-like state.

Bears, raccoons, woodchucks and the like eat more ravenously as cold weather approaches, as it's a long time between meals. Jumping mice and chipmunks, I suppose, are a bit fatter just before winter comes. But I've never seen a fat bat.

THERE ARE exceptions to every rule and the little brown bat seems to be one. Many bats migrate south for the winter as do the birds. But one of our most common bats, seeks out attics, tree crevices, caves and other hiding places and there spends the winter asleep and upside down.

Some people despise winter, but I's not one of 'em. They would just as soon hibernate. But you must remember that a woodchuck only lives three-fourths of his life. Now that cold and snow doesn't seem so bad, does it?

Schiller Opens Basketball Loop

The Columbus Recreation Department basketball leagues, for boys 18 and under, started this week at Schiller Park Recreation Center.

These leagues will play games on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, beginning at 6:30.

There are eight teams in each league and each team must have at least eight members.

Of the league's 16 teams, there are at least 10 composed of South High students

The title will be decided at the end of the year when the champions of both divisions meet.

President's Death Stalls Football Contest Winner

Due to the death of President John F. Kennedy and subsequent cancellation of a number of football games last weekend, the Hartley Newspapers' Football Contest winner this week has not yet been determined.

As soon as the remaining games have been played, the winner will be announced.

We have two obligations: Mine to talk. Yours to listen. If you finish before I do, just raise your hand.

Charges Dropped In Child's Death

Charges of assault and battery against Mrs. Rosetta L. Shephard, 18, of 462 Donaldson-st, in connection with the death of her 16-month-old daughter, were dismissed in Columbus Municipal Court last Thursday.

Judge Russell Leach, who earlier had dismissed charges of second-degree murder and manslaughter against the young mother, said he dismissed the case because of insufficient evidence.

TRANSFER SOUGHT

An application for the transfer of a night club permit from John W. Houser, Herb's Cafe, 1348 Parsons-av, to Joseph Endrizzi, Hi-Spot Cafe, same address, has been filed with the Ohio Department of Liquor Control. The permit allows the sale of beer, wine or spirituous liquor by-the-glass until 2:30 a.m.

At present, the U.S. Senate has 100 members. Seventy-three of the 100 have been in the Senate only since 1950, and more than a fifth of the total chamber date their service from 1960 or later.

Bourbon, Missouri, was named by railroad workers camped there, because of their fondness for the bourbon rationed out to them in the 1850's to prevent desertion.

Council Schedules Blue Plan Talk, Flower Show, Concert

Franklin Park Area Council has announced two important dates in its December calendar of events.

On the evening of Tuesday the 3rd Central Ohio Area Blue plan, as it relates to the near East Side, will be discussed. The meeting will be held in the Franklin Park Shelter House.

The council in cooperation with the Division of Parks and Forestry, will present a Christmas Festival at 3 p.m. Sunday the 15th in the park conservatory. There will be a Christmas flower display and concert by Battelle Memorial Institute Chorus.

TRAINED

MARINE Pfc. Cutis K. Marcum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Marcum of 636 City Park-av, completed four weeks of individual combat training Oct. 9, at the Second Infantry Training Regiment, Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

A third grade teacher was trying to teach her pupils to think. She asked one boy to give an example of nothing. He replied: "It's a balloon with its skin off."

minutes to inspect their rooms before dashing off to the Shubert Theater for the rollicking musical, "How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying." As they sat down, the overture ended and the curtain went up.

Early Thursday morning the local candidates met their competition at a continental breakfast at the hotel. Then they convened to give their views to the first of two groups of guest panelists from the fields of suburban newspapers, radio, TV, finance, industry, national magazines, and advertising. The contestants were asked to speak their minds (and hearts) on specific questions from the panelists on family budget and shopping habits, product packaging and distribution in stores. The Columbus area foursome did their town proud with the observations and opinions they contributed.

Tells Of Transition

Guest speaker at the Thursday luncheon was Paul Neal Averill, publisher of the Birmingham (Mich.) Eccentric, who pointed out the changes wrought in American homes since 100 years ago (when 80 per cent of American families lived in farm communities) and today (when only 14 per cent of U.S. families call farms their homes). One of the great problems stemming from this transition is that children no longer learn responsibility by sharing in the work of the home.

After lunch, the women launched a second session of discussion with another line-up of prominent panelists who asked how communications media can contribute to improved homemaking and better buying practices. The contestants told the panel what they enjoy and dislike in the various media, what they would like to see in the future, and what they would change to make the media more useful to themselves and their families.

One panelist was surprised with the first answer she got when asked what new tool the homemakers most valued. A delegate replied, "Adult education." Other answers in the anticipated field of appliances included the clothes dryer and home freezer. Betty Gutheil got nods of approval when she said she'd most like to have a home dry cleaning plant. The panelist replied that this will soon be on the market.

The panelists seemed most impressed by the guidance the homemakers are giving their families in both religious training (such as Frances Fannon's family practice of devotions every evening) and current events (Ollie Mosher's revelation that her children grew up taking turns reading the newspaper aloud while the other two did the supper dishes.)

Kathryn Long's forte was in the field of food shopping, since she sees that important facet of homemaking from both sides of the checkout counter. (Her husband manages the IGA Supermarket in West Jefferson.)

City Beautiful At Night

Thursday evening the delegates boarded sightseeing buses for downtown Chicago. They exclaimed over the holiday-trimmed store windows and the beauty of Michigan-av, where the trees lining the street were a twinkle with strings of tiny Italian Christmas lights. The destination was the Kungsholm, famed Swedish restaurant, where the homemakers were encouraged to try all of the dozens of fish, meat, salad, and vegetable dishes arrayed in authentic smorgasbord. They relaxed over dessert and coffee before adjourning to the restaurant's theater for a two-hour puppet version of the opera, "Tosca."

Friday was the climax of the Suburban Press Foundation convention. The homemakers again gathered for coffee and conversation before being ushered to the stage of their meeting room. The judges had completed interviews with each of the 27 finalists during Thursday's panel discussions and had the names of the Suburban Homemaker of 1963 and two runners-up in sealed envelopes.

Mrs. Owen Welles of Glendora, Calif., was announced winner of the $5,000 first prize from the American Dairy Association. Also singled out were Mrs. Arthur Retzlaff of Chicago Heights, Ill., and Mrs. Edward Silberman from Robbinsdale, Minn., who received $100 each. Judge Clayton Rose of Columbus' fest judges' opinion, every homemaker was a winner; the final decision had been difficult.

FBI Man Called

Inspector Edward C. Kemper, Jr., of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, delivered the challenging keynote address following the announcement of the winners. His subject was "Our Great Responsibilities," dealing with the family's responsibility in juvenile delinquency problems, which too often occur in suburban communities.

It was Inspector Kemper's connection with the FBI that brought the most stunning news of the day into the festive award luncheon soon after 2 p.m. last Friday.

The homemakers were seated in places of honor above other guests in the dining room, each wearing a red-white - and - blue - beribboned corsage of red roses. The main course was finished, dessert had been served.

Then the announcement came. Inspector Kemper had been called to return immediately to Washington: President Kennedy had been shot. Everyone rose for the benediction. Dessert went unfinished and coffee cooled in the cups as the delegates said hushed good-byes and hurried out for further news of the unthinkable turn of events in Dallas.

Fresh editions of Chicago papers were snatched up as the Columbus group waited at O'Hare's Airport to start the trip home. Plane traffic was slowed by bad weather, and incoming planes were forced to wait their turn to come in on radar. After an hour delay, the homemakers boarded their homebound super jet. Only 38 minutes after take-off they were back home in Columbus, telling those same devoted family groups about the three days they'd never forget in Chicago.

Trip—

Marjorie Ann Fannon, received a special bonus from TWA. When her mother admired the small lap pillow the hostess provided when dinner trays were served, the hostess insisted that Frances Fannon keep it for a crib pillow. Miniature pilots' and hostesses' wings were handed out for the other children.

• Lots of little incidents marked the Chicago visit of the four Hartley Newspapers' delegates. Talk about excitement! One of the women mentioned that her feet bothered her a bit after the plane trip and theater party Wednesday evening. It wasn't till she was back at the hotel that night that she realized she'd put her high-heeled shoes on the wrong feet before leaving home in Columbus.

• None of the homemakers lost any chance to learn anything that might be useful in the future. One took the Kungsholm Restaurant manager aside and learned the recipe for a spiced potato dish she especially enjoyed.

Another took a panelist from Good Housekeeping Institute up on her general invitation to visit the institute in New York. Ollie Mosher intends to include it in the plans for her Girl Scout troop's visit to the New York World's Fair next year.

• One of the most endearing features of the convention to the Columbus women was the chance they had to swap views with the other homemakers. After a long day of this during the two panel discussions, our ladies invited half a dozen other contestants to their rooms to further talk on family problems and ideas after the dinner and theater party at the Kungsholm.

• Getting to know their counterparts from all over the nation proved especially rewarding. One spunky young matron boasted that the Midwest had to admit the country's gold all came from her native California. An Ohioan was quick to remind her that it since has been brought to the Midwest, to Ft. Knox!

Friendly banter such as this, mixed with the serious discussions, won't soon be forgotten. In fact, en route to the airport for the trip home, the Columbus homemakers already were running over lists of friends, thinking ahead to nominating them for the honor when next year's Suburban Press Foundation contest rolls around.

Delta Zeta Mothers To Fete Seniors, Heads

Seniors graduating at the December convocation and the 14 past presidents of Delta Zeta Mothers will share honors Tuesday, Dec. 3, 8 p.m., 212 Fifteenth-av.

Each member will bring her favorite Christmas cookies and the recipe to share.

Gold Stars Plan Events In December

Columbus Chapter, American Gold Star Mothers will spend Wednesday, Dec. 4, helping veterans at Chillicothe Hospital with their Christmas shopping.

The recreation room will be decorated as a department store, and there will be tables of gifts donated by different organizations. These are gift wrapped and made ready for mailing.

Veterans will also be remembered with gifts in five Ohio hospitals, one in Kentucky, and the Soldiers and Sailors Home in Sandusky.

Business meeting will be held Dec. 5, 1 p.m., Room 201, Veterans Memorial building.

A Christmas ward party at Chillicothe hospital will be planned Dec. 11.

The chapter's Christmas dinner will be held Dec. 17, at the Swiss Club, 1036 Front-st. Dads will be guests. Reservations may be made with Mrs. E. A. Gerber, AM. 2-1993.

reason" for retaining Lawwill in the following words: "We have a separate Recreation Department established by the charter several years ago. Most people familiar in this field believe it is a mistake to have them (recreation and parks and forestry) separate. If the pledge that the mayor (Sensenbrenner) has made to combine them is to be fulfilled, there must be no indication of political control."

Lawwill also has picked up considerable support from the Franklin Park Area Council, a group he was instrumental in organizing. Said Council Chairman Miss Margaret Day:

"If some capable person had not taken over, we would not have the beauty of our park."

Miss Day said that Lawwill's help was significant in restoring Franklin Park establishment of the Park Council and bringing to area residents civic and recreational programs.

"A lot of people will say this (Lawwill's dismissal) is a political change-over, and there is nothing we can do. We had not taken sides; we neither sponsored nor endorsed any candidates. This is a non-political group."

Miss Day said that members of the group, "who represent both political parties," are circulating petitions supporting Lawwill. The petitions, directed to Mayor-elect Sensenbrenner, say in part: "Mr. Lawwill has helped immeasurably to maintain the property values in our area and has assisted in the organization of supervised recreational facilities in Franklin Park. We feel Mr. Lawwill is well qualified to help us maintain a better community on the East Side."

Lawwill reportedly has good working relations with both the Downtown Area Committee and the Development Committee For Greater Columbus. Robert F. Mott, executive secretary of the DCGC said: "Our committee thinks he (Lawwill) has done an excellent job. He has moved the whole parks program ahead substantially."

Lawwill reported that he had sent a letter to Mayor-elect Sensenbrenner after it was indicated to him that a change might be effected. He said that he outlined his background and opinions as to the status of the Columbus park system.

"I have been anxious to meet with somebody to talk this thing out," Lawwill said. "but have not had the opportunity so far."

It now appears that Lawwill may not be given that opportunity.

Surgeon To Speak To Congregations

Layman's Sunday at Livingston and First Methodist Churches (meeting jointly at Bryden-rd at 18th-st) will be observed Sunday, Dec. 1. Dr. William S Reed, surgeon from Tampa, Fla., will speak at morning worship service at 10:45 a.m., the evening praise service at 7:30 p.m. and also to youth groups during the Church School hour (9:15-10:20 a.m.) and MYF hour (6-7 p.m.).

Dr. Reed interned at the United States Naval Hospital at Great Lakes, Ill. and served as the Chief of the Department of Surgery of General Hospital of Bay City, Mich. in 1959 and 1960. He is nationally known as a lecturer and writer. Christian Life magazine carries a monthly column entitled "Family Doctor" by Dr. Reed. He is the author of the book, "A Doctor's Thoughts on Healing."

Public is invited.

Public Gets Credit For Pool Table

A lot of people will spend a lot of pleasant hours at the new pool table presented last week to the South Side Branch YMCA, but according to CSSO officers, a lot of people are responsible for the gift.

Although the gift is from the Council of South Side Organizations Mike Lower, the president, made it clear that it would not have been possible without the cooperation of individuals and business of the South Side.

These are the ones, he stated, who contributed to the Fourth of July fund last summer, the concessionaires who set up stands at the celebration, and the thousands of people who patronize the stands.

Cub Scout Pack 234, formerly sponsored by Willis Park Civic Association, now has a new sponsor, the Shady Lane Grace United Church of Christ. Good luck and congratulations to both the pack and sponsor.

Twenty-five units have reached their round up goal. Time is growing short, leaders, so do your best to get every available boy into Scouting. It will help them and your units.

Another full course of Cub Scout basic training will be given at East Broad Street Elementary School Nov. 25, Dec. 3 and 9. The time is 7:30 each evening. This would be an ideal time for you to make up any sessions that you might have missed.

The world's deepest oil well is located in Pecos County, Tex. It reaches 25,240 feet below the earth's surface.

'In My Memory . . .'

To the Editor:

It is a sleepy, peaceful town between towering, green mountains, Oceana, W. Va. Population 1000. A town which has sprung up to provide a shopping center for the few small mines in the area.

The time is spring, 1960. Only one mine was working. The people, knowing no other life, are bewildered.

The presidential campaign is in full swing. It has been a long time since a campaign meant so much to these people. They need help.

Coming today is a not-too-well-known senator, John F. Kennedy. The crowd, which would hardly be considered a crowd in most places, is the largest turnout anyone can remember.

"Can this rich man understand our problems?" they ask one another, "Can he understand hungry children, shattered pride, loss of dignity?"

He arrived, thin and smiling, and was greeted by skepticism and aloofness.

He spoke from a makeshift platform. I no not remember his exact words, only his message. He would do what he could to help oppressed people, not only here but everywhere.

It was not a new message. Every politician has said it, but his manner, his enthusiasm carried to the crowd and they knew that here was one who meant it.

When the speech was over, the camera came out. Everyone wanted a picture.

A poorly dressed lady stepped from the crowd and held out a sticky baby, clutching a green sucker someone had given him.

"Please," she whispered and Senator John F. Kennedy reached out his arms and took the child. With a borrowed camera, she snapped her picture.

A kind of hush came over the crowd and then they began to cheer.

Whatever had been the differences in the man and the people dissolved. He shared with them the one thing that mattered, a great heart.

"It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work . . . " (Lincoln)

"And so, my fellow Americans; Ask not what your country will do for you —ask what you can do for your country."

The assassination of President John F. Kennedy has brought to Americans the bitter taste of war. He is a victim of war as surely as if he had lost his life during his heroic exploits in World War II.

We have heard this world battle referred to as "the war for man's mind." Surely we must now realize that it is a war against the freedom of man as we know it in America.

Perhaps this war has been difficult to accept as such because our casualties so far have been relatively few numerically, and in far-off places with hard-to-remember names. But now the war has brought bloodshed to our soil, and our casualty is a name that already was assured a prominent place in history.

Perhaps now we will realize that not all of our enemies reside within the Communist Bloc "; that anarchists are already among us. Perhaps now we will realize just how our "burial" is to take place; how the Soviet time table calls for collapse from within.

Our President was not the victim of a crackpot, or a demented person who imagined some personal wrong. He was the apparent victim of an anarchist, all of whom believe that assassination must replace the voting booth.

Our President's death has brought us to an historic national crossroad. As a nation we are a family bereaved and therefore, a family united. We face this situation together.

But what is to happen when the period of mourning is finished? Will each branch of our united family then retreat back down the road from whence we came to share our common grief?

Will those closest to the deceased concern themselves only with a bitter struggle to gain his legacy? And will the "other" side of the family deal only with means of gaining control of the family destiny?

God forbid these courses of action. God grant that our common loss will result in a re-affirmation in the basics that created and have preserved our nation; the Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights, the Four Freedoms and the knowledge that we are "one nation, under God."

And God grant that each of us might now be sufficiently concerned to enter personally into the serious task of preserving our nation — strong, free and united.

If our President's death moves us to this unity of purpose, then he shall not have died in vain.

Guest Pulpit . . .

Stop, Thank

In visiting the mountains this summer, many things were refreshed in my memory. I learned, once again, things nearly forgotten, concerning the Civil War and other events not ordinarily found in history books.

Pastor Sutorius

Among the outstanding stories I heard was one on the manner in which supplies were transported from the valley to the mountain tops. It seemed almost an impossible task to bring supplies up those steep, winding mountain trails. The trip was made by horse-drawn sleds and often there were misgivings as to the possibility of the horses reaching the top with their burdens. However, the people dwelling there were also aware of this difficulty and at intervals of about a half a mile they had built level places where the drivers might stop and rest their horses for a spell. Here they had an opportunity to look backward, over the distance they had traveled and then to look upward at the remaining part of the journey. The people living in those mountains called those stopping places "Thank You, Mams," presumably to express the thanks for the beasts of burden for the rest received in their upward pull.

By the time this is read it will be time for the observance of our national holiday, Thanksgiving. This day is set aside by the President of the United States and the governor of our state as a time when we pause to express our thanksgiving for the bountiful blessings received along our journey from this life to the life to come. Tragically, few people give these blessings much thought.

Certainly, when we look at the well-filled tables at Thanksgiving time we should remember that God is the Giver of every good and perfect gift. These blessings, often so mechanically received day by day, are often abused and wasted. We seemingly forget that all that we have is a gift of the Almighty God, who daily provides us richly with all that we need to support this body and life.

Just why is God keeping us alive? Why does He give you the breath of life day after day? It is obvious that it is not because He is so pleased with our behavior and activities. But each day we open our eyes to another portion of our journey because in His love and mercy He is providing us with another resting place, another opportunity to look back over our pathway in humble repentance and then to look upward to the goal of a blessed eternity. That is the only purpose of our earthly existence.

As we make this observation, it should bring from our lips a sincere song of thanksgiving, first of all for the gift of His Word, for through this means we have learned to know Him. It should bring about a sincere thankfulness for the gift of His Son, Jesus Christ and for His sacrifice on the Cross of Calvary, the means whereby our sins are forgiven and we are made clean to enter with Him into those mansions promised in eternity.

We ought to thank God for His, church, the only saving institution on the face of the earth and it is here that He will expect to find us on Thanksgiving morning, unless we are on duty. After all, the purpose of thus setting aside a day of national thanksgiving is this, that we might assemble in His church and there offer our thanks to Him, the Giver of all good things.

Then may our thanksgiving be translated into thanksliving as we seek to publicly demonstrate our love for Him.

A Happy Thanksgiving to all.

Frosting On The Cake

By
"UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

There is a vast difference between just a pixie and a nuisance in human personalities. Every real adult needs to be a little bit pixilated in order to stay sane in a crazy world.

But there are individuals who are solely motivated by a morbid so-called sense of humor

The very best protection against such practical jokers is to ignore their antics. It soon gets through to them that you are not a candidate for such monkey-doodle business.

Fine men and women by the hundreds are going to be helpless cripples for life, just because some idiot sneaked a chair out from under them. Two men I know are sightless because some lamebrain gave them a "loaded" cigar. Such damphoolishness is never funny. It is tragic and the only treatment for such lunacy is a lawsuit that cools them off for keeps.

In Detroit many years ago some character "bugged" a friend's auto horn as a prank and the follow-up was both tragic and criminal. The strip of conductor metal went too deep into the turn signal mechanism. By the time my friend got dressed and down to his car, the whole thing was a blazing inferno and when the gas tank exploded the hapless victim lost his left hand and left eyesight.

Insure Holiday Cheer At Institutions

Christmas giving can take two equally rewarding forms.

It is almost always worth the time, effort and money expended when we see and hear the expressions of thanks from those about us who are the recipients of our giving. But there is also much to be said for the feeling of warmth that surely comes from giving with no expectation of a visible expression of thanks. This is the truest form of the spirit of sacrifice that is in the heart of the true Christmas Spirit.

We can think of no better way to participate in this higher spirit than by sharing Christmas with patients in our state mental hospitals. This can be accomplished by generous donations to the gift program sponsored by Bells for Mental Health for patients at Columbus State Hospital and Children's Psychiatric Hospital.

Needed now are new gift items that may be selected by patients (at no cost to them) for presentation to a close relative; gifts to be distributed to the patients; gift wrapping material, and cash donations. The new gifts (unwrapped) may be deposited at any Swan Super Cleaner store. Also needed are any trading stamps (loose or in books), which may be sent to the Franklin County Mental Health Association, 131 E. State-st.

Franklin County's quota is 427 gifts for adults and a like number for children, in addition to $1,089 in cash to cover costs of Christmas trees, refreshments and party supplies. This is a drive where there should be no question of going "over the top."

But too many people may decide that "others" will respond. They will neglect making the little effort involved in picking up one extra gift, of dropping a small contribution into the mails. Don't asusme that "others" will meet this Christian need. Become a participant.

Further information may be obtained through the Franklin County Mental Health Association office, or by calling Bells For Mental Health Chairman Mrs. Richard (Betty) Emig (BE. 1-7492).

Live Thanksgiving!

The story of Thanksgiving is a vital part of American history. You may remember certain aspects of it with nostalgia or you may recall the relatively meager material possessions our forefathers had, in comparison to our land of plenty.

Yet, before the Pilgrims got around to their meal of Thanksgiving, they paused to remember that this was not merely a feast on a given day, but that it had to do with living in a certain way.

The Pilgrims gathered together in their meetinghouse to give thanks for the blessing of life, for survival through times of hardship, for strength to perform the daily tasks, for courage to face up to the dangers of the day and for loved ones and friends who shared their difficult burdens.

Thanksgiving was a way of living; a way of feeling about people and things. It still is. We have the same things to be thankful for today—and on a much greater scale. Yet, our thanks is often hollow in comparison to theirs. We make it a "day", pack it full of action, and wrap it up in 24 hours. Then we get back to the "routine"—on with the business of living.

We need to take a closer look at THANKSGIVING. We need to recognize that there is plenty for which we can be thankful. We need to enter into our "meetinghouses" and thank Him who is the giver of every good gift. After we have given thanks, we can get on with the matter of thanksLIVING.

Variety . . . by I. F. Howell

This is the day we thank our God
For His priceless bounty;
We lift our hearts in praise and song
In every town and county.

We repeat a part of what we said in this column a year ago about Thanksgiving.

"The first crop of the Pilgrims at Plymouth was a failure. During their first year about half of them died of sickness, exposure and malnutrition. Their second harvest was not much better, but they united in thanking God for it. That was the first Thanksgiving on American soil."

President Lincoln first proclaimed Thanksgiving as a national holiday about a century ago. Since then, every president has made a similar proclamation naming the fourth Thursday in November as Thanksgiving Day. Only once, during World War II, did President Roosevelt change it. But that was only for a short time.

Some say that we as a people have little to be thankful for. We can't agree. Our land has never been devastated by high explosive or nuclear bombs. We have the lowest death rate and the highest life expectancy on earth. We have the highest income, the most food, the most comfortable housing, the most conveniences of all kinds. These are but a few things of the many. Are we thankful enough?

It says here . . . . . .

The chief thing we need is more awareness of the many things we have to be thankful for.

An Editor's Outlook by Jenkin Lloyd Jones

The Biggest Idea? It May Have Started As A Primitive Sketch On A Deer's Horn

LES EYZIES, France -- About 25,000 years ago a heavily-bearded man clad in a wild goatskin, his dirty hair hanging low about his shoulders, displayed his spear-throwing stick, made of a deer's antler. The scarred old men, the young hunters, the lank-breasted women and the naked children who were gathered around the fire at the cave mouth grunted in appreciation.

Jones

For on the horn with his flint knife the man had carved the outline of a buffalo. It was a very good outline—the legs drawn up, the head canted forward so that the impression of the whole animal would not be lost in the curve of the horn.

Now, perhaps the man had drawn it out of the mere pleasure of the design. Or perhaps he was hoping to propitiate the spirits of these fierce and feared animals. Or it may have been engraved to tell the throwing stick that it must glide the speak truly and accurately to wild game.

But, whatever the motive, the first drawing was a tremendous invention. For it produced something that did not exist in nature—the symbol of an idea. This was something that no animal, however intelligent, had achieved. It was something that more primitive men—the stooped, low-browed Neanderthal, for example—had never thought of.

Where it was that this idea-symbol was first drawn we will never know. But here in the province of Dordogne beneath the steep, wooded cliffs that overlook the sparkling Vezere River is the oldest art we know.

The wooly mammoth and the sabre-toothed tiger have vanished from the face of the earth. The rhinoceros is found only in Africa. A small herd of bison (our American buffalo) in Poland is all that is left of thousands that once thundered across western Europe.

But the cave paintings of the Vezere valley depict them all—magnificent figures in black charcoal and red ochre covering the limestone walls. When they were first found only a hundred years ago the discoverers were accused of having secretly drawn these themselves. It was hard to believe that drawings so lifelike, so beautifully proportioned, could be so old. Besides, many men still held that the whole span of history did not exceed 8,000 years

For a time curiosity-seekers smudged the walls with their torches and scratched their names on the priceless drawings. But as cave after cave was uncovered the importance of the find dawned on the scientific world and careful diggings in the old camping places at the cavern mouths revealed the burials, the stone tools, the tooth necklaces of the first truly-intelligent men. The quiet towns and villages of this remote French valley — Aurignac, Le Moustier, La Madeleine, Perigord have lent their names to the Aurignacian, Mousterian, Magdalenian and Perigodian periods of human pre-history known to every student of anthropology.

The greatest of all the caves, Lascaux, was discovered only in 1940 when two boys leaped into a hidden pit to rescue their yelping dog. And among the wealth of paintings deep in the recesses of the grotto there is one showing a prostrate man below the horns of a wild ox. Here the artist, apparently, was beginning to tell a simple tragic story.

The coupling of the idea-symbol — the animal, the man, the arrow — to a human adventure was undoubtedly the greatest invention Man ever made or ever will make. For when he discovered how to record his experiences his knowledge began to compound itself. No longer did he have to keep reinventing what had once been known. He could describe his tools, his theories, his recipes and invention. And upon the wisdom of men long dead he could build greater wisdom.

The people of the lower Nile developed their picture writing marvelously, but it still took the eye of an artist. The practical Babylonians simplified their pictures until they could convey their thoughts by making, wedge-shaped marks in wet clay. Unfortunately, they were traders and most of what they have left us are dull accountings of so many measures of grain and so many jars of olives.

It was the Moabites who invented the true alphabet and by the use of only 21 easily-remembered symbols they could describe all that they knew of Heaven and Earth. After that Man was off and running.

But writing didn't lead him straight to Paradise. What was written could be mistaken, or degrading, or an outright lie. Millions were scientifically deluded only yesterday by Hitler's Volkisher Beobachter and Mussolini's Il Popolo d'Italia. It is said of Russia's Pravda (Truth) that it contains little light, and Izvestia (Light) is innocent of truth. Under a series of soft-headed court decisions in the interests of "liberalism" we, in America, are currently drowning our youth in a tidal wave of semi-pornography which won't do anything for the moral fiber of a great people.

Still, America is full of good reading. The tragedy lies in the way in which reading to children during the habit-forming years has gone out of style. For every American youngster whose parents have led him into the wonderworld of literature there must be a hundred who have been left on their bellies on the living room rug to absorb the sterile repetition of TV shoot-em-ups. This will cost the next generation.

For the man who reads widely and with discrimination is an emancipated man. Good reading is the enemy of bigotry and provincialism. It is also the enemy of boredom. The world has no flat taste to him who has learned to pull down from a shelf the fruit of great minds and the thrill of great experiences. It is, above all, the enemy of error. Man has tried every possible stupidity and left a written record of his findings. It is the unread who are most likely to repeat the old follies and run past the danger signs.

Here in this lovely valley of the Vezere the Big Idea may have been born. More significant than the wheel, more revolutionary than harnessed steam, more wonderful than the transmutation of the elements was the buffalo scratched on the deer horn.

THEY'RE OFF ON THE RIGHT FOOT

SELECTED BY THEIR PRINCIPALS as exemplifying youthful citizenship at its best the above elementary and junior high school boys were recently honored at a luncheon held by the South Optimist Club at Piketon Bowling Lanes. It was part of the Youth Appreciation Week sponsored by Optimist International and first celebrated on a city-wide basis at the Fairground Youth Center. In the front, from the left are Edward Rhoden, Ronald Shillingburg, Larry Thomas, and Billie Roberts. In the second row are George Keeney, James Leeke, Charles Legg, Danny Kover and Jeff Coleman. In the back row are John Christian, Kenneth Bullock, Tom Murray, Ted Zornes and Billie Roberts.

The Gadabout

Priscilla LaRue Lanex
HI. 4-1051

Most of us are able to see the beauty of a snowflake, or of a frosted window, but it takes a real artist to capture the loveliness permanently, in one medium or another. Not all artists work with paints, oils or marble; some express themselves with thread, as does today's Outstanding Personality, Julia Rogers, 393 E. Gates-st.

Mrs. Rogers had been stymied for two weeks by one little square of a tablecloth that she planned to crochet, and was about to abandon the project when she received the assistance from nature and Ohio's cold winters. To complete the story it is nice to report that she continued with the tablecloth, entered it in competition and received a national first place award.

Julia, born in Austro-Hungary in 1894, learned to crochet in school, at the age of seven. Her teacher insisted that the girls should try to create their own designs as much as possible. She actually taught them all sorts of needlework, but Julia enjoyed crocheting the best. We had thought that perhaps Julia's teachers were nuns, as she is Catholic, but learned this was not the case. She had only seen two nuns in her life until she came to the United States, so learned from a lay person.

The girls were taught home economics in the third grade by going to the teacher's home and learning by experience. Because her help was needed at home, she was only able to finish the fourth grade in her native country. A period of working in a factory was ended when a brother sent passage money for her to come to the United States at the age of 16. Working as a domestic, she felt fortunate to be with a couple who treated her as a daughter and worked with her language education, etc. The woman, knowing her love of needlework, urged her to do it whenever possible, to use it as relaxation.

This she has done to this very day. Julia, then Miss Lipp, became Mrs. Fred Rogers when she was 19. Fred also had been born overseas, in Hungary. The two celebrated a 50th wedding anniversary a short time ago, honored by their five children, John, Margaret Turner, Mildred Petty, Irene Scheurer and Bill. The eldest, John, is a courageous spastic, who well deserves a story himself.

Times were not easy for the family of seven, during the depression days, so Mrs. Rogers worked wherever and whenever she could, to help supply the needs of a teenage family. In 1938, with her family obligations a little lighter, she had more time for her relaxation hobby, so she decided to start entering fairs. Her first entry, a bedspread, was sent to the Ohio State Fair and received a first place award. She entered it in a national contest in New York, where it again took the top prize.

Without a doubt, she is one of the crochet champions of the country and here's our proof: 600 ribbons from fairs all over the country, three county fair trophies, three Ohio State trophies, one national trophy, and one just received from the largest county fair in the country, the Los Angeles, of Pomona, Calif. She was proclaimed the "National Champion" in 1950. This competition is no longer held or she would have held the title many times since, we're sure.

Though she naturally is pleased that her artistry has brought her recognition, she values the friendships she has made far more. One such friend (a former South Side resident) is Marie Launer, also an exceedingly fine needle-worker.

Marie and Julia travel to fairs all over Ohio and are hoping to attend the California Fair next year.

Marie's daughter, Emily Ocker, and Julia were the moving forces behind the formation of the Fleur de Lis needlework club which is happy to welcome new members. All types of needlework is done at the meetings, which are held in members' homes. Members will gladly instruct newcomers in any phase, if necessary, for they hope to perpetuate the art of needlecraft. Mrs. Ocker resides at 777 Siebert-st, and her phone is HI. 3-1292. Mrs. Rogers may be reached at HI. 4-5668.

Only one word will describe Mrs. Rogers' work, and that is "exquisite." The thread she uses, 250, is so fine that it isn't even available in America, so she must send to France for her materials. Because of her "winning" ways, Mrs. Rogers really acquired a pen-pal in Little Rock, Ark., a fellow crochet-artist. Her fan is America's Champion of Male Crocheters, who received the title in 1957, last year for the competition. Our day's Outstanding Personality is so modest that we had to read the gentleman's letters to learn that her designs have been used in all the leading women's magazines for years.

The male needleworker, a young college professor, learned to crochet as a pastime when polio struck him. He since has regained the use of his legs, but has found his hobby so fascinating that he has continued it.

Julia has a dream, and it is one that needleworkers across the land will hope she gets to realize, we know. Her dream is to have a book published of her original designs so that she can share her creative ability with others. Having seen samples of her work, we can only hope that her genius can be preserved for future generations of needleworkers, for it would be a pity to have them lost.

Mrs. Rogers is also interested in the handicapped, the natural result of looking after her son John, a spastic. John has supported himself by selling cards, etc., and is quite active in many organizations that deal with handicapped folks. Just recently he was elected secretary-treasurer of the Columbus chapter of the National Association for Physically Handicapped, the third such Ohio group, the 50th one nationally.

In addition to the Rogers' five children, there are 15 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Mrs. Rogers also has a brother, James Lipp, who resides on Wilson-av.

Today's Personality has been a member of St. Leo's Parish for 43 year. A series of major operations and her home duties kept her from becoming a "joiner" in any organizations. Perhaps this set of circumstances has helped really, to enable her to devote full time to her God given talent, and this she has certainly done.

Three South Side women of the Philopthos Society of the Greek Orthodox Church, are recently elected officers The women and their offices are; Mrs. James Skerfis, 1101 Wilson-av, president; Mrs. Demetrios Michaelides, 531 Frebis-av, English secretary, and Mrs. George Curtis, 788 Thurman-av, vice-president.

Birthday "cakes" for these youngsters are more apt to resemble pumpkin or mincemeat pies this traditional week of honoring the founding fathers, but their natal day wishes are genuine: Karen Athey, William Barber, William Griffith, Ronald Linville, Paul Headley, Robert Cooper, Sheila Harber, Roxanna Nay, Kimberly Ann Hoptry, Mary Beth Poeschal and Joe Spiker.

Celebrating teenagers include Mary Francis Ardner, Bobby Castle, Jerry Edwards and Keith Fillinger.

Adults to rate birthday "helloes" include Herbert Seemueller, Norma Di Gola, Helen Saylor, Clarence and Dorris Syfers, Helen Ikehorn, Mae Dean, Margaret Whalen, Pearl McEneany and Mary Jane Evans.

Wedding anniversaries are uppermost in the minds of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Glassmacher, Millie and Paul Bernhill, Frank and Helen Gusa. Our little friend "Weesie" Whitacre, 158 Southwood-av, will become Mrs. Bob Middendorf, this Sunday, Dec. 1. Much luck, young friends.

Chuck Selby's orchestra will provide the music for the Wednesday, Dec. 4, mid-week dance at the YWCA, 8:45 to 11:45 p.m.

Mrs. Lawrence Gosnell, 1067 E. Whittier-st, is the newly elected corresponding secretary of the East Columbus Lions Auxiliary.

Wedded happiness is wished for Dorothy Morbitzer, 548 S. Weyant-av, and Robert Davy, 599 Thurman-av, who will exchange marriage vows on Nov. 30 at St. Catherine Church. On Nov. 30, in St. John the Evangelist Church, Norma Williams, 966 S. Champion-av, will become the bride of Dominic Nickoloff, 2548 Adams-st.

Meetings, here and there. . . .

A "General" meeting of the women of Hope Lutheran Church will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 3. The Welfare Auxiliary of the church will attend a Christmas Smorgasbord at Christ Church on Wednesday, Dec. 4, at noon.

St. Leo's Altar Rosary Sodality will hold an enrollment of new members when it meets at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 1. The speaker will be Msgr. Gilbert Schmenk. Mrs. Anthony Moskins, membership chairman, is in charge of the program. A tea will honor the new members.

Mrs. Walter McCain, social chairman of the South Side "Y" Mothers Club, will be in charge of the Christmas party held by that group on Tuesday, Dec. 3, at 7:45 p.m.

Russ Canter, long-time resident of Morrill-av, has not lost his sense of humor while hospitalized in Grant Hospital (Room 946) following a heart attack. To quote him "How nice to be able to listen to the radio and hear the latest report on my condition!" The dean of WBNS announcers is now a resident of Grove City.

Area residents are reminded to purchase their Christmas trees from the South Side "Y," 190 Southwood-av, beginning Dec. 7. The "Y" will benefit from all profits.

The South High basketball team will participate in a tournament on Friday, Nov. 29, and Saturday, Nov. 30. South's opponent will be Walnut Ridge. Also in the two days of playing will be Whetstone and Central.

The Annual Congregational meeting of the Southwood Church of Christ will be held Wednesday, Dec. 4. The election of elders and deacons will be held.

If September plans are still accurate, Rev. Ralph Stinson, his wife Betty and their family are setting in their home in Jamestown, O., by now. The former South Siders have been in Chicago, Ill., the past 'few years.'

With the busy Thanksgiving schedule that occupies us all, we'll mention only briefly that over again we're conducting the "Gifts for Giving" program at the Benjamin Franklin Tuberculosis Hospital. We do hope to hear from interested readers about it. Further donors include Florence Frye, Lillian Rvan and Ruth Kleenlein. The phone? HI. 4-1051.

At this time when "counting our blessings" should be done, this writer wants to publicly acknowledge the feeling that she is so extremely fortunate to live in the warmest - hearted community in all of Columbus. To each and every one of you, thanks for the glad hand of welcome you have always given us, we appreciate it greatly.

And now, may each of us go our prayful way this saddened Thanksgiving, thankful that we live in a country where a change of leadership does not cause turmoil and upheaval. Our best wishes go to the man who suddenly and tragically, had the presidency thrust upon him. God give him strength and courage, to lead us surely and safely.

OU WOMEN SLATE HOLIDAY DANCE

Columbus Area Association of Ohio University Women will meet Tuesday, Dec. 3, 7:45 p.m. at the Deshler Hilton Hotel.

Tickets are now on sale for Holiday Whirl Dance to be held Saturday, Dec. 14, 9:30 to 12:30 p.m. at the Deshler Hilton. Ohio University students, alumni, and friends are invited. Tickets are $4 per couple.

For further information, contact Mrs. Harold Hines, 1375 Duxberry, 291-3805. Proceeds will go towards a scholarship fund.

ASSIGNED TO JAPAN

Airman 1C. Ottie R. Burton, whose wife Margaret is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl McKnight of 1845 Dickens-dr, is being reassigned to Itazuka AE. Japan, following his graduation from a technical training course at Lowry AFB, Colo. Airman Burton is an air armament mechanic.

"I STARTED CLASSES late," said Mrs. Lucille Smith, 695 Morrill-av, Apt. B, "and already have made casseroles and bread that my husband at first refused to believe I had done by myself." She didn't join the classes at first because she was not aware that she could bring her baby to cooking school with her.

HOLIDAY EMPHASIS IN CLASSES ENDS COURSES AT LINCOLN PARK

When a Christmas party is held Wednesday, Dec. 13, at the Family Living Center, 1700 S. 20th-st at the Lincoln Park housing development, it will mark the closing of the first fall series of cooking and clothing classes held for adult homemakers.

Sponsored jointly by Columbus Metropolitan Housing and the Columbus Public Schools, the classes are designed to show how a woman through development of homemaking skills can raise the standard of living for her family within the limits set by her budget.

The cooking courses stress the use of commodity foods which are available to families of limited means, and the clothing classes give the instruction by which a mother can see her entire family dressed better than before at little cost.

Similar classes will again open the second week of January and be followed shortly by a course in home redecoration and furniture refinishing.

The classes which meet twice a week are open to any resident of Franklin County.

The project, which was initiated in Ohio last spring, has been greeted enthusiastically by the adult students.

As one of the first graduates last summer said, "I've always wanted to be a better homemaker, but had never before been given the opportunity to learn."

The fact that the mothers are allowed to bring their preschool age children to the center has permitted many to attend who otherwise would not have been able to as the cost of baby sitting is prohibitive to many.

Anyone who is interested in joining the classes may contact Mrs. Lavon McCullough, coordinator of foods at the center. The telephone number is 444-1941.

Following are two recipes which have proved to be favorites of the women during their Thanksgiving preparations.

SUET PUDDING

1 cup finely chopped suet
1 cup sorghum
1 egg
1 cup brown sugar
2½ cups flour, sifted
1 tsp. soda
¼ tsp. salt
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. cloves
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup milk
½ cup raisins
½ cup dates if desired, or less and use more raisins
½ cup nuts if desired
½ cup currents

Mix suet, sorghum, beaten egg and brown sugar. Beat well. Sift dry ingredients together. Add alternately with milk. Add fruit, mix well. Steam two or three hours. Serve with hard sauce.

CORN BREAD DRESSING

6 cups corn bread crumbled
6 cups soft bread crumbs
½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup fat or drippings
1 cup diced celery
¾ cup minced onion
½ cup chopped green pepper (if desired)
2 tsp. salt
½ tsp. pepper
1½ tsp. poultry seasoning (to taste)
1 tsp. sage (to taste)
2 beaten eggs
1 to 1½ cups water or stock to moisten, pre-cooked giblets, chopped.

Cut butter into tiny pieces; mix with corn bread and bread crumbs. Brown celery, green pepper and onion and cook five minutes, stir well. Add to corn bread mixture. Add beaten eggs. Gradually sprinkle water or stock over surface, stir lightly until dressing is of desired moistness. If water is used two chicken bouillon cubes may be added to water. Stuff lightly into neck region and body cavity of the bird.

WITH LESSONS BEING tied in with the Thanksgiving season, Mrs. Hester Barber, 683 Welch-av, puts the finishing touches on a holiday table at the Family Living Center at Lincoln Park Homes where she attends classes in Cooking with Commodity Foods and in Being A Gracious Hostess. The suet pudding, the Boston brown bread, and cranberry-oatmeal loaf were all prepared with commodity foods.

"WE WERE LIVING on canned and frozen foods before I began to learn to really cook here," explained Mrs. Ernestine Roberts, 684 Moler-st, Apr. 1, explaining that her food costs are dropping now since she is relying heavily on commodity foods. Above she is removing from the over a pork shoulder roast which she has stuffed to help "stretch it."

THOUGH NO NEWCOMER to a kitchen, there was a lesson for Mrs. Evelyn Stewart, 1720 S. 18th-st when she began attending cooking classes this year. It was a simple one, according to Mrs. Lavon McCullough, coordinator of foods; it was the art of measuring. Previously Mrs. Stewart shown stuffing a chicken with cornbread dressing, had been a member of the "a pinch of this and a pinch of that" school, with her culinary efforts enjoying widely varying degrees of success.

Will Dedicate Cannon To Late VFW Chaplain

A cannon will be dedicated Saturday, Nov. 30 at 1:30 p.m. honoring Alvin Robinson, who served Benson Hough Post No. 3424, Veterans of Foreign Wars, as chaplain.

The artillery cleaned and painted by a detail headed by Dan Pendleton, will be exhibited in front of the post, 2299 S. High.

The late Robinson who died at age 93 also served as chaplain emeritus for the state organization Cooties, an honor degree of VFW.

Preceding the dedication, M/Sgt. Cornelius Leach and his honor flight from Lockbourne AFB will present a drill exhibition.

Among prominent South Siders attending the ceremony are Councilman Bill Fornof, Ted Hysel city clerk and Judges William Brant and Bob Draper. State dignitaries will also be present.

If weather permits the dedication to be held outside, all South Siders are invited to attend.

Commander Paul Plunkett, past commanders, Post Sgt. James Kelly and Mike Donahue, Dan Pendleton and Senior Vice Commander Bill Mangum have all served on the ceremony committee.

Four Ladies Selected In Big Contest

Winners Take Part In Big Conference

Homemakers from across the nation expressed their opinions as to how well they are being served by their suburban newspapers, by their women's magazines, by radio and television, during the second session of a panel discussion held during the National Suburban Homemakers Conference in Chicago on Nov. 21.

Subject for the session was "How communications media can contribute to improved homemaking and better buying practices." Panel members offered varied backgrounds in the field of communications.

Chicago's own Martha Crane represented radio. During her 35 years at station WLS she has consistently presented intelligent, informative, mature programs designed to be of service to homemakers.

The fourth estate speaker was from the Los Angeles area. Mrs. Nelda Thompson, women's editor and feature writer for northeast Los Angeles suburban newspapers, has garnered many an award during her varied newspaper career. Among them are the Matrix Table Award for feature writing in 1961 and a record of three citations in a row from the Greater Los Angeles Press Club. Her background, she says, includes virtually all phases of newspapering including, on occasion, delivering the paper as a pinch-hitter for her carrier boy son.

Magazines were well represented by two women with extensive backgrounds in the field of communications. Miss Doris Doland, assistant to the publisher of Look Magazine and a panelist in the 1962 National Suburban Homemakers Conference, represented general magazines. Miss Doland's experience includes stints on the editorial staffs of Tide, an advertising trade publication and Collier's, prior to joining the staff of Look.

A name well known to countless homemakers is that of Willie Mae Rogers, director of the Good Housekeeping Institute, who was the fourth panelist. Miss Rogers directs the activities of the famed institute and its seal of approval.

Final panelist of the afternoon session was Alden R. Grimes, vice-president and member of the board of directors, Campbell-Mithun Advertising Agency. His experience in the field of advertising ranges across the entire spectrum. He served the government as consultant to the Secretary of War during Franklin Roosevelt's administration and as consultant to the Secretary of Commerce under Eisenhower.

Following the interview of the homemakers by the panelists, the procedure was reversed and the homemakers put the five communications experts on the spot.

Four queens, Kathryn Long, Oletta Mosher, Frances Fannon and Betty Gutheil receive engraved silver trays from Publisher C. Carlton Hartley.

Homemaker— Not Housewife

Because Hartley Newspapers believes that the horizons of the home are widening each year, because it is no longer enough that a woman be concerned only with her own children and her house work, "these four and no more," and because we believe that the very best of American values and traditions are expressed in suburban community family living today, we have once more searched for the Suburban Homemaker of the Year.

We have selected four winners. But, every woman nominated, and there were many, is in reality a winner. To her husband, her son or daughter, her neighbor or her friend, she is the symbol of all that the word "Homemaker" implies. She has shown the ability to create a little spot of heaven where love reigns supreme.

We at Hartley Newspapers congratulate every one of you and send our congratulations to every nominee for a job well done.

These Ladies Judged Local Contest

MRS. WALTER HARRIS, 2588 Berwyn-rd, is the president of the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women, the chairman of the Diocesan Better Entertainment committee, deanery PTA chairman and president of St. Agatha's Women's Club. She is the mother of two teenage sons, Dick and Mike.

MISS HOPE FRANE, general home service director of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., has held similar positions in Washington, D. C. and Chicago. She is also author of a food news column and has received her master's degree in home economics. She is a member of American Home Economics Assn. of Phi Upsilon Omicron and the Lutheran Church.

MRS. PAUL V. CROSIER, 280 S. Algonquin, is past president of West High and Westgate School PTA, a member of the National Board of Foreign Missions of the American Baptist Convention and president of Ohio Baptist Women. She is a registered nurse and mother of two children, Jean and Lynda.

Are Honored At Gala Event In Chicago

Four women in widely varying sections of Columbus' suburbs represented Hartley Newspapers in the Second Annual Search for Suburban Homemaker of the Year.

Mrs. Robert Fannon, 858 Stephen-dr W, Hilltop Record-West Side News area, wife of a research engineer and mother of five pre-teen children.

Mrs. Robert Gutheil, RR No. 1, Lockbourne, South Side Leader and South-East Rural-Urban News area, wife of farmer and store manager, mother of eight children.

Mrs. Charles Long, Jr., West Jefferson, West Rural-Urban News area, wife of groceryman, mother of two daughters and one son.

Mrs. Oliver Mosher, 4009 Beechcreek-rd, Eastern Review and Reynoldsburg Record area, engineer at North American, mother of a teen age daughter and two grown sons.

The four local winners spent last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in Chicago as the guests of Hartley Newspapers attending the National Awards Conferences.

There they met with other local homemakers from suburban areas over the United States, participated in panel discussions exploring advantages and disadvantages of suburban living, and watched the National Suburban Homemaker selected.

Judge Rose Lauds Project

The twinkle in the eye of Judge Clayton W. Rose, immediate past president of the National Council of Juvenile Court Judges, as he tells the following story, suggests that perhaps it's a little too pat to be true, but it's a good story nonetheless. He claims a toastmaster at a banquet once introduced him as, "A man who knows more about family fights, through his own personal experience, than any man I know."

Vicarious though that experience may have been, it covers a long and honorable career. A graduate of Ohio State University College of Law, Judge Rose has been a judge of the court of domestic relations and juvenile court of Franklin County (Ohio) since 1936. In those 27 years he has had opportunity to witness at first hand the often tragic consequences of home environments which are without the stabilizing influence of responsible homemakers.

For that reason Judge Rose expressed pleasure at being chosen to serve for the second year as one of the five national judges to select the National Suburban Homemaker of the Year.

Interviewed in his Columbus office, Judge Rose said: "The strength of our family life is the foundation of our entire social structure and the problems and responsibilities of the homemaker in building that strength are many. It

Heart Of America Is Honored

Last Year's Winners Were 1963 Queens

This marks Hartley Newspapers second year of participation in the nationwide search for "Suburban Homemaker of the Year." Suburban Press Foundation, to which Hartley Newspapers belong, is spearheading this project because it is in the suburbs of the nation that the population is increasing more rapidly than in any other area.

Last year's winners were: Mrs. L. T. McKinley, 835 S. Enfield, Columbus' East Side, mother of six sons.

Mrs. Oliver Tallman, 3306 Stephen-dr, on the Hilltop, mother of three daughters.

Mrs. Phillip Wagner, Canal Winchester, mother of two daughters and a son.

Mrs. Kedron Heckner, Lincoln Village, mother of two daughters and two sons.

Although their full year as reigning queens has now come to an end every one of them believes "that the contest is one based on the real qualities that build homes in the great American tradition."

In addition to their trip to Chicago for competition in the National Award of $5,000, all of the four women are quick to state that they received many other benefits as well.

They received commendation from their husbands' employers, from friends they had not seen in many years, from their Girl Scout troops, and from a 95-year-old cousin who wrote "just because she was proud to be in the same family."

Evidence of the 1962 winners' confidence in the contest was shown by the fact that each winner sent in her own nomination for this year's contest.

Mrs. McKinley summed up the thinking in these words, "I think Hartley Newspapers deserves tremendous credit for helping glamorize the role of

Standards Set For Judging Home Contest

Official judging standards as set up by the Suburban Press Foundation should be reviewed to be able to determine the many points for which the judges of this contest were on the alert. They follow:

1. In what ways has she revealed her spiritual and moral strength in modern day living — for her home, for her church, for her community, and for the world in which she lives?

2. In what ways has she helped in developing and maintaining the total health and fitness (mental, emotional, physical and spiritual) of her family?

3. How well does she demonstrate her personal health and fitness through her attitudes, habits, appearance and physical well-being?

4. To what extent has she participated in civic and community affairs — local, state, national and international?

5. How well does she exemplify her ability in the management of the family resources of time and income in relation to family needs and goals?

6. To what extent has she demonstrated her skills in: a. preparing meals. b. clothing the family. c. appearance of home. d. housekeeping.

7. How does she create an atmosphere of love, respect and affection for effective family living?

8. How else has she demonstrated her abilities as a successful homemaker?

During the busy holiday season your family's apt to skip meals. Keep nourishing snack foods handy to supplement regular meals. Sandwiches prepared with enriched or whole grain breads and spread with protein-rich fillings of meat, fish, cheese, eggs or peanut butter are popular, quick-to-eat and highly nutritious choices.

OUTSTANDING JUDGES SELECTED TO PICK HOMEMAKER

JUDGE CLAYTON ROSE, Past President of the National Council of Juvenile Court Judges, and Franklin County Domestic Relations and Juvenile Court Judge since 1936. Judge Rose served as a Homemaker judge last year and was the only one to serve in this capacity a second year. He has been loud in his praise of this event.

DR. HAZEL K. STIEBELING, formerly Administrator, Agricultural Research Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture; Dr. Helen M. Starr, Director of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, Minneapolis Public [illegible].

DR. HELEN M. STARR'S academic achievements in the field of physical health are impressive. She has been a director of the Aqua Follies Water Ballet for 23 years. She is director of Health, Physical Education and Welfare of the Minneapolis Public Schools and is active in developing teaching aids.

DR. FREDA S. KEHM, Director of the Association for Family Living. She has had extensive service in work with women's organizations in the field of family living and is rated as one of the top women of America in her profession.

MRS. JOHN A. CAMPBELL has been active in the League of Women Voters since joining that organization in 1945. A native of Ohio, she served for five years, 1954-59, as state league president for her now home state of Indiana where her husband is a member of the faculty of Indiana University.

HOLIDAY EMPHASIS IN CLASSES ENDS COURSES AT LINCOLN PARK

"I STARTED CLASSES late," said Mrs. Lucille Smith, 695 Morrill-av, Apt. B, "and already have made casseroles and bread that my husband at first refused to believe I had done by myself." She didn't join the classes at first because she was not aware that she could bring her baby to cooking school with her.

When a Christmas party is held Wednesday, Dec. 13, at the Family Living Center, 1700 S. 20th-st at the Lincoln Park housing development, it will mark the closing of the first fall series of cooking and clothing classes held for adult homemakers.

Sponsored jointly by Columbus Metropolitan Housing and the Columbus Public Schools, the classes are designed to show how a woman through development of homemaking skills can raise the standard of living for her family within the limits set by her budget.

The cooking courses stress the use of commodity foods which are available to families of limited means, and the clothing classes give the instruction by which a mother can see her entire family dressed better than before at little cost.

Similar classes will again open the second week of January and be followed shortly by a course in home redecoration and furniture refinishing.

The classes which meet twice a week are open to any resident of Franklin County.

The project, which was initiated in Ohio last spring, has been greeted enthusiastically by the adult students.

As one of the first graduates last summer said, "I've always wanted to be a better homemaker, but had never before been."

WITH LESSONS BEING tied in with the Thanksgiving season, Mrs. Hester Barber, 683 Welch-av, puts the finishing touches on a holiday table at the Family Living Center at Lincoln Park Homes where she attends classes in Cooking with Commodity Foods and in Being A Gracious Hostess. The suet pudding, the Boston brown bread, and cranberry-oatmeal loaf were all prepared with commodity foods.

Will Dedicate Cannon To Late VFW Chaplain

A cannon will be dedicated Saturday, Nov. 30 at 1:30 p.m. honoring Alvin Robinson, who served Benson Hough Post No. 3424, Veterans of Foreign Wars, as chaplain.

The artillery cleaned and painted by a detail headed by Dan Pendleton, will be exhibited in front of the post, 2299 S. High.

The late Robinson who died at age 93 also served as chaplain emeritus for the state organization Cooties, an honor degree of VFW.

Preceding the dedication, M/Sgt. Cornelius Leach and his honor flight from Lockbourne AFB will present a drill exhibition.

Among prominent South Siders attending the ceremony are Councilman Bill Fornof, Ted Hysel city clerk and Judges William Brant and Bob Draper. State dignitaries will also be present.

If weather permits the dedication to be held outside, all South Siders are invited to attend.

Commander Paul Plunkett, past commanders, Post Sgt. James Kelly and Mike Donahue, Dan Pendleton and Senior Vice Commander Bill Mangum have all served on the ceremony committee.

MRS. CHARLES LONG

To Her, Homemaking Is All Things

By JANET MICHAEL

"Happiness Is Doing Things Together."

If you're ever out West Jefferson way, and you see a house painter perched atop a ladder on Taylor-Blair-rd — look again . . . it might be Kathryn Long!

Kathryn (Mrs. Charles Long, Jr.) is every inch a woman, but she can sure do a man's work. "When your husband works 60 hours a week there's not much time left for him to putter around, and besides I've always liked to work with my hands." Six years ago the Long family finally realized their dream of building their own home. "We didn't have much money, so we had to save on everything we could. That's when I took up house painting."

When the carpenters had nailed the last board down, the plasterers had smoothed the walls, and the plumber and electrician had completed their jobs, Charles and Kathryn took over. "We lived in a white walled home for a year and we loved it. What a wonderful feeling it is to have a home of your own." A porch the following year was an accomplishment done by the Longs, succeeded by a driveway and sidewalk, patio, TV room, garage.

Wife, mother, painter, beautician, seamstress, cook, nurse, maid, chauffeur, community worker, plumber, electrician and farmer are all rolled into one brunette, dark eyed homemaker. Kathryn is certainly breaking fair employment practice law, but this is what makes her happy.

"You keep busy, you feel better. Women who are always complaining of sickness usually are simply bored," is her practical philosophy.

The reward of doing a good job is not money. Kathryn learned this several weeks ago when she walked into the kitchen and found her husband writing a letter. When she inquired as to whom he was writing, he answered, "I can't tell you right now, you can read it later." A little perplexed, Kathryn went on with her sewing and soon forgot the matter.

The next morning she found a letter addressed to:

Suburban Homemaker
Hartley Newspapers
2465 W. Broad-st
Columbus, Ohio

What higher tribute could a man pay his wife? "I was so happy to think that my husband would pay me this compliment."

He confessed that he wanted to do this last year but just didn't get around to it. "As soon as I saw the contest in the paper," said Charles, "I began writing. I wasn't going to let this year slip by."

And slip by it didn't. The loving hours Kathryn had spent working for her family and others had not gone by unnoticed.

Since her childhood days, Kathryn had been a busy girl. Being one of 10 children (eight boys and two girls), she learned responsibility at an early age. Raising a family of that size was no easy job for Kathryn's mother, so while the boys helped on the farm, Kathryn was learning the arts of homemaking.

Some time ago Kathryn's mother was seriously injured in an automobile accident. Doctors told her she would never walk again. Today she is as active as ever. Kathryn attributes her recovery to her strong beliefs. "If I can have the outlook on life that my mother has, I'll feel very fortunate."

Kathryn and Charles began dating in high school. Following graduation, Kathryn took a beauty course and after passing her state board examination, she and Charles were married.

Later, Charles joined the Air Force, and the young couple spent the first part of their married life in Puerto Rico.

"I loved being there. The water was wonderful for swimming. I've always enjoyed being out-of-doors."

KATHRYN LONG has been a winner for a long time in her own home and community. Her family wished her well in the national competition at Chicago. Surrounding her are Mark, age three and one half; husband Charles; Marcia Ann, nine; and Michelle, eight.

Marcia, age nine, eldest of the couple's three children, was born in that country. A year late, Michelle followed, also born in Puerto Rico.

Following Charles' stint in the service, the young family moved back to West Jefferson.

Charles took a job at Darby Lane IGA Foodliner as supermarket manager, and Kathryn worked part time in a beauty shop. Although she believes "a woman's place is in the home, sometimes it is financially impossible.

"As soon as we got on our financial feet, I quit my job and got behind the apron. Now when the girls get home from school, I'm there to hear what they are 'just bubbling over' to tell me. If a mother works, some of the joy and excitement is all gone."

Already Marcia and Michelle are following in their mother's footsteps. Along with Kathryn's knack for sewing (she makes half of all their clothes), she also has a knack of patience.

"The girls have learned to make doll clothes and potholders. So often mothers take the attitude that they can do something better and faster than their children. Thereby they do not take the time to teach these vital tasks.

"One time when we were expecting company, Charles asked Marcia to make some cookies. I wish you could have seen her face as she passed the plate that evening. She was as proud as a peacock."

Kathryn has a unique idea for trying new recipes. Whenever she sees a recipe that sounds good she clips it from the paper and files it away. Each Saturday morning she selects a recipe and buys the ingredients for it along with her regular shopping. "I can't say that my family always enjoys the new dish, but they do look forward to it every week."

In addition to her own family, Kathryn looks after two other youngsters during the week. Her son Mark, age three and one-half, finds companionship with these children.

"I could say that Mark is shy and the children are helping him to overcome that," she commented, "but right away he would start showing off. It's best not to say anything about children his age. They invariably prove you to be a liar."

Kathryn isn't bound to her home all the time. With both the girls in Scout troops, she finds time to assist the leaders in their activities. Kathryn belonged to 4-H when she was a girl and strongly believes that "these organizations help prepare young people to be better adults."

The 34-year-old homemaker is also active in her Rebekah Lodge, in which she has been rummage sale chairman and served on the fund raising committee for the past six years.

She is also news reporter for the West Jefferson Community and Business Association; has served on the election board for two years; headed the queen committee three times for the West Jefferson ox roast; is group cap-

"GEE MOMMY, you can do anything," is the admiring look Mark gives Kathryn as she puts the finishing touches on a horse that will top his dresser. Ceramics is just one of Kathryn's many hobbies.

automatic oven cleaning that keeps your oven new clean

Save your hands . . . save your muscles . . . save the drudgery you spend in oven-cleaning!

The P-7 Oven—an exclusive feature built into new General Electric Ranges—actually cleans itself electrically! No messy chemicals, no hand-scrubbing, no wiping things on, then wiping them off. Your oven does the job itself.

Just set the selector dial to "CLEAN", set thermostat to "CLEAN", and set the timer. Then you latch the oven door. That's all you do!

P-7 takes over—using the same electricity that you use to cook your food. All the spatters, the roast drippings, the crusted-on pie juices and cheese spillings just disappear.

All that's left of the dirt is a fine white ash, about as much as one flick from a cigarette. Your oven will be spotlessly clean—even the corners and ridges you could never clean before!

The cost per cleaning?—far less than the chemicals you use now.

See this amazing new oven for yourself—and the other advanced features on General Electric Ranges. Stop in soon at your General Electric Dealer's—and see a demonstration you won't forget!

Custom range has smart, recessed top and squared-off corners, which give an attractive, "built-in" look. (Model J-796.)

Americana® range gives you 2 full ovens, including P-7 master oven. In a space only 30 inches wide. (Model J-798.)

MRS. OLIVER MOSHER

'Circumstances' Built Fine Family Life

By VIRGINIA WOLF

Mrs. Oliver (Oletta) Mosher is a woman who walks with one hand in the hand of God and the other extended to her fellow man. Because of this, she is one of Hartley Newspapers representatives for the National Homemaker of the Year award.

Mrs. Mosher, of 4009 Beechcreek-rd, Whitehall, is a study in paradoxy. She is a working mother who believes that a woman's place is in the home, and as a woman in a profession still thought of as a man's field. A mixture of native ability and life's "circumstances" have combined to add stars to the crown she wears as mother, wife, cook and seamstress in the home, and church, school and civic leader in the community.

There is an important area that bridges the two lives of Mrs. Mosher between the home and the community; the role over the past 14 years as family breadwinner. She is an associate engineer at North American Aviation — and that is an achievement. But the true measure of "Ollie" Mosher is learned from the story of her attainment of the achievement.

If she were more "worldly" famous, her life story would make excellent material for a Hollywood box-office hit. But her "fame," until now, has hardly extended into the next block. Hers is the "silent heroic" life built on a foundation of faith, family and fellowship.

Mrs. Mosher's nomination as homemaker of the year came about through a reflection of the love she has so generously bestowed upon others. It included a "second" but neither "nommator" knew that the other had placed Mrs. Mosher's name for consideration, nor did she know beforehand that either had taken the initiative.

Nominator for Mrs. Mosher was Mrs. M. C. Markham, 777 Pierce-av, Whitehall, who wrote in part:

"I know of no one who exhibits greater moral strength in her daily living. Her children are the best examples of this. They are the type of children each parent hopes her child will grow up to be. In addition, she teaches a group of adult ladies at Sunday School — extending her influence on moral standards the full spectrum of ages.

"In personal appearance, she always gives the impression of quiet, good taste and restraint. Her air of calmness never fails to soothe one when personal problems are presented to her.

"Having been both an expected and unexpected dinner guest at her home, I can verify her skills in preparing meals, and in the appearance of her home. No matter the hour or day one drops in, she is always her calm and composed self — and her house and children reflect this attitude."

And the "second" contained these words of tribute.

"Her family comes first before anything she desires for herself. She has reared three children and many times was the sole breadwinner due to her husband's illness.

"She took Red Cross Nursing and First Aid to better prepare herself for the task of caring for sickness. She cared for her invalid mother-in-law and now her own mother through several serious illnesses.

"A quiet, neat person, she is a good cook and seamstress,

All members of the Mosher family are enthused about the local homemaker winners, especially one, "Mother" Mosher. "She has done so much for other people, her being recognized in this contest is wonderful," said Mr. Oliver Mosher.

and her home is orderly and clean. But you may find dust for which she will not apologize—she will honestly say 'I had something more important to do than dust.'

"Yet quietly and without anyone knowing (sometimes not even her family) she helps those in need.

"It would require pages to write all the reasons my friend should be chosen, but Proverbs 31:28 says it better than I: 'Her children arise up, and call her blessed.' I'd like to nominate my dearest friend, Girl Scout advisor, former Sunday School teacher and Youth Director, but most important my Beloved Mother, to be Suburban Homemaker of the Year."

And if Mrs. Mosher was given an extra measure of honor by a double-nomination, it was only a preview of what was to follow once her name was published as a contest entrant. More than two dozen letters from proud friends, coworkers and neighbors have added testimony concerning her high spiritual character, graciousness, work ability and and community leadership.

A devout member of the Whitehall Baptist Church, she was endorsed by her pastor as "an active member of our church who is greatly appreciated and loved . . . In spite of health difficulties that would have caused most of us to despair, Mrs. Mosher is a radiant, outgoing person with wide interests and concerns."

A former pastor paid her a high compliment by recalling "one lesson which she taught on the Beatitudes on which I took notes and filed them." He added: "I feel the fact that she has reared three children who are well-mannered and have done quite well for themselves is significant."

There is no evidence of restraint on the part of her coworkers at North American Aviation in expressing their affection for their "Ollie." While each of the letters expressed individual thoughts concerning Mrs. Mosher's personality and work abilities, there were terms that were often repeated. Her "strong moral character" was perhaps referred to most often. She was termed cooperative, congenial, serene, willing to help others, kind, thoughtful, unselfish, faithful to her duties, sincere and as "a woman truly living life in a way we all wish to live."

The unprecedented number of supporting letters boosting her candidacy as Homemaker of the Year included commendation from her Senior Girl Scout Troop, Sunday School class, from a Whitehall policeman who had attended school with her oldest son, Ollie, and from a Bellefontaine, O., youth who had attended Ohio State University with the same son.

It is not surprising that the story of Mrs. Mosher's good works should come from others than herself. That is the way with people who live the True Christian Life. But Third member of the Mosher family is Ralph, age 21. He is a storekeeper 3rd Class at Great Lakes Naval Station.

Oletta Mosher's finest testimony is to be found in her basic philosophy — in sincere, direct and uncomplicated responses she gives to all questions.

She candidly admits that the decision to become a working mother was the hardest choice of her life. It was made in the spring of 1949 when her husband, Oliver, was stricken with rheumatoid arthritis. (Bedridden for the first year, he was able to work only spasmodically until two years ago).

An example of Mrs. Mosher's basic philosophy is evidenced in her reasons for seeking employment outside the home. Said Mrs. Mosher:

"My own self-respect and the example being set before my children were uppermost in my mind, and after many prayers and tears I left my little ones to join the throng of working mothers. God blessed my decision and I progressed from factory worker to clerk, from clerk to tracer-detailer then to junior draftsman, senior draftsman and now, associate engineer-computing."

Mrs. Mosher's youngest child was only 18 months old when she began working, her oldest son was eight years old. It was not an easy life.

"I missed many a baby smile, many firsts; failed to be there to kiss away the hurts and bumps. All those things can never be recaptured but the happy smiles on my return in the evening, the playing of games, doing dishes together, helping the boys deliver Sunday papers so we wouldn't be late for Sunday School helped erase the heartaches of leaving them. They helped me to overcome and I thank God for them and for the strength He gave me to carry on in many situations that seemed unsurmountable."

HOLIDAY EMPHASIS IN CLASSES ENDS COURSES AT LINCOLN PARK

When a Christmas party is held Wednesday, Dec. 13, at the Family Living Center, 1700 S. 20th-st at the Lincoln Park housing development, it will mark the closing of the first fall series of cooking and clothing classes held for adult homemakers.

Sponsored jointly by Columbus Metropolitan Housing and the Columbus Public Schools, the classes are designed to show how a woman through development of homemaking skills can raise the standard of living for her family within the limits set by her budget.

The cooking courses stress the use of commodity foods which are available to families of limited means, and the clothing classes give the instruction by which a mother can see her entire family dressed better than before at little cost.

Similar classes will again open the second week of January and be followed shortly by a course in home redecoration and furniture refinishing.

The classes which meet twice a week are open to any resident of Franklin County.

The project, which was initiated in Ohio last spring, has been greeted enthusiastically by the adult students.

Will Dedicate Cannon To Late VFW Chaplain

A cannon will be dedicated Saturday, Nov. 30 at 1:30 p.m. honoring Alvin Robinson, who served Benson Hough Post No. 3424, Veterans of Foreign Wars, as chaplain.

The artillery cleaned and painted by a detail headed by Dan Pendleton, will be exhibited in front of the post, 2299 S. High.

The late Robinson who died at age 93 also served as chaplain emeritus for the state organization Cooties, an honor degree of VFW.

Preceding the dedication, M/Sgt. Cornelius Leach and his honor flight from Lockbourne AFB will present a drill exhibition.

Among prominent South Siders attending the ceremony are Councilman Bill Fornof, Ted Hysel city clerk and Judges William Brant and Bob Draper. State dignitaries will also be present.

If weather permits the dedication to be held outside, all South Siders are invited to attend.

Commander Paul Plunkett, past commanders, Post Sgt. James Kelly and Mike Donahue, Dan Pendleton and Senior Vice Commander Bill Mangum have all served on the ceremony committee.

Spiritual Security Binds This Family

By BETTY DAFT

A foundation made firm with spiritual security, walled about with love, warmed with laughter and roofed with tolerance and understanding . . .

This is the home that Frances Fannon makes at 858 Stephen-dr W., for husband, Bob, and the five little Fannons—Vicky, Michael, David and Douglas, and baby Marjorie Ann, two months.

There's a family hootenanny nearly every night, with Frances at the piano and Bob at the mandolin, and everyone joining in the familiar songs.

There are also family devotions, after dinner, dishes and homework are done. "This sets the day right for us, somehow," she says.

The day is a long one for Frances Fannon, starting always with a big, hot breakfast. "This is about our favorite meal," she says in the soft, musical accent that reveals her Atlanta background.

There's a busy lunchtime with the four older children home from nearby Binns Elementary, and then there is housework and laundry, and baby care.

But there's always time in her efficient, organized day.

After the house is shining and orderly there's time to bake nearly every day, for each evening's dinner is something special, always including salad and dessert. And there is time to extend the family's horizon beyond home, with church work and participation in each of their special interests.

"She's teaching me to read music now," Bob said. "And she's a fine darkroom assistant—develops film and makes prints like a real professional.

"She not only encourages my hobbies, but takes them on herself, helping out with them. I read a half dozen books on photography this summer, starting us on this hobby."

Frances lists cooking as her chief hobby. "I love to cook, and I bake something nearly every day."

She is constantly trying new recipes, keeping meals varied and interesting. The big, cheerful Fannon kitchen is a happy place and mealtimes are bright spots in the family's day.

And the healthy Fannons reflect the care and attention she lavishes on nutritious, interesting and well-balanced meals.

"She's a really good cook," Bob said. "Leisurely breakfasts, with homemade hot breads and rolls on weekends, start our day off right.

"And she manages our money as carefully as she does our meals. There are many things we have that we would never own if Frances wasn't such a careful shopper and good manager."

Her ways of management are a source of wonder to her family as well as her friends. "She found time," Bob explained, "to take the kids to the swimming pool every day last summer, and still keeps the house clean and orderly."

Her church work at Hillcrest Baptist takes as much of her time as she can spare from home. "I don't belong to a lot of organizations," she explains earnestly, "because I don't have enough time to devote to them. I don't want to 'just belong' to groups. I want to contribute something, or not belong at all."

Her sincere belief that, "You get out of anything exactly as much as you put in," extends to her children's interests, too.

She was a co-leader of Vicky's Girl Scout Troop last year, and taught the girls to knit. "They were only nine," she said laughingly, "and it was quite a job. But they all managed quite well."

The "part of herself" Frances puts into Hillcrest Baptist Church has been as treasurer of the Missionary Society, treasurer of the Grace Circle, and membership on the nominating committee.

She taught the High School Sunday School Class last year, and she and Bob were sponsors of the Baptist Youth Fellowship Group.

"She also sews," Bob said, "and makes many of Vicky's clothes."

"Only special things, that you can't find easily," Frances answers. "Most things can be bought cheaper than you can make them. But I do make drapes and household things—these, I believe, are a real savings when you buy them.

LITTLEST FANNON of them all is Margery Ann, two months. Mealtimes are happy times for the whole family, and the baby is no exception.

"And I always like to make something for the children for Christmas. Last year, it was a sweater for Vicky and reversible vests for the boys.

"I enjoy knitting things for the family—socks and ties for Bob, sweaters for the kids."

Surveying the home Frances is making for her family, and the life she charts for them, Bob speaks with gratitude of her gaiety and sweetness, and her generosity with affection.

"She's always behind me pushing; she's always been an inspiration. Sometimes she disagrees with me, when I'd really rather she agreed—but I'm better off for it

"She endures my bowling, as she does all my interests, and is patient with me and the evenings I'm away from home."

Frances and Bob, both from Atlanta, Ga., were married soon after she finished school at Agnes Scott in Decatur, Ga. She worked for a year at the Telephone Co., helping Bob finish school at Georgia Tech.

After his graduation with a mechanical engineering degree the couple moved to Springfield, Ill., where Bob worked at Allis-Chalmers. Vicky was born during their two-year stay there.

From there they went to Washington, D.C., for three years. This is Douglas' birthplace

For the past seven years they have lived in Columbus where Bob works as a mechanical engineer at Battelle Memorial Institute.

Their roots have grown deep into the community during their years in the city. Douglas, David and Michael are in the sixth, fourth, and

Last Year's Homemaker Tells How She Used $5000 Prize

A trip to Europe and continuation of college studies were made possible for Mrs. R. V. Haverkamp of Park Forest, Ill, chosen in 1962 as the National Suburban Homemaker of the Year.

Her grand prize was the American Dairy Association Award of $5,000.

Commenting on the second annual Suburban Homemaker Search, Mrs. Haverkamp said, "It is gratifying that someone in this day and age wants to honor and award the homemaker for her unsung but very meaningful contribution to family and community life."

Although greatly enriched, Gretchen Haverkamp's life was little changed by becoming the National Suburban Homemaker of the Year. There were the usual family and social activities, her work with the church, and the resumption of her duties as Park Forest Village clerk.

With summer came plans for the four-week European tour which the Haverkamps planned themselves, bypassing the sterotyped tour, their own special itinerary included several large cities with visits to parts of the adjacent countryside.

The busy mother of three has now resumed her day-to-day household routine, plus the pursuit of studies toward a degree in English at Chicago's Roosevelt University, a dream interrupted by her homemaking career.

In looking back on the past year, the national title holder has in addition to her trip abroad many pleasant memories of her experiences during the Suburban Homemaker of the Year Search, and an effort to honor and to recognize the special contribution of the suburban woman to family and community life.

Highlights of the year for winner Gretchen Haverkamp go back to that exciting day in November with its memories of TV, radio and press interviews. "And especially to the graciousness of the other finalists, women from all over the country, who extended the warmth of friendship with the hand of congratulations" she recalls.

This November a new National Suburban Homemaker of the Year will be chosen. For one of the nominees there awaits another American Dairy Association Award of $5,000 which will mean the fulfillment of dreams for the 1963 winner.

Mrs. Fridley Is Good For Community

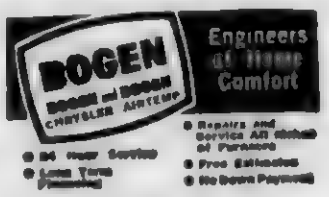
I would like to nominate Mrs. Howard Fridley for Suburban Homemaker of the Year. Today the role of homemaker deals not only with the home but also with the community and the good of the community.

Mrs. Fridley, Bertha, as she is known, is an active member of the Hopewell Methodist Church, founder of our church choir, office holder of the Women's Society of Christian Service, member of a local homemaking group, the Hem, Hash and Hobby Club, where they meet and discuss nutrition, home decoration and living. She is also a member of the PTA where she has held the office of secretary and she is advisor for our MYF.

If there is ever any problem, you know who to call. She's always ready to listen and help. Whether it's the baking to be done for a church supper, a sewing problem that can't be figured out, or a needy family in the community that may be forgotten at Christmas, she's never too busy or too tired to help.

In 1958 she lost a son, age six, who died with leukemia. In this time of crisis, she kept her family together using the strong band of faith that God has given her.

Mrs. Fridley is truly a wonderful woman and truly deserving of the Homemaker Award.



Thank You,
Miss P. A. Welch

The adage "you only get out of something what you put into it" certainly applies to home baking. Now that Christmas baking projects are under way remind yourself to use only the highest quality, most wholesome ingredients — such as enriched flour. Enriched flour is high in essential B-vitamins and the mineral iron required daily for good health.

MRS. ROBERT GUTHEIL

'Good Welcome' Part Of Family's Life

By MIDGE DeWITT

From the welcoming tail wag of Brandy, the family collie, to the final goodbye wave from ten happy people, a visit to the Gutheil home is a rare experience.

Even the family name, Gutheil, shouts it to you for Gutheil in German means "Good Welcome."

Betty and Bob Gutheil have been married 17 years and in that time have produced eight lovely, lively children, have carved a productive life for the ten of them from a 270-acre farm and by doing numerous other jobs, and have learned the secret of a happy life

Betty Jean Gutheil's appearance belies the fact that she is the mother of eight children ranging in age from one to 16. Her snapping black eyes have been handed down to all eight of her children. Dad is the only family member whose eyes are blue and he says he "always kept hoping that at least one of the children would keep the blue eyes they had at birth."

The Gutheil children are warm, responsive and responsible. Each one has his own duties and his own desires. They are different in personality but they seem to have a common purpose—to get the most and the best from life by giving the most and best of themselves.

Carol, whose letter of nomination won her mother the title, "Suburban Homemaker of the Year" is a junior at Teays Valley School where she is preparing for college. Her younger sisters, Judy, 13, Susan, 10, and Sally, seven, point with pride to Carol's second place ribbon for dressmaking, won at the County Fair.

The three younger girls attend Ashville schools and are engrossed in their Brownie and Girl Scout activities. In showing all the conveniences of the home, one of the girls explained that Dad was the only one who had his own bathroom. "What a luxury," we exclaimed "It's not a luxury to me," she returned. "My job is cleaning bathrooms."

When asked why none of the bedroom chests had knobs on the bottom drawers the answer came back, "The older girls removed them to keep the toddlers out."

Mary Jo, six, was the victim of a near tragedy last summer when she was badly burned from an explosion of model airplane cement that had been put into the trash burner. She has already had four operations and must look forward to continuing plastic surgery until she reaches her full growth.

Betty Gutheil visited her every day for the 63 days she was in critical condition at Columbus Children's Hospital. The expenses connected with this are mounting rapidly and Betty says, "Only God knows how we will manage in the future." Her tone leaves no doubt that somehow this obstacle, too, can be overcome.

When asked what effect the accident had on the family, Carol replied with wisdom beyond her years, "We have all learned that one insignificant, thoughtless or careless act can cause years of suffering."

The "Rose" of the family is one year old and contentedly pushes a tractor across the floor with all the proper noises.

The two young gentlemen Gutheils are Richard, 12, and Johnny, three. Richard drives the tractor, makes and sells plaster figures, markets his own sweet corn and tomatoes and proudly displays two blue ribbons for his prize hogs.

Each child has his own chores to do and receives an allowance in proportion to the skill of fulfilling his responsibility. And, here again, Betty's ingenious mind goes to work. She has devised a system of "fines." If a task is left undone, another child can perform the task and collect a fine. As Betty says, "Out of their allowance they must pay their dues to various groups and donate to our church. So they can't afford many fines." After the children become proficient, they trade chores to increase their skills.

Each Sunday morning the Gutheils worship together, occupying a whole row, in St Matthew's Lutheran Church in Lockbourne.

The Gutheil home is clear evidence of what can be done when skill and love work together. Five years ago when they bought the property near Lockbourne, it was an unmodernized 100 - year - old house. Today it has seven bedrooms, five full or partial bathrooms, front and back porches, a living room, din-

Ten happy Gutheils all in a row. Seated in front of the new fireplace in their 100 year old home are Johnny, 3, Mary Jo, 6, Sally, 7, Susan, 10, Richard, 12, Judy, 13 Carol 16, Mother, Dad and baby, Rose.

Carol Gutheil, junior at Teays Valley High School, re-enacts the writing of the letter that won her mother the title "Suburban Homemaker of the Year." Dad looks on approvingly.

Takes a heap of cookin' in a house to feed ten hungry people every day. Betty takes her favorite Oatmeal Cake from the oven as Sally and Richard look on in anticipation of a feast fit for a king.

RUNNERS UP

Mrs. Chavis Is Regarded As Good Nominee

I am writing in regards to my nominee.

She is a very warm, lovely person in many ways. Although she has suffered many hardships and disappointments, always she has been strong.

In church and civic matters she works very hard. And her family is being guided with love and intellect toward service to their fellow beings.

Her family loves and respects her judgments in all matters and they feel free to discuss problems with her for through her their rewards have been many.

Simple but neat in dress, she is very busy in the home and outside.

Although supervising a nine-room home and six school-age children, she still finds time to attend night school to further her own education.

She participates in many school activities whenever she is called upon; and her children's grades are attributed to this.

There have been many times when her husband's financial condition has been very grave, but she has always looked on the brighter side and given him strength.

She has always prepared delicious and economical meals and her family is healthy in mind and body. The home is immaculate and tastefully furnished and everyone is well received.

There is joy and an abundance of happiness in this home and the love and care she gave her dear mother constantly all through and to the very end of her life was a wonderful thing to behold.

Thus, she still keeps intact the foundation for togetherness in her home.

My nominee is Mrs. Marlene Chavis, 574 S. Wilson-av.

Thank you,
Mrs. Bernice Johnson

Contestants Are Interviewed At Chicago Meet

The tenseness was evident in the air during the National Suburban Homemaker Conference as the judges met, interviewed and discussed each contestant. The judges had met the ladies earlier through information supplied by each newspaper represented.

Questionnaires had been sent by the Suburban Press Foundation to be filled in by each local winner. This information included data on members of the family, affiliations with community and religious groups, education, income, homemaking practices and goals.

The questionnaire, together with the original letter of nomination and a photograph of the winning homemaker were then forwarded to the national judges who came together before the opening of the Suburban Homemaker Conference.

While the conference was in session, each local winner was called out of the session, one at a time, for a personal interview with the judges.

At the conclusion of these interviews the judges selected the national winner and the three runners-up.

At 11 a.m. on Friday, Nov. 22, the award presentation of the title "Suburban Homemaker of 1963" was made along with the check for $5,000 and the plaque. The event was covered by live television and radio.

Jan. 29, 1877, Congress named an electoral commission to decide the outcome of the Hayes - Tilden contest for president.

Will Dedicate Cannon To Late VFW Chaplain

A cannon will be dedicated Saturday, Nov. 30 at 1:30 p.m. honoring Alvin Robinson, who served Benson Hough Post No. 3424, Veterans of Foreign Wars, as chaplain.

The artillery cleaned and painted by a detail headed by Dan Pendleton, will be exhibited in front of the post, 2299 S. High.

The late Robinson who died at age 93 also served as chaplain emeritus for the state organization Cooties, an honor degree of VFW.

Preceding the dedication, M/Sgt. Cornelius Leach and his honor flight from Lockbourne AFB will present a drill exhibition.

Among prominent South Siders attending the ceremony are Councilman Bill Fornof, Ted Hysel city clerk and Judges William Brant and Bob Draper. State dignitaries will also be present.

If weather permits the dedication to be held outside, all South Siders are invited to attend.

Commander Paul Plunkett, past commanders, Post Sgt. James Kelly and Mike Donahue, Dan Pendleton and Senior Vice Commander Bill Mangum have all served on the ceremony committee.

HOLIDAY EMPHASIS IN CLASSES ENDS COURSES AT LINCOLN PARK

When a Christmas party is held Wednesday, Dec. 13, at the Family Living Center, 1700 S. 20th-st at the Lincoln Park housing development, it will mark the closing of the first fall series of cooking and clothing classes held for adult homemakers.

Sponsored jointly by Columbus Metropolitan Housing and the Columbus Public Schools, the classes are designed to show how a woman through development of homemaking skills can raise the standard of living for her family within the limits set by her budget.

The cooking courses stress the use of commodity foods which are available to families of limited means, and the clothing classes give the instruction by which a mother can see her entire family dressed better than before at little cost.

Similar classes will again open the second week of January and be followed shortly by a course in home redecoration and furniture refinishing.

The classes which meet twice a week are open to any resident of Franklin County.

The project, which was initiated in Ohio last spring, has been greeted enthusiastically by the adult students.

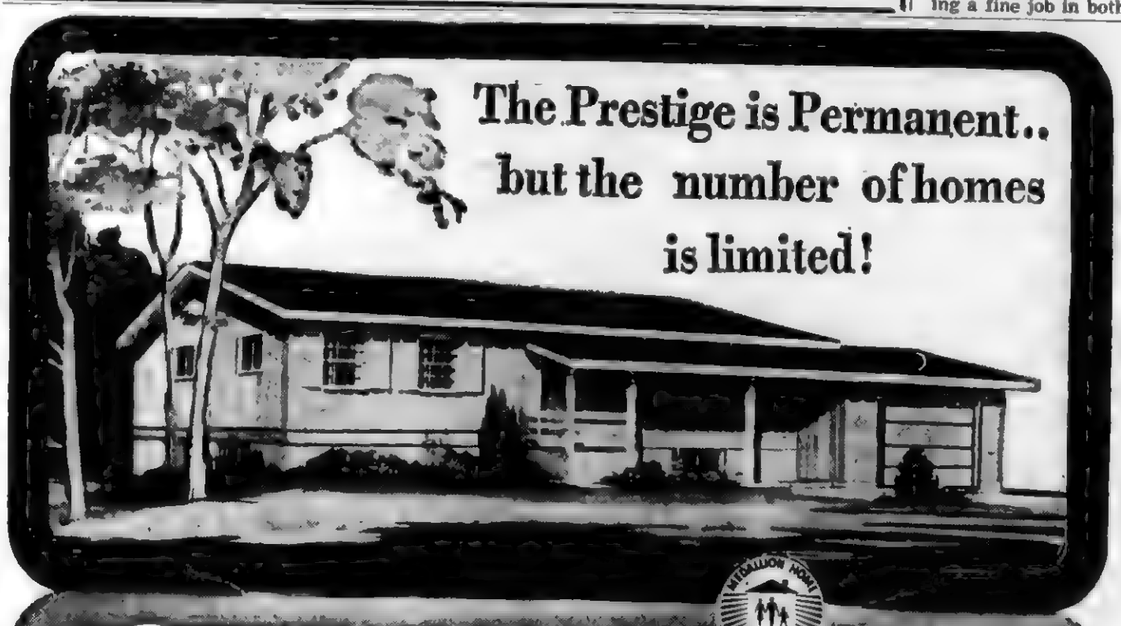
Last Year Contestant Wrote Letter

Mrs. Oliver Tallman, 3306 Stephen-dr, winner of the title "Suburban Homemaker of 1962," submitted the following letter of nomination.

Louise Gregory came into our lives two years ago when she volunteered to help with our scout troop which was desperate for an assistant leader. She was so much appreciated then and now. She is a joy to work with, giving her opinions as she believes and sharing any work wholeheartily. This summer she was camp nurse at Darby Day Camp. Next year she will be co-chairman of Special Sales for this Girl Scout Neighborhood.

Louise serves her church, Westgate Methodist, as a Sunday School teacher and was in charge of their Vacation Bible School this summer, doing a fine job in both because she loves her Lord and His children.

Last year she was in charge of the Parent and Family Life Study Group at Binns School, planning and carrying through programs that were not only informative but interesting. Her work was so appreciated she was asked to hold the same position this year, and we are looking forward to these study groups.



Louise and Dan Gregory have three wonderful children, Danny, who is a seventh grader at Hilltonia Junior High and plays clarinet in the school band. Eleanore is a fourth grader at Binns School and a Girl Scout. Bobby is in the second grade at Binns and has had to call upon his mother's nursing talents several times this last two years, each time she showed her intelligence, patience and training she received in becoming a registered nurse and also the love and understanding she received when she became a mother.

Both Louise and Dan have had the Hilltop YMCA as a project, doing what they can to further its progress.

Louise takes pride in her home and in herself. She is always attractive whether in slacks for a hike with a troop or dressed for church or a meeting.

This last two years have flown by and by being so closely associated with Louise it has been a happy two years because, you know, she is My Friend.

Flowers Bloom All Year In Home Greenhouse

Would you like to have flowers all winter? You can have them with a small home greenhouse. But, will the greenhouse be plastic or glass? Will you build it yourself or have it done by contract? Con you heat it from the house furnace or need a separate heater? Will construction be the lean-to or free-standing type?

These and scores of other questions are answered in "The Home Greenhouse," a correspondence course of six lessons offered by The Pennsylvania State University. It deals with building sites and types of construction, heating and ventilating, building materials and sash greenhouses. There's a lesson on general greenhouse management. The last lesson explains growing snapdragons, carnations and chrysanthemums as cut flowers and with African violets, geraniums and chrysanthemums as potted plants.

To get the complete course write to Correspondence Courses, 202 Agricultural Education Building, University Park, Pennsylvania, 16802. Include your name and address and $1.50, the registration fee. Make checks payable to The Pennsylvania State University.

Lessons will be mailed promptly, prepaid. Studying can be at your convenience, because there's no time limit on completion.

Husband Has Fine Letter About Wife

I would like to submit the name of Juanita Willoughby as Suburban Homemaker of the Year.

She does nothing spectacular except keep the house, do the washing and ironing, keep tabs on two small children, ages two and four, not to mention the dog.

Her regular day begins no later than 7 a.m. She makes sure that the three school age children are all washed and dressed in clean ironed clothes.

When the school age children have gone, she sees that the smaller children have breakfast and then starts her normal day of homemaking.

When the school age children get home, she starts getting ready for work. Of course, this is no problem since she has whiled away the hours through the day.

She leaves the house at 5:45 p.m. and works standing on her feet until she gets home at 3:30 a.m. Then she does nothing but sleep until 7 a.m. when the routine starts all over again.

She has worked outside the home for nearly all of her married life, except for the time she was loafing in the hospital to have her children, five in all.

For the past 17 years she has been married, and until recently she was active in her church, singing in the choir and was an officer in her Sunday School class, but because of the hours involved she has had to cut down.

The only thing left to mention is that she is my wife and we normally love each other very much.

P.S. She also served as PTA president for three years.

QUEEN Betty Gutheil . . .

ing room and a locked office for Dad.

Bob Gutheil has provided a good life for his large family through hard work and an enterprising mind. One of his ventures provided all the furniture in the home, except those heritage pieces that have been in Betty's family for many years. Bob had the opportunity to buy two truck loads of damaged merchandise, so he removed everything his growing family needed, rented a storeroom in the city and sold what he did not need. Thus began his "second job" that of owning and managing a second hand store. He also handles rental property as an extra source of income.

The decor of the Gutheil home is comfortable and meticulously clean. It is sparked with an old player piano, Betty's collection of Hummel and French bisque figures, many of which have been family treasures, a hundred-year-old metal disc-playing phonograph and books.

Every child has his own case of books in his bedroom. Carol is currently reading Churchill's "The War Years" and the complete works of Shakespeare. The younger children are mystery story fans and read widely according to their special interests. Betty reads law books in her spare time. Each member owns his own Bible and they all look well used.

You might believe that tending a huge home, nourishing the bodies and minds of eight curious children, sewing, canning, driving a tractor when needed, helping in all the scouting activities of every child, serving as PTA president and church nursery teacher would fill Betty's schedule to the brim. But, she has somehow managed also to paint the interior of the house, draw all the initial-to-scale plans for the remodeling and for the additions, helped in the actual remodeling, and refinished the furniture.

Betty frankly states why they left the trouble-clogged city. "We had six children at the time and knew that it would be hard as they continued to grow to always know where they were and what they were doing. Here, outside the city, they can bring friends home and play without fear of disturbing someone else."

Betty, however, is not bounded by her large yard and her own responsibilities. She extends into what needs to be done in her community by taking an active interest in legislation, in community betterment, and a personal interest in everyone with whom she has any contact. She worked 16 months to aid in the release of an elderly acquaintance from a mental institution, and she has written to the governor on voting rights being abused and the situation was corrected. Once she took in a young girl whose mother had died and left her with no home.

What she has become shows clearly in her bright eyes, and her whole manner breathes exuberance.

Already the children are talking about Christmas when they all sing carols for Bounce, the older man who helps Mr. Gutheil on the farm. He lives alone several hundred yards away from the house in his own trailer.

Their eyes sparkle as they recall other Christmases with the two dining tables extended to welcome 25.

They take you outside by the hand and show you the fireplace that a century ago was used by a blacksmith and which now often serves as a place for a dozen extra Scouts to roast hot dogs.

Add to the 10 happy Gutheils all the Scout troops that visit, all the pets, Susan's wild ducks, Charley, George and Albert, the cats, the goldfish, and the turtle, Polka Dot. Stir generously with love and the deep desire to give, and you have all the makings of a home in the highest American tradition.

Betty sees her job as a homemaker in these terms: "to give my children the education and the desire to stand on their own two feet no matter what problems life presents to them and to help them live a Christian life the best they can."

She sums up her role as a wife wisely, "to make a home my husband prefers to come home to."

Bob and Betty Gutheil have reversed the trend of country boy moving to the city. Both grew up in the city and Bob's only farm training came from a six-weeks short course at a nearby university. They have reversed the idea of the small American family. They are real pioneers in the most adventuresome meaning of the word.

Mother ponders a point of law. Betty Gutheil's choice in reading after a full day of caring for her large family is her Bible or a book of law.

All 10 Gutheils are shining evidence of the truth that a spirit of exploration, forgetting about a 40 hour week, good hard work, and healthful living and loving are the prime necessities of a productive home. Toward this goal Betty Gutheil guards and guides her family well.

Just a couple of cut ups! Mother and daughter, Carol, who won second prize for dress making at the Pickway County Fair, pattern a new dress for mother. Betty is currently studying a course in sewing woolens.

Thanksgiving Day will be a happier, more meaningful day...

for a "thank-you visit" to your Church or Synagogue ——

IT's a story we all know and love—the first Pilgrim Thanksgiving. The excitement in their little homes must have been pretty much as it is today—the tantalizing smells of roast turkey and pumpkin pie—the bustle and rush of eager children—it must have been a wonderful day!

But before the Pilgrims sat down to their feast they observed the true meaning of Thanksgiving. They all gathered together in their meetinghouse to give thanks for the good they had received, for survival through a long year of hardship, and to pray for the strength and courage to keep their faith in this strange, new land.

This Thanksgiving, why not take your family to your house of worship. A quiet hour of prayer and thanks will make your holiday so much more meaningful.

Wherever you are . . . whatever your beliefs may be . . . take time to offer your words of thanks . . . just as the Pilgrims did more than 300 years ago.

Find the strength for your life.

QUEEN Kathryn Long . . .

BEING A LICENSED beautician, Kathryn is able to give the girls a professional hairdo. Here Michelle is about to get a permanent as Marcia looks on. Some time is set aside every Saturday night for pin-ups, and Sunday morning, the young debs go to church in style.

"I'LL PIN the hem, and you may stitch it." Marcia is eagerly learning to sew and cook through the patient teachings of her mother.

tain for the First Baptist Church Sunday School class; belongs to the neighborhood Bunco Club, and is in charge of PTO publicity.

Sounds as if Kathryn could star in an old-time movie, with her apparent "mad rush" schedule. However the heroine of our story retains a dignity of calmness that is about as scarce as elephant sneakers.

In order to keep this calmness, Kathryn works with her hands during her spare time. An example of her craftsmanship is evident in a chair she reupholstered. "My sister-in-law nearly threw that chair away (pointing to a corner of the living room). I decided to be a Mrs. Fix-it."

Kathryn also works with ceramics, but she enjoys herself most when she is working out-of-doors. In the summer, her green thumb becomes apparent as she tends to her flower and vegetable garden. Being the thrifty gal that she is, Kathryn cans fruits and vegetables for the winter months.

And speaking of winter, this young woman with an ageless heart is probably the envy of many a modern day woman. Last year she had a great time when she joined her children in making a snowman! "I do everything I want to if it is financially possible. I still want to learn to ski and sky dive."

When asked about her bowling ability, Kathryn grinned, "Let's just say I bowl at it."

Not having much time together through the week, "something special" is planned every Sunday. Following family worship at the West Jefferson First Baptist Church, the Longs head for the hills, a lake, a zoo or just a scenic drive through southern Ohio. "It's heartwarming to see how much the children enjoy the good things in life, such as looking for flowers and acorns in a woods somewhere."

When Kathryn was asked what she considered the most important thing in creating a happy home life, she answered, "Doing things together."

When asked what she would study if she were to enroll in college, she answered, "Home economics."

We think Kathryn could very easily teach home economics. In fact we give her the honorary title of Dr. Kathryn Long, LPU, expert in Love, Patience and Understanding.

Europeans have a charming Christmas custom you may wish to adopt as a tradition in your family. Hang gaily decorated Christmas cookies out of doors on tree branches. The cookies look so festive and provide a special holiday treat for all the birds in your neighborhood — to both you and your children's delight.

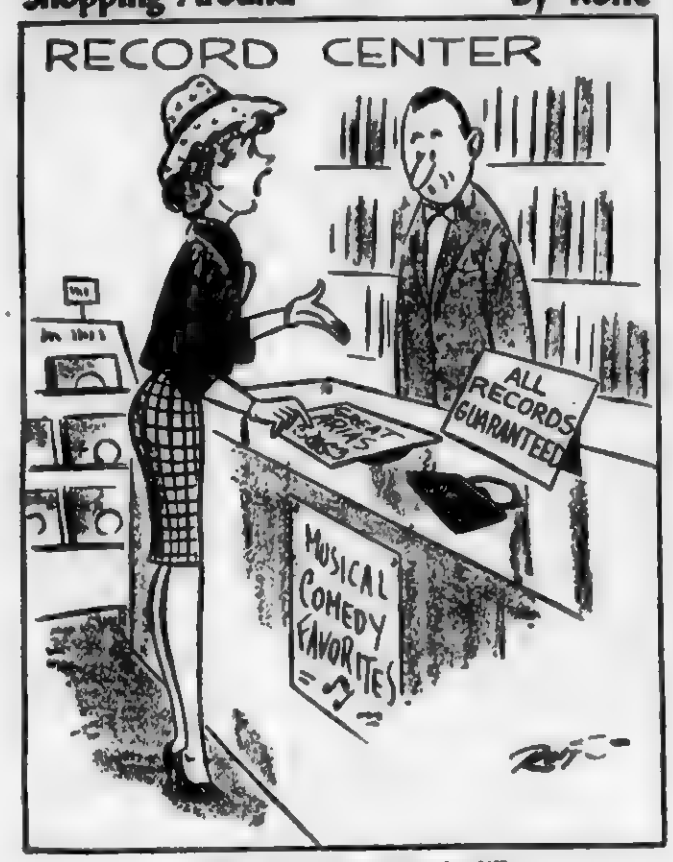
second grades, and kindergarten, respectively, at Binns Elementary.

And friendships have grown during the years. "Frances is sort of a consultant to the neighborhood," Bob says laughingly. "Her friends come to her often to talk over problems, and ask advice when their children are hurt or ill.

"I think," he continued, "we've found our home here. We really like Columbus."



A TASTE of chocolate cake batter is fine — especially when mama isn't looking. Michael is a kindergarten student at Binns Elementary. Mrs. Fannon finds time to bake nearly every day, supplying her family with desserts every evening, and homemade rolls or coffee cake for breakfast.

Choose sturdy containers for packaging Christmas cookies for mailing — empty shortening or coffee cans are excellent. Spread popped popcorn generously over the bottom of the container to insulate against the bumps and bruises of mailing, then line it thoroughly with waxed paper. Wrap the cookies individually and pack one layer deep. Top the cookie layer with waxed paper and cardboard, then continue adding layers of cookies, waxed paper and cardboard till the container is filled. Add a top layer of popcorn. If you're using a non-metal container such as a cardboard box, wrap it with corrugated cardboard before adding the brown paper outer wrap.

Christmas will last throughout the entire winter when you have an assortment of holiday yeast breads in the freezer. Wrap the cooled, unsliced and undecorated breads in aluminum foil, labeling plainly. Most yeast breads can be stored in the freezer up to three months. Thaw and warm the breads in a moderate oven (350°F.) for about 20 minutes. Then ice or decorate them as desired.

Shopping Around — By Rolfe

"The tenor was cracked!"

Here's an extravagantly beautiful Christmas cake. Prepare a basic white or yellow cake, adding one teaspoon vanilla extract and one-fourth teaspoon black walnut flavoring to the batter. Bake in round pans. Split the layers and fill with fluffy white frosting with raisins and chopped walnuts folded in. Swirl plain frosting over the sides and top. Then ring the top of the cake with a Della Robbia wreath of marzipan candy fruits.

Sunny Coffee Cake

Buttery-rich, delicately orange-flavored Sunny Coffee Cake brings holiday festiveness to your breakfast table any season of the year. It's prepared like muffin batter to go from mixing bowl to oven in minutes.

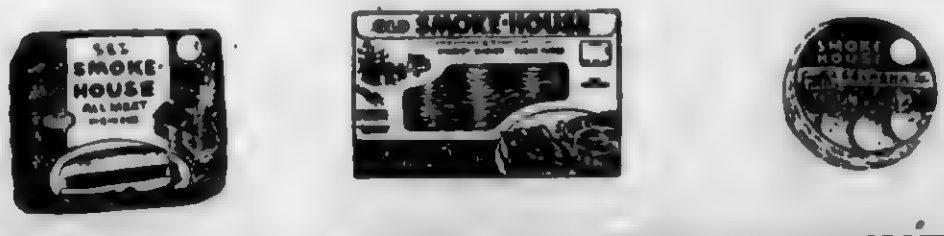
After baking the attractive ring-shaped cake "gild" it a bit with an easy icing. Allow the icing to drip decoratively down the sides of the cake for a professional touch. For crunchy goodness sprinkle chopped nuts over the icing.

Whenever you serve your family home-baked coffee cakes and other flour products prepared from enriched flour you're also adding essential nutrients to their meals. Enriched flour contains three B-vitamins and the mineral iron — all vital daily for good health and lasting pep and vitality.

SUNNY COFFEE CAKE

2½ cups sifted enriched flour*
½ cup sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
¾ cup milk
1 egg, beaten
⅓ cup butter or margarine, melted
1 cup confectioners' sugar
2 tablespoons milk
2 tablespoons chopped nuts

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Stir in orange rind. Combine ¾ cup milk, egg and butter or margarine. Add liquid ingredients to dry ingredients, stirring only until well blended. Pour into well-greased 5 ½-cup ring mold. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 30 to 35 minutes. Cool on rack about 5 minutes. Loosen edges with spatula, invert and remove from pan. Stir confectioners' sugar and 2 tablespoons milk until smooth. Spread over top of cake. Sprinkle with chopped nuts. Makes one ring-shaped coffee cake.



*If you don't sift and in the absence of other directions, spoon flour directly from container into dry measuring cup, level off, then remove two level tablespoonfuls, according to USDA recommendations.

QUEEN Kathryn Long . . .

BEING A LICENSED beautician, Kathryn is able to give the girls a professional hairdo. Here Michelle is about to get a permanent as Marcia looks on. Some time is set aside every Saturday night for pin-ups, and Sunday morning, the young debs go to church in style.

"I'LL PIN the hem, and you may stitch it." Marcia is eagerly learning to sew and cook through the patient teachings of her mother.

tain for the First Baptist Church Sunday School class; belongs to the neighborhood Bunco Club, and is in charge of PTO publicity.

Sounds as if Kathryn could star in an old-time movie, with her apparent "mad rush" schedule. However the heroine of our story retains a dignity of calmness that is about as scarce as elephant sneakers.

In order to keep this calmness, Kathryn works with her hands during her spare time. An example of her craftsmanship is evident in a chair she reupholstered. "My sister-in-law nearly threw that chair away (pointing to a corner of the living room). I decided to be a Mrs. Fix-it."

Kathryn also works with ceramics, but she enjoys herself most when she is working out-of-doors. In the summer, her green thumb becomes apparent as she tends to her flower and vegetable garden. Being the thrifty gal that she is, Kathryn cans fruits and vegetables for the winter months.

And speaking of winter, this young woman with an ageless heart is probably the envy of many a modern day woman. Last year she had a great time when she joined her children in making a snowman! "I do everything I want to if it is financially possible. I still want to learn to ski and sky dive."

When asked about her bowling ability, Kathryn grinned, "Let's just say I bowl at it."

Not having much time together through the week, "something special" is planned every Sunday. Following family worship at the West Jefferson First Baptist Church, the Longs head for the hills, a lake, a zoo or just a scenic drive through southern Ohio. "It's heartwarming to see how much the children enjoy the good things in life, such as looking for flowers and acorns in a woods somewhere."

When Kathryn was asked what she considered the most important thing in creating a happy home life, she answered, "Doing things together."

When asked what she would study if she were to enroll in college, she answered, "Home economics."

We think Kathryn could very easily teach home economics. In fact we give her the honorary title of Dr. Kathryn Long, LPU, expert in Love, Patience and Understanding.

Europeans have a charming Christmas custom you may wish to adopt as a tradition in your family. Hang gaily decorated Christmas cookies out of doors on tree branches. The cookies look so festive and provide a special holiday treat for all the birds in your neighborhood — to both you and your children's delight.

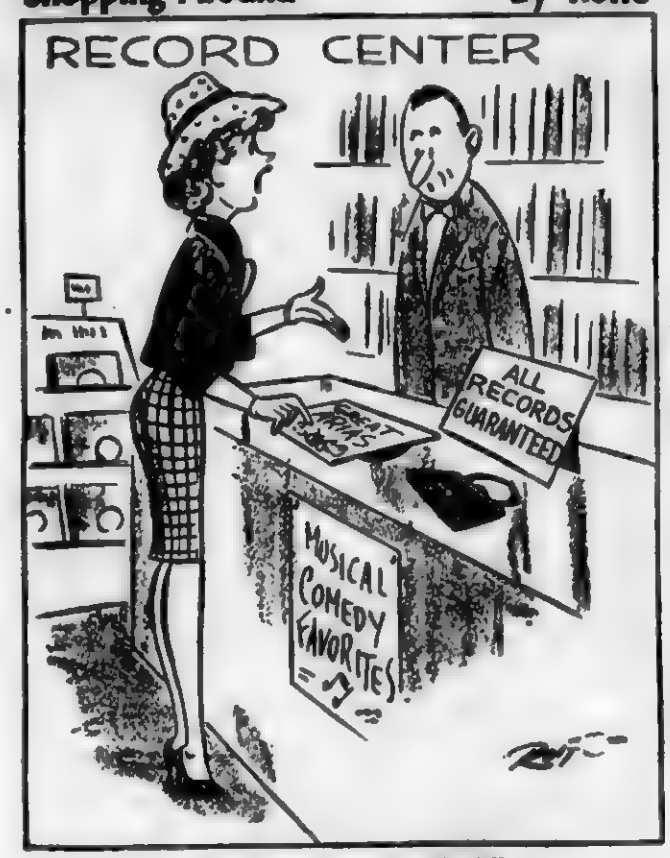
second grades, and kindergarten, respectively, at Binns Elementary.

And friendships have grown during the years. "Frances is sort of a consultant to the neighborhood," Bob says laughingly. "Her friends come to her often to talk over problems, and ask advice when their children are hurt or ill.

"I think," he continued, "we've found our home here. We really like Columbus."



A TASTE of chocolate cake batter is fine — especially when mama isn't looking. Michael is a kindergarten student at Binns Elementary. Mrs. Fannon finds time to bake nearly every day, supplying her family with desserts every evening, and homemade rolls or coffee cake for breakfast.

Choose sturdy containers for packaging Christmas cookies for mailing — empty shortening or coffee cans are excellent. Spread popped popcorn generously over the bottom of the container to insulate against the bumps and bruises of mailing, then line it thoroughly with waxed paper. Wrap the cookies individually and pack one layer deep. Top the cookie layer with waxed paper and cardboard, then continue adding layers of cookies, waxed paper and cardboard till the container is filled. Add a top layer of popcorn. If you're using a non-metal container such as a cardboard box, wrap it with corrugated cardboard before adding the brown paper outer wrap.

Christmas will last throughout the entire winter when you have an assortment of holiday yeast breads in the freezer. Wrap the cooled, unIced and undecorated breads in aluminum foil, labeling plainly. Most yeast breads can be stored in the freezer up to three months. Thaw and warm the breads in a moderate oven (350°F.) for about 20 minutes. Then Ice or decorate them as desired.

Shopping Around — By Rolfe

"The tenor was cracked!"

Here's an extravagantly beautiful Christmas cake. Prepare a basic white or yellow cake, adding one teaspoon vanilla extract and one-fourth teaspoon black walnut flavoring to the batter. Bake in round pans. Split the layers and fill with fluffy white frosting with raisins and chopped walnuts folded in. Swirl plain frosting over the sides and top. Then ring the top of the cake with a Della Robbia wreath of marzipan candy fruits.

Sunny Coffee Cake

Buttery-rich, delicately orange-flavored Sunny Coffee Cake brings holiday festiveness to your breakfast table any season of the year. It's prepared like muffin batter to go from mixing bowl to oven in minutes.

After baking the attractive ring-shaped cake "gild" it a bit with an easy icing. Allow the icing to drip decoratively down the sides of the cake for a professional touch. For crunchy goodness sprinkle chopped nuts over the icing.

Whenever you serve your family home-baked coffee cakes and other flour products prepared from enriched flour you're also adding essential nutrients to their meals. Enriched flour contains three B-vitamins and the mineral iron — all vital daily for good health and lasting pep and vitality.

SUNNY COFFEE CAKE

- 2½ cups sifted enriched flour*
- ¼ cup sugar
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon grated orange rind
- ¾ cup milk
- 1 egg, beaten
- ⅓ cup butter or margarine, melted
- 1 cup confectioners' sugar
- 2 tablespoons milk
- 2 tablespoons chopped nuts

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Stir in orange rind. Combine ¾ cup milk, egg and butter or margarine. Add liquid ingredients to dry ingredients, stirring only until well blended. Pour into well-greased 6 ½-cup ring mold. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 30 to 35 minutes. Cool on rack about 5 minutes. Loosen edges with spatula, invert and remove from pan. Stir confectioners' sugar and 2 tablespoons milk until smooth. Spread over top of cake. Sprinkle with chopped nuts. Makes one ring-shaped coffee cake.

*If you don't sift and in the absence of other directions, spoon flour directly from container into dry measuring cup, level off, then remove two level tablespoonfuls, according to USDA recommendations.

HOLIDAY EMPHASIS IN CLASSES ENDS COURSES AT LINCOLN PARK

When a Christmas party is held Wednesday, Dec. 13, at the Family Living Center, 1700 S. 20th-st at the Lincoln Park housing development, it will mark the closing of the first fall series of cooking and clothing classes held for adult homemakers.

Sponsored jointly by Columbus Metropolitan Housing and the Columbus Public Schools, the classes are designed to show how a woman through development of homemaking skills can raise the standard of living for her family within the limits set by her budget.

The cooking courses stress the use of commodity foods which are available to families of limited means, and the clothing classes give the instruction by which a mother can see her entire family dressed better than before at little cost.

Similar classes will again open the second week of January and be followed shortly by a course in home redecoration and furniture refinishing.

The classes which meet twice a week are open to any resident of Franklin County.

The project, which was initiated in Ohio last spring, has been greeted enthusiastically by the adult students.

Will Dedicate Cannon To Late VFW Chaplain

A cannon will be dedicated Saturday, Nov. 30 at 1:30 p.m. honoring Alvin Robinson, who served Benson Hough Post No. 3424, Veterans of Foreign Wars, as chaplain.

The artillery cleaned and painted by a detail headed by Dan Pendleton, will be exhibited in front of the post, 2299 S. High.

The late Robinson who died at age 93 also served as chaplain emeritus for the state organization Cooties, an honor degree of VFW.

Preceding the dedication, M/Sgt. Cornelius Leach and his honor flight from Lockbourne AFB will present a drill exhibition.

Among prominent South Siders attending the ceremony are Councilman Bill Fornof, Ted Hysel city clerk and Judges William Brant and Bob Draper. State dignitaries will also be present.

If weather permits the dedication to be held outside, all South Siders are invited to attend.

Commander Paul Plunkett, past commanders, Post Sgt. James Kelly and Mike Donahue, Dan Pendleton and Senior Vice Commander Bill Mangum have all served on the ceremony committee.

New Produce Terminal Is Open For Business

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Grapefruit, apples, cranberries, bananas.

Vegetables — Potatoes, celery, carrots, cabbage, cauliflower, turnips.

Meats, Poultry — Pork roasts and chops, fresh pork sausage, beef "specials," beef liver, chickens, medium sized eggs.

Other — Cheese, ice cream, canned tomato products.

The City of Columbus has finally achieved what it has needed for 20 years — a new wholesale produce terminal. It's as modern as tomorrow.

This fine new market at 4561 E. Fifth-av, is a busy, impressive place now that the merchants have moved in and set up their colorful displays of fruits and vegetables. One has to stand at the end of the wide platform across the front of the building and view the great volume of fresh produce — all under one roof — to appreciate how large this new market is.

Mrs. Franks

These wholesale merchants are as proud as peacocks of their new marketing facility. And they have every right to be. They reached down in their pockets for the money to buy the land and build the markethouse, but the cost of the building is insignificant compared to the investment they have made in refrigeration and other equipment.

Each merchant has equipped his own unit — or units — and arranged it to suit his individual operation. The refrigeration facilities are enormous and the last word in refrigeration. The vegetables stay garden-fresh, for the refrigeration rooms are so divided that the temperature and humidity can be controlled as required to maintain the high quality of different kinds of vegetables and fruits.

One merchant has installed a packaging plant, occupying an entire unit, for pre-packaging consumer-size units of fruits and vegetables. Another merchant has built a banana ripening chamber; another, a tomato ripening room.

As we toured the terminal, we were fascinated with the speed and efficiency of the automatic pre-packaging machine. A 100-pound bag of potatoes, for example, can be unloaded from the freight car at the back door and emptied into the hopper of the machine. In a matter of minutes, the potatoes come out graded, automatically weighed, packaged and sealed. They then move onto a revolving platform, ready to be loaded on the customer's truck. Only five people are required to operate the machine, and if well trained, they can turn out 1,800 packages per hour. Such items as grapefruit, oranges, apples and onions can also be automatically packaged by this machine.

A formal opening of the new market place is in the planning stage, but you can drop by and see it at any time. You'll like what you see. December would be a good time — for then the market will take on a Christmas splendor. Christmas trees, holly, nuts and heavy shipments of fruits and vegetables will soon move in from Ohio and all parts of the country for distribution to retail stores, hotels, restaurants and institutions.

At this Thanksgiving time, let's all say thanks to these progressive merchants who have built something that is good for all the people of Columbus.

In the past decade, U. S. has lost about one million acres of agricultural land each year to urbanization.

RUNNERS UP

Neighbor Is Nominated By A Friend

I would like to nominate a neighbor as Suburban Homemaker of the Year. She is Mrs. Kenneth Slyh (Marcie to her friends), wife of a farmer, and mother of two boys, David, 13 and Kevin, 10. Recently when the County Extension Agents needed help in the office, she began working part time there, she is also working part time at Lazarus. Even though she is away part of the time the family is not neglected. Her work is well planned and there is such good cooperation within the family that all share the responsibilities of the home.

Marcie is active in church work; she has been a teacher in Sunday School, has helped in the Extended Session work of teaching the little ones during church services, is a member of the church choir, works with the Missionary Society, and is presently treasurer of the church. During the church services the family sits together. When it becomes important for the minister and his wife to be away from home the Slyhs take the two boys into their home. Their home is open for meetings of church groups or other community groups whenever the need arises.

The home is a relaxed place, tastefully furnished and one cannot help but feel the love and companionship of the family. Marcie has redecorated two homes within the past few years. This has been hard work but the results are charming. Guests are always welcome and there is wholesome hospitality shown. There is good reading material and the boys are encouraged to read. Both boys are taking instruction on a musical instrument and get much encouragement from their mother. She shows interest in the school and helps in any way she can, going to meetings, securing or helping the boys find such items they might need in their work at school or at church. I don't know as Marcie does any one outstanding thing but she is always ready to do her bit and the interest she takes in her family IS outstanding.

She is a charming person, well dressed, but not expensively so, and well groomed; the family, too, show much care and thought in their selection of clothes. Marcie sews some although not a great deal.

She is interested in what is happening in, not only our own community, but in the nation and the world. She has helped on all the various special drives.

I think she must be an exceptional manager of the family time and income. She seems to think before making purchases and I am sure, talks over with Kenneth any major purchase.

She is a good cook, she plans ahead, and watches her purchases. The family eat their meals together. Their home is tastefully furnished and is always neat.

There is an unusually good family relationship. I have never heard either she or Kenny say one unkind remark about each other (or anyone else for that matter) and she always gives the other person the benefit of the doubt. They seem to know where they are going, what they hope for out of life, and work together toward that kind of life.

We have many fine young homemakers in our community. Marcie is one of them, and, I think, truly deserving of the title of Suburban Homemaker of the Year.

Yours sincerely,
Martha Roby

Homemakers Give Favorite Recipes

Every successful homemaker has a favorite recipe. Hartley Newspapers staff members in interviewing local winners in the Suburban Homemaker Contest asked the privilege of passing on to our readers these favorite recipes with a little comment on each.

Mosher Family Likes This One

Mrs. Mosher's favorite is Macaroni Italian Style.

8 oz. of macaroni
1½ lbs. ground beef
1½ onions, finely chopped
2½ lbs. ground beef
1 No. 2 can tomatoes (chopped coarsely)
½ tsp. Worchestershire sauce
2 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
(½ C. mushroom if desired)

Brown meat in skillet and drain excess grease, add onions, salt and pepper. Cook until lightly brown. Add tomato sauce, Worchestershire sauce and chopped tomatoes. Simmer while macaroni is cooking.

Cook macaroni in salted water until almost soft, drain and rinse in hot water. To the drained macaroni add tomato hamburger sauce. Simmer about 10 minutes. Serves six or eight.

"This is a favorite of the Mosher family," said Mrs. Mosher, "and can be prepared in about 20 minutes, and when served with a green salad, Italian bread and butter and fresh or canned fruit it is a well balanced meal that requires very little preparation."

One Dish Macaroni Salad

Another favorite of my family and Girl Scouts which is easy to prepare and a balanced meal in itself is "One Dish Macaroni Salad."

1 C. cold boiled macaroni
1 C. chopped celery
¼ C chopped stuffed olives six small finely chopped green onions
½ C. Miracle Whip Salad Dressing to which 1 tsp. of season salt has been added

Mix above ingredients and add one can of drained chilled white tuna fish. Toss lightly and let stand ½ hour before serving. "This is very good," she added, "but must be kept cold."

Oatmeal Cake Is "Cake Men Like"

It takes a king-size amount of food to feed the ten hungry Gutheils every day. Betty's favorite recipe is Oatmeal Cake because "it's the kind of cake men like."

Oatmeal Cake

First, pour 1¼ c. boiling water over 1 c. oats and let stand 20 min. Mix until creamy ½ c. shortening
1 c. brown sugar
1 c. white sugar
2 eggs beaten
Add 1½ c. sifted flour
1 tsp. cinnamon
1½ tsp. soda
½ tsp. salt

Mix well and add oats. Bake in 13x9 pan 35-40 min. at 350.

Topping — ⅔ c. brown sugar
½ c. melted butter
¼ c. cream or homo. milk
1 c. coconut
½ c. nuts

Pour on hot cake and brown under broiler. Serve with vanilla ice cream if desired.

Mrs. Long Gives Her Cake Recipe

Mrs. Kathryn Long, Taylor-Blair-rd, West Jefferson, was given this recipe for Red Devil's Food Cake at her bridal shower.

½ cup shortening
1½ cups sugar
2 eggs
1 tsp. soda dissolved in ½ cup hot water
2 cups sifted flour
4 tsp. cocoa
½ cup sour milk

Mix and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes and frost with the following:

Carmel Frosting

Melt ½ cup butter. Add 1 cup packed brown sugar and cook over low heat 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Add ¼ cup milk and cook until mixture comes to a boil. Remove from heat and cool. Add sifted confectioners sugar until frosting reaches spreading consistency. (about 1¾ to 2 cups sugar)

Brownies Favorite In Fannon Family

Selection of a family favorite recipe wasn't easy for Mrs. Fannon, but this version of everybody's favorite brownies was her choice.

GLORIFIED BROWNIES

1 cup sugar
½ cup butter
2 eggs
¾ cup flour
3 tbs. cocoa
Pinch of salt
1 tsp. baking powder
1 cup chopped nuts (optional)

Cream sugar and butter; add eggs. Sift flour, cocoa, salt and baking powder together and add to egg mixture. Add nuts if desired. Bake 20 minutes in a shallow greased pan at 325 degree F.

Icing:
½ cup butter
2 cups confectioners' sugar
3 tbs. cocoa
4 tbs. thin cream
24 marshmallows

Mix sugar and cocoa with butter. Thin with cream.

When cake is done and still in pan, cover with marshmallows which have been cut in halves. Cover with icing. Set aside and allow cake to cool in pan. Heat from cake melts marshmallows. Cut in squares when cold. (Note: Mrs. Fannon uses 11x7-inch pan and 16 marshmallows cut in halves. She cuts this into 32 brownies, or half a marshmallow per brownie.)

HOLIDAY EMPHASIS IN CLASSES ENDS COURSES AT LINCOLN PARK

When a Christmas party is held Wednesday, Dec. 13, at the Family Living Center, 1700 S. 20th-at at the Lincoln Park housing development, it will mark the closing of the first fall series of cooking and clothing classes held for adult homemakers.

Sponsored jointly by Columbus Metropolitan Housing and the Columbus Public Schools, the classes are designed to show how a woman through development of homemaking skills can raise the standard of living for her family within the limits set by her budget.

The cooking courses stress the use of commodity foods which are available to families of limited means, and the clothing classes give the instruction by which a mother can see her entire family dressed better than before at little cost.

Similar classes will again open the second week of January and be followed shortly by a course in home redecoration and furniture refinishing.

The classes which meet twice a week are open to any resident of Franklin County.

The project, which was initiated in Ohio last spring, has been greeted enthusiastically by the adult students.

Will Dedicate Cannon To Late VFW Chaplain

A cannon will be dedicated Saturday, Nov. 30 at 1:30 p.m. honoring Alvin Robinson, who served Benson Hough Post No. 3424, Veterans of Foreign Wars, as chaplain.

The artillery cleaned and painted by a detail headed by Dan Pendleton, will be exhibited in front of the post, 2299 S. High.

The late Robinson who died at age 93 also served as chaplain emeritus for the state organization Cooties, an honor degree of VFW.

Preceding the dedication, M/Sgt. Cornelius Leach and his honor flight from Lockbourne AFB will present a drill exhibition.

Among prominent South Siders attending the ceremony are Councilman Bill Fornof, Ted Hysel city clerk and Judges William Brant and Bob Draper. State dignitaries will also be present.

If weather permits the dedication to be held outside, all South Siders are invited to attend.

Commander Paul Plunkett, past commanders, Post Sgt. James Kelly and Mike Donahue, Dan Pendleton and Senior Vice Commander Bill Mangum have all served on the ceremony committee.

QUEEN Oletta Mosher . . .

ed many of the joys of motherhood, she missed none of the responsibilities. She was faced with the hard alternatives of public welfare or becoming a working mother, and she chose the latter.

Her first job was a riveter in a Buffalo, N. Y., factory.

It seemed for a time that she would lose her job because the double-burden of homemaker and breadwinner caused a serious health problem. But a company-sponsored testing of employes in her section gave her a new lease on life — and employment. Her high test scoring led to company-financed private tutoring and eventual assignment as a draftsman. Oletta Mosher was over the hump.

She now has 10 years behind her as a North American Aviation employe. She is serving her fourth consecutive term a president of the firm's Investment Club for women, and is a member of an employe-formed Bible Study Club. (She has completed two Moody Bible School correspondence courses).

She has a facility for referring to life's tragedies as "circumstances," while remembering to credit every instance of progress to the "blessing of God." Personal tragedy came at an early age to Mrs. Mosher, and this, perhaps, created the basic foundation for what she would later be required to overcome. When she was 12 years old, a fall caused a spinal injury. Total paralysis kept her an invalid for two years, yet she returned to school when 14 and graduated just prior to her 18th birthday.

But it appears now that most of the hard tests of life may at last be a part of her noble personal history. But ambitions of Ollie Mosher are not a thing of the past. She now looks forward to the day that she can enter college — after her daughter Carolyn finishes school.

And what would she do with the $5,000 award if she is named National Homemaker of the Year? "To me, even now, it seems unbelievabe even to write about it," she says, "but I will try.

"First, my tithe of the money to the church, for only by the grace of God would I ever be so privileged. Second, this would assure my eldest son of his college education . . . Third, the balance would completely free us of debt . . . Truly it would be a day of rejoicing to pay off those obligations and know that I owe no man.

"Naturally I'd like a home of my own and it would be nice to spend it for that, but I wouldn't. Just to be free of debt that was caused not by poor management but by circumstances would be a dream come true. And who knows, maybe I can go to college a couple of years earlier."

The Bellefontaine youth whom Mrs. Mosher had befriended summed it up pretty well when he wrote:

"Mrs. Mosher is the most active person I know. How she can keep a full time job, take care of their home with no outside help, get all the meals, be a full time mother, and still do church and civic things is beyond me. She is Brenda Starr, Molly Mayfield and Blondie all rolled into one.

"If there is another woman more suited for the title Suburban Homemaker, I, for one, would like to meet her."

Judge Rose—

was a most rewarding experience in 1962 to serve as a judge for the National Suburban Homemaker of the Year Award and to learn about the many suburban homemakers who are meeting those problems and responsibilities in positive ways."

One of Judge Rose's major responsibilities in his present position as immediate past president of the National Council of Juvenile Court Judges is to plan, organize and carry out institutes as training programs for juvenile court judges throughout the U.S. This continuing education program is made possible through a grant from the National Institute of Mental Health. In 1962 481 judges throughout the country participated in such institutes, receiving training which enabled them to increase the efficiency of the juvenile courts under their jurisdictions. This is a project close to Judge Rose's heart.

Family life is not an experience which is vicarious for Judge Rose. He and his wife, Phyllis, are the parents of two grown sons and two grown daughters and five juveniles call him granddad.

housewife and mother. I am sure being nominated for an Oscar in the Academy Awards could be no more gratifying. Being nominated for the trip to Chicago for the National Award is an experience I will never forget."

English Evangelist, John Wesley, rode an average of 5,000 miles a year on horseback, preaching 15 sermons a week. He traveled the length and breadth of England, made 22 trips to Scotland and 42 to Ireland. He once said, "I look upon the world as my parish," and he continued to preach until he was nearly 88 years old.

HOLIDAY EMPHASIS IN CLASSES ENDS COURSES AT LINCOLN PARK

"I STARTED CLASSES late," said Mrs. Lucille Smith, 695 Morrill-av, Apt. B, "and already have made casseroles and bread that my husband at first refused to believe I had done by myself." She didn't join the classes at first because she was not aware that she could bring her baby to cooking school with her.

When a Christmas party is held Wednesday, Dec. 13, at the Family Living Center, 1700 S. 20th-st at the Lincoln Park housing development, it will mark the closing of the first fall series of cooking and clothing classes held for adult homemakers.

Sponsored jointly by Columbus Metropolitan Housing and the Columbus Public Schools, the classes are designed to show how a woman through development of homemaking skills can raise the standard of living for her family within the limits set by her budget.

The cooking courses stress the use of commodity foods which are available to families of limited means, and the clothing classes give the instruction by which a mother can see her entire family dressed better than before at little cost.

Similar classes will again open the second week of January and be followed shortly by a course in home redecoration and furniture refinishing.

The classes which meet twice a week are open to any resident of Franklin County.

The project, which was initiated in Ohio last spring, has been greeted enthusiastically by the adult students.

As one of the first graduates last summer said, "I've always wanted to be a bett

A cannon will be dedicated Saturday, Nov. 30 at 1:30 p.m. honoring Alvin Robinson, who served Benson Hough Post No. 3424, Veterans of Foreign Wars, as chaplain.

The artillery cleaned and painted by a detail headed by Dan Pendleton, will be exhibited in front of the post, 2299 S. High.

The late Robinson who died at age 93 also served as chaplain emeritus for the state organization Cooties, an honor degree of VFW.

Preceding the dedication, M/Sgt. Cornelius Leach and his honor flight from Lockbourne AFB will present a drill exhibition.

Among prominent South Siders attending the ceremony are Councilman Bill Fornof, Ted Hysel city clerk and Judges William Brant and Bob Draper. State dignitaries will also be present.

If weather permits the dedication to be held outside, all South Siders are invited to attend.

Commander Paul Plunkett, past commanders, Post Sgt. James Kelly and Mike Donahue, Dan Pendleton and Senior Vice Commander Bill Mangum have all served on the ceremony committee.

Eating habits children learn in their homes often lead to weight problems later in life

PARENTS WHO ARE really interested in the present and future health and happiness of their children cannot ignore the importance of cultivating sensible eating habits in the young. Allowing a child to overeat or to not eat a well balanced diet, with the hope that the child will ultimately outgrow these poor habits, is a good example of how some parents encourage the development of lifetime behavior patterns that cannot help but lead to frustration and unhappiness. The fat child too often grows into a fat adult, or the undernourished girl, the one who is not encouraged to eat a balanced diet, often becomes an adult woman who will experience difficulties in pregnancy because her body is not as well developed as it might have been.

Children acquire most of their lifetime eating habits, their food tastes and preferences, at the family table. The example set by the parents in the home is a powerful influence in determining how the children will eat through the rest of their lives. For instance, the mother who nibbles at a piece of toast and a cup of coffee for her breakfast certainly does not set a good example for her teen-age daughter.

LEARN THE SIMPLE FOOD RULES

Mealtime should be a pleasant occasion for all members of the family. Consuming food should not be mysterious, complicated, or a medical treatment. Learning and following some very simple rules can provide a daily food pattern that is nutritionally adequate and enjoyable.

Regardless of other purposes eating may serve, the basic reason for consuming food is to provide the body with the nutrients required for proper growth, maintenance, and energy. Teaching children to eat meals and snacks that are well balanced in both quantity and quality of foods is a parental responsibility which, properly performed, can contribute much to the longevity and happiness of the child. We should never forget that it is easier to teach by a good example than by preaching alone.

Nutritionists have tried to simplify food selection as much as possible. They have analyzed the nutrients our bodies need, and they have suggested food patterns to provide these nutrients. A variety of foods is recommended because the nutritionists are not yet certain about our needs for certain nutrients. Trying to rely on pills for essential food nutrients is not only a less pleasant way to feed one's self but also may possibly eliminate some of the nutrients present in a variety of foods.

FOLLOW THE DAILY FOOD GUIDE

Parents should set a good example for their children by following the daily food guide established by nutritionists. This involves selecting foods from four main groups:

Milk and Dairy Foods: Children and teen-agers should have at least three glasses of milk each day (or its equivalent in such dairy foods as cheese and ice cream). Adults should have at least two glasses of milk. Two 8-ounce glasses of milk provide these portions of the recommended daily allowances of food nutrients for an adult man: protein (of very high quality, ready for immediate use) 25 percent; calcium (which adults need to keep bones strong even after growth is completed, as well as for other vital processes) 71 percent; vitamin A 15 percent; riboflavin 46 percent; thiamine 10-12 percent; calories (which become undesirable only when we consume too many!) 10-13 percent. The percentages for an adult woman are slightly higher because of the lower nutrient needs of the woman, but two glasses of milk still provide only 14-18 percent of the daily calorie needs for an adult woman. To obtain the protein, minerals, and vitamins in milk through other foods usually would require a much higher cost in calories. This is why the calories in milk are often called "armored calories" as opposed to foods which provide fewer or no other nutrients except calories.

Meat, Fish, Poultry, Eggs: Two or more servings each day from this group of foods provide additional high quality protein, iron, thiamine, riboflavin, and niacin. Weight reducers should select the lean cuts of meat to keep calories down.

Vegetables and Fruits: Four or more servings, selected from the tremendous variety of these foods available today, help assure adequate consumption of vitamins and minerals. Selections should include a citrus fruit or vegetable rich in vitamin C and a dark-green or deep-yellow vegetable rich in vitamin A. Children do not have to be forced to eat any particular fruits or vegetables. Try many different kinds to find those they like best so that they get started in the habit of eating these valuable foods each day.

Breads and Cereals: Four or more servings each day from this food group provide protein, iron, B-vitamins, and calories. Weight watchers should select carefully in this group to keep the calories in balance with needs.

Selecting foods from the four groups and determining the amount of food required to maintain desirable weight are lifetime eating habits that should be taught very early. Children should also be taught, again by parental example, that daily exercise is an important element in building and maintaining good health. The time has come to expand the slogan "Families that pray together stay together" to read: "Families that walk together to pray together stay together." Surely, families that learn to eat wisely together also have greater opportunities to live longer and happier lives.

AIR-VIEWED FROM the south of Obetz-rd, this is the concept of the Lockbourne Industrial Park site as envisioned by the architects Holroyd and Myers employed by the developer, Walter T. Dickerson Company. The small building in the front center is the existing Hamilton Township Fire Department. Parallel to and just east of the 5,000-foot runway extending north and south through the site is the proposed Dickerson-rd which will give easy access to the plants which would otherwise be cut off by the landing strip and the C&O RR tracks.

DICKERSON MAKES FIRST SALES

Unique Industrial Site Opening Up

The sale of two sites by the Walter T. Dickerson Company at the Lockbourne Industrial Park just announced by President Owen T. Dickerson marks the opening of a manufacturing area unique not only in Columbus, but also in the State of Ohio.

Recognizing the transportation trends of today, Dickerson when he began to acquire the land six years ago, incorporated in his plans airport facilities with a 5,000-foot runway, 38 individual hangars, maintenance shop and parking for transient aircraft.

Land improvement as platted includes utilities, a through north-south street and a park. Cost is estimated at over a million dollars, of which the airport facilities will represent about $425,000.

Asked what the entire industrial development would mean to the city, county, and school district from a tax standpoint, Dickerson referred to a rule of thumb that a complete industrial site is valued at 10 times original land cost and improvements. By this formula, the park can be expected to represent an investment of $30 million.

The land, which is bounded on the north by Williams-rd, the east by the C&O RR, the south by Obetz-rd and the west by Lockbourne-rd, is located five miles south of the heart of Columbus and the outerbelt will pass 200 yards to its south. Although cloverleaf interchanges are now planned approximately two miles to the east and to the west of the park, Dickerson expects a diamond at a midpoint to give immediate access to the site.

The Dickerson Company, at 376 S. Front-st, which manufactures shoes, has reserved 10 acres for the construction of a modern 60,000-foot building to which it can transfer its own operations which have outgrown the present location.

Dickerson explained that architectural plans for the new plant are completed and will be carried through as soon as a suitable tenant has been found for the present building. With its downtown location, he anticipates it will be utilized by a wholesale business which needs not only warehousing and extensive office space, but showrooms and possibly a discount retail outlet as well.

The acreage has been platted into 44 sites, each with 200-foot frontage, and thus

Future School Sites Viewed By Columbus

Coulmbus School Board, taking a long look into the future of rapidly developing areas along the city's southeastern boundaries, Tuesday approved the tentative selection of possible school sites in four locations.

Two of the locations are within the city, one is beyond the present boundaries, and the fourth is located partly in Columbus, and partly in Reynoldsburg.

First city location is bounded by Refugee-rd on the north, Alum Creek-dr on the east, Watkins-rd on the south, and the Norfolk and Western RR on the west.

The other, near Price Airfield, is bordered by Refugee-rd on the south, Courtright-rd on the east, the proposed east freeway on the north, and US Route 33 on the west.

Lying just beyond the city limits is the third designated tract, bounded by Big Walnut Creek on the west, Refugee-rd on the north, Brice-rd on the east, and Henderson-Miller-rd on the south.

The fourth location, bounded by McNaughten-rd on the west, Main-st on the south, Rose Hill-rd on the east, and Broad-st on the north, contains land in both Columbus and in Reynoldsburg.

A site will tentatively be designated for a school within these locations- but it is not expected that any immediate land purchases will be made.

In the event that the areas

The People's Choice

It is time for the annual appearance of The Gay Philosopher calendar distributed each year by Hartley Newspapers.

This year he is "The People's Choice." His son says, "Pop has been telling me that any kid can grow up and be president some day," so the lad is starting a campaign for his dad for the job because he needs a job, and hopes he can make it by 1996.

A limited number of the small Gay Philosopher calendars are available at the front counter of our office. First come, first served. No mail!

The Gay Philosopher says: "A politician thinks of the next election; the statesman of the next generation."

Personal Touch Gone From Politicking

By FRANK RYAN

Politics -- like the "Old Gray Mare" — just ain't what it used to be. While the major political parties are more highly organized than ever before, the personal touch at the neighborhood level is history.

This premise is borne out in reminiscences of two former Hilltop partisan committeemen who were friendly antagonists in the 11th Ward.

Mose M. Williams, who now lives at 4796 Hayden Falls-blvd, represented the Republicans from 1928 until 1937. His Democratic counterpart was Sam Willis, 2908 Crescent-dr, a 30-year veteran as committeeman from 1918 until 1948.

Williams and Willis opposed each other at a time when there were 19 wards in the city of Columbus, and the big 11th Ward was predominently Republican. But Willis enjoyed his moments of triumph, particularly during the heyday of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Much of the mechanics of politicking at the ward level has not changed over the years. But the experiences recounted by both men point to a deterioration of the amenities of grass roots politicking. The role of the ward committeeman remains the same—to produce a majority of votes for members of his political party. But the means by which he strives for his goal have changed.

Whereas political rallies engineered by Williams and Willis on the ward level would attract up to 1,500 area participants, today's political rallies don't reach that number for a county-wide campaign meeting.

Williams recalled a spirited committeeman campaign of the early 1930's that was not uncommon to that day, but would be almost unthinkable in the 1960's.

He was opposed by Arthur J. Bellar, Sr., whom he recalls as "a hard campaigner who certainly was no pushover."

Bellar failed to get his name on the ballot because a number of petition signatures were ruled invalid. "But this didn't stop him, Williams related. "He ran as a write-in, and on one occasion Art had a flat-top truck with musicians going up and down the streets. Friends of mine, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Knisley, owned a covered-wagon and pony. Two of their grandchildren drove the rig up and down the streets, and we had all the bicycles and dogs in the neighborhood following it in a parade.

"One man asked the candidate for the Democratic committeeman post how his campaign was going. He said, "I don't know. All I hear about is Bellar and Williams."

Williams recalled the effect of national politics on his normally Republican ward during the Roosevelt years. "One Democratic candidate for county office went to bed on election night, not thinking he had a chance. He was told of his election when he awoke the next morning."

And if the position of Sam Willis as the Democratic leader in a Republican ward was less productive of consistent victories than that of his counterpart, his experiences were nonetheless rewarding.

Willis said his philosophy called for "staying in the background and letting others do the work. If people see a man trying to take all the credit, they tire of working," he said.

Willis told of potluck political rallies that drew from 400 to 1,000 people for the ward, of high school and neighborhood bands and a generous mixture of politics and good fellowship.

Were "Gentlemanly"

While we tried to promote our candidates," he recalled, "we never put on a meeting that would insult our Republican friends. You have to have the respect of both Democrats and Republicans," he said

Stressing the social aspects of political rallies, Willis said that few people attended a meeting for what they would get to eat. But advertising refreshments made people think that many would be there and this would mean a good time."

Willis said he believed in Light Up! Christmas Is Nearing

German Village Society, busy with holiday plans, has announced its fourth annual Christmas Decoration contest.

According to Mrs. Jan Jones, publicity chairman, the efforts of the villagers will be judged shortly after Dec. 25 on the basis of originality and simplicity.

With a Christmas decorating workshop being held every Monday night, 7:30 p.m. at the Allen building, 246 E. Sycamore-st, between now and Christmas, there is plenty of tips available and know-how available to everyone. One need not be a member of the Society to take advantage of these sessions.

The Society has also suggested that a lighted candle be placed in a window of every home in the German Village area during the holidays.

NEIL ARMSTRONG SPEAKS AT JAMBOREE

Astronaut Still Using His Scout Training

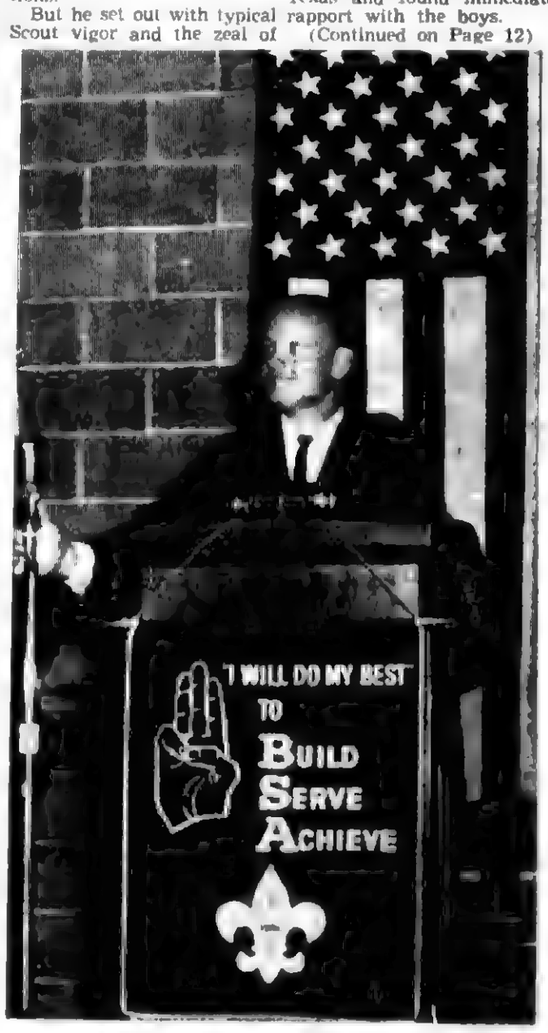
"We call it survival; you call it good Scouting."

With these words Astronaut Neil Armstrong compared the training of a Boy Scout with that received by those in the aerospace program last Saturday and the youth of the Mohawk District were spell-bound.

The South Side and South East boys were among the privileged Scouts who attended the "Adventure Roundup Jamboree" held at Circleville last Saturday by the Central Ohio Council of BSA.

"A Scout and an astronaut are both taught to meet the unexpected," Armstrong stressed, telling how his own Scouting training was put into play when he and John Glenn were dropped into the jungles of Panama and told to "either get out or survive until we come to get you.'

Armstrong, originally from Wapakoneta was quite a "bird" for William Radcliffe to land.



As a member of Council during the Jamboree planning he was directed simply, "Get us an astronaut."

As there are only thirty of this specimen around, and each is rather busy, Radcliffe, who is the administrative assistant to Ohio's Supreme Court, was a little dumbfounded by this instructions.

But he set out with typical Scout vigor and the zeal of a Canadian Mountie and got his man.

Armstrong flew in from Texas and found immediate rapport with the boys.

SPEAKING FIRST to the leaders at a luncheon meeting and then to the Boy Scouts of the Central Ohio Council Saturday Astronaut Neil Armstrong put Scouting on a lofty level when he compared the training of an astronaut with that of a Scout. Mohawk District Scoutmaster, Rev. Lyle Brown gave the benediction at the luncheon while Carl Fischer, Mohawk chairman, presented the leader awards at the Jamboree.

THERE'LL BE A LION AT YOUR DOOR

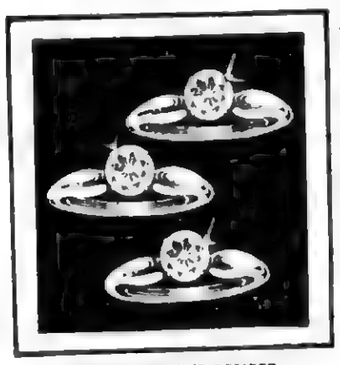
THEY ARE ROARING to go. Who? Each of the Southeast Lions who will turn paper boy Friday night as they distribute the 1963 Lions' Roar, the club's annual publication that provides a "lion's share" of the funds used for its year-long community projects. From the left, in the front row, are Howard Hoernle, Ray Phillips, Clifford Antes and Max Borst. In the back row are Oscar Wiechers, Richard Krebs, John Marshall and David Wood. They urge that those interested in helping the club that helps the community keep their porch lights burning Friday night.

Authorize 'Stop' Sign Installation At Columbus-st

The Columbus Traffic and Transportation Commission has authorized installation of "stop" signs on Columbus-st at its intersection with City Park-av.

Chief Traffic Engineer John L. Gallagher told commission members that a summer traffic count had resulted in placing of "yield" signs on City Park-av at Columbus-st.

A subsequent survey, Gallagher said, indicated that City Park-av now carries 62 per cent of the traffic at the intersection, and that 119 school children daily cross north and south from City Park-av.



The Italian artist, Michelangelo, was born Mar. 6, 1475.

KIDS WELCOME NEW ARRIVAL

THE MOST POPULAR man in town came with a bag full of goodies to the Caste shopping centers last Friday and spent many exciting minutes interviewing delighted children who were on hand to welcome him. With a twinkle in his eyes, Santa lifted scores of youngsters onto his ample lap to better hear their pleas for countless shiny toys and dozens of good things to eat. These happy children who gained his personal attention during the Friday visit were, from left: Pam Crow, 5, of 716 Souder-av, sitting; her sister, Evelyn Crow, 10, and six-year-old Jimmie Bryant, 1617 S. 18th-st.

Columbus Clergymen Attending Assembly

Six local clergymen are elected voting members representing their respective denominations on the Assembly of the National Council of Churches to attend the sixth General Assembly Dec. 1-7, in Philadelphia.

They are Dr. Lance Webb, pastor of North Broadway Methodist Church, and Dr. Hiram C. Weld of Bexley Methodist Church, representing the Methodist Church; Dr. H. Beecher Hicks, pastor of Mt. Olivet Baptist Church, and Dr. E. A. Parham of Trinity Baptist Church, representing the National Baptist Convention of America.

Dr. James W. Parrish, pastor of Shiloh Baptist, for the National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., Inc.; and Dr. Raymond V. Kearns, Jr., minister of Broad Street Presbyterian, representing the United Presbyterian Church.

Listed as consultants will be Dr. G. Weir Hartman, executive director of the Columbus Area Council of Churches, and Dr. John M. Wilson, executive secretary of the Ohio Council of Churches.

Theme for the assembly is "Servants of the Eternal Christ.' A meditation-study booklet published for use in local congregations under this title has been distributed to local member churches and made the basis of study and discussion. This is part of the involvement of lay people in congregations all across America in the work and activities of the National Church organization.

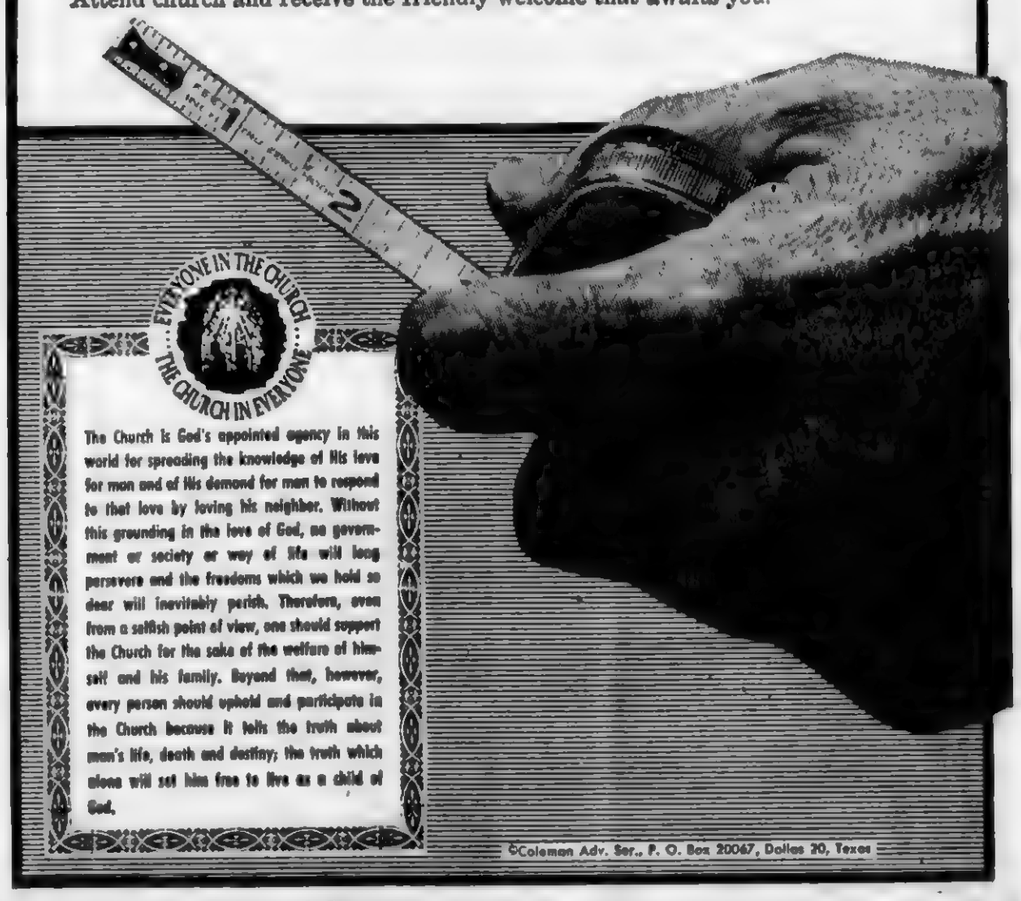
POTLUCK PLANNED

Grant Hospital Alumnae Association will hold a Christmas potluck Wednesday, Dec. 11, 6:30 p.m., Baldwin Hall, 391 E. Town-st.



The Pennsylvania Legislature passed the first act to abolish slavery March 1, 1780.

The Carpenter's FRIEND

To build...one must have plans, and plans give exact measurements. The carpenter who makes careful measurements finds that the work is made easier. Careful measuring prevents waste...waste of time and materials. Therefore the measuring device is truly a friend to the carpenter.

The church wants to be your friend, and help you to a easier and better way of life. The Bible clearly gives us a way to measure life. Through many centuries man has found no better rules than those given in the Bible.

Attend church and receive the friendly welcome that awaits you.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Give Blue Plan Green Light

The Blue Plan for the Central Ohio Community is currently undergoing a very important test of its potential. Each incorporated community within Franklin County has been asked to express a vote of confidence in the "Plan" by enacting an ordinance or resolution of intent to cooperate and participate in necessary planning programs.

The communities are not being asked to give anyone a blank check. Nor are they being asked to let others make decisions that will affect their immediate areas. On the contrary, the Blue Plan operation promises each Franklin County community more for its planning dollar than could ever be obtained by "localized only" planning. And it calls for representatives from ALL communities to decide what is best for ALL of Franklin County.

And perhaps the most attractive feature of Blue Plan participation is the "work credit" method of cost sharing. Blue Plan cost sharing is 75 per cent federal, 25 per cent local. This procedure allows participating communities to provide engineering data, survey material and other locally originated reports in lieu of actual dollars. Thus it will be relatively simple for communities to adapt local needs studies to Blue Plan needs and make their local money do double duty.

The land use section of the Blue Plan already is in full swing, backed by a $537,836 federal grant from the Housing and Home Finance Agency. The current request for a vote of confidence from all affected communities is required for participation by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads and the Ohio Department of Highways in the second phase of the program—the transportation section.

The total Blue Plan program has solid, county-wide backing of leaders in the fields of planning, industry, commerce and government. The needed support of local government legislative bodies should follow as a matter of prudence and common-sense planning.

Frosting On The Cake

By

"UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

The "flim-flammers" who work the oldest racket over and over again, are at it again right here in Columbus. The "pigeon drop" baloney about finding a wad of money, is still taking its toll of the gullible.

Dozens of stories are in the papers every year all over the country, telling of some sucker who got "took" but good on this confidence gyp.

I read about it as a kid way back in Adrian, Mich., 60 years ago.

One time in Buffalo, I was out early checking the route book of a milk driver who was under suspicion of being short on his book collections. About 8 a.m. I had completed the check-up and stopped into a neighborhood eatery to get a cup of coffee.

One of these "sharpies" sat down beside me at the counter and showed me a huge wad of supposed money. There was a $50 bill in plain sight on top of the pile. He said he had just found it and went into his pitch.

I "played it cool" and acted out my interest at once. I suggested that we go to the biggest branch up on York-rd and get a few hundred bucks that I knew I had in my desk safe. He fell right into the trap and when we got to the police station I deliberately flooded the pickup truck.

When he got out to raise the hood to see if he could get it started again, I fouled up the horn button and it was really a "howler." Two cops rushed out to chew me out about it and I signalled them to grab the man who then had his head under the hood. That ended that. He was wanted in Rochester, Syracuse and Albany on the same rap.

Why in the world don't people read a newspaper every day; at least so as to know about these hoary headed tricks? They happen every year during the holiday season.

Some folks just never learn anything except the hard way.

Public Before Politics

Columbus Mayor-elect M. E. Sensenbrenner has indicated that he will seek a "qualified Democrat" to replace J. Richard Lawwill as superintendent of parks and forestry. We will assume, for the present at least, that the word "qualified" applies to the area of parks knowledge rather than the arena of politics.

We don't look for the mayor-elect to be much influenced by the fact that the parks and forestry job, traditionally, has not been subject to change because of a change of administration. We do think, however, that he would do well to use the same philosophy in making his appointment that he expressed when asked about the proposed light plant-CTC swap. To that question Sensenbrenner said in part:

"I do not pretend to know the answer . . . I do know this is not a question for political manipulation for it is a public problem of great concern to the future of our city, and I do not propose to guess about it."

We suggest that he "not guess about" his parks and forestry appointment, but that he seek the advice of those with a background of having worked in the area. And we might remind the mayor-elect that the Columbus Park Commission, the Downtown Area Commission and the Development Committee for Greater Columbus have expressed confidence in the ability of Lawwill, the present parks superintendent.

It has been known for many years that a feud often arises between the parks department and the recreation department because of their overlapping areas of service. It would certainly be well to have a careful study of this matter too before a change in personnel is made.

It's Season To Be Wary

Most of us think of the Christmas season as a time of cheerful giving. But we cannot overlook the fact that it is also the season for cheerful con-men, whose only intent is to take.

The Better Business Bureau of Central Ohio has listed five suggestions worth following to insure that all of our giving will be voluntary. They are:

1. Deal with people you know. Stores that will be around next Christmas and were here last Christmas are your best bet now and always.
2. Don't leave packages on mail-boxes, in your car, or on the counter where you're shopping.
3. Don't carry large sums of money.
4. Check carefully with the BBB when solicitors ask for funds for Tiny Tim and other deserving cases.
5. If you feel you have been victimized, report the fraud to your police department or the BBB.

IN MEMORIAM

The President is dead. Long live the President!

So, if we may paraphrase our British cousins, do we give partial expression to our thoughts and feelings in this tragic time.

For the fourth time within a century we have lost a president by assassination. We have lived through the longest weekend of national grief in our time as did our grandfathers in theirs. Presidents Lincoln and Kennedy both fell on a Friday, one passing within hours, the other within minutes.

This is not a time for comparisons or political appraisals. There are no living witnesses, but only historical records about President Lincoln. We are still too close to President Kennedy to make an unbiased judgment about him.

This is a time to pray for the living and to mourn the dead. Suddenly a young wife has been made a widow. Two young children have lost their father. That he was President of the United States surely was incidental to them in comparison with their tragic loss.

We are a free people because millions have given first their toil and time and means, and at the last their lives to establish and preserve our freedom. Always our presidents have been the brave few who have led the valiant many, even unto the end. Always the living have taken the place of the fallen. May it ever be so.

It says here. . . .

May God grant peace eternal to the soul of President Kennedy. May He give wisdom to the mind, understanding to the heart, and strength to the hand of President Johnson. Now and always may His manifold mercies and tender compassion be upon us all.

Strictly Fresh

These days a kid who knows the value of a dollar must be a pretty discouraged kid.

Our youngster was miffed the other day. He dug a hole in the yard and discovered he couldn't bring it into the house.

A feed store is the only place in town where you can buy a chicken dinner for a dime.

There are three types of gossips: the shirt button type, always popping off; the vacuum cleaner type, always picking up dirt; the liniment type, always rubbing it in.

An acquaintance is a person with whom you have nodding in common.

It seems the worst behaved school child is the one with perfect attendance.

Has Contradiction Meaning In Life?

Within the short space of seven days we have witnessed and participated in a cloud of confusing, fracturing and contradictory events in life.

Rev. Scheufler

On the one hand I am referring to the assassination of our President, John F. Kennedy; on the other hand I am referring to Thanksgiving. How is it possible that these events have any real meaning in life since they seem so contradictory?

The murder of President Kennedy was utterly senseless, absurd; an utter tragedy in the purest sense of the word. Immediately on the heels of this tragic event we find ourselves as a nation giving thanks on Thanksgiving Day. How is it possible for us to switch moods in seven days? How is it possible to reaffirm life in the face of death, shock, grief?

No one can discount the fact that in the death of President Kennedy a little of each of us also has died. Were this not so, we would not be caught up in the shock of this event and the grief resulting from it.

Yet, Thanksgiving also has passed. We as a nation gave thanks. Either these events have profound and ultimate meaning in terms of life or they are totally absurd and meaningless. How is it possible to participate in both the sorrowing tragedy of Kennedy's death and in the joy of Thanksgiving? Did not the one event cancel the other? How can we reconcile this contradiction? To try to make sense out of this in just worldly terms ends in frustration and helplessness.

It is precisely at this point that we see our existence in the world either as sham and ultimate death or as life and ultimate hope. Did you have to pump your emotions artificially in order to feel joyous this Thanksgiving? If you did, was this not a sham? Yet if joyousness came naturally on Thanksgiving Day was it not for a certain understanding of life and death?

A joyous feeling embodies an understanding that life and hope are gifts of God our Creator. Further, it is possible, and natural, to understand that the gifts of life and hope come from an immediate awareness of God's presence with us. If this is true for us, then no tragedy is so great as to demolish and destroy our reasons and resources for living.

Yet, it is only in relationship with God that one may know that life and hope are gifts of God. To be involved in relationship is God's continuous call to us. Respond to this call and you will find that sorrow and joy, life and hope will come to have deep, abiding, and ultimate meaning.

Homemakers Say 'Thanks For The Memory'

To the Editor:

Thank you for deeming me worthy to be an example to my church, my community and our great nation.

I pray that I will always walk with dignity and that my life will be so lived so as to bless others and to glorify God, for the Bible commands us: Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, with all thy soul, with all thy strength and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself." (Luke 10:27)

The title "Suburban Homemaker" is really shared with thousands of other women who to their individual families are the "Homemaker of the Year." So, on behalf of all homemakers, my family, my church and friends may I say "thank you" for the honor and dignity you have brought to the career (for it truly is a career) of homemaking.

Thank you for sending me to Chicago to the conference. I was not only thrilled but was truly overwhelmed that I should be so honored.

Oletta Mosher

To the Editor:

I would like to try to express my thanks to you for making my trip to Chicago possible and for the honor you have bestowed upon me and the other three candidates in sending us to represent the suburbs of Columbus and the Hartley Newspapers.

I can't tell you what a thrill my first flight was. I don't think I'll be content to travel any other way from now on. It was very thoughtful of you to also include a jet flight for us.

As if all the planned conferences, luncheons and dinner party were not enough, you also made it possible for us to attend the stage show, "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying." It was a most enjoyable evening.

Being a part of this conference was one of the highlights of my life and will be long remembered with pleasure. I deemed it an honor to be a part of it all. All the candidates were most outstanding women. The judges did a wonderful job in selecting a national homemaker. My only regret is that we couldn't bring a winner back for the Hartley Newspapers.

I again want to say thank you from the bottom of my heart.

Frances Fannon

To the Editor:

Thank you, Mr. Hartley, and all concerned who helped provide me and the other ladies the trip to the National Suburban Homemaker finals in Chicago.

I enjoyed going very much although my spirits were dampened by the killing of our late President Kennedy in Dallas. Also by the fact that none of us were able to bring home the national title.

If your paper sends contestants next year I do hope they win. Perhaps if they could get together with the past contestants it would help to better prepare them. I'm sure it would have me.

I took oath of office on our local zoning board this evening and was also named secretary of the board. I believe if I had really felt that these interests outside of the home were the basic things the judges would have judged upon I would have added this type of thing to my information supplied by your reporter. We all know people who spend far too much time in civic affairs and neglect their own homes and families, which our present crime and overall disrespect for law and order bear out.

I was treated like a queen and enjoyed every minute of it. Special thanks to "Midge" DeWitt and Mildred Smith for their time and the treasured Bible given to me — also for the silver tray your papers gave us as well as the framed award. These things I will always treasure.

Mrs. Betty Guthell

To the Publisher:

I wish to express my sincere thanks to Hartley Newspapers for the privilege of being one of the Suburban Homemaker contestants who was awarded a trip to Chicago to enter into the national finals.

It was indeed an honor and the rewards were many considering the new friendships with all other contestants.

My thanks to all; Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Hartley, Mrs. Jane Harris, my local judge; Janet Michael, the reporter; the photographer, Mr. Groom, and Mrs. Milored Smith for the beautiful Bible.

The silver tray and plaque are a treasured gift always. Again thanks to Marc and Jean Orr who were wonderful chaperones.

A dream trip that is hard to believe is over—but one that will long be remembered.

Kathryn Long

An Editor's Outlook by Jenkin Lloyd Jones

See Europe With Little Car, Big Smile

PARIS—This ends a 6,000-mile drive-yourself trip through 15 countries. It was wonderful. No American who is an experienced driver and unruffled about barging into situations where no one speaks his language should contemplate a European tour without considering taking the wheel, himself.

Jones

No zooming from big town to big town over the overcast and missing the flavor of the countryside. No battle for seats in the railway carriages. No porters. No taxis. And everything you see that looks interesting is your oyster.

That crumbling castle on the crag? Here's a little road. Let's whip up there. The ancient Roman aqueduct? It's only 10 kilometers — let's go. Where'll we spend the night? How about St Francis' town, Assisi?

Driving in Europe isn't, of course, completely simple. In Britain and Sweden there's this left-hand traffic, and in spite of the complexities of a wheel on the wrong side of the car and the gear shift lever on the wrong side of the wheel you'd better get a native automobile. Otherwise, you'll be in the middle of traffic before you can see whether it's safe to pass.

And you can forget all this optimistic propaganda: "In Europe half the people speak English." If you drive you're going to meet the other half. Try explaining to a crossroads German mechanic that your generator's going bad, or probing the streets of a Danish village to learn what happened to the ferry. You'll find yourself talking more sign language than Sitting Bull.

But there are four magic phrases in any language—Where is - -? How much? Please. Thank you. The first two take care of the essentials. The last two, if delivered with a smile, get you service and a smile in return. You meet friends by the European roadside even if you can't converse with them. The grifters and the cheats hang around the big cities and the places tourists congregate. Out in the sticks, just as in America, everybody busts his buttons to be helpful.

The English road signs take a little learning. A four-lane highway is a "dual carriageway," a roadside parking area a "lay-by," and a traffic circle a "roundabout." But all over the Continent road signs are standardized. You quickly learn that a circle with a line through it means No Parking; two converging lines mean Road Narrows; a picture of a red car passing a blue one means Don't Pass, and a picture of an old steam locomotive means Unguarded Rail Crossing.

In Italy and France you can get tourist coupons entitling you to cut-rate gas. You'll need them because the regular price is from 60 to 80 cents a gallon. The little European autos, although woefully short of horsepower by American standards, handle beautifully. But you must keep shifting gears and allow twice the time to pass a truck.

You can, of course, bring your American car over. The steamship lines offer attractive rates. But Detroit didn't make it for roads laid out for Etruscan chariots, particularly when there's an ox-cart around the bend. The best deal, if you're not buying a European car, is to lease a new one right off the assembly line. But the rental rates are reasonable, too.

Of course, you'll encounter European drivers. To many of them the automobile is a new toy and they brandish it like a fencing foil. You'll be appalled by the amount of passing on hills and curves. And, as a result of Europe's new prosperity, there are already too many cars in the cities and the situation is growing noticeably worse each year. There are no traffic jams in America comparable to the hurly-burly around the Etoile in Paris or the absolute paralysis on Rome's Via Corso.

And the height of the summer season is a poor time for driving, for Europe, itself, is on the move then and the hotels are jammed with vacationers. The best schedule is to start in the north about Sept. 1 and work south with the sun. Then, if you find a city crowded, it's only half an hour farther to a country inn where the food and accommodations may be twice as good at half the price.

Altogether, the pluses of driving yourself through Europe far outweigh the minuses.

Everybody sees Amsterdam, but you can cross the giant polder that's drying up the Zuyder Zee. Everbody goes to Stratford-on-Avon, but you can explore Chipping Campden, Malmesbury and North Leach en route. The train takes you through the St. Gottard tunnel, but your car goes over the pass, and over the Furka and the Grimsel and the Susten, too, where you look down upon the glaciers out of which boil the beginnings of the Rhine, the Rhone and the Po. Barcelona from a rubber-neck bus is fun, but not the same fun as a ham-and-cheese picnic in a Spanish olive grove.

A salty American lady in Copenhagen said this: "The difference between a tourist and a traveler is that the tourist knows where he'll spend the night." If you drive you'll be a traveler. You'll stop where sundown catches you. But Europe takes on a charm and intimacy that you'll never know on the rigid tour schedules.

You'll come home saying: I didn't see so many hands out. I wasn't short-changed much. I was laughed with more than laughed at. Those were pretty nice people.

Keeping Wolves At Bay Both At Home And Away

Those critics of Woody Hayes who have kept the silver platter in readiness for the coatless one's head all season can file it back in the closet for another 10 months.

After Saturday last, we believe that W. W. Hayes is secure until next Sept. 27.

THAT LITTLE single-engine airplane that so brazenly waved "Goodbye Woody" a few weeks ago over Ohio Stadium might have been good for a passing chuckle.

But the last laugh this season will have to belong to the recipient of its departing message.

Mr. Hayes has shown in the past and will continue to demonstrate that his only response to outside "win-em-all-or-else" pressure will be bared fangs.

WOODY'S critics may huff and puff till they're blue in the face, but they won't blow his coaching house down.

We must admit that the door was straining at the hinges until Michigan was deposited in the refuse container Saturday.

After all, three losses in a row by any OSU football team is unthinkable, and the Bucks were on the threshold for three periods Saturday.

IT DIDN'T matter that this '63 version was highly overrated and simply didn't "have the horses."

And yet, here where the dust has settled we find the Haysian fold denied another Big Ten title share by possibly only the schedule maker who provided front-runner Illinois with one more loop game than the Buckeyes.

When the final whistle sounded Saturday, Woody had held the Wolves at bay once again — both those in Ann Arbor and the more dangerous local breed.

The question as to what "pleases the most people most of the time" also got a firm answer this season.

THE CONSENSUS has been for the past few years that birds could feel perfectly safe swooping over the Stadium on autumn afternoons.

The only thing that could hit them, the reasoning went, was a misguided paper missile from C Deck.

But the advocates of the forward pass got what they've been screaming for this past campaign.

BUT AS A fellow traveler they also got three losses, something that isn't too digestible around these parts.

If nothing else, the '63 grid season answered one time-tried question — what comes first, the forward pass or the win?

You can put the blame on Maime, boys, but don't dump it all on W.W.

There was no breakaway back. In fact, there was virtually no offense. (Statistics show the Bucks scored less points — 12 per game — this time around than all Big Ten teams except lowly Iowa).

1963 MIGHT be remembered as "the year of the famine," but it will probably be forgotten as the one in which Woody got the last laugh.

So better roll up those "bye-bye" signs. Woody isn't buying.

While we're on "goodbye, Woody" (until next fall) let's say "hello, Fred (Taylor)."

THE ROUNDBALL guy, who "lost it all" in '62-'63 and then came right back to gain a title tie with his next performance, is back in business again at the Arena.

The rating experts haven't been as kind to Mr. Taylor this season, setting him and his Buckeye five right down on the Big Ten "hot seat".

One cage magazine gives OSU a split-hair edge over Northwestern and Michigan in the upcoming loop run, tossing in an 11th place national rating for good measure.

ACCORDING to the prognosticators, the Bucks have one severe extra-league opponent in Wichita, a visitor here Dec. 21.

The Bucks nod comes on the strength of All-American Gary Bradds, while Michigan and Northwestern (the mag says) must depend on the early progress of a pair of sophomores (Jim Pitts, NW, and Cazzie Russell, Michigan).

In passing, opening games find the three key performers closing: Bradds (20 vs. Davis Calif.), Pitts (11 vs. Western Michigan) and Russell (30 vs. Ball State).

The Bucks will face their stiffest league competition on three occasions, hosting Michigan, Feb. 3, and traveling to Ann Arbor (Jan. 18) and Evanston (the lair of the Wildcats) Feb. 22.

SHOWDOWN SET AS . . .

South, M-F Impress With Opening Wins

By ART KIENZLE

South Side fans saw plenty of basketball action during the past week with all teams except Rosary doing battle.

South High opened its season with a big bang as the Bulldogs replaced Central as Invitational Tournament champ.

THE REBS toppled Whetstone, 67-63, Saturday night after gaining the playoff berth by defeating Walnut Ridge, 66-34, in Friday's opener.

Central took second place by outscoring Walnut Ridge, 69-52, while Whetstone won the right to play South when the Braves won over Central (63-51) Friday.

Marion-Franklin was also busy, running its early-season record to 2-0 with wins over Franklin Heights (66-59) and Mifflin (62-52).

AQUINAS (1-1) won its opener over St. Charles (57-55) before falling to Watterson (64-48) Friday.

Elsewhere, St. Marys found itself outclassed by St. Aloysius (New Lexington), 83-44.

Co-captain Marion Iverson accepted the three-foot tournament trophy for South Saturday evening at Walnut Ridge — marking the first time the Rebs have won the classic.

SOUTH AND Whetstone ran neck-and-neck through the entire first half, the score knotted six times before the Bulldogs pulled ahead, 33-32, at intermission.

But South's well-oiled basketball machine worked smoothly, building up its biggest lead (54-40) with 1:25 left in the third period.

Whetstone, however, picked away at the margin until the Braves closed to within four (63-59) with three minutes to go in the game.

BUT THAT was the extent of Whetstone's advance as the Bulldogs slammed the door.

The sharp-shooting Bulldogs actually won the game at the foul line, hitting on 19 of 31 shots (61 per cent) while Whetstone could manage only nine of 17.

Joe Middendorf and Paul Hunt were South's high scorers, the former hitting for 19 points, the latter 16.

BILL BULLOCK and Roger Harper netted 13 and 12 points, respectively, to put four of the Rebel five in double figures.

Whetstone got an 18-point effort from 6-5 forward John Heft.

As far as South's opening game win over Walnut Ridge went, it was generally decided early as the Bulldogs raced off to a 30-10 intermission bulge.

MIDDENDORF and Bullock set the scoring pace against the Scotties with 19 and 13 markers, respectively.

A Marion-Franklin comeback in the final period earned Coach Bob Holderle and his Red Devils an opening game victory.

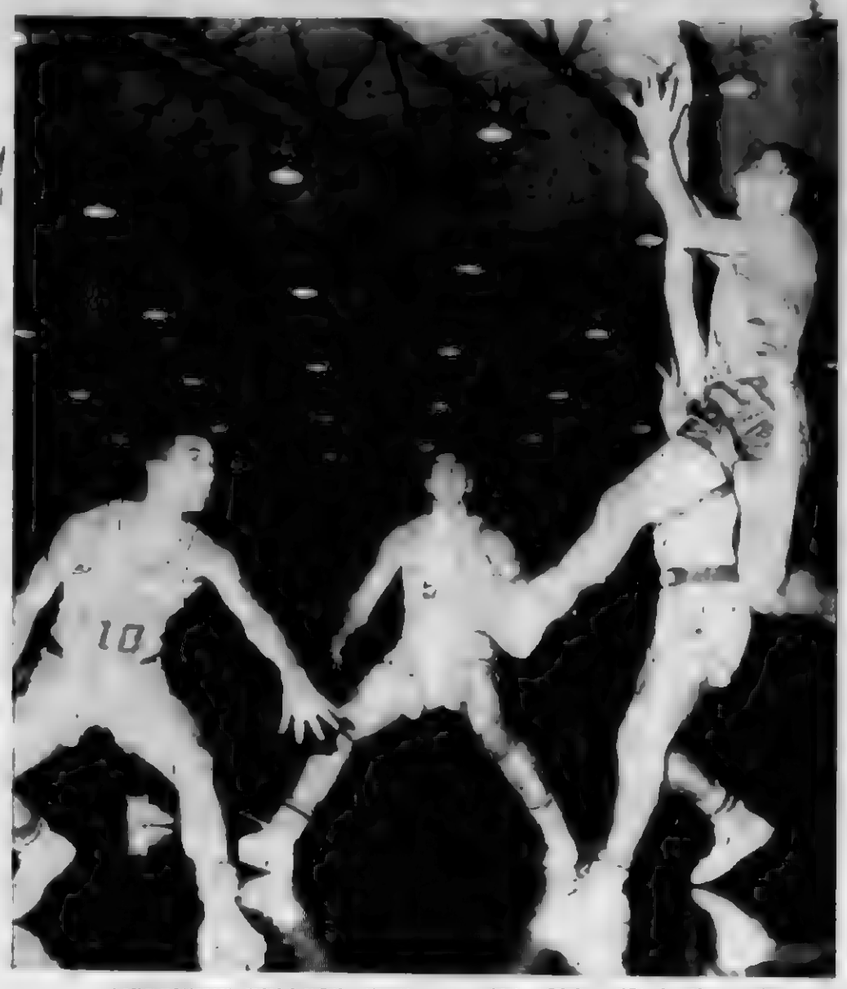
The Devils, who trailed most of the game, entered the final frame down by three but outscored the Falcons, 22-11, in that vital period.

M-F SHOWED good scoring balance with four cagers finishing in the double figures. John Jackson's 14 was tops but Skip Sheridan (11), Steve Jackson (10) and Al Patterson (10) were close behind.

The Red Devils were more impressive against the Cowpunchers, holding a lead most of the distance as John Jackson and Sheridan set the pace with 15 markers each.

Steve Jackson also contributed 10 more points.

JOHN LANG was the Aquinas spark as he broke a 55-55 deadlock with a winning goal at the buzzer vs. St. Charles.



But it was another story against Watterson as the Eagles hopped off to a quick lead and never let the Irish get close.

Five games complete the weekend card for cage activity around the area.

NUMBER ONE attraction will be South's (2-0) visit to Marion-Franklin (2-0) Friday evening in a battle of City League unbeatens.

Only other Friday tilt involves Aquinas' (1-1) visit to Walnut Ridge (0-3).

Saturday's three contests find St. Marys (0-1) hosting Mt. Vernon St. Vincent, South traveling to Springfield North and Rosary (0-0) visiting Olentangy (1-0) for the Crusaders' opener.

AIRBOURNE BULLDOG—South cager Mike Fisher (3) is the center of attraction as he goes airbourne with this scoring attempt Friday evening in the Capital City Tourney at Walnut Ridge. Closing in too late on the high-flying Fisher are W-R's Dennis Erklon (center) and Gary Carter (10). South won 66-34.

Coon, Fox Plentiful But Rabbits, Birds Scarce

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

Upland hunting in this area is apparently not improving as the season progresses. Individual reports reaching this writer have not been good, and the pheasants and rabbits continue to be scarce.

The Ohio Division of Wildlife just reported that good hunting reports are scattered in the central section of the state, but that hunting was generally poor except for raccoons.

OF ALL THE game in the state, raccoons have been the most plentiful in recent years. You do not need to be a hunter to know this. By the numbers killed on highways and the tracks you see along streams while fishing, it is obvious that the coon population has been up. But this seems to be the year for declines, as the hardy and prolific raccoon seems to be off a little from last year.

You do not have to be very old to remember when a coon was a prize — to both trappers and hunters. Worth about $5, it was every boy trapper's dream to catch a coon. They were scarce then, and were being stocked by the state. Conservation clubs also bought them for release.

But due to fashion changes in the unstable women's garment industry, the fur market has been very poor for a number of years. During this time raccoons and foxes have increased and opossums seem to be more abundant. Skunks, however, have not, and have only increased slightly recently. It must follow, therefore, that hunting and trapping pressure is not the only thing that determines wild populations.

A FEW YEARS back, the Davy Crockett coonskin cap fad brought an upturn in the raccoon market for a single year. Then when the kids went on to hoola hoops, or something else, the demand fell again.

The one good thing that has come out of all of this is that coon and fox hunting has been good in Ohio for the last 15 years or so. Both sports are dependent upon good dogs, and are more rugged than the usual activities of present-day nimrods.

Coon hunting is often referred to as "night hunting," harking back to the days when coons, opposums, skunks and anything else was taken if possible. Now the dogs are pretty well trained to chase coons only, and the sport is listening to the chase and following it on foot.

SINCE THE FUR is almost worthless, hunters do not kill all the game that they could. The important thing is the chase and the companionship of hunters as they trek the woods in total darkness or dim moonlight.

Fox hunters are more enthusiastic than coon hunters if that's possible. Even when the furs were valuable, they were reluctant to shoot red fox. Gray foxes are another matter, as they do not give the long chase that their red cousins provide.

Either night or day is used to listen to a pack of fox hounds run. This is hunting in the traditional sense, although the hounds are not followed on horseback. The settlers of this country brought their hounds with them, and the chase still has a large following.

THIS, OF COURSE, brings up the classic joke in the whole sport of fox hunting. A novice was taken out with a band of hunters one night, and a pack of 10 or 12 dogs was turned loose. The hunting party proceeded to a hilltop where the chase could be followed by ear if a track was struck.

After 15 or 20 minutes in the cold, a great commotion started as a hot trail was found and all the hounds chimed in with their various voices. An old timer said with excitement, "Listen to that music." The newcomer replied, "I can't hear it for all those dogs barking."

South YMCA Opens Winter Sports Slate

The South Side YMCA Inter-Church and winter sports program is now under way with practice sessions in basketball and volleyball being held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights at five city school gyms.

Teams entered as of this date are as follows: Basketball — Jr. Boys (age 14 and under) — Livingston Methodist, St. Paul United, St. Paul Lutheran, South Methodist, Hungarian United, Oakwood Methodist, Emmanuel Lutheran, Brookwood Presbyterian, Hope Lutheran, Eastview Methodist, Scottwood Community, Grace United, Christ Methodist and Redeemer Lutheran.

GIRLS (18 and under) — Washington Ave. E.U.B., Brookwood Presbyterian, Ohio Ave. E. U. B., Hope Lutheran and Redeemer Lutheran.

Intermediate Boys, (15-16-17) — Ohio Ave. E. U. PGA Tickets AvailableNow

The 1964 PGA will bring golfdom's top professional golfers to the Columbus Country Club (July 16-19) to compete for the title Jack Nicklaus brought home from Dallas last July.

Ticket sale activities are being directed from the PGA office that has been established at 50 W. Broad-st.

Tickets may be ordered by writing or calling the PGA Office at 221-1376.

Wildlife Division Plans To Spring Pheasants

Ohio sportsmen who question their ability to find pheasants after the first few days of the upland game season should take heart according to the Ohio Division of Wildlife.

More than 16,000 birds will be released on public wildlife areas during the peak hunting of the pheasant season.

Madison County is one local area where cock birds will be distributed.

Mar. 8, 1950, 48 new fighter planes and bombers for France were loaded at Norfolk, Va., as the initial shipment of arms from the U. S. to Europe under the terms of the North Atlantic Mutual Defense Treaty.

Champion 5 Wins, 32-27

Champion Junior High slipped past Franklin, 32-27, last week on the East High court.

Franklin pulled out to a 7-0 lead early in the game and led 20-14 at intermission.

CHAMPION, sparked by the fine playmaking and scoring of captain Ken Robinson, rallied strongly in the second half, limiting Franklin to a bare seven points.

With one minute of playing time remaining, Robinson sank a foul shot to put Champion up, 30-27.

Vance Carr's tip-in after a stolen pass iced the game for the winners.

MEL FOWLKES and Jim Graves paced the Champion scoring with nine and eight points respectively.

CENTER PLUNGE—Football bowed out several weeks ago but South's Marion Iverson (center) looks like he might like to give the gridiron a final fling as he searches for an opening in the line Friday evening at Walnut Ridge. Scotties' Jim Purnell (right) and Rebs' Tom Johnson (left) seem confused by Iverson's tactics.

Mrs. Lipinski Winner In Grid Contest Finale

Dorothy Jean Lipinski, 2962 Wessex-ct, is the seventh week and final winner in the Hartley Newspapers Football Contest.

Mrs. Lipinski, who picked up $25 for her effort in topping 226 other contestants, hit on 10 of 12 contest games to head the field.

FOUR OF the 16 games played were discounted due to cancellations and postponements following President Kennedy's death.

Once again, it was necessary for the Contest Editor to lean on the tiebreaker with two other entrants also missing but two games.

Judy Davis, 2660 Eakin-rd, and Mrs. Ed Buckholtz, 993 Francis-av, also correctly named 10 of 12 games but couldn't match Mrs. Lipinski's point spread on the final score of the OSU-Michigan game.

MRS. LIPINSKI'S winnings closed out the Football Contest jackpot for another season.

By way of reviewing the seven-week contest, a total of $375 was collected by winners, well over the guaranteed total of $175.

Approximately 1,242 entries were received from a wide area of circulation. One entrant faithfully submitted his blank each week from St. Louis, Mo.

THE EIGHT winners included three high school students and the wife of a coach

The complete list of winners follows:

If your name isn't on the above winner's list, try again next year. You could be the next winner!

Mrs. Lipinski

Joe McGrath, 138 Concord-pl—$50.

Denny Parker, 855 Stanley-av- $50.

Miss Cleo Noggle, 2405½ W. Broad-st—$25.

Mrs. Mary Harper, 62 S. Richardson-av— $50.

Jerry Ray, 163 N. Oakley-av, and George Cunningham, 55 N. Guilford-st—(total of $75, resulting from tiebreaker tie).

John Schreiber, 3547 Lockbourne-rd- $100. (16 correct picks out of 16 games).

Dorothy Jean Lipinski, 2962 Wessex-ct—$25.

Three South Gridders Honored At Banquet

Halfback Paul Pate and lineman Joe Cook and Bill Jeffrey were honored Monday evening at the South High Football Appreciation Banquet at the Southern Hotel.

Pate was tabbed as the CL co-champs' "most valuable player" while Cook and Jeffrey were named as the Bulldogs' "most improved lineman."

CAN BE ADOPTED

AN ADOPTABLE PET, selected by Earl Hahn (left) of the Humane Society of Columbus, will be shown on the "Dean Miller" show each weekday, Dec. 2 through 24, on WLW-C, TV-4. After being described by a Humane Society representative, the pet will be returned to the shelter at 2770 Groveport-pk. Anyone interested in adopting the animal — dog, cat, hamster or white rat — will be able to find him in front of the "Dean Miller Adopt-A-Pet" sign. Shown with Hahn in front of the sign are Dean Miller (center) and Cecil Crosby, shelter manager.

Citizenship Committee Elects Officers, Sets Next Meeting

Officers for the Citizenship Committee of Columbus, Inc., were recently elected at a regular meeting of the organization.

They are: Mrs. George D. Sreiner, DAR Auxiliary, president; Fred Kreutz, Southeast Lions and South Side Businessmen's Association, vice-president; Mrs. Clarence Boyd, Blue Star Mothers, recording secretary; Rowena Kesler, YWCA, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. William E. Jones, Welcome Wagon, treasurer.

Trustees who were elected are: Miss Anabelle Burley, United Church Women; Mrs. D. W. McConnell, Gold Star Mothers, and Mrs. John Cotter, American Legion Auxiliary, Unit No. 1.

The next meeting of the committee will be Tuesday, Jan. 21, 11:45 a.m. at the YWCA. A spring workshop will be planned, and representatives from any interested group will be welcome to attend.

The organization represents more than 50 civic, business, veterans' auxiliaries, church groups and women's groups. Its purpose is to offer friendship to newly naturalized citizens and to help them become a part of the community.

The number of women who do door-to-door selling is now up to 700,000, nearly half of the 1.5 million total, according to the National Association of Direct Selling Companies.

WTVN To Show Documentary On 'Hungry Giants'

"The Hungry Giants," this month's presentation on "Perspective on Greatness," will tell the story of world hunger, the men who fought it, and the men who rose to power because of it.

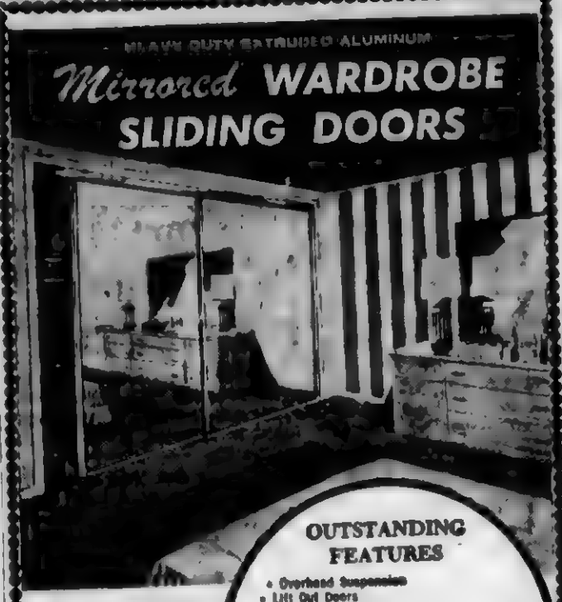
One of a series of documentary specials, this month's "Perspective on Greatness" program will be broadcast by WTVN-TV on Monday, Dec. 16, at 7:30 p.m.

The program will cover events during the two world wars in which Russia and China fall to Communism because of hunger. It will also show what the U.S. is doing now to prevent other hungry nations from toppling to Communism.

Town Meeting To Discuss SA

Columbus Town Meeting's Sunday, Dec. 8, program will be: "Are We Doing Enough in South America? A First Hand Look."

The panel will discuss the political, social and economic aspects observed on a recent trip to South America under the auspices of the YMCA.



Persons wishing to question the panel may call CA. 8-3881 during the program which may be seen over WBNS-TV at 5:30 p.m.

HI. 4-1851

A pleasant discovery was recently made by this writer, who wants to share it with the readers. The discovery is that the painting efforts of the area's residents have a chance of being viewed by the general public, thanks to the interest in art and artists of Mrs. Earl Johnson.

Mrs. Johnson, a resident of Thorndale-av, persuaded her husband that most people enjoy looking at pictures, whether they were experts or not. So, for two years the Johnsons have utilized the foyer of their restaurant, 2551 S. Parsons-av, as a display case for local artists.

There are generally three pictures hung at a time, and these are changed once a month. So far, 78 pictures have been displayed, bringing beauty into the diners' lives, plus giving the local amateur painters a sense of accomplishment.

Last month's artist was Mrs. Helen Hoover, a resident of Obetz-rd, whose exhibitions were "Country Snow" and "In Oriental Calm." Helen has had six showings so far. Evelyn Bastian of Ashville has been represented three times and can claim the honor of showing a picture to cause the most comment. Nancy Meteer, of Groveport-rd, is another localite who has contributed work for display.

Other exhibitors have been R. E. Mauck, three times; Edna Kranzley once, and Joan Johnson (no relation), also once. Louise Weidman, another artist, is perhaps the real professional of the group, as she appeared on the "Flippo" TV show as a quick sketch artist and has been on the Dean Miller Show. She also does portrait painting, as proof of her excellence.

Polly Schiff of S. High-st is the current exhibitor for the month of December at the third generation restaurant. The Johnsons are happy to view the work of local artists, for they plan to keep the feature permanently.

The restaurant was founded 38 years ago by Earl Johnson's father. In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Johnson, a son, Jim, also assists in the business. A daughter, Marilyn Hawkins, helps when possible. She and Jim are also residents of Thorndale. Another son, Robert J., of Rohr-rd, is employed elsewhere.

The music of barbershop quartets will be wafting from Mees Hall of Capital University on Friday, Dec. 6, and Saturday, Dec. 7, at 8 p.m.

Chuck Selby's Orchestra will provide the music for the Wednesday, Dec. 11, midweek dance at the YWCA, from 8:45 to 11:45 p.m.

The South High basketball team will play two "away" games this weekend. On Friday, Dec. 6, neighboring Marion-Franklin will be the host team, while Springfield will be the adversary on Saturday, Dec. 7.

The ailing list includes Beth and Jay Jacks, a brother and sister duo, who were in two different hospitals at the same time recently. The teenagers are residents of 1114 Champion-av. Ethel Osborne, 306 Stewart-av, has been a patient in Riverside Hospital. Myrtle McVay, 73 E. Morrill-av, has been on the ailing list, as has Dave Hamilton, 1522 Wager-st. Faustina Henry is currently a patient at Mercy Hospital as the result of a broken hip. Rose DeMatteo, 1402 Studer-av, was scheduled to enter University Hospital this week for tests. George Christy, 249 E. Markison-av, would be cheered by cards at the present time.

It may be the time of year for snowflakes to fall, but for these youngsters it's the time for birthday anticipations to rise: Michael Beard, Bobby Fleenor, Teresa Rowland, Elayna Sherrod, Patricia Shroyer, Gregory Oxley, Steven Walker, Diana Horne, Roger Coverdale, Constance Romine, Kathi Horne, Judy Wiles, Fred McCoy, Geraldine McCoy, Elissa Nazy, Charles Tayner, Mary Workman, Michael Dorn, Kathy Hinson and Marsha Blackburn.

Teenagers to rate birthday helloes include Deanna Womeldorf, Wade Riley, Lenora Pritt and Larry Kleinlein.

Early December birthdays are celebrated by these adults: Hattie Peterson, Peg Burns, Harold Myers, Jean LaRue, Evelyn Bier, Mary Lou Leonard, Mrs. Suttner, Ralph Skeen, Elizabeth Edwards and Celesta Kendall.

Very special greetings to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Freytag, who will be guests of honor at St. Paul's Lutheran Church on Sunday, Dec. 8, from 2 to 5 p.m. in observance of their 50th wedding anniversary.

THEIR SONGS TOUCH MANY HEARTS

"OH, COME ALL YE FAITHFUL . . ." and join Kinder Key in its annual caroling project. For the 10th year Kinder Key members, husbands, schools, churches and other community groups are forming to sing and raise money to benefit the heart laboratory at Children's Hospital. "Kinder," a German word, means children. The key symbolizes the unlocking of "new hope for young hearts." Singing at the home of Mrs. Lester Newkirk, 44 Stimmel-st as they will the night of the kickoff Wednesday, Dec. 11 are Sister Margaret Anne and a group of carolists from St. Marys High School. Nearest to the camera from the left are Bonnie Campbell, Sister Margaret Anne and Mary Purdy. In the back are Kathy Green, Ruth Horvath and Sandy Knight. At the doorway with Mrs. Newkirk, who is a member of the Kinder Key board, is Ann Morbitzer.

The Freytags, residents of 303 Stewart-av, will be honored with a family dinner at Rush 'n Opal's Party House prior to the afternoon affair. They are the parents of David, of Newark, O., and John, of Oak Harbor, O. There are six grandchildren.

Select Christmas trees will be available at 190 Southwood-av, site of the South Side YMCA, from Saturday, Dec. 7. The local institution will benefit from the profits of the project. Sponsoring groups include Amerigo Seniors, Amerigo II, Right Angle, Builders and YMCA clubs.

Meetings, here and there. . . The St. Leo's Altar Rosary Sodality will hold a joint meeting with the Holy Name Society of the church tonight. The meeting will be held at the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., where "Family Life Christmas Devotions" will be discussed. Mrs. Raymond Rodenfels is chairman of the program. The group has planned a Christmas cookie sale and gift fair for Sunday, Dec. 15, after all the services are over.

The Women's Guild of the Hungarian E and R Church will meet on Tuesday, Dec. 10, at 8 p.m. Mary Toth and Elizabeth Nagy will be the hostesses.

The Barrett PTA executive board will meet at 1:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Dec. 10. A tea will be held for the faculty.

The Mothers of Twins Club will have a gift exchange and smorgasbord dessert at their Wednesday, Dec. 11, meeting. The group will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the Main Federal Bank, at the Central Point Shopping Center.

The WSCS circle chairmen of the South Methodist Church will be hostesses when that group meets Wednesday, Dec. 11, at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Walter Miller, 1399 Lilley-av, will be hostess for the Trudeau Guild 10 meeting, to be held at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 11, when the annual Christmas party will be held.

PNAO, Division 12, will meet Tuesday, Dec. 10, at the YWCA, 65 S. Fourth-st, from 9:15 to 11:30 a.m. at Schiller Park. Leaders will exchange Christmas craft gifts.

The Wesner family of Southwood-av spent Thanksgiving in Indana, visiting relatives and friends. While in their home state, the minister of the Southwood Church of Christ was the speaker at a dedication ceremony of a new church, Carter's Creek Church.

The Mothers of Twins Club will hold its annual Christmas party for husbands on Saturday, Dec. 7, at Miller's Restaurant, in Gahanna.

The monthly euchre party, sponsored by the Harmony Glee Club, will be held this Saturday, Dec. 7, at the club house, 435 E. Kossuth-st.

Sympathy is extended to families of John Tope, Sr., Walter Steffens, Sr., and Daniel Leonard, all fathers of cherished friends.

Circle 2 of the Livingston Methodist Church will hold a luncheon on Tuesday, Dec. 10.

The men of the Washington Avenue EUB Church will hold their monthly meeting tonight at 7:30. An election of officers will be held. The Franklin County EUB men will meet Tuesday, Dec. 10, at 7:30 p.m. at the East Eighth Avenue EUB Church. The Tami-Ka-Ta Camp Fire Girls were special guests at the Court of Honor held for Boy Scout Troop 260 at the Hope EUB Church, in November.

We know that December is officially here now, for the annual "Southeast Lions Roar" newspaper sale will take place tomorrow, Friday, Dec. 6, starting at 6 p.m. The community benefits greatly from this effort, so far to the extent that $130,000 has been spent on 300 school and community projects. Four hundred Lions and helpers will be selling their papers in the area, hoping that their efforts will again be as successful as those in the past.

Won't you assist the newspaper "boys" by turning on your porch light tomorrow night, signifying your affirmative desire to purchase a paper? Remember, this is the "club that gets things done" and you are helping your own community.

Mrs. Joseph Berendt, 806 Stewart-av, will be the hostess for Cloverleaf 33, on Wednesday, Dec. 11, for an 8 p.m. casserole dinner.

Wedding bells will ring this Sunday, Dec. 8, for Novella Nowlin, 3427 S. High-st, and Lyle Seine, Englewood, Colo.

Contributions to this writer's Christmas project, the "Gifts for Giving," to patients at the Benjamin Franklin Hospital are doing quite nicely, we are pleased to report. We are grateful to our editor, Jane Robinson, for her assistance in publicizing it last week, so our first thank you will go her way.

Our distribution date is Monday, Dec. 16, so we will be able to accept reader donations until Sunday, Dec. 15.

Donors for this week include the Shumaker Circle of Shepherd Methodist Church, Trudeau Guild 36, Jane Bell, Mrs. A. Worth, Norma Jones, Mary Mason, Carol and Audrey Weaver, Mrs. Arthur Widmaier, Mrs. Woodland, Marie Esselstein, the Misses Schmidt, Glenna Edwards and Mary Johnson.

Politics—

political rallies that were both educational and social. He also favored "name" speakers from the state and national levels of politics over strictly local candidates. Thus the area candidates were forced to campaign more on a door-to-door basis.

Some people think that politics and corruption are synonymous. This feeling is not of recent vintage, as borne out by an incident cited by Willis. He told of a woman who was plugging the candidacy of a young man for a local judgeship, and who was extolling his virtue of honesty to a voter.

"You said he was an honest young man," the voter replied. "Then go on home, lady, and quit trying to get him elected if you want him to stay that way."

Both Williams and Willis agreed that "the closer government is to the people, the better," and that there is not much contact today between committeemen and the county chairman as there was in their day.

And each volunteered a piece of information about the other that is too seldom heard today among opposing political personalities. In speaking of the other, each said: "He is a real gentleman."

do develop, as present indications forecast, there would be land reserved for a school.

Columbus school officials explain that purchasing land before it is entirely developed is more economical, and assures a school location.

They also emphasize that purchasing a tract outside of the present Columbus School District does not mean that the area will be annexed to the city by the time a school is needed. In the event that another school district's needs for land are more critical than Columbus, land for a school would be available.

Selected Michigan trees will be sold on and after Saturday, Dec. 7. The committee invites all friends of the "Y" to stop by before purchasing a tree.

All the profits from the sale will be earmarked for improvements of the South Side "Y". The committee, John Schumacher, Herman Kuehn, Jack Kirby, Howard Reedy, Ross Hughes, Gary Englehart, Bill Hoy, Jim Wagner and Howard Henry, will be assisted by members of the Amerigo II, Right Angle Builders, and YICA men's clubs.

Jamboree—

It wasn't too difficult; he was speaking their language. A former Boy Scout, an Eagle Scout, holder of the Order of the Arrow, and Explorer advisor. Armstrong even looked like a clean-cut Boy Scout.

Telling the boys that before they complete their education that he hopes to have been to the moon and that by then planet exploration will be occupying the space-minded, he put an emphasis on education.

"It is becoming harder and harder for the self-educated man to find a place in our world," the aeronautical engineering graduate told his audience.

"Most of you will find elsewhere the fascination that I find in the sky," he said asked the boys to prepare today for whatever their futures may bring.

As Armstrong spoke on about his life as effected by Scouting it seemed less than a coincidence that of the 30 men so far chosen to participate in the National Aerotration program as astronauts, 27 have been members auts, 27 have been members of the Boy Scouts of America.

Scheip Elected

The medical staff of Children's Hospital has elected Dr. James R. Scheip as chairman of the medical staff.

Unique—

flexibility has been maintained for firms requiring varying amount of space.

Zoned M-1 or light manufacturing, occupancy is restricted to industry of non-objectionable character.

In addition to the restrictions laid by municipal zoning, deed restrictions have been outlined setting the standards for building, utilities, landscaping and maintenance. All improvements are subject to the approval of the developer.

Dickerson pointed out that because no more than 50 percent of the land area can be covered by structures, setbacks are mandatory, all utilities placed underground from the site perimeter and service buildings and parking area must be screened by landscaping, the nomenclature "park" will not be violated.

Pressed for the names of the firms who have purchased sites (deed restrictions also demand that construction sites be developed within 18 months of purchase) Dickerson stated he is not at liberty to disclose this information, but could state definitely that ground will be broken in very early spring.

He further disclosed that one of the purchasers is a company that is being displaced by Urban-Renewal.

Dickerson believes that his company's development has more to offer to the medium-sized manufacturer, and thus expects purchasers to fit in this category.

"The corporate giant will buy a massive tract of land and the city, welcoming it with open arms will extend utilities, build streets and give it full cooperation," he said.

He went on to explain that in an industrial park such as this the smaller firm is given access to the water, sewage and transportation it needs without additional costs that might be beyond its financial limitations.

Dickerson does not expect the transformation of the site into an industrial Shangri-La overnight, but he is a young man and claims that he is a patient one.

Experts have stated that the increasing executive use of private aircraft will prove to revolutionize industrial site development during this decade.

PART TWO: GRASSROOTS POLITICS

County Political Leaders Are Little Known To People

By FRANK RYAN

Franklin county's political leadership has drifted much farther from the people than the voters have from the area of politics.

A telephone survey by editors of Hartley Newspapers indicates that the chairmen of the County Republican and Democratic executive committees could easily qualify for membership in "Politicians Anonymous" if such a group existed.

And if the names of county chairmen are less than household words in Franklin County, the elected ward and township committemen are also phantom-like personalities.

County Republican Chairman William Schneider was better known than his Democratic counterpart, Jerry F. Ryan. A whopping 12 per cent of those interviewed knew that Schneider is chairman of the county Republican party—a post he has held for the past 28 years. The remaining 88 per cent didn't even hazard a guess.

Ryan, who succeeded 30-year veteran Walter F. Heer late in 1962, was known to only seven per cent of those interviewed. Of the remaining 93 per cent, one man said that Heer was the immediate past chairman. Another described the Dem chairman as "a short, fat Irishman," but could not furnish a name. (This answer was hard to score because Heer is short and stout, while the name "Ryan" is undeniably Irish.)

Few Knew Ward Chairmen

Slightly more than eight per cent of those interviewed were able to correctly identify their ward or township committeemen.

But if the eligible voters were unclear as to who was supplying local political leadership, they were quick to answer questions relating to their personal attitudes about voting, politics and politicians.

Seventy-eight per cent said they were registered voters, but less than half of the registered voters indicated regular participation in primary elections.

A large majority of those polled, 77 per cent, said the votes went to the man rather than to the party he represented. Only 10 per cent indicated that party affiliation influenced their choice, while 12 per cent said they used both criteria.

Shun Meetings

An identical set of percentages was obtained on the question of watching political debates and rallies on television as opposed to attending such events. Only 10 per cent indicated they would attend such events if they had the alternative of watching on television. Thirteen per cent either refused to choose between the two alternatives or said they would avoid both choices.

Each person interviewed was asked if there was a basic difference between the two major political parties, and 55 per cent said they could see none.

The survey indicated a great void between local political leadership and those who are "led." Nonetheless, a healthy majority of those interviewed were kind in their comments about politicians and politics in general.

". . . But Thank God We Have Them"

The most prevalent thought was summed up by one voter who said, "there is good and bad in all things—in politics it's the same." Some provided wholehearted support for the politician, such as the woman who said: "The country wouldn't be very good without them (politicians). Thank God we have them."

But the approximate 20 per cent who expressed negative views concerning politicians and politics were strong in their denunciations. "Rotten," was the crypte reply of two respondents. "This mud-slinging, I don't like; there could be a lot cleaned up," said another. Still another said: "The majority go in good but they don't come out that way. They're mostly big blows and do-nothings."

One person gave an answer that seemed more to sum up the attitude of political leadership than the voters. "It doesn't matter," she said, of her opinion about politicians. The survey results indicate that that is precisely the way local political leaders feel about their image with the voters.

Getting Started Is The Hard Part

Our Kiwanis club has just completed a very successful newspaper sale. A few weeks before the sale it appeared that the bottom had dropped out of things.

As I came out of a club meeting at noon one day a good member observed, "These things are getting harder to do every year."

Many a community service project has been doomed to failure by this same attitude and expression.

God bless him! I don't

Is Uncle Sam Too Generous?

To give or not to give.

Daily more and more citizens are asking themselves and their congressmen whether the United States should subsidize foreign nations.

Jenkin Lloyd Jones, who has been on an extensive overseas tour, this week gives some timely and salient views on the foreign aid controversy. Read this regularly featured Editor's Outlook on the editorial page.

RAISING OF THE FLAG presented by Jerry Ensingh, Commander of the American Legion Southway Post, marked the opening of the Lincoln Park District Police Station Thursday at the dedication ceremonies. The new building, designed by Croce and Abbott, local architects, is the first facility in the City of Columbus designed specifically for police purposes. A similar station is on the planning boards for the West Side, to be built at 1770 Sullivant-av next spring. Now to be used as a sub-station where the 24 officers of Precinct Seven will report for roll call and assignment, the building will function as a district station as the Columbus Police Department makes headway on its program of decentralization.

Council Okays Move To Village

German Village Offers Building To Commission

The action of the Columbus City Council Monday night to move the office of the German Village Commission to the building owned by the German Village Society should win the whole-hearted approval of the residents of the area.

Under the legislation passed last summer, a certificate of appropriateness must be obtained from the commission before an owner can effect any exterior change of property in the area designated as German Village.

And, as Frank Fetch, president of the Society pointed out, it will certainly be easier for a resident of the area to appear at the office located at 624 S. Third which is in the heart of the Village, than seek out the office in City Hall.

The facilites were offered

LOOKING OVER the offices of German Village Society where the offices to which the German Village Commission will move the first of the year is Commission member, William Scheurer, right, with host Frank Fetch, president of the German Village Society. The restoration of the area originally promoted through the lone efforts of the Society has been augmented by the zoning ordinance passed by City Council last spring, assuring that the historical atmosphere of the area will not be lost. According to Fetch, the operation which started as a shoe-string operation is being watched by those interested in urban-renewal all over the United States, and can possibly change the concept of urban-renewal from one of slum-clearance to that of rehabilitation.

FIRST BUILT FOR POLICE USE ALONE

South Sub-Station Put In Operation

Better law enforcement on the South Side is forecast with the dedication this morning (Thursday) of the Lincoln Park District Station at E. Woodrow and Ann-sts.

The first sub-station in Columbus to be designed specifically for police use, the building is now functioning 24 hours a day, seven days a week, as an operating center for the seventh precinct.

Formerly the precinct operated from the Fire Station at Fourth and Thurman.

Attached to the area which extends from the Scioto River to Alum Creek and from Livingston-av to the southern corporation limits of the city are three shifts of eight officers. Five one-man cars, one two-man and the sergeant's car are patrolling on each trick.

According to Lt. Stephen Tigyer of the Police Public Information, it is anticipated that the station will be utilized as an actual district station with detention cells, as police plans for decentralization materialize. A knock-out wall was included to allow for future expansion.

He also predicts that South Side growth will nessitate the formation of two precincts in the area now occupied by the seventh, and pointed out that the station has been designed to accommodate both.

Present at the brief dedication services at which Ervin Wagenbrenner, general contractor of the $80,000 building, turned over the keys to the city, were Mayor W. Ralston Westlake, city officials and representatives of the Council of South Side Organizations and the South Side Business Association.

Fred Simon Will Take Gile's Post

Mayor Elect M. E. Sensenbrenner announced appointments to three cabinet-level posts during the past week.

Frederick J. Simons, 34, an attorney and former State Highway Department personnel officer, was named safety director. Also named were Warren J. Cremean, a civil engineer, as service director, and J. P. Stanley, former deputy in the State Department of Finance, as finance director.

Simon, of 935 Oakwood-av, is 34, and a former chief counsel in the Ohio Department of Commerce. Cremean, 43, of 500 E. Torrence-rd, is urban projects engineer in the Ohio Department of Highways. He has been a Highway Department employe since 1946.

Peck O' Wee Ones Needs Volunteers

CAN YOU GIVE A LITTLE TIME?

There's a bushel of work to be done at the Peck o' Wee Ones, according to Otto Heinzerling, director of the home for severely mentally retarded children on E. Broad-st.

And more hands are needed to help.

He explained that five new handicapped children from infancy to two and a half years of age have entered the haven recently, and there is a crying need for volunteer workers with a few hours a week to spare.

Diapers must be changed, babies must be fed, and there is always a mountain of clothes and bedding to be folded.

Heinzerling stated that the need is greatest for help during the afternoons and in the early evening hours up until about 8 o'clock when the children go to sleep.

He asks that anyone who can possibly give several hours of her time regularly call him at BE. 1-4906 for an interview. Though he compared the duties to those of a a nurse's aide, he pointed out that only after a volunteer has seen the home and the children that live there can she decide whether she wants to help.

Heinzerling Recognized By Sertoma

Robert Stokes of the Eastern Sertoma announced Monday that Otto C. Heinzerling will receive the organization's annual Service to Mankind Award.

Heinzerling, so named in recognition of his services as director of the Peck 'o Wee Ones Foundation, the home dedicated to the care of uneducable children, is now eligible for a like award in the district competition sponsored by the 13 Sertoma Clubs of Eastern Ohio.

Predicting that Heinzerling's work will win him the district award, Stokes, who placed his name before Sertoma this fall, added that those named as winner in each

Gourmet Shelves Prove It!

THERE IS SOMETHING NEW UNDER THE SUN

"OH, NO!" cried Evelyn Schneider when, a moment before popping into her mouth what she thought was a piece of candy, she was told it was really a chocolate-covered caterpillar. And right there, the seventh grader from Barrett Junior High who lives at 1128 S. Pearl-st, decided she was not in the least hungry. Betty Holt, center, now that the cat was out of the bag, gave long and serious consideration to whether she would try a candied grasshopper. After meditation, Betty, 824 Heyl-av, concluded that grasshoppers are for the birds, not for seventh graders from St. Johns. But Roseanne Schneider, right, 1128 S. Pearl-st, showed the old pioneer spirit and bravely crunched on a candied bumble bee, claiming although it wasn't "bad at all," she didn't believe she'd go for it as a steady diet. You see, Roseanne, who attends the fifth grade at St. Leo's, like her two friends, is just too young to understand that such foods are delicacies, and plainly lacks the sophistication to know that to eat same with relish is a mark of savoir-faire.

Many status symbols are hard to come by.

Mink coats, swimming pools, foreign sport cars and even a billfold full of credit cards are all nice work if you can get it — but require a bundle of that green folding stuff.

However, there's an "out" for the status seeker with a slim purse who has a yen to be "in."

For a dollar he can buy a pocket-size box of goodies that is guaranteed to give him the mark of a man of distinction.

Who would not be impressed by the sophisticate who scoffs at a lowly life-saver but instead reaches for a chocolate-covered caterpillar, bumblebee or grasshopper?

To a nation of hamburger and french-fry addicts, a new and adventurous world is opened with the growing import of exotic foods.

The approaching holidays present the hostess who wants to be the "firstest with the mostest" a golden opportunity.

The canape tray offering fried silk worms, barbecued snake meat, roasted snails and broiled eels immediately

Dr. F. B. Maitland

Dr. Fred B. Maitland, missionary to Brazil under the Methodist Board of Missions, will speak this coming Sunday, Dec. 15, at 9:15 and 10:45 a.m. to the combined congregations of First and Livingston Methodist Churches, Bryden-rd, at 18th-st.

The Livingston Methodist has given partial support to Dr. Maitland for the past several years. Dr. Maitland has served two terms in Brazil and plans to return with his family in January as pastor of Copacabana Church in Rio de Janeiro.

Public is welcome.

Used Clothes Needed Now

With winter here and the holiday season approaching, Norman Altman of the Southern Kiwanis Club is making an all-out effort to have mailed a thousand pounds of used clothing to the Kingstree, S. C. Mission before Christmas.

The support of churches committee started the project earlier in the year and have already posted over 650 pounds of clothing to the needy of the Mission.

Altman stresses that the clothes need not be in tip-top shape, as the need is great, and even shoes that need resoling and shirts with the elbows out can be used.

The Kiwanis Club will promptly pick up any packages offered to the project. Regardless of what is available, Altman asks that he be called at BE. 1-5811 as soon as possible.

THE SPLENDOR OF THE Snow

Snow falls and puts a beautiful white blanket over the mountains, and even before this one is gone, others will fall. It will become deeper and deeper until the spring, when it begins to melt and provides life giving waters to many streams. These streams meet with others and become rivers and provide water for irrigation and lakes throughout our land.

Our Lord, Jesus has said that He will give to any that seek Him . . . "a well of water springing up into everlasting life." — John 4, 14

Attend church Sunday, hear God's word and share in the living waters that only our Saviour can provide.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH . . . THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Yule Advice: Post, Hasten

Columbus Postmaster Victor J. Bodish is looking for a Christmas present he isn't likely to get—a new, surefire appeal that will cause the local populace to do its Christmas mailing early.

If you have not mailed your out-of-town Christmas cards and packages, you have already missed the requested Dec. 10 mailing deadline. And the Dec. 15 deadline for local mailing is already upon us.

For those of us who have not yet done our Christmas mailing, Bodish has two suggestions: 1. Separate mail into "local" and "out-of-town" bundles to facilitate handling at the post office. 2. Buy enough stamps to accommodate anticipated mailing, and avoid the delay of repeated trips to the post office and standing in line.

And the Post Office Department has instituted a special service for the children writing to Santa. If they mail their letters by Dec. 15, address them to "North Pole 99701," and include their own ZIP Code in the return address, they will receive an answer from the famous North Pole citizen.

Let's do what we can to brighten the season for the postman by getting the Christmas mailing into the works now.

Keep The Kettles Boiling

Once again this year the Salvation Army will set up "outposts" around the red Kettles of Christmas. The territory they occupy will be the street corners of Columbus and outlying sections of shopping centers. These soldiers stationed around the kettles aim not to conquer but to serve.

Although the Salvation Army first marched through hostile crowds to the thump of the brass drum, it is the chiming of the bells at the Christmas kettles that sets the pace today for community support of the many services the Salvation Army renders to the less fortunate.

The first soup kettle manned by a courageous lassie on a San Francisco waterfront in 1894, urged the passers-by to "keep this kettle boiling." Today, thousands of red kettles repeat this appeal at street corners all over the world.

Through the public's generous "kettle" contribution, the Salvation Army is able to translate the spirit of Christmas into year-round service for the needy, as well as a special Christmas program of holiday dinners, children's parties, visits to invalids and shut-ins, and many other activities.

You, too, can join in the spirit of giving, caring and sharing by contributing to the Salvation Army Christmas Kettles.

Disagree Without Being Disagreeable

"The time has come for Americans of all races and creeds and political beliefs to understand and to respect one another. So let us put an end to the teaching and preaching of hate and evil of violence. Let us turn away from the fanatics of the far left and the far right, from the apostles of bitterness and bigotry, from those defiant of law, and those who pour venom into our nation's bloodstream."

Do these words of President Johnson as he delivered his first address to Congress pose an ideal impossible of achievement by the American people? Does such a course prescribe passive acceptance and proscribe opposition to policies with which we disagree? We think not.

President Johnson's words, as have many others uttered since the assassination of President Kennedy, are an appeal to reason. The distinction was well put by John C. Satterfield, past president of the American Bar Association, who has been an out-spoken critic of the proposed civil rights legislation, not on a racial basis, but because of the limitations it would impose on other civil rights.

In his tribute to President Kennedy, which we regarded as no less sincere despite the differences between their thinking, Mr. Satterfield put it this way: "Today, in spite of the shock and sorrow which we shall never forget, we must continue our service as citizens of the United States of America. We must face those issues which are before us with courage and foresight and patience. The sadness which is in our hearts will help us remember that in free America, we can disagree without being disagreeable, we can stand for our convictions and work untiringly to maintain them, and yet respect those whom we believe to be in error."

To be able to disagree without being disagreeable is the mark of civilization we should strive to achieve.

Sends Advent Ideas

To the Editor:

Many families today are looking for ways to counteract the influence that the prolonged Christmas gift advertising campaigns on television and in the press are having on their children's ideas of the true religious significance of Christmas.

For families with small children, one of the most appealing home customs during the pre-Christmas season is that of the Empty Manger. An empty crib (or reasonable facsimile) is set up in a place of honor in the home or each child could have his own empty manger next to his bed—a sugar or cigar box covered with paper will do. At bedtime the children draw straws for each kind deed performed in honor of Baby Jesus during the day. These straws are then placed in the empty manger to prepare a warm resting place for the Holy Child on Christmas Day. Even the smallest child will pick up his toys or perform some other chore to gain the privilege of placing straw in the crib.

Another appealing family custom is that of the Advent Calendar. Calendars containing pictures with numbered windows for the days of December may be purchased or made by using two sheets of construction paper, numbering windows on the top sheet and pasting illustrations cut from Christmas cards on the second sheet under the windows. The opening of a window each day leads up to the climax of opening the window numbered 24 on Christmas Eve. Behind this window the most beautiful Nativity Scene or Infant in the manger should be pasted to provide an experience that children will recall long after they are grown.

Some families have introduced the Birthday Cake custom in their homes. All children look forward to the excitement of having a special cake for their birthday, and what could be more fitting than to have a birthday cake for the Christ Child on Christmas Day. This is an excellent way to remind children that Christmas is Christ's Birthday.

Whether called a Nativity scene, a Christmas crib, or creche, the replica of Christ's birth including the stable, figures of the Holy Family, the shepherds, the Magi, and animals, also signifies in a good way the central event which is commemorated on the great feast of Christmas.

When the Nativity Scene is assembled—whether bought or home-made, it can become a focal point for other Christmas decorations in the home. Too often the most elaborate Nativity sets are hidden beneath the branches of a towering tree, seldom seen or appreciated.

No matter how you may plan to keep the true meaning of Christmas in your home this year, one thing we should all remember is that the time for celebration should start on Christmas Day instead of ending with the arrival of the Christ Child, which so often happens.

In Our Midst Is Wonderful Free Gift For All

At the close of Thanksgiving day we are catapulted into the middle of the the Christmas season with all of its crowds, its hurry, its pressures and its demands upon both time and money until, if we aren't careful, we are apt to experience that sinking feeling Peter knew when for a moment he saw only the high rolling waves instead of Christ.

Rev. Brown

Christmas is a time when all of us feel a little more kindly toward our fellow man. It is not an uncommon thing to hear and see and do unselfish and generous deeds for those we call neighbor. How often, even during the most hurried hours of pre-Christmas shopping, we have been arrested by the plight of the blind singer as he shuffles his way along the sidewalk in the bitter cold; or the blind, crippled seller of pencils as he sits near the entrance of a busy store. As we see these persons and no doubt judge them to be in a far less enviable state than our own we must surely think of the Man of Galilee as He would strengthen crippled limbs and open blinded eyes as He traveled about in His journeys.

What a wonderful Christmas gift it would be if we could speak the word and all the lame could walk and all the blind could see and all the sick of the world were made whole and all the hungry satisfied. Even as we think of such a tremendous gift we are made to realize that we have totally overlooked the world's greatest and most pressing need. The healing of a man's body is not his greatest need but rather the complete healing of his disease ravaged soul. For this purpose Jesus Christ, the Son of God, came into this world.

The answer to the sin problem was and is the need of the world! Jesus Christ is that answer. Matthew 1:21—"And she shall bring forth a Son, and thou shalt call His name Jesus: for He shall save His people from their sins." 1 John 1:9—"If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness."

The greatest of all gifts is Jesus. If we have Him, though we have nothing else, we are rich and well favored. If we do not have Him and have everything else we are poor, miserable, naked, blind and lost. Though you have not a penny you can still afford Jesus. He is a free gift to you from God our Father.

Christmas is the birthday of Jesus Christ. Let's celebrate it by giving Him first place in our hearts and our homes and make Christ the main fare of our Christmas.

An Editor's Outlook
by Jenkin Lloyd Jones
'Our Brother's Keeper' Can Go Too Far

What is the sensible thing to do about foreign aid? And let's define "sensible."

Foreign aid should feed the calf without killing the cow. It should help un-mess messed-up political systems and social philosophies. It should turn mendicant countries with chronic deficit economies into going concerns that can stand on their own feet. It should expand the area of freedom, making realistic allowances for the fact that ignorant and volatile people have to make a choice between a high degree of centralized authority and utter chaos.

Jones

Our first attempt at foreign aid, the Marshall Plan, was a thumping success. Western Europe and Japan lived on industry, and the war had wrecked their means of living. American aid plus native energy and know-how created a miracle of reconstruction that filled a vacuum into which communism had confidently expected to flow.

But no sooner had we shored up war-ravaged economies than most of the rest of the world, including that part of it which far from having been injured by the war had profited from it, began shaking tambourines in our faces and crying, "Do you love us less?"

And we couldn't think of any other answer except to unlock Fort Knox.

It wasn't long before someone in Washington invented a marvelous phrase, "the take-off point." You were to give foreign aid to a poor and underdeveloped country until its industries were started, its dams and irrigation projects built, its starved fields revitalized with fertilizer, and then the marvelous "take-off point" would arrive.

This was the point where the country's economy would become self-regenerating and self-expanding. Foreign aid would then no longer be necessary and what had once been a miserable land, easy prey to communism, would become a vigorous, happy, free nation.

And this could happen, indeed. Provided such a country did have large untapped natural and agricultural resources, that its people were energetic and eager to learn, that public servants were generally honest and progressive, and that its wealthy citizens were willing to reinvest their money in new job-making and wealth-spreading ventures.

The only trouble is that where people had all these qualities they were generally already pretty prosperous. What we soon found ourselves doing was running a gigantic WPA for fouled-up nations remarkable for laziness, graft, and huge private fortunes that hid themselves in foreign banks.

In some nations we have simply shored up inefficient socialist regimes that have smothered enterprise in red tape and scraped the bottom of the confiscation barrel. In other words, as in India, we have poured money down a widening rat-hole as the increase in population chronically out-runs the rise in the gross national product. In Yugoslavia we gave the frankly-communist Mr. Tito a billion or so on the theory that this would encourage an independent course for satellites. Mr. T and Mr. K. are now closer than 10 college students in a phone booth.

If we expected gratitude we misjudged human nature. Many peoples to whom international philanthropy is unbelievable looked for the bug under the chip. They were helped by hints from the communists about "hidden Yankee imperialism." The human being rebels at thinking himself as a recipient of charity. He prefers to imagine that he is giving value in return, willing or not.

Gradually, a system of international blackmail arose. Instead of "if-you-give-to-us-we'll-be-with-you" we began to hear "if-you-give-to-us-we-won't-be-against-you." There's a lot of difference. In Laos, where U.S. aid was most lavish and ineffective, "non-alignment" is proclaimed as a national virtue. In Cambodia our aid has now been huffily rejected as an unclean thing. But none of it has been returned.

President Sukarno of Indonesia recently said the world's new nations, including his own, do not have "rising expectations," but "rising demands." He expects these demands to be met by the wealthy nations of the world.

Well, Sukarno runs a graft-ridden travesty of democracy, notable for its inefficient administration and its own brand of neo-imperialism. How do we advance human justice by periodically bailing out Sukarno?

Among some tribes of the Ivory Coast in Africa it is customary for a man to retire at 25. After that he squats around the village with his fighting cocks. How much earlier must a 65-year-old Iowa farmer get up so that he can contribute to the retirement fund of these 25-year-olds?

A huge bureaucracy has grown up in Washington and in the foreign service as a result of foreign aid. A man naturally sells what his job depends on and Americans have been given a heavy dose of the propaganda line that only our outlays can save the world for democracy.

But the recent reaction of Congress only reflects an advanced disillusion among Americans in general. Americans, representing seven per cent of the human population, cannot continue to underwrite the deficits of people who cuddle their dry sacred cows.

Only a radical minority would end foreign aid altogether. There is much good that can be done with a carefully supervised and screened program for people who are determined to exercise the energy and self-discipline necessary to make their economies viable. But we're through tossing the gold over the transom. And history will not blame us.

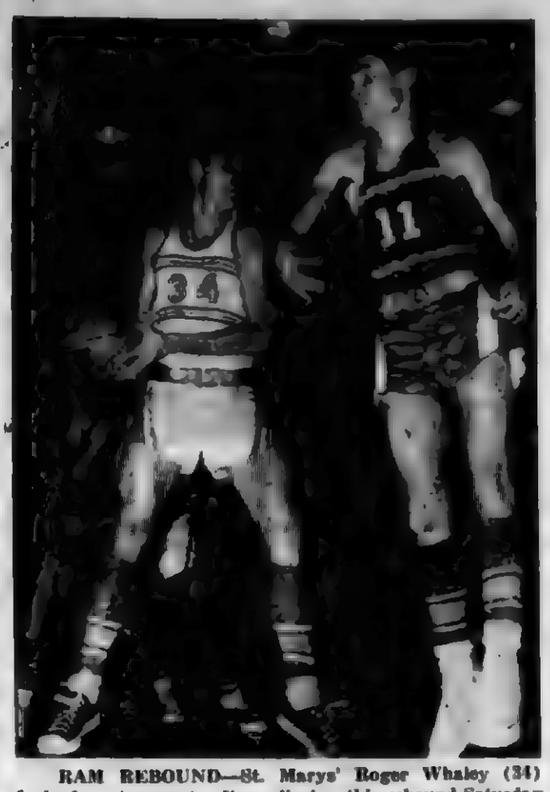
Frosting On The Cake
By "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

Those of us who have spent our entire lifetime in professional analysis of human behavior and the motivations that cause so many individuals to do unaccountable things, have a duty to discharge to the public mind at this time.

1. Dead men tell no tales. Ruby will never be convicted of first degree murder and it is now highly probable that he will be committed to some institution as a diagnosed mental case.

2. For two or three days he hollered his head off to anyone who would listen about his anger over the assassination of our late President and his most emphatic reiteration that love for Mr. Kennedy drove him to his foulest possible deed. That whole program of performance is suspect to millions of minds in this country, even now. The old saying can be paraphrased: "he did protest too much."

3. It is now doubtful that Mr. Ruby will be tried for anything. Indictments have been handed down to be sure, but the trial date has already been postponed for two months. It now appears he will be defended ably and vigorously, if brought to trial, by some attorney of his own choice or one appointed by the court. That is as it should be under his constitutional rights as an American citizen.



4. Whoever that member of the bar may be, his sole responsibility is to defend any action brought against Ruby with every energy and talent that said lawyer possesses. That action is still according to criminal law and no respecter of our courts would wish it otherwise.

5. BUT, — the unanswered questions are so legion about the whole business that it is now painfully, doubtfully, mentioned that if Ruby is brought to trial for first degree murder his attorney would have to put him on the stand in his own defense or risk any jury's rejection of any insanity defense.

6. Given that he is tried and the indictment is not reduced, it remains as a greatest hazard for the prosecution because any man, not declared non compos mentis officially, would sing his head off and that is one thing that Dallas doesn't want at any cost. When a man, still said to be responsible for his behavior under the law, is facing the electric chair execution he will resort to any length to save his own life. This is true no matter how venal his record may be in life as a "half-world" denizen.

7. If there was a connection between Oswald and Ruby, it behooves the FBI to dig it out and prove it. In any event, this whole affair has become the most shocking and almost unbelievable incident since President Lincoln was assassinated 100 years ago.

In summary, the one obvious fact is that "dead men tell no tales." The law may not take its course because it is too hot to handle already.

RAM REBOUND—St. Marys' Roger Whaley (34) looks for a teammate after collaring this rebound Saturday evening on the Rah court. Losing out in the battle for possession is Mt. Vernon's Jack Blank, whose expression is anything but.

'TURNOVERS HURT' – HOLDERLE

Rebs Sizzle Devils, Run String To Four

By ART KIENZLE

South High's Bulldog cagers were very busy over the weekend as the John Colmery-coached team remained unbeaten in gaining its third and fourth straight victories of the '63-'64 season.

The Rebs also let their fans know that they plan on having a big say in the CL title race, as the quintet demolished Marion-Franklin, 78-56, in a league opener for both teams Friday.

THE BULLDOGS kept their winning ways aturday, polishing off Springfield North, 75-64.

Aquinas was the only other South Side winner as the Terriers nicked Walnut Ridge, 42-35, while St. Mary's bowed to Mt. Vernon St. Vincent, 59-52, and Rosary lost its opener to Olentangy, 72-50.

South took a 10-4 lead early in the first period of its game at M-F and never trailed as the Rebs opened the score to 38-25 by halftime.

THE THIRD and fourth stanzas produced more of the same as the Rebs hit the hoop with amazining regularity, advancing to their biggest spread (24 points) with three minutes remaining in the game.

The Bulldogs shot 29 of 52 from the field for 55.8 per cent and 20 of 32 from the foul line for 62.5 per cent as compared to M-F's 21 of 66 (31.6) from the field and 14 of 32 at the charity stripe.

Individual scoring was also in the Rebs favor as all five starters hit the double figures. Roger Harper's 18 was tops with Paul Hunt (17), Bill Bullock (17), Marion Iverson (11) and Joe Maddendorf (10) close behind.

THE RED Devils, however, couldn't put anyone in double figures as the Bulldogs shut off M-F's major guns — John and Steve Jackson.

This truthfully told the sad story for Marion, according to Reb Coach John Colmery. "J. Jackson's three quick fouls early in the game made the real difference, I think. It hurts when you lose your big pivot man."

"You can't make turnovers (17) like we did and still expect to win," was Coach Bob Holderle's answer to the M-F problem.

SOUTH'S WIN over Springfield was another well-rounded effort as the Bulldogs took an early lead and went on to go ahead by as much as 20 before the Clark County team came back to within 11 at the final buzzer.

Aquinas' visit to Walnut Ridge was strictly a defensive battle as the Terriers were hampered by the scrapping Scots throughout the game.

W-R held a slim lead until Aquinas forged ahead midway through the second period.

SKIP LEONARD of the Scots was the only starter for either team to hit in doubles with 10 points, while John Lang, Tom Lynch and Mike Stafford had eight each for the Irish.

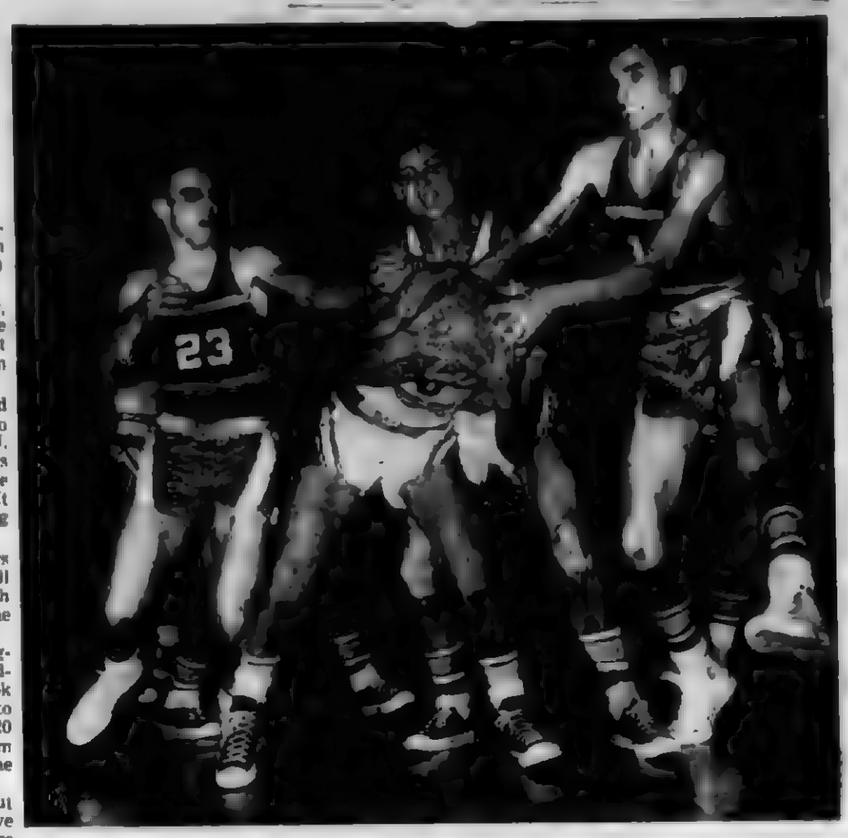
Both St. Mary's and St. Vincent showed balanced scoring attacks in their game as a total of eight players marked up 10 points or more.

St. Vincent jumped ahead in the opening minutes and kept on going for a 31-22 halftime score.

THE RAMS came back, however, to hold a 42-37 third quarter advantage.

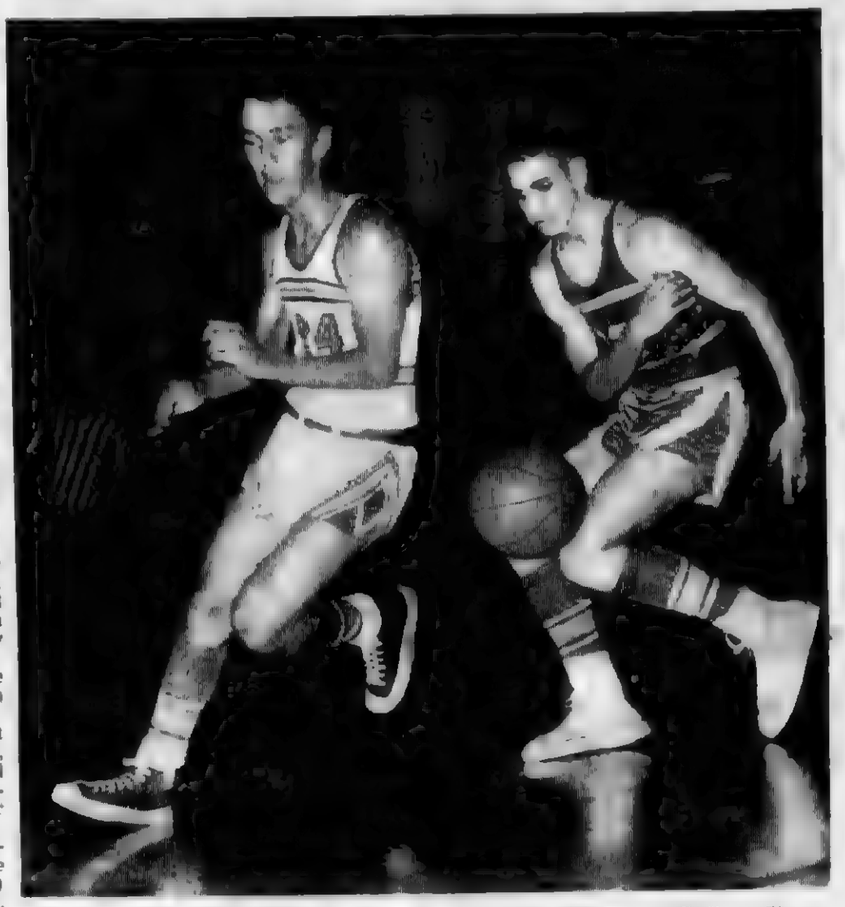
However, the visitors moved out front, 53-52, with 1:50 remaining in the game and finally iced the cake with six straight points to down the Rams, 59-52.

Coach Bud Trapp's Rosary team showed early winning signs in its battle with Olentangy but his Crusaders found themselves outscored by 26 points in the last half, after leading 29-25 at intermission.



JIM GROCE (19), Ed Roehrenbeck (12) and Don Spuriock (11) gave Rosary its main scoring bulk.

Area cage activity will be heavy this week with seven games on the docket.



The two biggest contests pit South (4-0) at North (2-1), in a battle for the CL lead and send Rosary (0-1) to University for an FCL opener for both teams.

IN OTHER games, Marion-Franklin (2-1) will be at home with West, Aquinas (2-1) hosts Whetstone and St. Mary's (0-2) travels to Academy in another FCL opener.

Saturday, M-F visits DeSales while Rosary plays Coshocton Sacred Heart at the Catholic Center.

THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE was St. Marys' Tom MacDonald (center) on this play, Saturday evening. MacDonald, who has snared a Mt. Vernon rebound, seems to have some determined competition for possession in St. Vincent's Henley Gordon (23) and Jack Blank. Teammate Roger Whaley offers assistance at center.

HEY, WAIT FOR ME!!—is the plea of an unattended roundball as St. Marys' Bob Ruscilli (24) and Mt. Vernon's Henley Gordon seem to be off to the races. Actually Gordon has just batted the ball away from Ruscilli, who had scoring aspirations. Mt. Vernon caught on with the roundball on more occasions than the Rams, winning, 59-52.

The Technicolor World Of KC's Charlie Finley

Every sport has its cast of "characters" but when you come right down to the "moment of truth," the game of baseball is still running head and shoulders ahead of all competitors.

There wasn't a dull moment when Billy Martin was roughhousing his way around the majors. By the time the outspoken Martin had run his course, a verbose Jimmy Piersall took up the slack.

JUST WHEN it looked as if the national pastime was about to turn over its lead to a poetic Cassius Clay, baseball's management produced a candidate who might be destined to put his predecessors to shame.

The new court jester is KC's "colorful" Charlie Finley, the disciple of Bill Veeck, whose apparent gain for baseball has to be a severe setback for the ranks of Barnum and Bailey.

Finley, who would like to expand his annual three-ring circus from the confines of Kansas City to all 20 major league ball parks, got his two cents worth in at the winter meetings last week as expected.

FOR OPENERS, Finley lambasted the rules committee as "a pack of simple-minded fools" following its decision to outlaw the king-sized coacher mitt a la Hoyt Wilhelm.

After the rules boys had "knuckled down" on that point, Finley turned his attention to bigger and better things.

The liberal KC boss, who looks at baseball hierarchy as the Young Democrats might at Barry Goldwater, wants to go technicolor and can't understand why a color-blind rules committee won't take off the blinkers.

FINLEY WOULD dye the baseball orange, allowing better vision for both player and fan.

His Athletics (affectionately known as the Green and Gold last season, after a new color scheme in diamond togs) will try out the new ball in spring training.

With green sheep grazing outside their outfield fence last season, the new ball should be no adjustment problem for KC players.

WHETHER baseball itself can adapt to Finley's brave new world is still questionable. If it brightens up an increasingly dull game, we'll all be for Charlie growing purple grass in his outfield.

Our lone suggestion, however, would be a wholesale purchase of rose-colored spectacles through which KC players might study their standing in the American League alignment each September.

BITS OF WIT(T)—Monday morning quarterbacks were replaying the final seconds of the Army-Navy classic this week.

Some wonder why Army's QB didn't run that fourth down play despite the noise and the fact that all eleven Middies might not have been onside.

Game Protection Vital But Not Modern Plan

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

Chances are, a lot of us are acquainted with Bill Martin, the game protector for these parts. His job is varied, and you might run into him at a sportsman's club meeting, on television, at a high school program, teaching firearm safety or he may just ask to see your hunting license.

Today's game protectors are the over-all representatives of the Ohio Division of Wildlife, and the claims on their time are many. A fine job is being done in the local area by Bill, and by Alan Ward in Madison County.

THEY ARE NOT a new breed, however, for game protectors have been around for a long time. If you think they came on the outdoor scene only after an expanding population exerted excessive pressures on wildlife, you're in for a surprise.

History books say that one of the first written records, the Mosaic law of Moses, dating many centuries before the birth of Christ, forbade the taking of game in such quantities which would reduce the basic breeding stock.

Other noteworthy records include the 13th century decrees of Kublai, "The Great Khan." He enforced closed seasons during breeding periods of many game animals and birds in his empire.

THE MAGNA CHARTA, signed in 1215, recognized the importance of wildlife to the people of England. It provided that the king would own the game only in his sovereign capacity as trustee for his subjects. Enforcement of the regulations applying to the "King's deer" has been a well worn subject in English legend.

The first American colonists relied heavily on game as a prime source of food, and, accordingly, some of the Plymouth Colony's earliest laws dealt with the harvest of wild animals.

In 1646, the Rhode Island town of Portsmouth closed the "deere" hunting season from May until November; any violator to be fined five pounds—one-half going to the person who brought the culprit to court and the other half to the town's treasury.

THIS LAST PLAN of splitting fines with the "game protector" is reminiscent of earlier days in Ohio when the men were not paid a salary. Their incomes were limited to their share of the fines, that is, unless they held other jobs which was often the case.

It's apparent then that the "old days" really never existed at all. Game protectors or fish and game agents have been around for quite a spell, and from all indications, they'll be even more important in years to come. When it comes to hunting and fishing today, your best friend is the game protector. He offers many services and is the source of much valuable advice.

MAT SEASON UNDER WAY

Scotties Romp, Panthers Squeak To Area Wrestling Victories

Walnut Ridge and Pleasant View racked up victories as the '63-'64 wrestling season gained impetus last week.

The Scotties won nine of 11 events, including the first six, to nail down their second straight grappling win of the season — a 43-5 runaway verdict over Newark.

WORTHINGTON scrambled from behind to win the last two matches but couldn't prevent P-V's narrow opening win, 23-22.

In other area dual meets, Newark slipped past Bexley, 24-19, by taking six of 11 matches while Circleville won two of the last three events to put down a Central rally and win, 25-18.

Seven more area wrestling teams open competition during the course of the week as West, Franklin Heights, Groveport, East, Whitehall, Watkins Memorial and Grove City open their respective slates.

HERE ARE the individual results and upcoming schedule:

Nurse Says Thank You

Gentlemen:

I want to thank the loving and generous people who have opened their purses and their hearts to the hopelessly handicapped children sheltered at the Peck 'O Wee Ones Foundation, 4216 E. Broad-st.

No longer are these children alone, imprisoned by their mental retardation, but helped every day in a dozen different ways by the response of the public to their plight.

Daily I receive telephone calls from people asking only, "What can I do?"

Never shall we forget the woman who came loaded down with brand new sheets, blankets, diapers, a car bed and a teeter babe, who would not even leave her name.

Similarly our gratitude is without limit to the church group which anonymously contributed diapers, sheets, slipper socks and a little Christmas tree for the children.

Working as I do with these helpless children, it has meant a great deal to know that there are those who care—those who want to make the short stay most of these children are allotted on earth as free from discomfort as possible.

Sincerely,
Kay Weinitz

Chances are your hands won't get cold in the days to come. Prices will keep them deep in your pockets.

THE CHECK FOR $100 was gratefully accepted by William Santanich, center, director of St. Stephens Community House when it was handed to him by Robert Weidner, second from the right, of the Ohio National Bank. The gift was from the Southside Business and Industrial Association to help with the purchase of Christmas baskets. From the left are John Marshall and Sam Skunza, South Side businessmen and Tom Bowers of Krogers on the far right.

The Gadabout

Priscilla LaRue Lener
HI. 4-1851

Two South High School students, Nancy Trumps and Judy Kinser, had the time of their lives during the Thanksgiving holiday by visiting Nancy's sister, Patty, in New York City. Patty is a student at New York University and lives with several other girls in a brownstone in the large city.

Chaperoning and enjoying the trip was Nancy's mother, 162 Innis-av. Judy's home is at 121 E. Kossuth-st. The three were gone for four days. Mrs. Trumps was amazed at the cooking proficiency displayed by the daughter who "couldn't boil water" at home, but turned out a tasty turkey for the visitors.

The high school visitors crammed as much sight-seeing as possible into their limited schedule, such as a visit to the United Nations, the Statue of Liberty and viewing the Rockettes. One of the most memorable of their experiences however was not planned but just happened. Nancy got lost on the subway and caused a pretty frantic half-hour or so. According to her, the rest of the party got lost for she knew where she was all the time. Luckily the episode was of short duration and the "lost and found" proceeded on to Chinatown for more sight-seeing.

Also visiting on the East Coast during the Thanksgiving holiday were Mr. and Mrs. James Colegrove, 45 E. Markison-av, who were in New Jersey as the guests of their son and his family.

If these youngsters are more high-strung than usual, it is probably because they're caught in the holiday excitement plus thinking of their immediate birthday: Ronnie Ellis, Vivian Poar, Salley Riley, Barry Paxton, Donna Daugherty, Jo Ellen Masters, Lawrence Fields and Timmy Wieckers.

A little more sophisticated birthday group is the teen-age set, which includes Steve Merritt, Linda Acker, Jim Clark, Tom Obert and Starr Brown.

Friends and neighbors, adult edition, in the birthday mood are Sybilla Murnane, Earl Miller, Frank Knore, Mergie Speakmon, Mrs. Brixner, Marianne Baughman, Jack Speakmon, Gene Speakmon and Albert Franz. A father-son duo is the one of Glenn, Sr., and Glenn Blackburn, Jr., on Dec. 15.

Warm anniversary congratulations to Dick and Phyllis Donovan, 297 E. Markison-av, on Dec. 17.

Daughters of two personal friends (both members of the South Side "Y" Mothers Club, incidentally) will be the "bride" half of wedding ceremonies this weekend. Patty Komives, 406 E. Jenkins-av, will become Mrs. Paul Barton on Saturday, Dec. 14, at the Hungarian United Church of Christ. Paul, son of another friend, is a resident of 341 Innis-av. Dotty Lou Craggs, 1816 Berkeley-rd, will hear the words pronounced that make her Mrs. Daryl Gordon at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, on Sunday, Dec. 15. The groom-to-be lives at 764 Racine-av.

A Christmas party will be held Saturday, Dec. 14 at 8 p.m., by St. Ann's Guild 60. Mrs. Dennis Fries, 749 Deshler-av, is the hostess for the affair.

Things here and there . . . Circle 3, of Hope Lutheran Church, will hold a 6 p.m. planned potluck at the church Friday, Dec. 13. Circle 4 will have a 7 p.m. potluck on Monday, Dec. 16, at 723 Mohawk-st. The Brotherhood of the church has invited wives to the special Christmas dinner meeting Tuesday, Dec. 17.

Events for the week at St. Paul's Lutheran Church include a meeting of the Evening Women's Guild at 8 p.m., on Friday, Dec. 13, 905 S. Chesterfield-rd, home of Mrs. William Howard: Mrs. John Lang will lead the Bible Study. The church's Luther League is in charge of the program and refreshments for the congregational Christmas party, to be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 17 in the Educational Unit. The Junior Luther League will hold its Christmas meeting Sunday, Dec. 15, from 2 to 3:30 p.m.

The Chancel and Wesleyan Choirs of the Livingston Methodist Church will present a choral program Sunday, Dec. 15, at 7:30 p.m. There will also be congregational participation. Women's activities at the church for the current week include these dates: Circle 1 will meet at 12:30 today for a noon luncheon; Circle 4 will meet this evening at 1151 Fairwood-av, home of Mrs. Robert Ervin; the Wesleyan Service Guild will hold its Christmas meeting on Sunday, Dec. 15, following a noon casserole luncheon. Program chairman is Mrs. Bell Sams. Ruth Circle will meet at 1 p.m., Tuesday, Dec. 17, at 209 Ziegler-rd, home of Mrs. Lucy Steinmetz. The Lydia Service Guild will meet at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Dec. 17, to go to present gifts to patients of the Franklin County Home, then will return to the church for their Christmas program.

The Christmas Cookie Sale and Gift Fair sponsored by the St. Leo's Altar Rosary Sodality will be held this Sunday, Dec. 15, after all the Masses.

Mrs. James Fenneman, 1330 Gilbert-st, and Mrs. Thomas Kavanaugh will be the co-hostesses for the 6 p.m. dinner on Tuesday, Dec. 17, when Trudeau Guild 19 holds its meeting.

PEBS, Chapter 2, will hold its annual Christmas party Tuesday, Dec. 17, at 6:30 p.m., at the Neil House.

The election of officers will be held at the general meeting of the Washington-av EUB WSWS at 7:30 p.m. tonight. The Ladies Bible Class meeting will be an event of Monday, Dec. 16, at 7:30 p.m. The monthly Family Night at the church will be Wednesday, Dec. 18, at 6:30 p.m. The Children's Department will be in charge of the program, while the Florence Circle will be in charge of the kitchen.

The internationally famous Chapel Choir of Capital University will present three concerts this weekend, one Saturday, Dec. 14, at 8:30 p.m. in Mees Hall at Capital and two Sunday at Veterans Memorial Hall, at 3 p.m. and again at 8:30 p.m. Admission is free, but reservations are necessary. Write, or call, Mees Hall ticket office at Capital University.

All the South Side YMCA-sponsored organizations are participating in the Christmas tree sale now being held at the South Side "Y," 190 Southwood-av. The local institution will benefit from the project. Residents of the area are urged to purchase their trees in their own community.

The Southwood Church of Christ will hold meetings within the week, the Fellowship and the Loyal Men and Women's Class. The Fellowship meets at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 13, while the LM and W is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Dec. 17.

These modern sports-writers may dub the South High teams as "Rebels" but to this die-hard graduate of the Ann-st school, the name is still Bulldogs, so-o-o, the "Bulldog" basketball team will play the Polar Bears of North High School, at North, on Friday, Dec. 13. Young whippersnappers, these sports editors!

The final Mid-week dance to be held at the YWCA in this current series will be Wednesday, Dec. 18, 8:45 to 11:45 p.m. Bob Motger's orchestra will provide the dance music.

One-act plays by the thespians of Capital University will be presented at 8 p.m. in Mees Hall, on the campus, Friday, Dec. 13.

The Barrett Junior High School Christmas dance will be an event of Friday, Dec. 13.

The fourth annual "Christmas in Song" of the senior choir of Hope Lutheran Church will be an event of Sunday, Dec. 15.

The King's Workers Class of South Methodist Church will hold a Christmas party on Tuesday, Dec. 17, at 7:30 p.m. Hostesses will be Laura Houghn, Mildred Telfer, Doris Hain, Breta Matteson, Amanda Chase and Arlene [illegible].

The Columbus Symphony Youth Concert for Saturday, Dec. 14, is the "Rags-to-riches" tale of Cinderella. For ticket information, call Mrs. Miller, at 488-7983.

Group B, OSU Mothers' Club, will meet at the South Methodist Church Tuesday, Dec. 17 for a noon dessert luncheon.

The Youth Fellowship of the South High EUB Church will present a program Sunday, Dec. 15, at 7:30 p.m., entitled "The Broken Staff."

The ailing and convalescent list includes Mrs. William Whitesell; James Robison, Sr., 1571 S. Sixth-st, in Mercy Hospital following a heart attack; Neil Hetenhouser, who cut her hand rather badly; Jessie Caves, suffering a fractured shoulder; Bertha Evans, in St. Anthony's Hospital with a heart ailment; John C. West, ill at home; Theresa Baumbusch, 180 Reinhard-av, in Mercy Hospital, a surgery convalescent, and Jane Carlisle Harris.

Santa Claus will be checking up on members of the Schiller Park Golden Age Club, when that group holds its annual Christmas party, Tuesday, Dec. 17. The noon potluck meeting will also feature a gift exchange.

The local chapter of the Ohio Valley Doll Club contributed dolls to the underprivileged children of the state of Kentucky last week. One of the area members is Doris Syfers.

The Mission Commission of South Methodist Church has planned a Christmas Bazaar at the church, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Wednesday, Dec. 18, Thursday, Dec. 19 and Friday, Dec. 20. The Wesley-wed class of the church will hold a Christmas party at the church at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 18.

The PTA of Livingston School has planned a Christmas Bazaar, Tuesday, Dec. 17, from 6 to 9:30 p.m.

"D" day is almost here for the "Gifts for Giving" Christmas project for the patients of Benjamin Franklin Hospital. This writer and her friends will be making the rounds of the hospital next Monday, Dec. 16, as a reminder to would-be donors. There's still time to call HI. 4-1051, should you desire to bring happiness to the loved ones of the tuberculosis patients of the local county institution. Many loyal friends have contributed, so we want to express our heartfelt appreciation to the Schiller Park Golden Age Club, Dorothy Craggs, Margaret Donahoe, Dorothy Husse, Mrs. Ray Bradley and Julia Rogers. Several groups and individuals informed us their contributions will be forthcoming this week. All indications point to another successful year. Wish us luck!

Senior Citizens Center

275 McDowell-st

The annual Senior Citizens' Selling Mart opened Monday, Dec. 9, at the Senior Citizens' Recreation Center. The Mart, sponsored by the Columbus Recreation Department, features a wide variety of articles made by people in Franklin County over the age of 60.

Two large rooms at the center have been assigned to the Mart which attracted many buyers the opening day. The sale will be open until 4 p.m. each day through Friday, Dec. 13. On Friday night it will be open until 8 p.m.

Prior to the opening, Mrs. F. R. Christy and the entry committee spent Dec. 4 and 5 receiving the sale articles. Friday, Dec. 6, the items were arranged for sale display by Mrs. Robert Draper and the display committee. Mrs. J. A. Davis is general chairman for the Selling Mart.

In addition to the popularity of the handmade articles many antiques are available according to Mrs. A. I. Greenspun, chairman for antiques.

There is free parking available at the center located at 275 McDowell-st. Entire proceeds go to persons entering sale merchandise.

The Senior Citizens' Recreation Center will achieve a holiday atmosphere on Monday, Dec. 16. At this time each room in the center will be decorated by specially appointed committees now at work planning original decorations.

The auditorium, John Coleman, chairman, has planned for a huge Christmas tree around the base of which will be placed huge stockings to be filled with exchange gifts for the members' Christmas on Friday, Dec. 20.

The Foyer, Mrs. Carrie Smith, chairman, will feature another tree, red bulbs in the chandelier, and doorway greenery. The lounge is being planned by Mrs. Herda Porter, chairman, assisted by George Ballinger, Mary Hamilton, Mrs. Florence Matthews, Mrs. Margaret Gasparre, and Mrs. Alice Allison.

Mrs. Ann Brodbeck is chairman for the bridge room decorations, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. William Stevens, Mrs. Lula Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Price, and Kenneth Abbott. This room will have table decorations and ornaments suspended from the ceiling, in addition to red and green crepe paper streamers.

Other areas with chairmen and committees to be appointed will be for the cafeteria and music, craft and meeting rooms. Also, the lower section of all the windows at the center will be covered with colored cellophane paper to simulate stained glass windows. Christmas music is heard throughout the building and taken care of by the reception hostesses, Mrs. Marie Kramer, chairman. Outdoor courtyard decorations will be a huge lighted tree, and Santa Claus, and reindeer cut out in the woodshop by Elvin Sebert.

To Give Free Training In Retail Selling

Persons interested in retail selling can obtain free training in a course offered by the Columbus Public Schools and the Columbus Retail Merchants Association.

Beginning in early January, evening classes covering principles of selling, protection of company assets, and the importance of the customer will be offered.

Applicants must be between the ages of 20 and 45.

For further information, interested persons are asked to call Carlton Bankes at the Board of Education, CA. 8-3821, Ext. 285.

Feb. 5, 1920, the oldest college in the British Dominions, King's College at Windsor, Ontario — was destroyed by fire. It is now affiliated with Dalhousie University in Halifax, Nova Scotia.

give a gift of telephone service...no gift ever said more

This year give a gift of telephone service...so welcome, so useful for so many on your gift list. How about a handy workshop wall phone for Dad? Or for Mother, a kitchen wall phone...cook's best friend. And everyone will enjoy the convenience of a desk phone in living room, den or family room. All available in a wide selection of decorator colors. Extension phones cost as little as 95¢ a month plus installation. For Miss or Mrs., choose a bedroom Princess phone. It's little, it's lovely, it lights up at night with a soft, comforting glow... just knowing it's there brings a warm feeling of security. What could be nicer at Christmastime, than giving someone you know a musical Bell Chime? A new telephone ring... it chimes or rings loud or soft at the touch of a switch. Consider, too, the Home Interphone...a complete home inter-com system. There's a long distance gift certificate too. It's perfect for out-of-town relatives or friends. No gift ever said more than a gift of telephone service. To order, just call...

IF YOU ARE JOB HUNTING . . . you will be interested to know how the I.P.S. program can help you. We will not send you out on a lot of interviews where you would be wasting your time and that of an employer. We thoroughly evaluate your situation and that of an employer so that you have every possibility of becoming a stable, long time employee. Our consultant will set up a program to meet your specific need — it may be concentrated into a short period of time, or it may involve job searching while you are still employed.

In every case, our method of getting you the right job is the most effective there is. We do not work from "job opening" files, but rather on the basis of developing an opening for the right person. WE DO THIS FOR WOMEN AS WELL AS FOR MEN. Many employers work with us exclusively because they know that the results are best for them and for the employee.

TODAY you can change your job hunting campaign into a real success by coming to:

Barrett Council Selects 'Citizens Of The Month'

Vivian Burns

Linda Leslein

Nancy Bressler

A salute was given three students at Barrett Junior High recently when they were selected Citizen of the Month for December by the Student Council.

Vivian Burns, Linda Leslein and Nancy Bressler were the seventh, eighth and ninth graders to be selected for the honor on the basic of high scholastic rating, character, leadership, service to the school and community and fulfillment of the responsibilities of a good citizen.

Each student chosen receives a certificate stating that he or she has been recognized and a letter of congratulations is sent to the parents of the young citizen.

to the City for $1 a year by the Society.

According to William Scheurer, member of the commission, the move is more than acceptable to the board as it will make the inspection of property up for consideration relatively simple, with the commission sitting in the village. Up to this point, an inspection involved a field trip to the village followed by a jaunt back to city hall to complete the hearings.

It was reported that Mayor Ralston Westlake voiced his disapproval of the action, stating that city employes should not be away from downtown offices. It is difficult for this argument to be made to hold water with recreation offices scattered all over the city, the division of Parks and Forestry located in Franklin Park, Civil Defense offices on N. High and South Fourth.

In preparation for its new tenant, the Society will continue in its program of dressing up the interior of the building the exterior of which is already a prime example of German Village restoration.

Several doors and windows have recently been replaced, and Fetch stated that the attention will probably be given to the main floor of the main office room. Interior painting will also be called for before the commission moves, probably about the first of the year.

The building consists of the main office, a conference room, a lavatory and small kitchen.

Currently, the only full-time employe of the commission which serves without pay is the secretary, Mrs. Helen Bell.

Though the Commission is only scheduled to meet once a month, according to Scheurer, the meetings are necessarily more frequent to keep applications from piling up. Under the ordinance the applications for certificates of appropriateness must either be granted or denied within seven days after receipt.

Mississippi passed a law Mar. 11, 1926, banning the teaching of evolution in state-supported schools.

A CLEAN-SWEEP

HOPING TO "RAKE-IN" the dollars as the TB Society conducts its Christmas Seal sale, local high school students are urging everyone to contribute generously. Demonstrating one approach to the program are, from the left, Diana Harlor, 755 E. Mithoff-st from South High, and Phyllis Reichert, 5199 Bixby-rd, and Mike James, 3740 Behm-rd, who both attend Groveport-Madison High School.

gives a tone to a party that formerly could be achieved only through a knee-breeched butler or two.

And the guest who sits down to bird's-nest soup will immediately recognize his hostess as a cosmopolitan, who has left the provincial far behind her.

Generations of wives have pondered over what they can serve their husband's boss that will emanate an aura of a "man-on-his-way-up."

What could better do this than a menu planned around a casserole of diamond-back rattlesnake with sauce supreme that is now on the market? Only the culinarily naive would rely on steak or fried-chicken to do the job.

For those who lack gastronomical courage the gourmet shelves present items allowing the faint-hearted a tee-in first approach to the unusual.

Cucumber soup, walnut cooking oil, rhubarb, jelly, champagne mayonnaise and smoked rainbow trout can be used as stair steps to the rarified atmosphere reserved for those who really have it made.

But the determined status-seeker will not tarry. The ground floor is getting crowded and the day is approaching when kangaroo-tail soup will carry less prestige than a second-hand Chevvy.

Zoning Board To Hear Requests

A public hearing will be held Friday, Dec. 20, 2 p.m. in room 228 of the Columbus City Hall to consider a request for a special permit and a request for a variance in zoning on the South Side.

Robert S. Nelson, 440 Hilock-rd, has requested a special permit to expand a non-conforming grocery store at 440 Hilock-rd. The area is zoned for single family residential dwellings. Nelson is the owner of the property under consideration.

Helen R. Bingmer, 193 E. Whittier-st, has requested a varience to install a pizza parlor in the rear of 193 E. Whittier-st. The area is zoned for apartment-residential dwellings. Helen Bingmer is the owner of the property under consideration.

IN GERMANY

Army Pvt. Richard L. Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold E. Patterson, 901 Miller-av, has been assigned to the Seventh Army Headquarters in Germany. Patterson, a clerk in the Headquarters' Engineer Section, entered the Army in June and completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. He is a 1960 graduate of South High School.

Schiller Center Opens Holidays With 'Hanging Of The Greens'

The Christmas season at Schiller Recreation Center will get under way tomorrow, Friday, Dec. 13, when once again the old English custom of "The Hanging of the Greens" will be observed. Teenagers of the center will decorate the 12-foot Christmas tree in the lobby.

Each of the doors will be covered to represent a different Christmas song or carol and two giant holly wreaths with lighted bells will hang from the ceiling.

Over the fireplace will be a replica of the "Little Town of Bethlehem" and glowing embers will shine forth a cheery welcome from below.

Next Wednesday the seasonal programs and parties will begin with the annual Community Christmas Program at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium. This program, open to the public, will consist of a short concert of Christmas music by the ninth grade chorus from St. Mary's High School, carol singing by the audience and the presentation of the play, "Reindeer on the Roof," by the Schiller dramatic department. The play is one which tells of the fun and "togetherness" had by a family preparing for the Christmas season.

Danny Laverick and Carol Bates play Mr. and Mrs. George Stevens, mother and father in the play. Other cast members are Virgil Burns, Susan Harmon, Ruth Schmidt, Gary VanGundy, Pam Wolford, Judy Harmon, Cassandra Latella and Joe Paul.

Saturday, Dec. 21, will be a big day for children six and under when Santa visits the center and sets up a temporary office in "Candy Cane Lane" from 10 a.m. to noon.

This will be an excellent opportunity for parents of small children who are unable to get downtown to bring them to the center for this visit with the famous gentleman from the North Pole. Each pre-school age youngster visiting Santa will receive a candy cane from St. Nick as he hears their Christmas wishes.

THE FACILITIES OF BOBB Chevrolet Co. have been made available to Explorer Post 77 who are taking up a 24-month study of the functions of the automotive industry at a dealer level. George H. Woodworth, right, the president of the Parsons-av firm, is showing Dale Lhamon through the parts department during a preliminary planning session. Lhamon, as vice-chairman of the Mohawk District, has set up the pilot program, unique in the Central Ohio Council.

OPPORTUNITY UNLIMITED

Post To Learn 'Ins And Outs' Of Car And Truck Dealerships

A nation on wheels is demanding more and more skilled mechanics to keep it rolling.

Explorer Post 77 of the St. Paul's Church of Christ, 225 E. Gates-st, spurred by this fact, will be the first to enter into the Mohawk District Automotive Specialty program, unique in the Central Ohio Boy Scout Council.

The project which will involve two-years' study will inform young men of high school age of the daily operation and management of the automotive business.

When a boy completes the course, according to Dale Lahmon, district officer who has laid the groundwork for the program, he will not only be thoroughly familiar with what goes on when someone hits the gas pedal, but with every phase of automobile and truck business, highway safety and the court's function in dealing with traffic violations.

The first year's schedule has been set up to begin with a study of the general financial structure of an automobile dealership and the functions of the parts department.

Over a three-months period the boys will learn sources of supply and parts distributions, and become familiar with part books, pricing, availability and turnover through field trips to the parts depot of the Bobb Chevrolet Co. which has made its facilities available for the training program.

The functions of the entire service department will be illustrated next with instructions given on a cut-away motor and working models of transmissions and differentials. Body shop courses will include costs, sheet metal repair and paint procedures.

The Highway Patrol will take over in the spring for two sessions covering safety and actual road tests conducted at a test track and skid pan.

During the summer months when car and truck procurement, reconditioning and new and used car sales will be taught, a field trip to an automobile manufacturing plant is slated.

The first half of the program will end with the details of the financial structure of dealerships—how they are financed, how the money is employed and the banking houses that makes a dealership go.

Lhamon who expects other posts to initiate similar programs will have the second phase of the 24-month schedule available in time to allow adequate planning.

He stressed that the success of the entire pilot project depends upon the conduct and action of the Explorers who will be guests of the dealers.

CINDERELLA COMING UP

A TREAT FOR children and adults will be presented at Veterans Memorial Saturday, Dec. 14, when the curtain goes up on "Cinderella." The production of the Columbus Symphony Orchestra and the Tureen Opera Company, the second in a series of Youth Concerts, is under the direction of Evan Whallon. Above are Nancy Barber, left, 998 Studer-av, and Kay Jacobs, 1146 Forest-st, members of Owana Horizon Club, Camp Fire Girls, who will usher. The $1 tickets for either the 11 a.m. or 2 p.m. performance are on sale at McClelland's Book Store, Kingsdale Shopping Center, Lincoln Village Pharmacy, Hilltop Tune, Summers and Son, Bexley Record Shop, Harmony House and the Columbus Symphony Orchestra, 55 E. State-st.

Helping Hands Set Dinner Fete

Helping Hand Sunday School Class of Gates-Fourth Methodist Church will meet Tuesday, Dec. 17, 6 p.m. for a Christmas party and pot-luck.

Mrs. Elsa Olds will give devotions. An exchange of gifts will follow.

TAKE YOUR PICK

SCOTCH PINE or Balsam, cut or alive, table model or ceiling high—there's a Christmas tree for every taste on sale at the South Side branch YMCA, 190 Southwood. John Schumacker, left, 670 Reinhard, and Ross Hughes, 1428 Harlow, YICA members, exhibit two of the specimens, shipped in from Michigan. Schumacher, who is chairman of the project sponsored by the four men's clubs of the "Y" (YICA, Amerigo II, Builders and Right Angle) stated that the lot in back of the YMCA will be open daily from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Proceeds from the sale of trees which have all been pruned and treated will go to the "Y."

LAFB STORK FLYING LOW

With speculation rife during recent weeks as to the fate of Lockbourne AFB, a release from the Base Hospital last week indicated that one old bird attached to the Strategic Air Command is still flying a heavy schedule.

And it bears the name of "STORK."

On Dec. 4 a record was set with the arrival of 19 new-born babies.

According to the Base Information Office, this should give relief to those who have heard it rumored that SAC at Lockbourne is dead.

First community forest in the U. S. was established at Newington, N. H., in 1710.

Christmas Ideas Available In Library Books

With Christmas only two weeks away, the Parson's Branch Library reminds residents that ideas and suggestions on all aspects of the holiday are available in books at the library.

"Books can offer a great deal of practical help on every phase of the Christmas celebration," explained Margaret Bausch, librarian.

Material ranges from the story behind Christmas to instructions for making gifts, decorations and Christmas cakes and cookies, the librarian said.

Give a Gift That Keeps on Giving

When the gay wrapping paper is cleared away Christmas morning and the last piece of ribbon retrieved from under the lounge chair, will Christmas be over for you for another year?

Oh yes, it will bring some joy to see the new sled used or the doll tucked safely into her own little crib in the arm of her new mother. But will all that Christmas means be swept away with the falling pine needles?

There is one way to keep Christmas as ever green as the pine that lives on its windswept hill. That is by giving gifts that keep or giving not just for a day or even a year but gifts that give pleasure, enrichment and encouragement for many years to come.

We believe you will find no greater joy this year than giving a part of your Christmas treasure to your church, the YMCA, your favorite charity or to a cause you believe in and which has all the eternal qualities of Christmas.

Christmas need never end!

Dear Santa!

I'm addressing this note to you in the hopes that I'm still not too old to get a little attention. It will be a fine Christmas for us at Hartley

IF YOU CAN'T FISH, ICE SKATE

WHEN OLD MAN WINTER made it clear recently that he was firmly entrenched, the young people of the South Side made a bee-line to the lake at Schiller Park which was solidly frozen. They were armed not with fishing poles, but with figure skates. Spills were frequent, but no one seemed to mind as kids of all ages put to shame their elders who were huddled by the fireside. Although none of the skaters came up with a perfect figure eight on the first day of skating there were some impressive ones and sevens. Also, some skid marks on the ice showed that not everyone was skating on their feet. Columbus Recreation Department employes will supervise the skating hours during the hours when it is open — Monday through Friday from 4 to 10 p.m. and from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Saturdays. They will all wear a boldly striped red and white shirt which will be a signal of "safe ice." A "warming fire" will be provided during the supervised hours.

Party Out In Favor Of Needy

Voting to dispense with a Christmas party for their children the members of Benson Hough Post are taking the money that is ordinarily used for the party and purchasing baskets of groceries for needy South Side families.

Paul S. Plunkett, commander of the VFW post, explained that since moving from the downtown area to 2299 S. High-st last year, the members have endeavored to make the organization an integral part of the neighborhood and adopted South Side problems at its own.

Billy Mangrun and Ed Hill are chairman and co-chairman of the committee appointed to screen the families reported as deserving of help during the holiday season.

South Side ministers and school teachers have been able to steer the committee to those who are actually in distress.

Plunkett called attention to the generosity of the merchants in filling of grocery orders when made aware the merchandise was being bought for needy families.

The committee will be joined by other members of the post at 7:30 p.m., Friday, Dec. 20 to pack and decorate the baskets which will be delivered the next morning.

Saturday Is Editorial, Ad Deadline

Because of the Christmas holiday, it is necessary that early deadlines for editorial and advertising copy be observed.

All correspondence, editorial copy, display and classified advertising must be in the Hartley Newspapers office by noon Saturday, Dec. 21.

Papers usually received Wednesday will be delivered Monday, and those received Thursday will be delivered Tuesday.

Early deadlines for the Dec. 30 and 31 editions have been set for noon Saturday, Dec. 28.

Jim Gives Up School Room For TB Ward

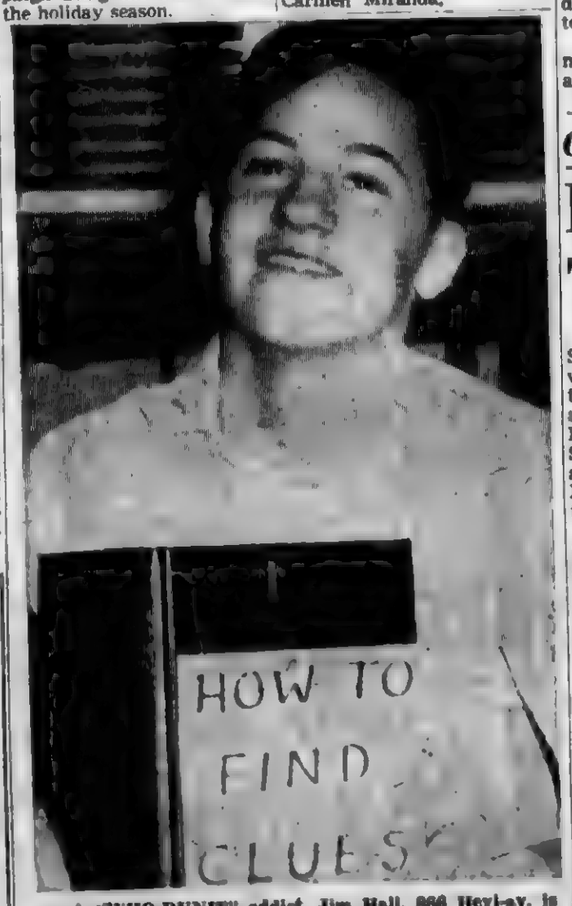
Jim Hall is spending Christmas at Benjamin Franklin Hospital this year.

Last year he was looking forward to Christmas vacation as a South High School sophomore.

But 10 days after he was admitted to Grant Hospital in September with pneumonia he was admitted to Benjamin Franklin with active, contagious tuberculosis.

Jim, while admitting that it wasn't easy to leave his family and school chums and the busy life offered by school activities, has accepted the fact that his job now is "to concentrate on getting well. "It's better for me, and better for my family and friends for me to stay here," he said.

The 16-year-old has joined the Tuberculosis Society of Columbus and Franklin County in urging everyone to support the Christmas Seal campaign using the Seals during the holiday season.



The dollars raised in this manner provide free X-rays, free tuberculin skin testing programs in the schools, research to find better methods of treatment and prevention and free educational material and programs.

Charitable Gifts Are Memorial

As a living, Christmas time memorial for his mother, the late Mrs. Molly Rabkin, Buddy Joyce of 408 E. Fulton-st, made a cash gift to Charity Newsies, and financed a party for handicapped persons.

Joyce gave $100 to Charity Newsies and, with a cash donation to Harold Fleming, made possible a party for members of Courage, Inc., held Dec. 18 at Sunshine Recreation Center.

Joyce formerly danced with Carmen Miranda.

A "WHO-DUNIT" addict, Jim Hall, 866 Heyl-av, is reading a book on "How To Find Clues," while a patient at Benjamin Franklin Hospital. He hopes his story will help "clue you" that you may find the key to TB prevention by supporting the Easter Seal campaign.

Planning Commission Considers Rezoning

Columbus City Planning Commission agenda for the Wednesday, Dec. 18 meeting included two petitions from Virginia Homes, Inc. The developers requested change of zoning to permit housing developments and construction of a neighborhood shopping center.

Subject to approval by the planning body and Columbus City Council, the zone changes would permit:

Completion of Southern Pines subdivision, northeast of Parsons-av and Obetz-rd, and construction of single-family dwellings at Noe-Bixby-rd (Greenbriar Farm No. 2).

Completion of Southern Pines would include a neighborhood shopping center in addition to single, two-family and four-family units. Plans call for use of the multi-unit dwellings as a buffer between the proposed shopping center and private dwellings. A public park is also planned for the 200-acre development and will serve as part of the buffer zone also.

Private homes in the development will range from $12,500 to $17,000, with an approximate total of 900 units. The partially developed subdivision now includes 130 developed lots, and it is expected that about 50 families will move in before the end of the year. Present plans call for opening model houses in January.

Speed Limits Are Changed

Columbus City Council set a speed limit of 35 miles per hour for sections of Parsons-av, Sinclair-rd and Lockbourne-rd, at its Monday night meeting.

The ordinance was prepared at the request of John L. Gallagher, chief traffic engineer for the city. Gallagher said that recent traffic surveys dictated the reductions in the speed limits. (Parsons-av and Lockbourne-rd had carried 40 mph speeds, and Sinclair-av, a 45 mph limit.)

Gallagher said that since annexation to the city, the areas involved have experienced a general build-up in commercial and residential units, and that pedestrian traffic had increased.. These factors, he said, resulted in the request for lowering the speed limit.

The following areas are affected by the ordinance:

Parsons-av from Obetz-rd to a point 1,000 feet south of Corr-rd; Sinclair-rd, from State Rt. 161 (Dublin-Granville-rd) to a point 750 feet north of Lincoln-av; Lockbourne-rd, from Marion-rd to Groveport-rd.

OHIO SCHOLARSHIP TESTS

Local Students In Top Five Percent

Four students from the South Side are among those who received honorable mention in the 1963 General Scholarship Tests. They are Jim Lyle and Gloria Weigand of South High and Karen Berger and Bruce Bell from Marion-Franklin. All ranked in the top five per cent.

The tests which were given throughout Ohio to a highly select group of high school seniors serve to motivate the student to greater scholastic effort, identify those who have the highest academic achievement and recognize the more capable seniors.

The five sub-tests cover English, history, mathematics, science and reading and vocabulary.

The State Department of Education explained that this test relies more heavily upon knowledge of facts basic to the subject area tested than many testing programs and can be interpreted as an estimate of 11-plus years of educational experiences.

Drive-In Bank Zoning Sought

The City National Bank and Trust Co., will build a drive-in bank at 1650 Lockbourne-rd, subject to approval of a requested zoning change by the Columbus Planning Commission and city council. The request was on the agenda for the Wednesday, Dec. 18 meeting of the planning group.

Tentative plans include entrance and exit curb cuts in Moler-rd, with traffic entrance from the west end of the property and exit at the eastern property edge.

PART THREE: GRASSROOTS POLITICS

Ward Level Ranks Need Transfusion

By FRANK RYAN

In our first two articles dealing with grassroots politics, we have concluded that politicking has lost the personal touch and that local political leadership has drifted from the people. More important than what has happened to local politics are these questions: Why? How? What can be done about it?

Perhaps the most discouraging statistic we quoted in the last article was that only eight per cent of the people interviewed could correctly identify either of the partisan committeemen in their wards or townships. It is the committeeman, after all, who has the most direct access to the voters. While the county chairman is the architect and developer, it is the committeeman who must build and maintain the political structure.

But the status and stature of the committeeman has changed considerably over the past 30 years. At one time he told the county chairman what he wanted in the way of improvements for his area and patronage for his people. Now he asks—and then infrequently.

At one time, the committeeman could pose an actual threat to the county chairman because he knew his area people and (more important) they knew him. Now, however, the committeeman has the alternative of conformity or being forced out.

The choice of a ward or township committeeman today is not so much a matter of who votes for a given individual. It is determined more by the initial selection of candidates by the county-based political leadership. And these candidates are selected because of conformity to established leadership policy, rather than their ability to discern the wants and needs of the areas they will represent.

As one former committeeman put it: "It's no fun anymore to be a committeeman. The main rule is 'don't rock the boat.' It used to be that a committeeman was an important member of his little community; he could satisfy his ego and still know that he was performing worth-while service. Now he's just a guy who nobody knows or cares about."

But how did this change come to pass? Did the committeeman abdicate his responsibilities—or was he squeezed out of the picture by political leadership that would rather direct than lead? Maybe the grassroots politician is the victim of a society that tends more and more to fast, superficial living.

We have replaced the cracker barrel with the check-out counter; common sense with psychiatry, and ward committeemen with a county-level "Big Brother," whose only command is "do as I ask—or better yet, do nothing."

Ever-increasing numbers of people decry the ever-increasing intrusions by federal government into local affairs. Yet these same people refuse the responsibility of determining if their neighbor down the street is qualified for the local elective office he seeks.

Never before have political leaders had the means now at their disposal for mass communication and education of the public. But if they were inclined to use these means for the highest purposes, how many people would respond? How many could feel the personal involvement that came from the talks around the cracker barrel and the "old-time" religion. Perhaps we should look to a "Billy Graham of politics" to shake us from our political lethargy.

It would be a real challenge to the grassroots politician to see if he could put a dent in Dr. Kildare's Hooper rating while discussing with his neighbor the merits of local candidates for office. Such an adventure might even lead to a return of the time when being a committeeman would be "fun."

And who knows; maybe our political "directors" would even welcome the opportunity to lead rather than manipulate.

WEE WISHES

ST. NICK listened last year when Christy Maser, 1169 Linwood-av, told him what she hoped to find under her Christmas tree, and he'll be back in Candy Cane Lane at Schiller Recreation this Saturday, Dec. 21 from 10 a.m. until noon. Santa told the Schiller staff over the phone that we wants all little girls and boys, six and under, to come tell him what they want for Christmas, and that he has a candy cane for everyone of them.

OES TO MEET

Southern Way Chapter, 467, OES, will meet Thursday, Dec. 26, 7:30 p.m. at South Gate Masonic Temple, 850 Studer-av, for a Christmas party.

Miss Komives, Mr. Barton United Saturday At Hungarian Ceremony

Hungarian United Church of Christ was the setting for the Dec. 14 wedding of Miss Patricia Komives, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Komives, Sr., 406 Jenkins-av, to Mr. Paul William Barton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Harold Barton, 341 Innis-av.

The bride wore a gown of candlelight Peau de Soie and Chantilly lace, with a square neckline, tapered sleeves and natural waistline. The very full skirt featured an intermission of Chantilly lace in front.

A wedding cake crown with iridescents of Aurora and seed pearls held her bouffant elbow-length veil. She carried a cascade of Fugi mums accented with eucalyptus foliage.

Maid of honor was Miss Sharon Mitchell. Honor attendants were Mrs. Linda Smith, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Dolores Komives, sister-in-law of the bride; Miss JoAnn Crabtree and Miss Judy Noble. All wore scarlet sheath brocade gowns with scoop necklines, long sleeves, and floor-length overskirts, caught by bows at the waist. Their crowns were Cabashon roses with veils and they carried snow balls of white pom pons touched with pink.

Miss Debby Komives, sister of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a flour-length gown of light pink brocade, miniature Cabasehon rose veil and carried a white nylon basket of pom pons.

Best man was Mr. Alex Komives, Jr., brother of the bride. Ushers were: Mr. Martin Komives, brother of the bride; Mr. David Smith, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Mr. Bill Diebert and Mr. Ronald Leddy.

Ringbearer was Master Charles Dersom, nephew of the bridegroom.

Hostesses were Mrs. Jacquelyn Dersom, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Joyce Oakley, cousin of the bride; Mrs. Fonda Weatherall, Mrs. Doris Dean, Mrs. Cynthia Santo, Miss Jean Benzl, Miss Sandra Nagi, and Miss Bonnie Heisse.

The new Mrs. Barton is a graduate of Columbus Business University and is associated with Owens-Illinois Glass Co. Mr. Barton is a senior at Ohio State University in the College of Education and is also employed by the S. M. Fleckinger and Co.

DEAR SANTA CLAUS

PLEASE BRING ME A CHRISTMAS DOLL

Ask a little boy what he wants for Christmas and you'll get a Santa-sized pack of answers.

Cowboy guns, footballs, trucks, electric trains and anything on wheels are apt to be high on the "I-wanta" list up to the time when he begins a campaign for a car.

But ask a little girl — any little girl — and the answer will be pat.

She has her heart set on a doll.

This has been true around the world for centuries as a peek at the hundreds of antique dolls owned by Mrs. Pearl Roberts, 923 Carpenter-st will show.

Doll makers a hundred years ago showed the same versatility as today's manufacturers who annually introduce a "new number" designed to convince very young ladies — and their parents — that last year's doll is "old hat."

A few years ago realism took over and thousands of little girls busied themselves with feeding dolls which promptly required a change of diapers. But these dolls are no more down-to-earth than the large German bisque owned by Mrs. Roberts which is obviously pregnant and came dressed in the maternity fashions of the turn of the century.

One of the more popular dolls on the market this season is one which has various comments to make, depending upon what record is inserted. But Mrs. Roberts displayed an 80-year-old Indian doll equally fascinating. One has but to punch it in the stomach, its mouth will fly open and it convincingly squawks its protest at such abuse.

Not too long ago a "flapper doll" was a decorating must for any teenager's bedroom. These long-legged creatures were dressed to the teeth, but fade in comparison with the French fashion dolls treasured by the Columbus collector.

Made as miniature mannequins to tout Parisian fashions before the royalty of other countries, these dolls are true clothes horses, with their hour-glass figures complete with pierced ears to dangle jeweled earrings fit for a queen.

The ingenuity of the dollmakers of another age formerly put to use a wide variety of materials, compared to today's routine use of plastic.

In Mrs. Roberts' collection are china dolls, bisque dolls, stuffed dolls, papier mache dolls, wooden dolls, wax dolls and dolls with leather hands and feet.

One particularly interesting gentleman even sports quills for finger and toenails.

Like most doll collectors Mrs. Roberts in her coast-to-coast search for the unusual soon found herself involved in restoring dolls that throughout the years had become the worse for wear.

Gradually acquiring the skills of a plastic surgeon she has recently made a business of administering to the doll suffering from dermatitis, scalping and amputation with the opening of a doll hospital.

With a ready inventory of spare parts, she can take a "litter case" and almost as fast as you can say "ma-ma" have another collector's item on the shelf.

GRAMMA GUSSIE WITH her life-like waxen face, blown-glass eyes and human hair is quite a character as she watches over her grandson on his antique rocking horse. The side part in his china molded china hair is the criterion that establishes he was designed as a boy-doll. A scrutiny of the rocking horse makes one wonder if children of a past generation were actually allowed to use their toys, as it is so fragile that in most homes sheltering an active two-year-old, it would not weather the onslaught of a hectic Christmas day.

BIG-EYED Francein Dee, treasured by Mrs. Roberts, is made of fine bisque and is a French Juno, one of the two most expensive makes of doll ever manufactured. Any collector can spot a Juno immediately by its luminous and over-sized eyes.

A MECHANICAL genius must have been responsible for this French fashion doll, made around 1850. She stands upon a music box, and as one of two melodies is played, she gracefully turns, powders her petite nose, admires her undeniable beauty in the tiny hand-mirror she holds and nods her approval of her perfection.

LOOKING OVER the swing where two of a pair of German dolls, circa 1850, agelessly idle the time away is Mrs. Pearl Roberts, chief medico at Pearl's Doll Hospital. An accomplished couturiere as well as a "surgeon" Mrs. Roberts dresses her dolls authentically in the fashion of their vintage.

THE LATEST WRINKLE in the doll world is the doll family. Typical of the related group on the market this season is the Dr. John Littlechap and his family. Mother Lisa, dressed in any of her many costumes, looks like a Vogue mannequin; big sister Judy's clothes are the envy of any teenager and small-fry. Libby is something of a tomboy. Dad is no slouch with a wardrobe enabling him to represent, among other roles, Dr. Littlechap at the golf course, Dr. Littlechap ready for an evening on the town, or Dr. Littlechap ready to play Ben Casey.

RAGGEDY-ANN IS one doll that has never gone out of style. In the Christmas rush at Woolco at the Great Southern Shopping Center little Marilyn Dradt was spied cuddling the 1964-edition of the perennial favorite. If Marilyn, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dradt, 4621 Henly-st, would undress the doll, sh ewould find the same message over Andy's heart that was painted on Andy's of her mother's day—"I Love You."

Adventists Lose Spiritual Leader

Ohio Adventists will lose their spiritual leader President D. W. Hunter to the Neighboor state of Pennsylvania Jan. 1, as the result of a membership merger.

This merger represents the first adjustment of Adventist Conference territorial lines in the North American Division in more than 30 years.

Elder Hunter has directed Adventist activities in Ohio for the past seven years. Under his administration, a new state office, 33 churches and eleven schools have been built.

DIANA GINGERALL, LARRY TIPTON SAY VOWS AT HILLTOP CHURCH

MRS. LARRY TIPTON

Hilltop Evangelical Lutheran Church was the setting for the Oct. 12 wedding of Miss Diana Lee Gingerall and Mr. Larry Tipton.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Gilbert C. Jones, 450 S. Terrace-av and Mr. James E. Gingerall, Jr., 2710 Thorndale-av. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Tipton, 846 Wiltshire-rd.

Rev. John E. Hydinger read the vows.

The bride was given in marriage by her stepfather, Mr. Gilbert C. Jones. Her floor-length gown of silk organza and chantilly lace featured a Sabrina neckline, long tapering sleeves and a bouffant overskirt trimmed with lace.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a crown of pearls and iridescents and she carried a white prayerbook decorated with cascading snowdrops and fuji pom pons, centered with a white orchid.

Miss Susan Thrall served as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Misses Jean and Carolyn Berger.

Mr. John Clark was best man and ushers were Mr. Richard Thrall and Mr. John Harper.

Twins Marilyn and Mark, half-sister and brother of the bride, served as flower girl and ringbearer, respectively. Stephen and Charles, half-brothers of the bride, were acolytes.

A reception was held at the church following the ceremony.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Tipton are graduates of West High. Mrs. Tipton is employed at Insurance of North America and Mr. Tipton is associated with Huntington National Bank.

The couple is residing at 2710½ Thorndale-av.

One More Yule Gift —Blood—Is In Order

Henry C. Ruegg, and Dr. G. Weir Hartman, president and executive director, respectively of the Columbus area of the Council of Churches, issue a special appeal to the churches of the Columbus area to cooperate in the Christmas Season Red Cross Blood appeal.

They commend the following letter from the Red Cross to pastors to appeal to their people for response in providing the needed blood. The letter reads in part:

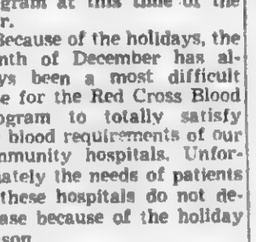
"The Red Cross Blood Program has solicited our assistance in helping overcome a serious problem that faces the program at this time of the year.

Because of the holidays, the month of December has always been a most difficult time for the Red Cross Blood Program to totally satisfy the blood requirements of our community hospitals. Unfortunately the needs of patients in these hospitals do not decrease because of the holiday season.

An estimated 5,000 pints of blood will be needed, 3,500 pints will be provided by Bloodmobile visits. Balance, 1,500 pints, must be met by people who come to the Blood Center, 812 E. Broad-st.

You can help the Blood Program meet community needs by asking the members of your church to donate blood on any of the dates listed below. Announcements to your congregation during the month of December can be a vital factor in the success of this special effort.

The center will be receiving donors on the following dates:



Friday, Dec. 20, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Tuesday, Dec. 24—9 to 3.

Friday, Dec. 27—9 to 3.

Monday, Dec. 30—1 to 7.

Services Arranged As Christmas Nears

Zion . . .

A Christmas Eve Candlelight service will be held Tuesday, Dec. 24, 11 p.m., at Zion Lutheran Church, 1080 Obetz-rd.

Rev. Walter Lindemuth will preach and both Junior and Senior Choirs will participate.

Public is invited.

Bethany . . .

Two special occasions will highlight the Christmas season at the new Bethany Christian Church, Wilson-av at Fulton-st.

On Sunday, Dec. 22, 7:30 p.m., a family Christmas celebration will be held around the Christmas tree. Wrapped gifts of food for needy families may be brought to this service. An informal program of Christmas carols and Scripture will be presented.

On Christmas Eve, 11:30 p.m., Holy Communion will be observed with the lighting of candles. The service will relate the meaning of the birth in the manger to the Lord's Supper and give worshippers the opportunity to crown Christmas Eve and begin Christmas Day in communion with God.

All who wish to join in these services are invited.

William G. Hansen is the pastor of this new congregation.

St. Paul's . . .

"Do You Write Xmas?" will be the topic of Rev. John O. Lang, Sunday, Dec. 22, 8 and 10:30 a.m. at St. Paul's Lutheran Church. A class of adults will be confirmed and Holy Communion will be celebrated at the 10:30 service.

The Sunday School will present its Christmas program of pagentry, recitation and song entitled, "The Little Town of Bethlehem," at 4 p.m.

Two services will be held on Christmas Eve, 7:45 and 10:45 p.m. The pastor will speak on "The Old Old Story," illustrating his sermon with four masterpieces on the Nativity. Senior and Junior Choirs will sing.

On Christmas Day, Rev. Lang will speak on "What's the Good News?" at 9:30 a.m.

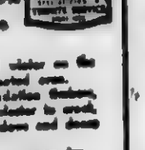
St. John's . . .

St. John's Evangelical Protestant Church, 59 E. Mound-st, will hold a family Christmas service with the church school, Sunday, Dec. 22, 8:55 a.m.

LeRoy M. Kutz, Jr., pastor, will deliver the sermon, "Oh! How I Hate Christmas" at the 10:40 a.m. service.

"Better to Light a Candle . . ." will be the topic of the Christmas Eve service, Tuesday, Dec. 24, 11 p.m.

William F. von Braugitsch is the associate pastor.



Unity . . .

"Light in the Manger" will be the topic of the Sunday, Dec. 22, sermon by Rev. Curtis Wilson, during the 10:55 a.m. morning worship service at Unity Church of Christianity, 3568 Olentangy River-rd.

Sunday School will be held at 9:30 a.m. and a candlelighting service will be observed at 8 p.m.

TERMITES

Mean Business In Cold Weather

They will feed all winter on the woodwork in a heated room. They destroy foundation timbers, rain traps, screen plaster to crack, floors to sag, windows and doors to bind.

You will save money by preventing termite damage.

. . . and they sang praises

"And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

LUKE 2, 13-14

I personally have a poor singing voice . . . this may be one of the reasons why I have so much appreciation for those who have good voices and use their talent for the Lord. At every Christmas, church choirs put forth extra work and effort so that they may present to the world the wonderful story of the birth of our Saviour. I plan to attend these services, knowing that my heart and soul will be nourished and lifted high . . . won't you come too?

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

The youth of Livingston and First Methodist Churches have planned a Hootenanny for Friday, Dec. 20, utilizing talent from the local area.

The feature group will be "The Signpost Singers" of South High School. The members are Jim Lyle, Phil Lee, Nancy Reynolds and Alan Cook. Youth of the Church who will also participate in the evening of folk songs and Christmas carols include Russel Hensley, David Hensley, Stan Broadway, Larry Paul, Anne Duerler and Jack Botley.

Planning the evening of fellowship and fun are Jack Botley, chairman, assisted by Nancy Schulz, the MYF president; Larry Paul, Ron Kemmerling, and Sharon Hamilton. Profits from the 7:30 p.m. affair will be used to defray expenses of MYF members to the Taylor Youth Conference, an event of next spring. Admission will be $1 for adults, and 50 cents for students. The general public is invited to attend. The Hootenanny will be held at First Church, Bryden-rd and S. 18th-st, the temporary home of the Livingston-av congregation.

The South Methodist Riverside Hospital Guild meets today (Thursday, Dec. 19). The Mission Commission Christmas Bazaar will be held at South Methodist today and tomorrow, Friday, Dec. 20, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The church's candlelight service will be held at 11 p.m. Christmas Eve.

St Francis Circle 12 meets at 6:30 tonight, Thursday, at the home of Mrs. Leo Dietlein, 1330 Gates-st.

The long anticipated week of the year is finally here, and these youngsters sometimes find their natal day almost forgotten in the hustle and bustle of the holidays, so an especially warm birthday "Hello" to them: Kenneth Athey, Barbara Roseberry, Jeffrey Bryant, Sheila McKinster, Susan Voit, Eddie Burdett, Steve Lenigar, Robert Reed, Richard Early, Jay Saunders, Gary Gramlich, Margaret Clark, Margaret Naegele, Mary Naegele, James Kissler, Sandy Craggs and Greg Lachowsky.

The buffer group 'twixt youngsters and adults, our teens, has these birthdayites: Beth Jacks, Jerry Ellis, David Obert, Debby Burdette and Patti Lou Murnone

Happy to ignore their natal days are these "mature" friends: George Oakley, Kate Conkle, Marty Pohrson, Ralph Hughes, Helen Arrick, Freddie Stalter, Fannie Leibrond, Minnie Jones, William Almon, Elizabeth Christian and Mary Gray.

Christmas-week wedding anniversaries are celebrated by these nice couples: Paul and Ann Wiezerig, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walters, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hoglun, Emma and Donald Wilkerson, Steve and Linda Miller, Jean and Ernie Holdren and Ralph and Jerry Ross

Just a few days remain to visit the Christmas tree lot at the South Side "Y", 190 Southwood-av, to purchase a choice tree. Members of the "Y" associated organizations are promoting the sale for the benefit of the local institution

Activities in the area for this week:

A Christmas party will be held by Fidelis Class of the Southwood Church of Christ at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 21. The children of the church will present their Christmas program on Sunday, Dec. 22, at 7:30 p.m. All three C. E. groups will go caroling on Monday, Dec. 23, at 6:30 p.m.

The new high school, Brookhaven will be the host team for the South High basketball hopefuls on Friday, Dec. 20.

The Junior Choir of Hope Lutheran Church will present several special Christmas anthems on Sunday, Dec. 22.

The Sunday School Christmas program held at First Church on Dec. 22, at 4 p.m., will be a unique one, in that bits of the historical heritage of First Church and Livingston Methodist will be woven into it. The congregation of Livingston Methodist Church is meeting at First Church since their place of worship was a victim of the freeway construction. First Church has been in existence for 150 years, while Livingston Methodist was founded 120 years ago.

The Luther League Carolers of Emmanuel Lutheran Church will be fortified with a potluck luncheon before making the rounds on Sunday, Dec. 22. The LLCN of the church will furnish cookies for distribution at the time of the caroling. After the singing is over, the group will meet at the Hoskinson home for devotions, refreshments and a gift exchange. The Sunday School program of the church will be an event of Sunday, Dec. 22, at 4 p.m. On Christmas Eve, services will be held at 7:30 and 11 p.m.

Scheduled activities at Washington EUB for the week include a noon potluck luncheon today (Thursday) of the New Loyal Union WCTU. At 7:30 p.m. tonight, the home of Clara Stoltz will be the meeting place for the Sunday school class of Marcella Helser. The Christmas play will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 22, while the young people of the church will start caroling at 6:45 p.m. On Monday, Dec. 23, the group will sing for shutins, church members and at Alum Crest and Benjamin Franklin Hospitals. No formal church service will be held Tuesday, Dec. 24, but Washington Avenue EUB Church will once again hold open house on Christmas Eve, from 7 to 9 p.m., as was done last year. Area residents are invited to come and meditate for as long, or as little, as they wish.

A Christmas program will be given when the PTS of the Heyl Avenue School meets at 1:30 today (Thursday, Dec. 19).

The Christian Day School of St Paul Lutheran Church will give a Christmas program at 9:45 a.m. Friday, Dec. 20, at the Educational Unit. The youngsters of the Junior Choir and Sunday School department will present a program at 4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 22, also in the Educational Unit. The Luther Leaguers of the church will go by bus to the home of the sick and shutins of the congregation for their Christmas caroling, 6:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 22. The Junior Choir will perform for the 10:45 a.m. service. Rev. Long will base his sermon on four masterpieces of the Nativity which will be projected on a screen during the sermon. A 9:30 a.m. service will be held on Christmas Day.

Mrs. Vincent Meyer, 774 S. Fairwood-av, will be the hostess for St. Ann's Guild at a noon luncheon and bridge party on Monday, Dec. 23, at Presutti's Restaurant.

A December wedding of interest to area residents is that of Carol Williams who formerly lived on Frebis-av, to William Johnson, a teacher in the Hilliard School system. The former South Sider is also a teacher in the Columbus Schools.

December wedding bells were heard by Catherine Cole, 3666 Roswell-dr, and Ronald Berwick, 1364 Ellsworth-av, on Saturday, Dec. 7, at Scottwood Community Church. The groom is a South High School graduate.

A Dec. 21 wedding ceremony will unite Barbara Martin, 806 Siebert-st, and Terry Pletcher, 1049 Jackson-pk, in the Broad Street Christian Church. A newly-wedded couple, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hammerly, are welcomed as area residents following their Nov. 27 exchange of vows. Mrs. Hemmerly is the former Janice Roberts.

Belated congratulations to Kurt Meyers, area resident, who was a participant in the National Lutheran College Choir which was featured in the third annual Church Music Seminar in Minneapolis, in November. Participants in this elite choir were chosen from 33 senior Lutheran Colleges in America and Canada. The senior at Capital University, it will be remembered, was one of that school's choir members to make a tour of Europe quite a while ago.

A last reminder is in order that the various organizations of the South Side "Y," 190 Southwood-av, are sponsoring a Christmas tree sale at the "Y." Time is fleeting, you know.

The first four grades of Southwood School will present "The First Christmas" at the PTA meeting tonight (Thursday), beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The known ailing list includes Mrs. Bennie Gilbert, Herman Heil, Mrs. Robert Henry and Norman Johnson, youngsters who have the tonsillectomy phase past them, include Rose Payne, Stevie Parham and John Simons, Jr. Long hospital stays have been the lot of Helen Arrick, 170 E. Moler-st, and "Duke" Eichel, 1341 South Third-st, but both are once again on the convalescent road. Both are extremely grateful for the solicitude expressed by their friends.

This hollest week of the year brings many activities to all churches and such is the case at Thurman Avenue Methodist Church. The WSCS will hold its Christmas meeting at 10 a.m. today. Mrs. Dale Davy has chosen for the program "If We Had Been in Bethlehem," Mrs. Orland Solis will lead the devotions. The children's program will be an event of Friday, Dec. 20, at 7:30 p.m. On Sunday, Dec. 22, the choir will present a program of Christmas music and a candlelight service will be held. On Christmas Eve, from 6 to 9:30 p.m. an open house will be held at the home of the pastor, Rev. W. K. Loy.

The ailing list includes Betty Ellis, 225 Southwood-av, a recent hospital patient; Eleanor Tope, slated for surgery in Grant hospital last week; Kenneth Wells, receiving therapy at University Hospital; Margie Coffman in Mercy Hospital; Dolores Smith, who had a tonsillectomy; William Johnson, in Room 146 of Mercy Hospital, recovering from a heart attack, as is Jim Robison, in Room 254. Lottie Koch, a former South Sider, would be cheered to hear from friends and neighbors in her new residence, the Sun Ridge Nursing Home, Sunbury and Fifth-avs.

The weekly newsletter of the Southwood Church of Christ tells us that the Christmas program will be an event of Sunday, Dec. 22, at 7:30 p.m. The senior C.E. of the church will hold a party, following the program. A candlelight service will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Christmas Eve. The Junior High C.E. group will hold a party at 7 p.m. Friday, Dec. 20. The Senior C.E. will enjoy an evening of caroling on Monday, Dec. 23.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Seemueller, the parents of little Miss Deborah Sue, who arrived in November.

The young people of the South High EUB will visit the homes of shut-ins when they go caroling this evening. The children's Christmas program of the church will be held at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 22.

Because our deadline preceded the delivery date of the "Gifts for Giving" at the Ben Franklin Hospital, we're not able to give a complete report of the annual project. We're positive though, it will be in the success column again. Our faithful donors have made sure of that, God bless them.

All items were particularly lovely.

More money was donated this year than in former years, so the men will not be forgotten, and it was possible to buy more games for the boys.

This week's donors include: the Housberger Methodist Church, Alice Colegrove, Frances Colegrove, Eva McNeill, Wilma Herrel, Dolores Humes, Jean LaRue, Vera Rice, Debby Craggs, Mary Barnhart, Mrs. Romaniuk, Dora Hampton. To these warm-hearted donors, and to all previous ones, a sincere and grateful thank you.

OPERATION SAFETY

OVER WITH the cover and down with the speed. Lockbourne AFB air policeman, S. Sgt. Jerry D. March, prepares to enact another phase of the base's winter safety campaign. Lockbourne's already elaborate safe driving programs receive special attention during winter months.

request seeks approval of a preliminary plat for 61 acres. Plans call for construction of about 125 homes on half-acre lots in the $35,000 to $50,000 price range.

Also on the commission agenda was a request by developer Julius Cohen for approval of a preliminary plat for 275 lots at the southeast corner of Noe-Bixby and Refugee-rds. If approved, the development will be single-family residences constructed by Jewell Builders, 3497 E. Livingston-av.

The planning body will also consider an application of Rose Chapdelaine, 795 Kimball-pl, for a zoning change from apartment to commercial. Affected property is located at 1266 Livingston-av.

ciety who will be on hand to open the observance of the holiday tradition.

The display will extend south from the German Village art colony and will include a kaleidoscope which, with the other creations, will be turned on every evening until New Year's until 10 p.m.

The German Village Society which is sponsoring a home decoration contest will not consider these displays when the time comes for judging, according to Mrs. Jan Jones, publicity chairman, as the emphasis is on simplicity, while the section above is expected to be more elaborate.

She stated that the Senior Citizens have pitched in whole-heartedly in the preparation for the innovation of an old custom.

The Society has asked that everyone in the German Village area place a lighted candle in their window during the Yule season.

Columnist Accepts Post At Syracuse U.

Rod Cochran

The outdoors columnist for Hartley Newspapers for six years, Rod Cochran will join the faculty of the State University College of Forestry at Syracuse University, N. Y.

Cochran, writer and editor for the Ohio Department of Natural Resources for 10 years, will serve as public relations officer for the college. He will assume his duties shortly after the first of the year.

He will be responsible for the preparation and dissemination of information concerning all phases of forestry, forest conservation, outdoor recreation and the activities of the college.

For the past six years the Ohio native has edited the widely acclaimed Ohio Conservation Bulletin, a monthly magazine. In addition to writing a prize-winning book, "Ohio's Wildlife Resources," he has been a freelance writer for national sports magazines.

Cochran, a graduate of Denison and Ohio State universities, holds a M.S. degree in conservation. He and his wife have two children.

Dog Licenses Now On Sale

The 1964 dog licenses are now on sale, according to an announcement by Arch J. Warren, Franklin County Auditor. Deadline for the purchase of licenses without subject to fine is Monday, Jan. 20.

Auditor Warren emphasized to dog owners the convenience and expediency of using the mail-order application forms which will appear in Hartley Newspapers on Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 23, 24, and Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 8 and 9, to facilitate the purchases of licenses. The application form will include complete instructions for mail purchases.

For those who do not procure a form, the following information, together with a stamped, self-addressed envelope is needed: the sex, age, color, breed, whether it is a short or long-haired dog, and the owner's name and address. Licenses purchased on or before the Monday, Jan. 20, deadline are $2 each; thereafter, a $1 penalty is added. Kennel licenses are $10 each.

Licenses are also on sale at the Court House License Division (Mound-st side of the Court House basement), Mound and High-sts, as well as at the Humane Society Animal Shelter, 2770 Groveport-pk.

All dogs three months or older on Jan. 1, 1964, must be licensed to prevent impounding and their owners being subjected to subsequent penalty.

County Auditor Arch J. Warren advises that the office is open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and until noon on Saturdays for the purchases of such li-[illegible].

AARP Chapter Is Chartered

Charles A. Kuntz, president, announces that the American Association of Retired Persons, has been granted a charter by the parent organization in Washington.

Officers of the local chapter, in addition to Kuntz, are Willard W. Hall, vice-president, Harry N. Park, treasurer; Romaine D. Male, corresponding secretary; Rose K. Meeks, recording secretary; Ralph W. Sanborn, general counsel, and Rev. Wilbur A. Vorhis, chaplain.

Dr. Ethel Percy Andrus, president of AARP, attended the organization meeting of the local chapter.

Next meeting will be held Thursday, Dec. 19, at the Broad Street Methodist Church, 501 E. Broad-st.

CARE Means Brotherhood

The Christmas shopping season is at its peak, with a wealth of gifts for our selection. As we go about the happy task of remembering those dear to us, CARE asks us also to remember those who have nothing — the millions of people across the world who do not even have enough to eat.

Through its Food Crusade now under way, CARE appeals to Americans to send 6,000,000 packages, at $1 per package, to the needy and desolate on four continents. Foods are mainly U.S. donations of farm abundance. Combined with "partnership" programs whereby local governments pay distribution costs, the packages will complete a year-long CARE plan to help feed more than 35,000,000 persons in 33 countries of Africa, Asia, Europe, Latin America. Long after the holidays have passed, the gifts will be used in ways to nourish the hungry, give them health and energy to help themselves to a better life.

Every package is a personal expression of brotherhood, presented with the name and address of the donors who send their dollars to: CARE Food Crusade, 8 E. Chestnut-st, Columbus, O. 43215.

No matter what language men speak, America's prayers for Peace on Earth are quickly understood when we give food so others may eat — through our kindness, for the present; by their own efforts, in the years ahead.

Why Shun Commitments?

We Americans often refer to the nations in Asia and Africa as "uncommitted," unmindful that there are many such people in our own midst.

In any local or national election a large percentage of the people stay away from the polls—"uncommitted."

On any question that is up for discussion there are always those people who can be listed—"no opinion."

The Gallup poll indicates that a large percentage of the adult population (over 50 per cent for the past year) were not in attendance at any house of worship in any given week.

Jackie Robinson states his mother was right when she said, "If you plant a crop and don't cultivate it, nothing grows. That's the way with religion . . . it dries up if you don't tend it."

The coming of a new year serves as a challenge to each of us to get out of the "uncommitted" area and tend to our religion.

Strategy Makes For Happy Shopping

Finished your Christmas shopping yet?

If you haven't, don't get panicky. There are still a few shopping days left.

The principal stores will be open extra hours until Christmas and stocks of merchandise are still fairly complete.

Here are a few tips for shoppers who want to conserve their own time and energy and who want to select the most suitable gifts for friends and family:

1. If you can, shop early in the day, before salespeople get weary and before stocks are dis-arranged.
2. People who must shop at night will be wise to do so during the dinner hour.
3. Make up a list of gift possibilities by scanning advertisements in this newspaper.
4. Save time by asking for help if you need suggestions. Most stores have trained shoppers to assist those who do not know what they want.
5. If possible, decide in advance what you want for each person on your gift list. It's late now to be "just looking" for ideas.
6. Be polite to store employes. They get weary too, and they respond best to courtesy.
7. If you can, take your purchase with you. All stores have a tremendous delivery problem at this season and you can assist by carrying home as much as possible of what you buy.
8. For best value and greatest satisfaction, shop only in stores on which you know you can rely for honesty, good merchandise and future service. Don't be taken in by temporary holiday outlets which will go out of business after Christmas.

"UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

What a joy it is to encounter here and there, once in a while, individuals who are putting some heart and imagination into their job.

It is impossible for any lazy minded or indifferent person to hide his attitude from the average customer.

Nothing "bugs me" more than to go into any public place of business and find only drones or crabs on the job. Such people are not putting in anything except their time and are probably overpaid at that.

On the other hand it is a cheering experience to go into a strange place or an executive office and run into both warmth and wisdom in the personality of everyone there.

The clock watchers are never happy people. Nor are the boss haters any help anywhere. Most such negative personalities are poison to the business.

Color, class, creed have little to do with it. The important thing is for anyone today who has a steady job to be on the job with brains and energy and good manners. It is impossible for such persons not to go upward to better and better things.

If a company is good enough to be with, it is good enough to be for.

Use Bureau's Services

The Christmas Bureau, 137 E. State-st, has a long history of effectively helping to see that the maximum number of families receive Christmas help. A service of the United Community Council, the Christmas Bureau serves as a clearing house between those in need and those who want to help.

The bureau will put you in touch with social agencies whose workers know which families will have little or nothing without your help. It will make suggestions concerning special needs of children, older people or the disabled. The bureau can assist in choosing the right spots for gifts of clothing, food, toys or equipment for agencies and institutions.

Social agencies which serve needy families and others throughout the year have listed with the Christmas Bureau such needs as Braille writers, file cabinets, tents, swing sets, typewriters, tape recorders and many other items.

Persons or groups interested in giving help at Christmas are asked to contact the bureau by calling CA. 8-5606.

FUNNY BUSINESS

Please help your Fire Department to have a Merry Christmas too by doing the following:

1—Put up a fresh green tree or a flame proof artificial tree.

2—Do not overload electric circuits. Do not replace blown fuses with larger fuses. Have an electrician check why fuses are being blown.

3—Make sure that all paper and fabric decorations and costumes are flameproofed. (Flameproofing material: 7 oz. borax and 3 oz. boric acid dissolved in 2 qts. warm water. Cloth may be dipped in the solution. Paper may be sprayed. This lasts one year or until cloth is washed).

4—Turn out all Christmas lights before retiring at night and when you go away.

5—Plan what you would do if fire breaks out in your home.

ABOUT ARLINGTON

The burial of President Kennedy in Arlington National Cemetery has aroused much interest in the cemetery's origin and history. Here are a few facts about it.

The more than 400 acres of Arlington are a part of an original 6,000 granted for services rendered to Robert Howson from Sir William Berkeley. George Washington's adopted son, George W. P. Custis, acquired 1100 acres of it and, in 1802, built the stuccoed brick structure now called the Lee-Custis mansion. With its eight white columns on the portico, it is a model of the ancient temple of Theseus in Athens. Robert E. Lee and Mary Ann Custis were married there in 1831 and it was their home for many years.

Federal troops possessed the mansion and its grounds for a camp in April, 1861. Later, it became a hospital. The land was set aside as a permanent military cemetery by order of the Secretary of War in 1864. The first burial was that of a Confederate soldier who had died in the hospital.

Disputed title to the property was settled by the payment by the federal government of $150,000 to the son of Robert E. Lee in 1883.

Arlington is one of 121 domestic and foreign American military cemeteries, some of them in Europe, Mexico, Africa and the Pacific. More than 35,000 are buried in Arlington, the only presidents being Kennedy and Taft.

Besides the Three Unknowns, Arlington holds the mingled bones of more than 2,000 unknown soldiers gathered after the Civil War, mostly from Bull Run. Free grave sites are given in any national cemetery to any honorably discharged veteran, husband, wife, or dependent child.

It says here . . .

We Americans honor our defenders in life and death.

Guest Pulpit . . . When Will The Great Silence Be Broken Again?

Following a silence of about 500 years it was broken to one man, Zacharias, in the temple by a visitor from outer space.

Rev. Geil

In reply to the question of his identity he simply said, "My name is Gabriel and I stand in the presence of God." He announced his ambassadorship to earth from the Ruler of All Space. His message was simple, yet profound. Into this elderly home was to come a son, his name was to be John, he was to be the forerunner of the Eternal's Redeemer.

Six months later this same individual reappeared on earth, in Nazareth of Galilee and shared a portion of the plans of the Eternal with a young maiden by the name of Mary. His directions were terse, his explanations brief. This whole episode was ordered and arranged by the powers of the Ruler of all space. This young lady doubted not . . . but yielded saying "as you order so let it be."

Some nine months later, another alert was flashed throughout the realms of Palestine. Another visitor from outer space—a glory of another sphere—appeared momentarily on the Judean hills and a proclamation was made to a group of humble shepherds. A Deliverer is coming your way . . . He has just arrived, you will find Him in the manger in Bethlehem. Out of nowhere suddenly appeared a great heavenly host praising the Almighty and expressing their rejoicing to man that He, God, had sent a remedy for man's restoration.

Thirty-three years later this child, now a grown man, having arisen from the dead following His crucifixion by His people, stands poised to return to outer space; and He leaves this final word. You are to be given power when the Holy Spirit has come to you. You will be witnesses to Me, not only in Jerusalem, not only throughout Judea, not only in Samaria, but to the very ends of the earth . . . and He left ascending out of sight.

Once again the skies were broken, once again man was visited from outer limits. Two beings in white appeared from nowhere and said, "men of Galilee, why are you looking up into the sky? This very same Jesus who has been taken up from you into Heaven will come back in just the same way as you have seen him go!"

What do you know of this Christ? He came to redeem you.

Silence has been unbroken now for nearly 2000 years. This season of the year not only points to the Savior's birth but it also carries very real overtones of His coming again. This silence will one day be broken again. We anticipate His return with joy and join the early writers of Holy Writ . . . even so come Lord Jesus.

An Editor's Outlook by Jenkin Lloyd Jones

Let's Put An End To The Texas Legend

Jack Ruby thought he would be a hero.

He was suffering from what might be called the Texas syndrome—the idea that in the face of outrage the strong man in the wide hat whips out his gun and sets things right.

Jones

It was the Law West of the Pecos all over again.

For many years Texans have nurtured the legend of the Tall Texan behind the smoking gun. And the majority of the people in the world who don't know any real Texans believe it. So Texas was vulnerable when the President was killed in Texas by a man identified as a Texan and when two days later another Texan killed the alleged killer.

How do you generalize about Texans? Some native-born Texans can't speak a word of English. Some are as black as their Ivory Coast ancestors. The woodsman of East Texas, the citrus grower of the Valley, the cotton farmer on the Staked Plains and the women's clothes designer in Dallas represent as much variety as you can find in all America.

Texas shares with every other state and every other country the misfortune of having a few people who have more money than brains. But for some reason only Texas has effectively advertised this tiny solid-gold-Cadillac and his-and-her-airplane minority. Texans have been the most avid collectors and repeaters of jokes that have lashed Texas to the stereotype of the brainless billionaire.

The crude Texan, the violent Texan fall far short of telling the story of Texans. But citizens of the Lone Star State, perhaps because they knew so much better, loved the joke. And now that the world has recoiled with horror at the shootings in Dallas the joke is sour.

With all the clever press agentry that Texans can command perhaps it is time to reshape the image of the Texan. What is needed is not a phony image, but a true one. It's time Texas told her real story.

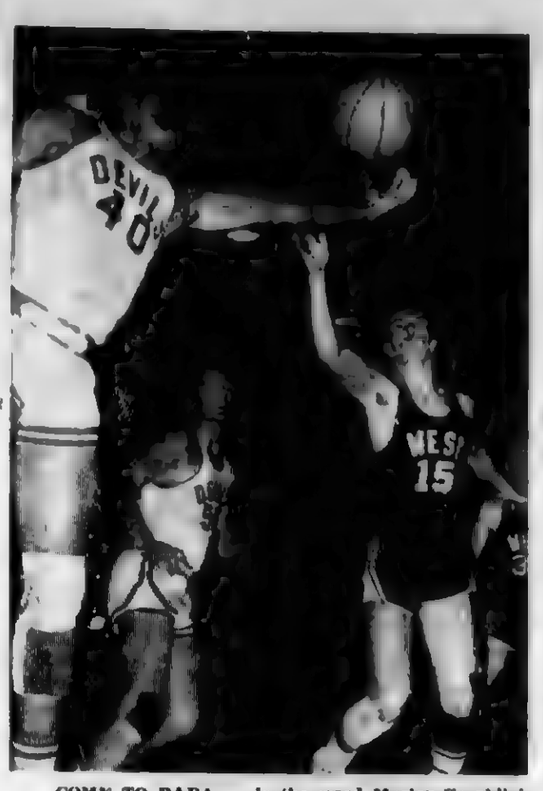
Sure, there were violent beginnings. The men who followed Sam Houston over the Ozarks and down the Texas Trail carried their law in their holsters. The Alamo was messy and so was Goliad and San Jacinto. And the Comanches were not amenable to gentle persuasion, nor did they get it.

But Texas was built, not with the gun, but with the plow and the wire-stretcher, the windmill and the drill bit. It was built by an awful lot of little people who never killed anything, but who drained water where there was too much and pumped water where there was too little. Texas had huge natural resources, it is true. But in many parts of the world with similar resources people live in misery.

It was not the quick-firing Texan, but the big-thinking Texan who made the state. This big-thinking became a fetish, and a grand one it proved. In Texas you were not only supposed to look to the horizon but to bend your sight a little beyond it, if possible. Every jerkwater hamlet had great plans and the struggle to be the big town in the area was a deadly serious one in which most citizens enlisted themselves with all the fervor of Crusaders assaulting the walls of Jerusalem.

Yet there was always a lot more to Texas than the thirst for bigness and the elbowing and shoving over the wealth above and below ground. For one thing, rich Texans reinvested in Texas. There was none of this hiding wealth in foreign bank vaults, which is the scandal of the cowardly rich in many nations. If you made a million in oil you bought city real estate, or if you made a killing in the blue jeans business you bought a ranch and put up a couple of motels. Maybe you'd lose your shirt, but putting your money back to work for Texas was the thing to do.

And philanthropy has been the style. If you were in the chips the Texas custom demanded that you loosen up—not just a little way, but quite a way. Super-solvent tightwads are not held in awe in Texas as they are in much of the world. The result is that no people have beaten Texans in putting private wealth to generous use. Texas is full of universities, hospitals, and orphanages, courtesy of Texans who struck it lucky or made it the hard way. Yes, and art galleries, symphonies and repertory theaters, too.



The rest of us southwesterners are not overawed by Texans. We tell jokes on Texans with more than a grain of malice and we grow weary of the boasting and posing. But between the Sabine and the Rio Grande there lives a very great people who, in an incredibly short time, have done incredible things with a raw and sometimes hostile land. And they have done these things with a humor, a humanity and a generosity that the world could well imitate.

The curse of Texas is the Texas legend. Jack Ruby got international communism off the hook and handed Castro a propaganda triumph by an unbelievably stupid crime which he thought was in the Texas tradition.

Texas deserves and needs a better one.

SPORTS

COME TO PAPA — is the word Marion-Franklin's Don Bess (40) had for a soaring roundball Friday night on the Devil court. Moving in on play are M-F's Gene DeBolt and West's Carl Graves (15).

Rebs Streak To 5-0; M-F, Rosary 5s Split

By Art Kienzle

North and South Highs staged their own private Civil War Friday night.

The only difference between the basketball game and the War between the States was that South won, 56-53.

OF COURSE, this "war" was fought with only 10 young men and a basketball but the outcome, as the 1865 war, produced many individual standouts on both sides.

Meanwhile other South Side teams were fighting their own battles as Marion-Franklin split, bowing to West (76-53) Friday, before squeezing past DeSales (52-45) Saturday.

Rosary also played a pair—dropping its FCL opener to University, 66-40, before coming back Saturday to blast Coshocton Sacred Heart, 71-47.

ST. MARYS and Aquinas were both unlucky, the former losing to Academy, 46-39, the latter bowing to Whetstone, 73-51.

Action got under way fast at North with South's Paul Hunt and the Polar Bears' Bob Kanuth each trying to out-do the other.

Kanuth, a 6-5 pivotman who scored 27 points, used frequent passes from his teammates plus some fancy maneuvering of his own to get easy lay-up baskets as North kept the game close (17-14) at the first-period mark.

MEANWHILE, the speedy Hunt (closing with 16 points) was busy with his own brand of showmanship as he drove the baselines for his buckets, occasionally driving the middle between two or three North players to sink his goal attempt.

But even so the Polar Bears put together a little more firepower, forging ahead, 28-25, at halftime.

AT THE START of the second half, however, the Bulldogs took the helm as Hunt again sparkled with a pair of 20-foot jumpers which granted South a 29-28 lead.

South then added up seven markers to North's one before Kanuth's jumpers got North back in the game, 44-41, at the third period break.

Roger Harper's fine ballhandling (11 points) throughout the game and free throw with 28 seconds to go were big factors, helping the Rebs to their three-point margin.

BILL BULLOCK also hit double digits with 14 points, largely on tip-ins or jump shots.

Elsewhere, Marion-Franklin kept in reach of host West through the first half but couldn't match the Cowboys' aggressive play and ringleaders Jerry Francis (27) and Jerry Carter (22) after intermission.

M-F got 11 and 12-point efforts from John and Steve Jackson but it didn't stop the visitors, who often spurted to 20-point leads.

AT DESALES, coach Bob Holderle's boys went home with a seven-point win and three starters in double figures in S. Jackson (15), Don Bess (12) and J. Jackson (11).

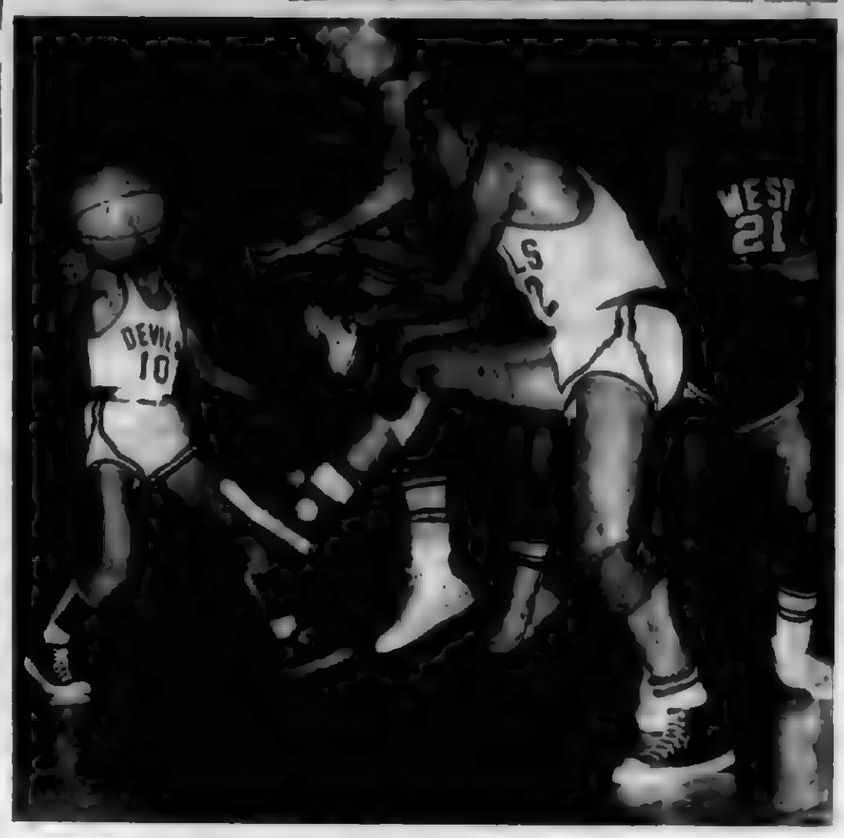
A good first half effort by Rosary enabled the Crusaders to stay within one point (20-21) of University's FCL champs.

But Rosary ran out of gas in the last two periods as John Howard and Don Durr paced the Little Bucks to a romp.

JIM GROVES and Rick Stokes led the Crusaders in their win over Coshocton with the former netting 24 points and the latter popping in 12.

Rosary started out fast, leading 20-3, and then coasted the rest of the way home.

Jim Yates of St. Marys won scoring honors at Academy with 16 points but his Rams lost as the Vikings put together a well-rounded effort, spearheaded by Ken Holzman's 12 markers.



AQUINAS ALSO had trouble mustering up enough firepower to put down muscular Whetstone, which put three men in the double figures.

The Terriers' Terry Kane collected 16 points while teammate Don Lynch hit 11.

Five games make up this week's cage card for area squads.

SOUTH (5-0) will be going for number six (third in league play) at Brookhaven while Marion-Franklin (3-2) travels to East (3-0) and Aquinas (2-2) plays host to Eastmoor (3-1).

St. Marys (0-3) has University as its visitor and Rosary (1-2) meets Reynoldsburg (3-1) at the Catholic Center.

Communications Make The World Go 'Round

The only trouble about being a sports writer is that your mind eventually gets on that fabled one track.

Sooner or later nothing makes sense that isn't tossed in a basket or chased with a glove.

WE USUALLY aren't embarrassed except around this time of year when our brother, who is an Army lieutenant, comes home for Christmas.

Since his station demands a workable knowledge of politics, world affairs and the military, the conversation eventually works around to one of these subjects.

That's where the communication problem begins. Hard as we may try to understand, his terms take on an entirely different meaning with us.

Here are a few he used last year and our own confused interpretation:

FILIBUSTER — baseball manager's talk with tiring starter while reliefer warms up in bullpen.

LOBBYING — what you do at halftime at a basketball game.

DEFENSE CUT — playing a good hit, no glove at first base.

INFLATION — a dissertation on Cassius Clay by Cassius Clay.

SIT-INS — football players who don't start at OSU.

NEW FRONTIER — major league baseball in San Francisco and Los Angeles.

TEST BAN — a deodorant commercial by Jack Nicklaus.

PEACEFUL CO-EXISTENCE — halftime at an Ohio State-Michigan game.

WALL OF SHAME a National League pitcher's description of the left field harrier at the Polo Grounds.

INTEGRATION — SMU fans seated in the Notre Dame section.

FOREIGN AID — the minor league draft system.

PRESSURE GROUP — the alma mater's alumni after an 0-9 season.

JOHNSON, — Ken, a pitcher for the Houston Colts.

MOON SHOT — a home run by the NL's Wally.

DEFICIT SPENDING — salaries of the New York Mets.

HOT LINE — communication between Woody Hayes and his coach in the press box after three incomplete passes in a conference game.

CONSERVATIVE — Keeping the bullpen busy in the early innings.

SECURITY LEAK — why coaches hold secret practices.

COMMON MARKET — supply line for the New York Mets.

BALANCED BUDGET — four righthanders, four southpaws and a utility infielder.

To make matters worse this lack of communication goes both ways.

For example, during a lull in a spaghetti dinner conversation we asked this perfectly simple question: "What happened to the Army this fall?"

"Theirs or ours?" he asked.

"Pass the Parseghian," we said, eager to drop the whole matter.

Four And 20 Blackbirds Seen Filling Our Skies

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Ever since the motion picture "The Birds" came out I've been watching our feathered friends a little more closely. If you let your imagination run away, it would almost seem like the blackbirds are taking over. Some of the largest flocks within memory are in this area right now.

For the last couple of years, grackles have been increasing until now they are one of our most abundant summer residents. These are the large black and purple blackbirds with the long tails and yellow eyes. It seems at times that they might outnumber robins in neighborhood yards.

STARLINGS are permanent residents with us, and their numbers certainly are not diminishing. Redwing blackbirds do not need marshes and swamps for nesting sites any more but have learned how to build their nests in hay fields. Rather than wetting grasses and reeds before molding them into a nest, they simply work mornings and evenings when the hay is moist from dew.

All of this adds up to plenty of blackbirds, although starlings are by far the most numerous.

Bird populations, of course, are always changing for nothing is static in nature. One of the most unusual attempts in the world to get the bird picture will occur next week when the annual Christmas Bird Count, sponsored by the National Audubon Society, is conducted.

SINCE 1900 volunteer birders have been going out Christmas week to count birds, and their reports comprise an invaluable record of changing bird numbers. Last year there were more than 10,000 people participating, with 625 reports being published. The reports totaled more than 52 million birds representing 506 different species. It is the biggest bird count in the world.

Usually there are three different groups in this area, and their activities are coordinated so that the same areas are not covered. This is more than just a bird walk, although the participants look forward to the Christmas count as a lot of fun.

The scientific value of the count is great because of its broad continent-wide approach. No agency or institution could afford such a massive bird census. Some game officials in various states carefully study the count results before issuing hunting regulations for the following year.

CHRISTMAS Bird Counts often reveal the extension of wintering grounds for some species or widespread invasions of accidental visitors from the far north and other data wanted in biological research.

A recent zoology bulletin, issued by Yale University, states that no scientist studying animal populations can afford to overlook these counts compiled by the National Audubon Society.

Among other things tabulated this year, blackbirds are certain to be high on the list.

Hilltop Woman Is Pacesetter In Heart Fund Pin Tourney

Top winners in the recent Heart Fund Bowling Tournament have been announced by Earl Flora, Franklin County tournament chairman.

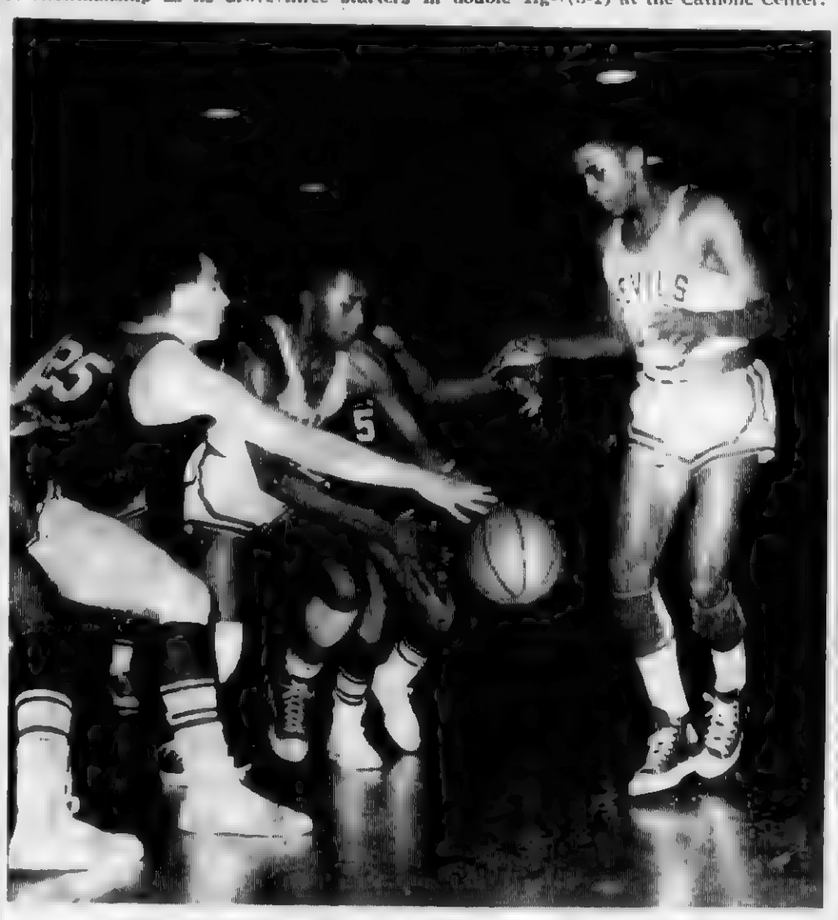
The 16-inch high trophy, donated by Southern Bowling and Billiard Supply, for the man and the woman in the county with the highest scores went to Fred Snouffer, 6239 Hutchinson-st (Rainbow Lanes) and Margaret Armour, 90 S. Ogden-av (Riverside).

SNOUFFER'S score was 172 over his current league average, and Miss Armour's was 177. The former received $24.61 and the latter $29.61 in the distribution of cash prizes at their respective lanes.

Sharing honors as top scorers at Rainbow and Riverside were Elsie Barr, 789 Jaeger-st, and Bob Neff, 177 N. James-rd, respectively.

Bowlers contributed $1 to participate in the tournament, of which 30 per cent is distributed among the top scorers at each of the lanes and 70 per cent goes to the Heart Fund. All 41 lanes in Franklin County held tournaments, raising a total of $8,122 for heart research.

THE CASH prizes are distributed on a percentage basis of the amount earmarked for this purpose, making it possible for several bowlers to share in the prize money.



The two top scorers at lanes in this area were: Hillcrest Lanes—C. B. Cole, 1115 Stanford-rd, and Jean Rankin, 109 Demorest-av; Hilltop — Don Wright, 310 S. Euclid, and Clara R. Stephens, 1425½ Bryden-rd; Lincoln Village—Jim Alexander, 4116 Ural-av, and Dodie Melvin, 260 Angela-dr, Grove City; Wink-O—Gil Jones, 450 S. Terrace, and Juanita Hill, 740 S. Burgess-av; Western — Frank Straquadine, 769 S. Wayne, and Dorothy V. Rutherford, 431 S. Murray Hill-rd; Three C Lanes—Pete Basore, 3755 Lynward-rd, and Bertha Parrett, 2360 Arlington.

The two top scorers at lanes in this area were: Moose — John Elzey, 4426 St. Ann-st, Cecile Marshall, 787 E. Deshler-av; German Village — Ken Smith, 1870 Myrtle, Betty Bland, 1061 Parsons-av; Swan—Jerry Zang, 1236 Wilson-av, E. Jane Markoff, 175 Robinwood-av; Sycamore — Henry Butter, 1310 Oakwood, Millie Neuhauser, 1610 Koeber-rd; St. Johns, Duane Bartholomew, 1060 E. Livingston, Armida Federer, 1246 Brookwood; Piketon — Ralph Winton, 1330 S. Ohio-av, Mrs. Paul R. Sark, 922½ Northwest-blvd, Apt. 3.

Receives Good Conduct Medal

Army Pfc. Robert E. Hoffman, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Hoffman, 1669 Dewberry-rd, was awarded the Good Conduct Medal in mid-November while serving with the 1st Armored Division at Fort Hood, Tex. Hoffman was awarded the medal for exemplary conduct, efficiency and fidelity as a soldier in active service.

A cannoneer in Battery D, 1st Battalion of the division's 73rd Artillery, he entered the Army in December, 1961, and completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. He attended Marion Franklin High School and was employed by Stim-U Plant Laboratories before entering the Army.

DEVIL DILEMNA — Marion-Franklin's Al Patterson (center) finds himself in hot water as he attempts to work his way through West's defense Friday evening. Closing in on Patterson are Cowboys' Mike Scheel (25) and John Coleman (behind Patterson). M-F's Larry Almon offers assistance at right.

BOOSTERS GIVE TROPHIES

ONE OF THE highlights of South High's recent grid banquet was the presentation of trophies to Bulldog coaches and players by the South Booster Club. Above Booster Club president John Peer presents a trophy to linebacker Roger Harper. The Boosters also provided a team picture for the school.

ON CRUISER

Ernest H. Sammons, seaman, USN, son of Leonard Sammons of 1454½ Parsons-av, is serving aboard the nuclear powered cruiser USS Long Beach with the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

Girl Scout News

Olive Wharton Neighborhood

Twenty-nine "Brownies" became "Junior Girl Scouts" in a re-dedication ceremony held by Troop 587 at Deshler School Thursday evening, Oct. 24.

Girl Scouts, Teri Snyder, Sandra Blair, Mana Kanaan, Cheryl George, Debra McGinn and Cindy Moder opened the ceremony with the presentation of the troop flag and the American flag.

Mrs. John Melvin, district advisor, spoke on "What Fly-Up Means To Girls," and at the conclusion of her speech three large gold candles were lighted to represent the three parts of the Girl Scout Promise. Ten candles were also lighted to represent the 10 Girl Scout Laws

Each girl was presented with Brownie wings, Girl Scout pins and a World Association pin. A prayer was said by Peggy Seelig.

Refreshments were served by Cadette Girl Scouts from Troop 593.

Parents of all girls were invited. Girls receiving wings and pins were: Deborah Ball, Gayle Braun, Manetha Brookhaven, Sandra Blair, Barbara Carlisle, Kyle Kline, Linda Cury, Cathy DeLong, Sue Fisher, Linda Grady, Debbie Hughes, Jamee Kaiser, Maha Kanaan, Raeyn Lucks, Karen Mallehan, Ruth Massie, Deborah McGinn, Cindy McNeil, Cathy Meade, Cindy Moder, Peggy Nixon, Peggy Seelig, Janinne Shaner, Mary Ann Shedlock, Jackie Smith, Teri Snyder, Sharon Stanley and Cathy Van Sickle.

Leaders pledging themselves to standards of Seal of Ohio Council were Mrs. H E. Nixon, Mrs. Paul Shaner, Mrs. Orville Massie and Mrs. G M. George. Troop committee chairmen were Mrs. Phillip Moder, Mrs. Jimmie Lucks, Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. John Simon and Mrs. Richard Fisher.

Troop 846

The members of this troop were awarded the Certificate of Merit in appreciation for outstanding troop effort and accomplishment during the 1963 annual Girl Scout cookie sale. They sold the most cookies in the Olive Wharton Neighborhood. The leader is Mrs. John W. Tabor, 680 Siebert-st.

Mrs. Nora Yost, Olive Wharton Neighborhood chairman, recently returned home from a stay in the hospital. She has resumed work with the troops and all are in full progress again, according to Mrs. James Donahoe, 186 E. Moler-st, neighborhood public relations chairman.

Boy Scout News

WHITE OAKS DISTRICT
By Mickey Heil, W.R.

Boy Scout Troop 422, sponsored by Asbury Methodist Church, is having its troop Christmas party on Thursday evening, Dec. 19. An exchange of gifts and light refreshments are on the program.

The White Oaks District Commissioners Christmas party was held Saturday night, Dec. 7.

More information on the Cub Pow-Wow: The Cub Pack with the most in attendance will be awarded a prize. A dinner of wonderful food and good entertainment is planned. Registration will be from 12:30 to 1, and a fee of $1 will be charged. This is a nominal charge for all training. More information will be sent to all Cubmasters, committee chairmen and den mothers. But be sure to make your plans for all of your pack leaders to be there.

The last session of basic training for Cub leaders will be held Monday, Jan. 13, at East Broad Street Elementary School. It was originally scheduled for Dec. 16. Because of an overcrowded calendar, it had to be postponed. Please try to attend.

Schiller Neighborhood

Schiller Neighborhood Girl Scout leaders and committee members met at South High EUB Church, 2800 S. High-st, on Dec. 16, at 7:30 p.m. for the annual Christmas party. There was a gift exchange. Each person brought their favorite cookies for refreshments.

Brownie Troop 850

Troop members spent their Thanksgiving vacation at the YWCA working on the reminder letters for seal day.

This year the troop project is making piggy banks from clorox bottles for Children's Hospital. Troop leader is Mrs. Ruth Bowers.

On Dec. 21 the Ohio Bell Telephone Company will present a film on the nativity story for the girls of Troops 513, 1387 and 686 at South High EUB Church. Following the film, the girls will go caroling for the shut-ins of the neighborhood and then return to the church for hot chocolate.

Troop leaders Mrs. Eugene Amsbaugh of Troop 513, Mrs. Velma Obert of Troop 1387, and Mrs. May Dodd of Troop 686 will also be present.

A special announcement will soon be made concerning the Seal of Ohio Girl Scout Council's Public Relations Institute scheduled for Jan. 9. The theme is "Beat the Drums."

Three Hurt In Three-Car Crash

Franklin County Sheriff's Deputies are still investigating the cause of a three-car collision on Hamilton-rd Monday night that sent three victims to Lincoln Memorial Hospital.

The injured were identified as Joyce Gibson, 16, of 5621 Groveport-rd, in critical condition; Steven Montgomery, 16, of 340 Cherry-st, Groveport, in fair condition; and Phillip Prince, 23, of 478 Llewellyn-av, in poor condition.

Reports indicated the Montgomery car, containing Joyce Gibson, was headed south on Hamilton-rd when it crashed headon into the northbound car driven by Prince.

A second southbound car, driven by Williard L. Diley, 46, of 176 Waterloo-st, Canal Winchester, hit the rear of the Montgomery auto. Diley was uninjured.

Joyce Gibson and Montgomery are both juniors at Groveport High School. They were apparently returning from the Bexley Library when the accident occurred, according to investigators.

AND GODSPEED TO ALL

A CANDLELIGHT SERVICE at 7:30 p.m. on Christmas Eve when the three choirs will sing will mark the second birthday of the Calvin United Presbyterian Church, 2900 Winchester-rd. The original church, which was founded in 1886 and known as the First United Presbyterian Church, was located at 1459 Madison-av. The new building includes a multi-purpose sanctuary and fellowship hall designed to seat 300, the office, the pastor's study and a modern kitchen. Rev. Harrison A. Gruesler, who has been pastor for six years, is shown after last Sunday's morning worship with the lobby filled with part of the membership which now numbers 240.

Groveport School Plans Seventh Christmas Sing

The seventh annual Christmas concert of secular-instrumental and vocal music will be presented at Groveport-Madison High School on Friday, Dec. 20. The senior high program will begin at 8 a.m. and the junior high program at 1:45 p.m.

Numbers featured by the groups include "Gloria In Excelsis," "The Christmas Song," "Come Christmas" and "Join to Sing Hallelujah."

An estimated 170 students will take part in the program.

Instrumental music will be under the direction of Lawrence Gillum and choral direction will be by James Pence.

The public is invited.

When a man finds no peace within himself, it is useless to seek it elsewhere.

WILL SING

SMOKEY SMITH, 293 E. Welch-av, will be special guest artist on "Jamboree" at 7 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 19, on TV 4, WLW-C. Smokey, veteran of 15 years singing country-western music and playing the guitar, will sing two of his favorite numbers on the show.

Santa And Renegades Stars At St. Stephens

A busy weekend is scheduled at St. Stephen's Community House with a Christmas party for the children this Friday, Dec. 20 at 6:30 p.m. and a teenage dance the following evening.

Santa Claus will be on hand at the party to give gifts for babies and school children, and would like to know how many are coming. Everyone who goes to the Community House or lives in the neighborhood is invited to bring their children to the party, but asked to call first so that Santa's pack will have the right number of presents.

DiSalle's High School Glee Club will sing, and the dramatics department of the school will present a Christmas play. At the end of the evening refreshments will be served.

Harold Denney and the Renegades will play for "Winter Wonderland" Christmas dance from 8 until 11:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 21. The Originals, the teen-age girls' club of St. Stephens are sponsoring the affair which is open to South End youth. Admission is 40 cents a person.

DECORATING THE TREE is almost as much fun as Christmas itself, and Mrs. Lois Washington, left, 703 Welch-av, Apt. L, one of the volunteer workers at St. Stephens Community House, 379 Barthman-av, had plenty of help recently when the Christmas tree went up last Saturday. With her are Frances Drummond, 1918½ Parsons-av, Mrs. Washington's daughter, Rudnae, and Frances' two brothers Joe and Frankie.

TAKE CARE

One Tragedy Is Too Many

A tragic sled-car accident which claimed the life of a nine-year-old girl and critically injured her companion serves as a fresh reminder her parents to emphasize sledding safety rules among children.

Dead as a result of the Saturday morning accident is Debbie Fritts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Fritts, Oaks Trailer Court, 3433 S. High-st.

Debbie and her 10-year-old playmate, Sheila Morgan were sledding down an embankment at the trailer court. The sled coasted between parked cars into Avenue L of the trailer court and underneath a car driven by William McCoy, 45, also a trailer court resident.

Debbie died of head injuries en route to Mercy Hospital. Sheila, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morgan, trailer court residents, was transferred to Children's Hospital where her condition was reported to be critical on Tuesday.

Funeral service for Debbie was conducted Tuesday afternoon in the Evans Funeral Home, 810 Kimball-pl. Burial was in Green Lawn Cemetery. In addition to her parents, she is survived by two brothers, Leonard, 11; Roy, 4, and two sisters, Sherri, 8, and Ella Mae, 2½.

Corpus Christi New Year's Eve Dance Arranged

Corpus Christi Athletic Association will sponsor its annual New Year's Eve round and square dance in the social hall, Deshler at Studer-avs, Tuesday, Dec. 31.

Dancing will be from 9 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. to the music of Rush Smith with Rush Thomas calling for square dancing.

Admission, by advance reservation only, will be $3.50 a couple, which includes favors.

For further information and to make reservations call Paul Loeffler, 444-7364.

F.A. Baker Dead, Was Lamplighter

One of the last of the old time lamplighters, Frank Arthur Baker, 92, died at his home in Lithopolis on Saturday, Dec. 14, following a brief illness.

Baker had served as village marshal in 1907 and 1908. At that time one of his duties was to light the gas lights that illuminated the streets of the village.

He also operated an orchard and berry garden.

He is survived by his wife, Ina, and two nieces.

Funeral service was held Wednesday at the Kistler Funeral Home, Lithopolis.

Justin Morrill was a Vermont representative who proposed the land grant college bill and shepherded it through Congress. It was introduced Dec. 14, 1857.

MRS. ROBERT BOHR

Miss Bier, Mr. Bohr Say Wedding Vows At St. Paul Church

White mums adorned the altar of St. Paul United Church of Christ for the Nov. 16 marriage of Miss Evelyn Karen Bier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred F. Bier, 1418 Miller-av, and Mr. Robert Bohr, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Bohr, 869 Bryden-rd, and the late Mr. Bohr.

Rev. Donald W. Sickbert read the afternoon vows.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. I. L. Bier, the bride wore a white floor-length gown of Chantilly shadow lace, featuring a basque bodice, scalloped sabrina neckline and long tapering sleeves. Her bouffant tiered skirt of ruffled lace ended in a chapel train.

A queen's crown of lace and pearls held her elbow-length veil of illusion and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and ivy centered with a white cimbidium orchid.

Mrs. Karen Smith served as matron of honor. Honor attendants were: Mrs. Sandra Bonus, Miss Kay Chandler, Miss Peggy Finnerty and Miss Renata Bohr, sister of the bridegroom.

All wore emerald green silk twill dresses with bateau necklines, princess style fitted bodices and long sleeves. A butterfly bow and streamers was attached to the back of each controlled skirt.

To complete their ensembles they chose forward rose plateaux headpieces with small face veils and carried rust colored mums accented with gold wheat.

Serving as best man was Mr. Ted Kaiser. Mr. Hubert Stang, Mr. Edward Drenovacs, Mr. John Rether and Mr. Heinz Weiger served as ushers.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the Fiesta Club.

Miss Janet Hunt, Mrs. Margaret Bobo, Mrs. Martha Humphrey and Mrs. Carol Sue Bernard served as hostesses.

The new Mrs. Bohr, a graduate of South High School, is employed by Ohio Bell Telephone Co. as a utility clerk. Her husband attended schools in Yugoslavia and Columbus Trade School. He is employed by Kaiser Machine Works.

Following a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and New York City, the couple is residing at 358 Deshler-av.

'THIS IS MY LIFE' PROGRAM SLATED

Starling-Ohio Women's Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Novice Fawcett, 220 W. 12th-av, Tuesday, Jan. 7, for a 12:30 p.m. dessert. Past presidents will be honored.

A program entitled "This Is My Life" will be presented by Miss Ruth C. Bailey, international student advisor at OSU.

WHAT DOES CHRISTMAS MEAN TO YOU?

Before reading this, stop and ask yourself a question.

What is the first thing that comes to your mind when someone mentions Christmas?

If your answer is "Santa Claus," you have a lot of company.

And it is understandable.

He's around on every street corner, waving to you from newspapers and magazines, passing out candy in dozens of "toylands" and ho-ho-hoing over TV and radio.

Little doubt is left that he is indeed coming to town. In fact, he got here a month ago.

When 50 persons were asked recently what they associated with Christmas, almost 25 percent said Santa Claus.

After the "little fat man with the long, white beard," foremost in the minds of the people interviewed were the gifts that are a traditional part of Christmas. One out of five mentioned the gifts they would give, the gifts they hoped to see, children's gifts and (always with considerable distaste) the inevitable problem of bills that go hand-in-hand with holiday spirit.

Next in line was the Christmas tree.

And again, why not?

Merchants wait only until the last Thanksgiving turkey is stuffed before "decking the halls," and by Christmas week, there is scarcely a home without at least one window ablaze with a glittering tree. The Cleveland minister who introduced the custom in the United States 112 years ago indeed started something.

And evidently the ancient English custom of the Twelfth night of Christmas involving the wassail cup has carried over. A couple persons replied simply, "booze."

Even this answer is not too surprising with liquor sales during December double that of any other month of the year.

It will have to be left to each reader to speculate why two gentlemen replied that to them Christmas was most closely associated with sex.

Several persons mentioned their work as related to Christmas while the moods of the holiday were noted with replies such as "happiness," "merry," "gaiety" and in one case "mass confusion." One woman whose family is now grown said wistfully, "I think of the kids."

Yes, Christmas means many things to many people.

Oh, there's one other thing.

Five persons, or one out of ten, said "Christ."

What was YOUR answer?

SANTA—PLEASE NOTE CHANGE OF ADDRESS

IT ISN'T MUCH FUN being away from home at Christmas time, especially when you are as young as these wee ones who are clustered around the huge tree in the lobby of Childrens Hospital. But they've all got pretty stiff upper lips and Santa Claus knows where each and everyone will be on Christmas morning. They, like all the children who were not critically ill have had a parade of visitors this past week, includirg Mr. and Mrs. Frosty Snowman, the North American Clowns who stopped in the lobby long enough to trim this tree, and the wives of the seminary students at Capitol who came a-caroling. From the left is three-year-old Angela, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Roades of Circleville; Debby, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Newdy of Hillsboro; Jeffery, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ochell Davis of Marion and Jeffrey Allen and his mother, Mrs. John Eubanks, 3427 S. High. Jeffrey, though the youngest managed to create the most excitement while the picture was being taken. You see, he decided the decorations on the styrofoam tree ornament he was playing with were edible. They were not. But no harm was done and Jeffrey should be very happy. He is one of the lucky ones who will probablye spend Christmas Day at home.

Special Office Hours, Early Deadlines Are Announced

Offices of the Hartley Newspapers will close at noon Tuesday, Dec. 24, in observance of Christmas.

Early deadlines will be in effect for next week's papers. All correspondence, editorial copy, display and classified advertising must be in the Hartley Newspapers office by noon Saturday, Dec. 28.

Papers usually received Wednesday will be delivered Monday, and those received Thursday will be delivered Tuesday.

Far South Cruiser District To Be Split

Cruiser District No. 74, which extends from Refugee-rd to south of Obetz and east from the Scioto River to Alum Creek will be split, according to Columbus Police Chief George W. Scholer.

The area, which is the southern-most portion of precinct No. 7, is presently one of the two largest in the city, and covers over 19 square miles, over one-fifth of the city's 95 square miles, which is divided into 28 districts.

The move, which will become effective Jan. 1, will add a standard one-man cruiser to the area on a 24-hour, seven-day a week basis.

The Planning and Research Bureau conducted a nine-month survey of the need for increased police protection, and this section with its large geographical area indicated an absolute demand for additional manpower.

When the Lincoln Park Sub-Station was dedicated recently officials predicted that in the not-too-distant future the anticipated growth of the South Side would call for the establishment of another precinct, the officers of which would use the Lincoln Park building as headquarters.

It is possible that the lines of the two newly-formed cruiser districts would be logical boundaries for the contemplated precinct.

Judges To Tour German Village By Bus Friday

A bus has been chartered to take all members of the German Village Society, the official judges and the ten top contestants through the village Friday evening when the final judging of the Christmas decorations will be made.

The bus will leave from 246 E. Sycamore at promptly 8 p.m. and return at 10. Winners will then be announced and refreshments served.

Christmas Is Many Things

Christmas is giving self to others.

Christmas is a little girl dancing while she sings "Santa Claus Is Coming To Town."

Christmas is a specially written card of specially felt sentiment from a specially nice couple like Dusty and Gracie Miller.

Christmas is a voice like that of Big John calling out, "Ho, Ho, Ho! Have you been a good little boy?"

Christmas is a Golden Retriever and a Thomas cat sleeping snugly together in a straw filled box.

Christmas is a remembrance from a person like Mae Hilsheimer, down on the South Side, who never forgets.

Christmas is a year's supply of tolerance to take the friction out of our lives.

Christmas is a hand of God that waves like a wand and turns disappointments into joys.

Christmas is everyday humility.

Christmas is the special privilege of being able to know and work with a grand person like Margaret Converse at London.

Christmas is youngsters, mommies, daddies, grandparents, cousins, aunts, uncles and best friends.

Christmas is a personal note on a greeting card from a dear friend.

Christmas is the happiness that carols bring.

Christmas is a shy little boy on Santa's knee.

Christmas is the warmth that radiates from brightly lighted homes on cold wintry evenings.

Christmas is the pride that beams from little faces as they perform in the school holiday program.

Christmas is the gift of many people to Rickey's Christmas fund in the Hilliard community.

Christmas is to share friendship with a Foreign Exchange Student like Miss Karen Lindfors from Finland.

Christmas is to watch a group of Kiwanians in an assembly line formation, packing a "sack" of goodies for 180 State Hospital patients for perhaps the only Christmas they will have.

Christmas is really "Peace on earth, to men of good will."

Agency Offers Free Course For Stenographers

A free training course for stenographers, covering shorthand, typing and general office practices, is being offered to qualified candidates, according to an announcement from the Columbus-Franklin County Area Manpower Development and Training Committee.

The class in this 26-week course is to start Monday, Jan. 6, and is intended to upgrade the skills of those who can meet minimum standards in typing and have had basic shorthand. This is not a beginner's course. Training will be under the sponsorship of the Columbus Public Schools and the Ohio State Employment Service. No tuition will be charged to the trainees.

Candidates must be employed and high school graduates, and they may enroll now at the Ohio State Employment Service office at 74 E. Gay-st.

TIME . . .

As the old year passes and the new begins, we are more conscious of time itself than we are at any other time of the year.

These are days when most everything is geared to a higher speed. Automobiles are faster, aircraft set new records. Production is speeded up to make the best possible product in the shortest time . . . but this is a good time to slow down and review the past and to make plans for the future. Think of the past, but only of how you can improve on it. Plan now for the future. Make sure that you will have time for the Lord this New Year. Start now to attend church. make it a regular habit.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Religious Rights Challenged

Christmas is a beautiful time of year. It is a time when total strangers exchange smiles of friendship and a cheery hello or wish for a happy holiday season. It is a religious holiday—shared by peoples of many religions and respected by peoples of all religions.

Christmas is a mixture of the Christ Child and Santa Claus. It is the unchanged-but-ever-beautiful story of why Christ was born, and the message that it is more blessed to give than to receive. Christmas is a way of life for Christians throughout the world.

It is true that we miss the perfection of exhibiting the spirit of Christmas the whole year through. And it is true that we experience some difficulty in maintaining the spiritual significance over the material benefits. But the spark remains bright and the hope strong that we may yet adopt the Christmas story as our constant standard of conduct.

But we in a free America have witnessed the beginnings of a new demand for freedom from a minority group. This group—not of any religion, but of NO religion—would demand of us freedom FROM religion. They would remove (and in some cases have done so) any mention of God or of things pertaining to religion from our public institutions and governmental offices.

If they have their way, the spiritual significance of Christmas will be eliminated from all public schools; "In God We Trust" will be removed from our coins, and "Under God" will be deleted from our Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

These things will happen to us only if we allow them to happen. God forbid that we will sacrifice our freedom of religion to the irreligious.

Apply Law Equally

To The Editor:

Recently in a local newspaper there appeared an article that was well written concerning the problems of juvenile delinquency, parental responsibility, moral decay, etc. However, like most such articles it dealt in generalities and did not propose a cure.

So here goes a personal opinion based on over 70 years of close association with the problems mentioned: There will be no peace on earth until such time as law makers everywhere wake up to the fact that these acts of violence by individuals, organizations, and nations stem from the fact that there is no definite responsibility law covering all persons, regardless of age.

It is my contention that when a person is old enough to break the law he is old enough to be punished by the same law that would apply to anyone else.

Our "educational" films, TV, radio, etc., seem to stress one thing — the child is never at fault for his crimes. Parents are always found guilty. The result is that our courts are jammed with do-gooders who make it a business to appear in court every day and plead the case of some juvenile who has, perhaps, been convicted of every crime in the book. Then, when murder does occur, these same do-gooders throw up their hands in horror and demand to know "what's wrong with the law"—just as they did recently in Dallas.

I do not agree that all the world, nor Americans, nor Texans, were guilty for what happened in Dallas; but I do contend that the appeasers, do-gooders in the courts, schools and so-called entertainment are responsible for shaping the thinking of our children.

I know this is considered horse-and-buggy thinking, but if it causes people who have stopped thinking for themselves to wonder where we are and why, it will be worth all the dirty names I will be called for writing it.

A Story To Live By

HE was born in an obscure village, the child of a carpenter's wife. HE grew up in another obscure village.

HE worked in a carpenter shop until HE was 30, and then for three years HE was an itinerant preacher.

HE never wrote a book. He never held an office. HE never owned a home. HE never had a family. HE never went to college. HE never traveled as much as 200 miles from the place where HE was born.

HE never did one of the things that usually accompany greatness.

While still a young man the tide of popularity turned against HIM. HIS friends ran away. One of them denied HIM.

HE was turned over to HIS enemies. HE went through the mockery of a trial. HE was nailed upon a cross between two thieves.

While HE was dying, his executioners gambled for the only piece of property HE had on earth . . . HIS coat.

When HE was dead HE was taken down and laid in a borrowed grave through the pity of a friend.

Nineteen centuries have come and gone and today HE is the centerpiece of the human race, and the leader of progress.

All the armies that ever marched, and all the navies that ever sailed, and all the parliaments and governments that ever sat, and all the crowned heads that ever reigned, put together, have not affected the life of man upon earth as powerfully as has that One solitary life.

Merry Christmas to All

Christmas, 1963

At last — the almost endless chore is finished for another year . . . trudging feet from store to store . . . in search of gifts to bring good cheer . . . A weary task of lay-away . . . and then to find a way to pay . . . a lot of work, a lot of fun . . . hustle, bustle on the run . . . And then the trip all parents know . . . a pleasant and refreshing pause . . . the trip with eager child in tow . . . the interview with Santa Claus . . . The slowing of the torrid pace . . . when all the proper gifts we find . . . the fright of that last minute race . . . for those two gifts that slipped our mind.

The stockings from the mantle hung . . . the Christmas carols softly sung . . . the children at their yearly best . . . the tree and turkey to be dressed . . . The oft-told tale that's never worn . . . the way to peace for all the world . . . the night the Holy Child was born . . . and Christ's new flag of hope unfurled . . . And though 2,000 years have passed . . . and much erased by sands of time . . . man seeks for the truth that lasts . . . the Savior's birth — a tale sublime . . .

So now with minds at peaceful rest . . . and deeper meaning in our call . . . we echo with a spiritual zest . . . A Merry Christmas one and all!

Christmas Should Not Be One-Shot

Some years ago immediately after Christmas I chanced to run into an acquaintance who greeted me by saying: "Before you ask, let me tell you," and with that he threw open his coat, and there pinned to the inside of his jacket was a card bearing in large letters the words, "YES, THANK YOU, DID YOU?"

Quite obviously he considered himself primed and ready for the scores of people who he felt would ask him the time-honored, or time-worn question, "Did you have a nice Christmas?"

Rev. Frazer

Well, to my way of thinking, the very fact that we ask the question at all is far more indicative of our feelings about the Christmas event than any possible answer that might be given to it.

For you see it's so easy to think of Christmas as a "one shot proposition," a day, howbeit a special day, but still only a day among the other 364 days in the year. So after "the partridge in a pear tree," or as comic Alan Sherman says, "the Japanese transistor radio with hearing cord, one end of which fits in your ear, and the other which doesn't fit anywhere because it's bent;" there comes father's annual pilgrimage to the bonfire with the mountain of crumpled wrappings—and shortly Christmas is over! Then it's back to the business of living as usual; and unfortunately business isn't always very good!

I wonder—is this all there is to Christmas? A day bright and glowing, but soon spent like a burned out candle. The first Christmas was not that way! The shepherds who left their flocks to visit the infant Christ Child "returned glorifying and praising God." Their lives were changed. The Wise Men who offered gifts to the infant King, "departed into their own country another way." They took a different route home. The direction and destiny of their lives may have been forever altered.

Christmas — The Incarnation — Emmanuel, God with us is not so much a matter of celebration for a day, but of transformation for a life! Phillips Brooks says it best:

"How silently, how silently, The wondrous gift is given! So God imparts to human hearts the blessing of His Heaven. No ear may hear His coming, but in this world of sin where meek souls will receive Him still, The dear Christ enters in."

When this happens it can truly be said that "Christmas Is Always!"

It is a pleasure for me to join the many pastors of our communities in wishing all of the readers of Hartley Publications a joyous and lasting Christmas.

An Editor's Outlook . . . by Jenkin Lloyd Jones

Party-Giving Succumbs To Yakkity-Yak, No Imagination

Comes now the Christmas-New Year season and with it the most frenetic party-giving and party-going of the year. The purpose of a party is a good time. Are we getting the most out of our efforts?

Our most peculiar institution, the drunken office Christmas party in celebration of the birth of Christ, seems to be waning. The big hair-let-down, with bosses and clerks chasing the stenographers and office girls, truly needs to be put back on the leash. Business and monkey business don't emulsify.

Jones

But other and more innocent parties deserve re-examination, too. Too often we have replaced companionship with mere contact, smothered true conversation with yakkity-yak, and hopped up the whole miserable mess with alcohol in an effort to lend spurious jollity to the mob scene.

The cocktail party is an evil into which we fell honestly. Large sit-down dinners have become steadily less practical. Bridget no longer ferries in from Ellis Island eager to work a six and one-half-day week for $8. In fact, they have even closed Ellis Island.

So hostesses discovered that the easy way out is the cocktail party. You can pay off your social obligations wholesale with a couple of cases of liquor and enough canapes to ruin dinner and not enough to substitute for it. Sometimes, in a desperate effort to provoke conversation hostesses offer fried worms, fricasseed grasshoppers and chocolate-covered ants. This is a good sign. Any such institution cannot be long for this world.

The cocktail party is a device by which you meet everyone and know no one. The accepted form is banal gum-beating, small talk that approaches the microscopic, the quip, the bit of gossip, the stag corner dirty story (usually one that was first told by a centurion of Julius Caesar) -- in short, cheerful noise. Any abstract idea is viewed with horror. Yet at cocktail parties you may be surrounded by people of brains, experience and even convictions. The form of the gathering simply prevents communication.

Cocktail parties could be immensely improved if the hostesses would provide escape hatches. For the inarticulate there should be a television room. For the contemplative a chair in the attic. And for males who can no longer stand hearing women call each other "Dahling" or "Honey" or "Sugah" there should be a crap game in the basement.

If cocktail parties are deadly and large dinners are too expensive, what then? Well, of course, there is the backyard cookout. This business of going chuckwagon primitive within 50 feet of a perfectly good stove has captured the imagination of America, and generally it's a good thing. It makes the head of the household feel creative and keeps his wife in gales of laughter. The guests are sure to follow with absorbed interest the concoction of the barbecue sauce and the cremation of the short ribs. It possesses the excitement of anything done clumsily under difficult conditions.

But in those regions where cooking out is not feasible in the wintertime, what then? A couple of suggestions:

Instead of drinking parties, how about sipping parties? SIP stands for Six Interesting People. This is the lower limit. You can go as high as 10. But the technique is to have the gathering large enough to provide a variety of views and small enough so that the attention of all can be directed at one thing at the same time. This can range all the way from little Phyllis' piano rendition of The Happy Pollywog and Fred's movies of Yellowstone up to an argument over the significance of nucleic acid in heredity. The only requirement is for hosts and guests to be intellectually congenial — the level doesn't matter. What you get is companionship.

Then there should be parties for People-Who-Like-Bridge-But-Not-Very-Much. Call them One Rubber Parties. Millions of Americans enjoy a little of what they fondly imagine to be bridge. But they are hazy on the point count and think that a one-no-trump opener means the bidder thinks he can make one no-trump. For such players about 10 hands are fine and then they've had it. One-rubber parties should be immensely popular.

And then there should be Trade House Parties. A lot of very fine people are not gregarious. But it's dull sitting around your own house on these long winter evenings. They would find great diversion in sitting around someone else's house, provided they didn't have to talk.

If people traded houses for an evening the men could paw through a strange library and monkey with the hi-fi records while the wives would be able to examine the furniture and the quality of the drapes at their leisure. Then about 10 o'clock one couple could return home, cook up some decaffeinated coffee, and each couple could rave over the other's possessions which would make everybody feel wonderful.

Parties of mutual help were a great thing on the old frontier and many a community was welded together by well-diggings and barn-raisings. Why isn't this valid for city people, too? You could have Re-shingle-the-Garage Parties and De-flea-the-Dog Parties and Clean-Out-the-Old-Trunks-in-the-Attic Parties. In the attic you'll undoubtedly find a ouija board. The high school crowd will flip over it.

America needs more parties, not fewer. But it needs parties with imagination and variety where communication is more than chatter, companionship more than mere proximity, and fun doesn't depend on getting half-plastered.

The way to start is to put up the cocktails. Have you ever tried sukiyaki with saki on the floor? You'll never forget it.

IT'S PART OF LIVING

"Whoever on ye night of ye nativity of ye young Lord Jesus, in ye great snows, shall fare forth bearing a succulent bone for ye lost and lamenting hound, a wisp of hay for ye shivering horse, a flagon of red wine for him whose marrow withers, a garland of bright berries for one who has worn chains, gay arias of flute and harp for all huddled birds who thought that song was dead, and divers lush sweetmeats for such baby faces as peer from lonely windows, to him shall be proffered and returned gifts of such an astonishment as will rival the hues of the peacock and the harmonies of Heaven, so that though he live to ye great age when man goes stooping and querulous because of the nothingness that is in him, yet shall he walk upright and remembering, as one whose heart shines like a great star in his breast."

This is quoted from "Ye Miracles of Ye Seasons," author unknown. It is now Christmastide, but this is so good that it seems to us it could well be remembered for every day in the year.

One of the keenest pleasures in life is to be unexpectedly reminded of something you did for someone else long ago and perhaps had forgotten. You called on someone when he was sick or discouraged. You gave a smile and a cheery "Hello" to another, perhaps a casual acquaintance. You wrote something in a letter or in a column that someone remembered because it gave him a lift at the time, a time when he needed encouragement, if only a word that rang a bell for him.

These things are just communication among people, but they happen at just the right time, and you don't always know when that time is. It's a part of living.

It says here. . . .

That bread that you cast upon the waters may multiply many times before it gets back to you.

All of these signs of a definite turn to right, all about the country, are encouraging. President Johnson may not realize it yet, but he is in the worst bind of his political career.

During the next eight months he is going to be walking so many tight, high wires that one ponders if he will be constitutionally and philosophically equal to it.

One decision he has to make, and soon: the men he keeps around him can make or break him in next year's national election. He owns the machinery to guarantee to his renomination. The man who is selected for second place on the ticket is no longer any great imponderable factor. If he sneaks back to the "CENTERIST" position, and has the wit and political "ironbelly" to sense a changing mass-mind public mind, he will have no part of Bobby Kennedy, or Adlai Stevenson, or Senator Humphrey as vice-president candidates.

Frank Lausche, Senator Jackson, or some other northern conservative of absolute balance of mind can make it awfully tough for the Republicans to beat him next year. If he has a known leftist on the ticket with him, he will be sunk because honest minded voters are so far ahead of the present mess which opportunists in both parties have created and kept in power for 25 years too long.

No citizen in his right mind questions the integrity or political savvy of President Johnson, but must know it is way past time to "clean house" in Washington.

One Man's Opinion . . .

We Can't Ignore 'Hate Sickness'

Once there was a man who was active and happy. He was a relatively young man, and he was of better than average economic means.

One day he fell suddenly ill. There was great pain, and the symptoms of his attack made him fear that he had cancer. He consulted the best medical experts and vowed that he would follow their instructions to the letter.

Following examination and studies of tests, the doctors said to him: "Your attack was brought on by the presence of an ulcer. Proper treatment will minimize the likelihood of similar severe attacks. Tests indicate that a malignant cancer is also present. Immediate and prolonged treatment is urgently required."

Ryan

The young man showed the medical report to his wife. He was jubilant. "Well," he said, "it sure is a relief to know that my attack wasn't caused by cancer."

"But the doctors say that you have cancer, too," his distraught wife protested.

"Oh, that," the young man intoned. "We don't have to worry about that until it starts hurting as much as the ulcer did."

Today our nation's flag rides again at full staff. We have survived an attack apparently by an ulcer on society. We are doing what we can to prevent another ulcer attack.

We have also heard the diagnosis of a malignancy that requires immediate and prolonged treatment. But there are those who say the pain is not yet severe enough for alarm.

There is more to this story, but only you can supply the ending.

BALANCE ACT — Rosary's Jim Groce (with ball) turned out to be an impromptu juggler Friday evening as he balances this rebound on his fingertips. Crusaders' Randy Butler (44) lends moral support at right while Raiders' Terry Marcum (13) tries to get into the act.

GALE GRAB — Possibly Reynoldsburg's greatest asset Friday evening came in the rebounding department. Above Gale Bryant sweeps one off the boards while Rosary's Rick Stokes (22) takes a swipe of air. Raiders downed Rosary, 53-48.

South 'Rises' Again, Shares CL Top Spot

South's Bulldogs racked up win number six Friday night at the expense of City League newcomer Brookhaven, 77-50, to feature local cage action.

All other area teams bit the dust as East took Marion-Franklin, 61-47, Reynoldsburg ripped Rosary, 62-46; University buckled St. Marys, 61-37, and Eastmoor nipped Aquinas, 68-66.

COACH JOHN Colmery's Rebs picked up steam at the outset and were only threatened once as they rolled on with a 3-0 City League slate and 6-0 for all games.

Bull dog trio Paul Hunt (22), Roger Harper (21), and Joe Middendorf (15) combined to outscore the whole Brookhaven club.

Brookhaven once came within four of the South club but the bulldogs once again found he range to pull away for good.

THE WIN kept the Southeners in a three-way clinch for the City League lead with co-leaders East and West.

On the opposite side of the ledger, Marion-Franklin bowed to powerful East on the Tiger boards.

The Red Devils never saw daylight as East raced to a lead and poured it on to the finish.

East center Ed Waller found time to score 29 points and keep the bankboards clean for the Tigers, while Larry Almon's 14 paced the Red Devils. The loss dropped M-F's record to 3-3 for the year.

ROSARY AND Reynoldsburg were engaged in a real defensive battle as neither team hit the scoreboard for the first three minutes of the game.

Reynoldsburg then took a 9-0 lead before Crusader Don Spurlock's fielder broke the ice for the hosts with 2:30 left on the first quarter clock.

From this point on, Reynoldsburg's offense was just too much for the outmanned Crusaders.

Jon Heischman tallied 27 for game laurels while the Rosary club was sparked by Jim Groce (16), Ed Roehrenbeck (13), and Don Spurlock with 10 points.

ST. MARYS met University's powerful Little Bucks but came out on the short end.

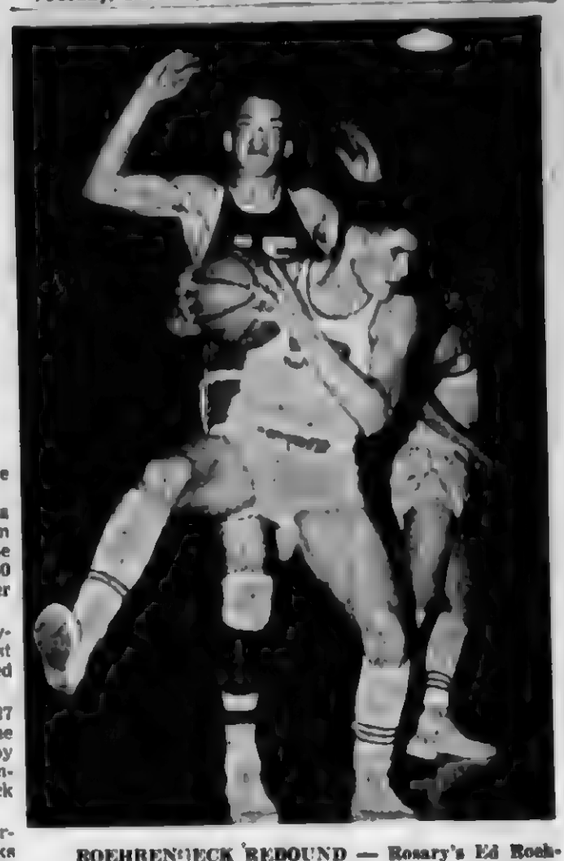
The Rams couldn't weather the Buckling's 22-point surge in the second stanza and went down to their second loss in league warfare against no wins.

Beanpole John Howard led the Bucks charge with 31 markers while the Rams failed to put a player in double figures. The Rams now possess a 0-4 log on the season.

THE TERRIERS of Aquinas lost a real heart-breaker to City League opponent Eastmoor.

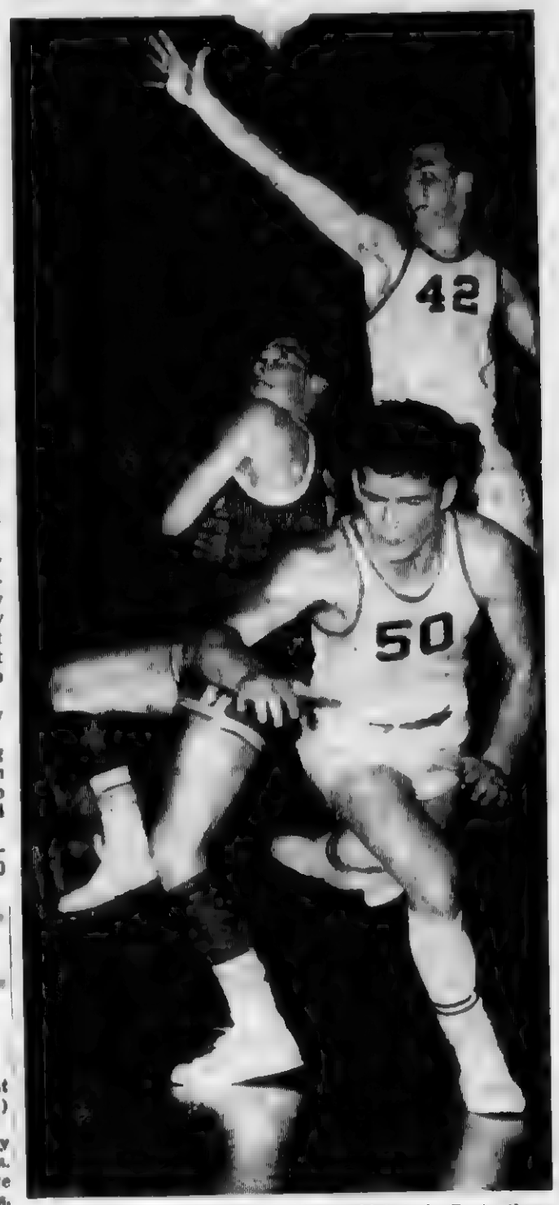
The Irish rallied in the second period to gain a one point (31-30) halftime edge, but the Warriors raked the Aquinas defense for 28 third quarter points to ice the win by a nose.

Steve Howell led the Warrior assault with 24 points while the Terriers were led by Don Lynch and John Lang with 17 apiece followed by Terry Kane with 11 and Jim Duckworth with 10.



The Terrier crew fell to 2-3 with the loss.

THIS WEEK finds Friday night action at Ready's Holiday Tourney where Rosary (1-3), Dublin (2-4), Academy (1-3), and Ready (1-3) meet to determine Saturday night finalists in the championship round.



The time for this tourney is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

In other Friday evening contests, Marion - Franklin visits Mansfield Malabar to try to square the slate at 4-4 for the year.

South journeys to Chillicothe to improve on a 6-0 record.

ROEHRENBECK REBOUND — Rosary's Ed Roehrenbeck (50) pulls down a rebound Friday evening at the Catholic Central as the Crusaders did County League battle with Reynoldsburg. Raiders Craig Shade bows to Roehrenbeck's position above but Rosary took final bow, losing to Reynoldsburg, 62-48.

A Yuletide Glimpse Of Who Wants What

It's probably against U.S. Postal regulations but a friend of ours has a bad habit of opening letters to the North Pole around this time of year when he sees one that looks interesting.

This years' collection is particularly unique. Each time he ran across one he thought might interest us, he passed it along.

BECAUSE of space limitations, we cannot run the letters in their unabridged form but here's the gist of their yuletide requests:

ARA PARSEGHIAN — one Irish shillelagh to beat Notre Dame back to the top of the college football ranks.

JACK NICKLAUS—one of those new electronic putters — the kind that never misses.

CASSIUS CLAY — two strong-armed Army MPs to haul him off to basic training in round one of his title fight with Sonny Liston.

CHARLIE FINLEY — a guest appearance on Walt Disney's "Wonderful World of Color."

LEO DUROCHER — a 'nice guys finish last' soffie ala crow feathers.

ALEX AGASE — Ara Parseghian's book on Ohio State.

WOODY HAYES — Alex Agase's book on Ara Parseghian.

SAM HUFF — a Christmas card from Jim Taylor.

WALLY BUTTS & Bear Bryant — free, lifetime subscriptions to the Saturday Evening Post.

CINCINNATI Royals — an ineligible player on the Celtics' roster.

YOGI BERRA — a complete set of Classic comic books.

BLANTON COLLIER — an offensive line, a defensive secondary and two more Jim Brown's.

BUD WILKENSON — an autographed picture of Joe Don Looney in his New York Giant uniform.

THE FEARLESS PREDICTOR — the guts to stand up and be counted.

There were a number of other letters, most of which requested more wins and less losses.

What we're trying to express, in our own roundabout way, is our hope that everyone out there gets plenty of what he's looking for when that fastest dash man of all comes streaking past your locker room this week.

Snow Ideal Condition For Winter Rabbit Hunt

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

For some reason you need snow to have a good rabbit hunt. This can not be proven, for the most rabbits are shot early in the season when snow cover is rare. More people hunt rabbits where there is no snow.

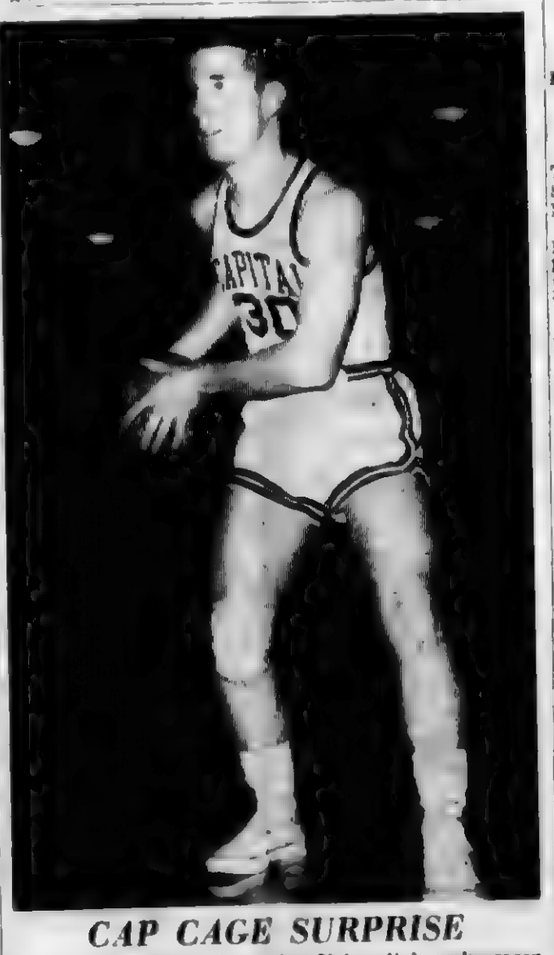
But these people have never tasted the delights of chasing rabbits with beagles on a brisk winter day when a mantle of white covers the outdoors. The sound of hounds comes back loud and clear on such a day, rabbits seem to enjoy the chase and run longer before heading for home and a hunter can better follow the dogs and quarry.

AH, THIS is the time to go rabbit hunting.

It is not the time of year for softies to go out, but if you are properly dressed the cold air is stimulating and a hike in the snow is a lot of fun even if you don't shoot any rabbits.

Various winter sports are growing in popularity as are all forms of outdoor recreation. People who used to stay by the fireside now go ice skating, sledding and even skiing. State parks are now used the year around in many instances. So it is not the rabbit hunter alone who is out at this season.

Snow leads to better hunting because the areas where rabbits are concentrated can be readily discovered. A rabbit puts down plenty of tracks in a night, and the favored areas on a farm will be readily apparent when you go hunting in the snow. If you are hunting with or without a dog, the idea is to cover such areas thoroughly. It's the old principle of "fishing where the fish are."



A DOG OR two will add a lot of fun to a rabbit hunt. If a chase is started where there are plenty of tracks, chances are that the rabbit will return to his "home" after running a mile or more in a circle.

When the snow is on you can often follow the chase, and a rabbit does not run from a dog in a flight of panic. He will hop along at a leisurely pace, stopping now and then to sit up and look back over his shoulder. Sometimes he will take elaborate measures to throw the dog off his trail. If all seems to be lost, he will work back to a den and in a last burst of speed run underground.

When conditions are right, the rabbits seem to enjoy frisking in the snow. It is at these times that many hunters never shoot, but simply watch the play of nature going on in front of them. Some of the most avid hunters will watch a rabbit circle once, twice and even three times and then smile as the rascal goes to ground. This is an hour of pure enjoyment to a true dog man.

OF COURSE, rabbit hunters shoot rabbits. And an animal field-dressed and put in your game bag in sub-zero temperature reaches the table in prime condition. They should be skinned and cut into pieces and washed as soon as you get home. Some people soak rabbits in saltwater over night, but this is not necessary. Roll the pieces in flour and fry like chicken. This will be the best "chicken" you will ever eat.

Ah, this is the time to go rabbit hunting.

CAP CAGE SURPRISE

A MAJOR factor in Capital University's early-season cage success has been the play of former South performer Dick Guyer. Guyer's (5-8) point contributions plus an eight rebound per game average has fostered coach Whitey Regan's observations: "He is the most improved player on the squad. He moves well and knows what to do with the ball."

THE PROOF WAS IN the eating, and little Tony Kramer, 389 Market-st, gave whole-hearted endorsement to the Christmas cookies and candy his mother Ruby, to his right, and other women in the classes, at the Lincoln Park Family Living Center, sponsored jointly by Columbus Metropolitan Housing and the State Board of Education, had prepared for their Christmas party. With oatmeal cookies, peanut butter cookies, fruit-filled cookies, peppermint cookies, ice-box cookies, cocoanut cookies, nut cookies and hard clear candy, he had a field day. To the far left is Mrs. Ella Reggin, 684 E. Morrill, and to the far right, Mrs. Verilla Blue, 63 E. Morrill .

It's All In Knowing How

HOUSEWIVES BECOME HOMEMAKERS

Can you make a chair that is the worse for wear look like new, take a coat that has seen too many winters and come up with an attractive suit for a child or take commodity foods and prepare a meal that your family will relish?

If the answer is "No," don't be discouraged.

A lot of other women lack these skills, but you, like they, now have the opportunity to learn one or any of these things.

When the latest classes at the Lincoln Park Family Center marked the completion of the courses with a Christmas party, the co-directors Mrs. Lavon McCollough and Mrs. Alice Johnson didn't relax.

They were too busy planning the classes in five areas of homemaking that will begin Monday, Jan. 13, and are open without charge to any woman in Franklin County who wants to learn.

When the pilot education program was begun last winter it was under the direction of Mrs. Lois Siegler who has now left the city.

Of special interest to mothers of young children is the employment of Mrs. Donald Sickbert, a qualified kindergarten teacher who will conduct a program for the preschool age child at the center when the new classes begin.

Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. McCollough, in addition to their administrative duties will respectively teach advanced clothing with emphasis on sewing with wool and the use of commodity foods.

Mrs Emma Dimit will conduct classes in beginning clothing and advanced food.

The class in home furnishing, under the supervision of Mrs. Polly Mitchell is going to be "played by ear" the coordinators explained.

The students in the class will determine what phases of the subect will be taken up. For example it is expected that although slip covers and drapes will be of interest to some, others will be interested in the creation of additional storage space in their homes.

Anyone who wants to obtain more information or to register for one or several of the courses can either call the Center, 444-1941 or stop by and talk with Mrs. Johnson or Mrs. McCollough. The address is 1700 S. 20th-st.

FOR A FEW cents over $3 Mrs. Adlean Berry, 1720 N. 18th Street made not only the corduroy jumper her daughter Debby is wearing but a matching one for herself. She is displaying the slacks and little dress Mrs. Ernestine Roberts, 68 Morrill, made for her son Pepper and daughter Erica. On the the table is shown the Christmas tree made in the homemaking classes at Lincoln Park decorated with painted eggshells with miniature figures and pictures forming tiny creches. The colorful overhead decoration was formed by winding colored thread around balloons sprayed with starch. After they became thoroughly dry, the balloons were bursted and drawn out.

Brooks Production Employes To Unionize

A vote of 29 in favor and 11 against opened the door for employes of the Brooks Bottling Co., 448 E. Livingston-av. to join the Brewery and Soft Drink Workers International, Local 152, according to Walter Perkins, Local president.

The best way to get more out of life is to put more into it.

Report Made Of UA Money Collections

The Suburban Business Division of the United Appeals Campaign in the South-East Rural-Urban News area has issued a final report on contributions received during the recent drive.

In the South-East area, Norman Cowgill, area chairman. the goal was set at $9,208. Total contributions totaled $8,996, which was slightly under expectations.

In Groveport, with John Brandt, area chairman, the goal also fell slightly short. The goal was set at $252 and collections reached a total of $222, which was 88.4 per cent of expectations.

The over-all United Appeal suburban contributions reached 101 per cent of its goal with total collections reported at $102,152.

It is not who is right, but what is right, that is important.

How Are Fruit And Vegetable Supplies?

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK SHOP FOR:

Fruits — Apples, grapefruit, tangerines, bananas.

Vegetables — Potatoes, broccoli, carrots.

Meat — Beef "specials," pork loin and shoulder cuts, fryers.

Other — Canned corn, canned peas, tomato juice, milk and cheese.

From now until next summer, consumers can expect moderately smaller supplies of canned fruits than a year earlier. Thus retail prices for canned fruits are expected to average somewhat higher during this period. Carryover stocks of most items last summer were smaller than a year earlier and nearly all 1963-64 packs are below 1962-63. Reduce packs include such items as cherries, clingstone peaches, fruit cocktail and Hawaiian pineapples. A sharp reduction is expected in the pack of canned pears. Supplies of canned apricots, freestone peaches and applesauce can be expected to be about the same as a year ago.

Mrs. Franks

Supplies of frozen deciduous fruits and berries in prospect from now until next summer will be considerably smaller than a year earlier. Much of the decrease consists of sour cherries and strawberries. The only fruit in larger supply than a year earlier is frozen pears and they are up only one per cent.

Fruit juices as a group are expected in somewhat smaller volume than a year earlier from now through next spring. The reduction will be mostly in citrus juices. Since early 1963, retail prices of canned and frozen citrus juices and fruit juice drinks have increased considerably. These prices may ease somewhat by next spring if the prospective increase in the Florida Valencia orange crop materializes, leading to a larger output of frozen orange concentrate.

During 1963, much of the Hawaiian pineapple juice was used in making canned and frozen concentrated juices which are used with other fruit juices in juice drinks. Output and use of fruit drinks has increased considerably since the freeze in Florida last winter reduced the supply of processed citrus juices.

Processed Vegetable Supplies — The situation for canned vegetables is much the same as for fruit with supplies into mid-1964 expected to be slightly smaller than a year earlier. On the bright side as of Nov. 1, stocks of frozen vegetables were the largest on record.

Canned supplies of tomatoes, lima beans and sauerkraut are smaller than a year ago. Sweet corn supplies are a little below last season but substantially larger than the five-year average. Supplies of snap beans, beets and most tomato products appear to be about the same as last season. Frozen vegetable supplies into mid-1964 are somewhat larger than a year earlier, but every major item is in ample to heavy supply. In particularly good supply re French fried potatoes, corn and mixed vegetables.

Retail prices for canned tomatoes, lima beans, snap beans and sauerkraut are likely to be a little higher this season. Relatively low retail prices should continue for other canned items. Prices for frozen vegetables are averaging close to last year's levels. Little change from current price levels is expected into spring, 1964.

Liquor Group Sets Hearings

The Yule log figured prominently in the inauguration of "The Twelve Days of Christmas." A huge log was selected by men and, with children sitting atop the log, they brought it upor their shoulders from the forest. The log was set afire and kept burning for 12 days, at the end of which time the fire was quenched and a portion of the log saved to kindle a new log the following year.

Holiday Fireworks

In the United States, fireworks are associated with the celebration of the Fourth of July. Our neighbors to the South use fireworks to celebrate the birthday of Christ.

In some sections of the Americas, particularly on Christmas Eve, fireworks are as traditional as going to church or setting down to a family feast.
